Bought You A Luna

Edward's POV

"You bought me what!" I roared.

"A Luna, I'm sorry brother, but the deal is already done, we need that pack under our control as Dean was after it,"

Dean is a Lycan Alpha who hates me because I killed his father in a duel. The old man came here to intimidate and challenge me about my territory.

"How does that useless pack help us in any way? They are insignificant,"

"You know that land is historical, hence no pack can fight there. Having it under us is a benefit plus. Evelyn mentioned Dean was seeking it out. He brought some favorable terms as well," My brother, Jamal sighed.

"She solidifies the agreement, she's the Alpha's daughter,"

"And how does the girl come into play," I growled.

"Oh please, Jamal, we could get that land without going through all this," I sneered.

"I know that but the former Luna begged me to take them under our protection. Evelyn was our mother's dear friend, I couldn't turn her away."

I growled and hit my desk, making it break in half. I can't believe he did that.

"The pack needs a good Luna,"

"I can choose my own."

"You know that's a lie."

"I don't need a Luna," I retorted.

"Didn't you hear what I said about the historical land? Besides, I've already bought her," He beta, he is a good judge of character and he knows what's best for the pack and if he thinks the woman is good, I will keep her. She will be my Luna only in name but I will never accept anything more.

"She's your problem henceforth and I shall not do anything for her," I declared, reaching the door, I turned to him and smirked shrugged, not caring that he had brought a woman I didn't want. Jamal is my brother and

"Maybe fuck her once or twice, I should get my money's worth, right?" I winked and exit the room, leaving Jamal with an oh fuck face.

I shift into my huge Lycan form and take a run into the woods, remembering what happened when I allowed myself to care about a woman, she cheated on me and plotted my death. I vowed never to love another woman again.

bed, naked. I pulled her by the ankle and slammed my erection into her pussy. I covered her mouth with my hand, not wanting her to lament stupid things.

Caliana's POV

In the evening, I went to my room, but surprisingly, the pack whore, Candace, was in my

My childhood best friend Levy escorted me to the Golden Stone Pack, my new pack. The Chasia brothers couldn't make it so they sent a car and driver.

"People say the members of the Golden stone are rude and inhumane as their leaders," He said. They considered themselves Golden Lycans, a rare kind because they are the strongest for miles.

"They do call themselves gods of the west," I sighed, sarcasm dripping off my words.

I meet the driver's gaze through the rearview mirror and his lips curl into something sinister.

My eyes widen and I press a black button that puts a barrier between us.

"Why did you decide to go today?"

"I had no choice, I found my luggage outside the house," I sneered.

"That bitch,"

Levy holds my hand as he tries to cheer me up the rest of the way, but it's ineffective. I'm leaving the only home I knew to stay with a cruel man.

I'm miserable. I give Levy a small forced smile and he takes it, reaching the "Golden Stone Pack, the driver opens the door to the limo and we step out.

With every step I took, my heart was pounding loudly in my chest and I suddenly felt

I looked back at my bags.

"Alpha's suite, but why?"

"You will stay in the Alpha's suite. I'll send your things up in a few minutes," She pointed at the large door in front of us.

I swallowed thickly. I wasn't informed of that. I thought I'd come here to work or something. I didn't think I'd be coming here as his Luna! Edward Chasia's Luna, the Luna to the most dangerous and powerful pack in the western territory!

'Evelyn did mention satisfying the Alpha's sexual desires,' My wolf calmly reminded me, and I winced at those words. How can she be so calm about this?

Changing their position when they noticed me and stopped, while the girl covered herself with a sheet, the man just looked angry, his dark eyes were murderous and just then my wolf said the word.

Slowly and carefully, I pushed open the door only to find the shock of my life. A couple was
