Chapter 1021 Caught

Crystal's POV:

After a while, the staff member came over with a serious expression, saying, "Ma'am, we need to reexamine your ID."

Chapter 1022 He Knew All Of It

Crystal's POV:

I was seething with anger, but I still managed to hold back the impulse to punch Rufus in the face. After all, the man standing in front of me was the most powerful one in the empire. I couldn't afford to offend him. Besides, there were also many guards present.

Chapter 1023 He Knows Too Much

Crystal's POV:

I was shocked. I didn't expect that Rufus would even find out about Warren's involvement.

Title of the document

Just how much did Rufus know? Did he find out everything about me? No! It was impossible! Laura had already erased any information pertaining to my identity years ago. Rufus couldn't have found any clues!

"Why so quiet all of a sudden? Weren't you so confident just now?" Rufus sneered, an evil smile tugging at the corners of his lips.

Crystal’s POV:

Despite being berated by me, Rufus didn’t get angry. On the contrary, he picked up the report from the ground, patted off the imaginary dust, and handed it to me again, saying, “Don’t be angry. Look over the evidence first and then argue.”

Crystal’s POV:

I was so angry that it nearly brought me to tears. Rufus had really gone too far! Why did I use to think that Rufus, who had now become the lycan king, was only a little difficult to deal with, but nothing else? But he even used such a devious method to frame me!

Title of the document

Was the arsenal that easy to fill? Didn't that cost a lot of money? If I really wanted to betray the empire, why would I pay extra tax every year?

Crystal's POV:

With my eyes wide open, I immediately pushed Rufus away.

He seemed dumbfounded after the unexpected kiss, and he turned his head away awkwardly.

Chapter 1029 Hand Over The Power

Crystal's POV:

At the start of the video call, Blair greeted Rufus respectfully first, then looked at me and greeted me in a distant tone. His indifferent attitude was in line with the normal treatment of a stranger that he didn't fully trust. No one would believe that he used to know me.

Title of the document

As I studied his familiar face, I wasn't sure if he had also lost his memory.

"Go ahead. Inform him about all the things he needs to know while managing the pack in your stead," Rufus ordered me casually.

Chapter 1030 Back To The Imperial Palace Reluctantly

Crystal's POV:

Rufus pursed his lips and remained quiet for a few minutes. Then, he said, "Maybe I'm mistaken. I seem to notice a slight difference in your demeanor when you're dealing with acquaintances and strangers. Sometimes I get the impression that you're also familiar with me."

Title of the document

I was nonplussed for a second before I smiled. "You're definitely mistaken. This is the first time I'm visiting the imperial city and meeting you. I was nobody before this. How could I know you? And I haven't stepped foot outside the border pack since assuming the position of Alpha."

Rufus' eyebrows furrowed as he countered, "I would never forget someone I've met."

"You claim that you remember everyone you meet, so search your memory. Have you seen me before?" I asked. Rufus tilted his head and studied me thoughtfully. I held my breath and summoned my courage to meet his eyes, praying that he didn't suddenly recall anything about our past.

After a while, he looked away and indifferently said, "I've definitely never seen you before."
