Chapter 1001 Just This Once

Warren's POV:

As soon as I inserted the tip of my c*ck into Flora's p*ssy, I held her thighs and hoisted her up so that I could thrust all of my c*ck inside of her.

"Ah..." Flora's eyes rolled to the back of her head as pleasure engulfed her.

The wet walls of her p*ssy enveloped my penis more and more tightly, and even I couldn't help but moan.

I held Flora's thighs and moved slowly for a while. Then, I sped up, thrusting in and out of her violently.

The naughty sounds of skin slapping skin every time I thrust inside of her made me go crazy. And Flora's body was so soft. I was torn between being gentle with her and ravaging her p*ssy.

"Yes... God, yes..."

Flora's moans made me choose the latter. I moved even faster and thrust even deeper, making sure to hit her pleasure spots.

Crystal's POV:

In the afternoon, as I got ready to take Arron for a walk in the garden, I spotted Flora walking up to me with a huge stuffed bag in her hand. Warren trailed her with a scowl.

I grabbed Arron's hand and walked toward them. In a confused voice, I asked, "Don't you have to attend the summit today?"

After the parade, a summit was held by the packs for several days. The agenda was usually exchanging experiences or resources. I was worried about coming face-to-face with Rufus, so I pretended that I was unwell and didn't attend it.

Warren and Flora attended the summit the past few days ago. It was quite a surprise that they skipped it and came to see me today.

"A meeting is never as important as my bestie! You're going to return to the border pack in a few days. I have already discussed with Warren that I'm spending our remaining days here with you!" Flora replied gleefully.

Flora's POV:

The man nodded politely. "Absolutely. And the king wants to see you alone."

"What?! Why? Are you perhaps making a mistake? And it's my husband—Alpha Warren, that he want to see?" My heart leaped to my throat.

"Sorry, I don't know what the king's intentions are, but you're the one he wants to see and you'd better get ready to meet him as soon as possible." Then after bowing slightly, the man went out to wait for me.

Flora's POV:

My anxiety subsided upon hearing Rufus' question, because Crystal and I had discussed it. So now, I

Rufus was the king, and his men were all over the imperial palace. He must have known that I spent last night at Crystal's place. Otherwise, he wouldn't have sent someone to look for me at there so early in the morning.

According to Crystal, Rufus was very wary of her now, so it was only normal for him to doubt and How could Crystal's photos still be in my Facebook? After what happened that year, Laura had done everything in her power to ensure that no trace of Sylvia Todd would ever exist again. Also, I double-checked it, so there was no way Rufus would find out about it.

Besides, I seldom posted her photos since she didn't like too much attention even on the Internet.

I had the strangest feeling that it was Crystal in this photo. Rufus' POV:

After Flora and Joanna left, I remained quietly on the throne for a while, thinking about our conversations from earlier. Then, I asked a subordinate beside me, "What do you think of their stories?"

As for me, I didn't buy a single word of it. Actually, both their accounts were consistent, but they were pretty far -fetched.
