Chapter 1071 Who Was Lying

Laura's POV:

My son was lying on the bed with a pale face while the doctor was tending his wound. This had been the worst injury he had ever suffered since he took office.

"So what happened this time? How could the vampire catch you off guard?" Rufus tightened his lips, and his eyes flashed a trace of anger. As soon as he talked about the vampires, his demeanor changed drastically for the worst. "I didn't expect that the Alpha of the Cherry Bay Pack had already been killed by the vampires. I was enraged. I hadn't expected these vampires to be so persistent!

After hurriedly bidding the soldiers goodbye, I entered the lycan king's palace and directly marched to Rufus' room. I was worried that the vampires' conspiracy would succeed again.

Rufus scowled and studied us with displeasure. "I'm sure there's no mistake. As soon as I opened my eyes and saw Adela, I felt my mate's aura under the Moon Goddess' guidance, so I brought her back with me. I'm not wrong."

Adela's cheeks colored and she glanced at Rufus before shyly dropping her gaze to her feet.

I was bewildered. Rufus and I were still mates since we didn't break off the bond between us. Werewolves were loyal creatures. So how could the Moon Goddess guide him to a second mate?
