Chapter 2187: Suffering

There were signs of chaos in the corridor. Doctors and nurses came and went, and almost all were running. Many had their white coats stained with blood.

Those soldiers had caused the small hospital in that town to become less idle than usual. Everyone who came and went had a solemn look on their face.

Jiang Yao sat in a daze, holding her phone. The murmurs of the patients filled her ears.

"Those soldiers were all injured by bomb explosions. A few days ago, there were two explosions from the mountain in the north. The explosions shook the houses at the foot of the mountain. The shepherds did not even have time to collect their tents before they hid in the small town. At first, they thought that it was a landslide. Later, they found out that someone had planted many bombs there, killing many of those soldiers."Support our Bonnovel.c0m

"A lot of people died," the patient sighed as he said that.

"Some killed by the explosion were thrown into the ravine, and some were thrown into the barren mountains. Two days ago, when my neighbor visited me at the hospital, he said that many people in the village went to pick up the bodies. At least we can bury them. Those soldiers protected us."

"Is that so? Have you heard about the human trafficking case? Some years ago, two of my cousin's three children were abducted. They got the children back when the case was solved. But the older child had gone through so much suffering. The soldiers helped them escape, but many died doing that."

Jiang Yao walked out of the hospital. The only words that remained in her ears were those of the two people who lamented about their suffering.

Master Cheng held the results of her test and called out to Jiang Yao with joy. "That's great. You're fine."

Jiang Yao said, "They might just be scaring me."

No medicine could hurt her body. The medical system would automatically eliminate it, so she did not have to worry about the medicine harming her baby.

"Master Cheng, give me a car. I'll search nearby areas," Jiang Yao said.

"Alone? That won't do. How can I let you go alone? Even though we caught most of the culprits, there might still be some who escaped. It's too eye-catching for you to drive the car. It's too dangerous."

"I'll go with you and take two other people with us. You can either stay at the command center and wait for news or follow my instructions."

"I'll do as you say." Jiang Yao was not in the mood to explain to Master Cheng, so she nodded and compromised.

Furthermore, Master Cheng's arrangement was reasonable. She was pregnant, so it was impossible for her to display her skills as casually as before. It might be disadvantageous for her to be in combat since she was pregnant.

Master Cheng made a call, and someone drove the car to the hospital entrance. Master Cheng arranged for Jiang Yao to sit in the middle of the backseat, which was the safest seat. He sat to her right.

"Where do you want to go?" Master Cheng asked.

"Leave the town center and drive on a remote road. Liang Yueze and Master Cheng's men had already searched the town center, so Lu Xingzhi was unlikely to be hiding there."

"Follow her instructions," Master Cheng said to the driver..

Chapter 2188: He Is Still Alive

The driver nodded and started the car. However, the person in the passenger seat turned around and looked at Jiang Yao. Then, he said in a low voice, "Did they not say that some soldiers were killed in the explosion? And some kind-hearted shepherds went to bury their bodies."

That person asked if the people who were not rescued had already died. Some bodies were still lying in the wilderness, while the compassionate shepherds had buried the others.

After all, the soldiers who had been rescued had already stated that the criminals had hidden their victims in only two locations.

Jiang Yao could decipher the hidden meaning behind the words of the person in front of her. Her eyelids did not even flutter as she said, "He is still alive."

It was unknown whether he had all his limbs, but he was definitely still alive.

Master Cheng said, “Lu Xingzhi is different. He is only missing. He was with the other soldiers, but those soldiers were injured. Almost all of them were unconscious. No one noticed when he disappeared.”

Master Cheng thought that the enemies had discovered their search and rescue teams. They only had time to take Lu Xingzhi, the most important hostage. They had to leave the other soldiers.

The car was not moving fast. In the eyes of outsiders, Jiang Yao looked like she was staring at the car window in a daze. However, in reality, Jiang Yao focused all her energy on her vision.

Her ability was limited to four kilometers, but the northern area was vast. Even a small town was much larger than a typical southern small town. Four kilometers might seem like a long distance, but she only saw mountains, tents, and rows of houses. She saw no sign of the person she was looking for.

Master Cheng noticed Jiang Yao did not speak and was unusually quiet, which made him think her silence was abnormal. He coughed softly. In hushed tones, he asked, “Would you like to pull over somewhere so we can get out of the car and look around? Ask the shepherds or something?”

“No, I can feel it. He’s not here.” [Jiang Yao shook her head and patted the back of the driver’s seat. “Speed up and try to drive on a remote road with no one there.”

The driver wondered why that young lady, whom he had never seen before, spoke so strangely. Why did she rely on her senses to find people? When he heard her request for him to increase the speed, the man was confused again. No matter how fast the car was, she could not see the people on the side of the road clearly, right?

The driver gave Master Cheng a look. He did not say anything else after seeing Master Cheng nod at him.

Master Cheng believed that they would not be able to locate Jiang Yao. He was there because he wanted to console Jiang Yao. He was worried she would stay in the command center and let her imagination run wild.

He was a father. He knew that pregnant women could get emotional.

Some pregnant women might even miscarry because of their fluctuating emotions.

Therefore, he felt that it was important to appease Jiang Yao’s emotions at the moment.

Master Cheng did not care if they could find Lu Xingzhi or not. It would be preferable if they could locate him. However, it was also acceptable if they could not. He knew many talented young men. He could find Jiang Yao another husband who could give her a stable life. At least she would not have to worry about her new husband.

Jiang Yao was his daughter. A son-in-law could be exchanged at any time. At least, that was what Master Cheng thought. His son was also the same age as Jiang Yao. Perhaps they could even get married. Then, they would become a real family..

Chapter 2189: It's Lu Xingzhi's Watch

The more Master Cheng thought about it, the more he considered the possibility. Therefore, he did not mind Jiang Yao urging the driver to speed up.

Old Master Liang and Liang Yueze were not as relaxed as Master Cheng. Lu Xingzhi was a grandson and a brother. They had sent all the soldiers to the mountain and turned it upside down. Aside from the bodies of the soldiers who had been dead for several days, no other living people had been discovered.

Moe's face crumpled as he lay on Liang Yueze's shoulder.

Lu Xingzhi's aura was very faint in the mountains; Moe could not detect it outside those broken homes.

The strongest odor in the mountains was that of animal feces, followed by that of rotting corpses. Many people were buried in the mountains, and there was an empty burial platform. Many vultures were pecking at the dead bodies.

Some ethnic groups believed that after the vultures ate the bodies of the dead, they would transport the souls to heaven.

Moe silently raised his claws and touched his nose. The smell of the mountain made him feel uncomfortable.

"Continue searching the mountain. If they can't find Lu Xingzhi, tell them to bring those dead soldiers' bodies back so we can return them to their hometown. We don't have to bury them here without even a tombstone. Some wild beasts might dig up those graves too."

Old Master Liang's body swayed. Fortunately, Liang Yueze reacted quickly and held him. "Let's go down the mountain and continue searching."

"In short—" Old Master Liang nodded. He wanted to see Lu Xingzhi alive, but if he were dead, then he wanted to see his body.

At that precise moment, someone dashed in with a jacket. "General Liang, I found a jacket," he said. "I found Young Master Lu's watch in it."

"Let me see that!" Liang Yueze quickly walked over and took the jacket and watch. The jacket was a standard field uniform, but the watch could prove its owner.

Lu Xingzhi's initials were engraved on the back of the watch. Liang Yueze and his brothers had the same watch. It was custom-made by an old master who made watches when Chen Xuyao was studying design abroad. Chen Xuyao brought them back as gifts when he graduated and returned to the country.

Liang Yueze wiped the blood on the watch and put it into his pocket. He nodded at Old Master

Liang and said, "It's his watch." After saying that, he asked the soldier, "Where did you find it?"

"A hidden path. The clothes were buried in the soil. Perhaps they were buried in a hurry, so a corner of the clothes was exposed. One of our soldiers discovered it. The path was toward the downhill direction, and there were faint traces of blood on the road," the soldier said.

"It seems like he went down the mountain." Old Master Liang looked at the blood on the clothes and said, "With so much blood, the injuries are not light, so it's unlikely that he escaped by himself."

The cloth was almost hard to touch, so it was clear how much blood was in the clothes.

"Follow that road," Liang Yueze said and then informed Master Cheng, who was in the small town.

Master Cheng was in the car when he received the news. Jiang Yao heard the conversation because she was next to him. After Master Cheng hung up the phone, Jiang Yao said, "Let's go to the foot of that mountain and take a look. "

Master Cheng reasoned that because they were at the same location, there was no safer place than that mountain, so he nodded and agreed..

Chapter 2190: Found It

The driver reversed the car and drove in the opposite direction. The road was winding and rugged. After more than half an hour, the car stopped in front of a small road. There were many shepherds on the small road. They held wild white chrysanthemums in their hands. They held a vigil for the soldiers who had died on that mountain.

The path was lined with red flags for the soldiers who had sacrificed themselves. The shepherds had put the wild chrysanthemums on the flags.

Two monks were there to recite the scriptures. They looked solemn.

“Master Cheng,” a soldier in casual clothes walked toward their car and greeted him.

Master Cheng asked, “Those are the soldiers who died today?” Support our

“Not all of them.” The soldier’s eyes were red. “Most were soldiers with the Lanning unit, and some were with Colonel Lu.”

Jiang Yao looked at the red flags. Just as the soldier in the hospital said, the criminals had bombed everyone as if they did not care about anything. Most of those soldiers were killed in the explosions.

Jiang Yao bowed to the sacrificed soldiers and then asked, “Where is the path leading to when you found the bloodied clothes?”

“On the other side of the mountain, it’s deserted. Even the shepherds don’t go there. I had asked them, but they said that they didn’t see anyone there. Maybe that person was there when they were away.”

“Did we check their tents? We can’t be sure just because they are shepherds,” Master Cheng said.

“Yes, we have. There was nothing there.” The soldier shook his head.

“I’ll go and take a look. Is it possible that those people are holding Xingzhi hostage and hiding nearby?”

“There’s a plain area after the mountain. There’s no good hiding place. We’re worried that they have already left the town.”

The path was small, so the car could not drive through it. Therefore, Jiang Yao walked past the soldier and entered the town.

Lu Xingzhi was still in the town. His coordinates had not changed. He must still be in town.

“Jiang Yao.” Master Cheng saw that Jiang Yao had already entered the town, so he chased after her with his men. Jiang Yao was pregnant; he would rather her not walk that mountainous path.

If she wanted to go to the other side of the mountain, she would have to go around the foot of the mountain. That road was not easy at all.

After Master Cheng chased after her, he followed closely by Jiang Yao’s side. He constantly paid attention to Jiang Yao’s direction, reminding Jiang Yao to pay attention to her feet from time to time.

“Master Cheng, I’m not as delicate as you think. I grew up in the countryside. This kind of road is not difficult for me. When I was young, I went to a school in a village in the mountains. I had to walk similar roads four times a day,” Jiang Yao replied, looking around.

The mountain did not look big, but walking from the base took a long time.

Liang Yueze and Old Master Liang saw Jiang Yao and Master Cheng as they descended the mountain.

Master Liang asked, “Why didn’t you wait in the town? Why are you here? Are you okay? Have you gone to the hospital for a check-up? What kind of medicine did they give you?”

“She’s fine, and the baby is fine too,” Master Cheng answered on behalf of Jiang Yao..
