Chapter 411 Her Biological Father

Sylvia's POV:

As soon as I got back to my dorm room, I immediately looked into about the exact time, place, and details of the battle that Edwin mentioned.

Title of the document

It took place nineteen years ago, which meant that I had not been born yet when it happened. Apparently, several packs and tens of thousands of werewolves were involved in this battle.

This was no small battle. Just going by the numbers alone, it seemed to be an important one. Many generals also d*ied on the field because of this, almost wiping out the werewolf race completely.

Sylvia's POV:

"But why didn't Leonard know about this?" Rufus asked curiously. "Edwin and Leonard are always together. I think it will be a tough task for Edwin to hide anything from him."

Chapter 413 Seduction

Sylvia's POV:

At the mention of my mother, I fumed. Edwin was clearly a worthless scumbag that abandoned his wife and daughter.

Title of the document

No matter how good of a she-wolf my mother was, he still had the heart to leave her. He also knew about my existence, yet he chose to pretend as if he was not aware.

He was a great actor, at least.

"Damn it! How could he do something like that?" I cursed and practically felt steam rushing out of my ears. Rufus wrapped his arms around me and coaxed me like he would a child. "Hey, don't let it get the best of you. If you keep getting angry, you'll get wrinkles early."

I melted into his arms and huffed angrily, feeling hopeless. "What a useless piece of scum. He even refused to admit it this afternoon. He had us all fooled." Rufus smoothed my hair and sighed. "He didn't really say much this afternoon, actually."

Sylvia's POV:

I reached out and pinched Rufus' wolf ears without hesitation. I adored them immensely.

Title of the document

How could he have such soft fluffy ears? They were the complete opposite of his cool and imposing exterior.

The shape of his wolf ears was exquisite, and the inner part was clean and pink. I gently flicked the tip of one ear, causing a quiver to run through his entire ear.

I wasn't satisfied, so I lowered my head and nipped the tip of the ear, eliciting a groan from Rufus.

I leaned against his chest and ran my fingers down the strong muscles on his chest, feeling inexplicably satisfied. Rufus gently laid me on the bed and then lay down next to me. We snuggled underneath the blanket.

I scooted over to him and he wrapped his arms around me. I lowered my head and pressed my palm against his hard abs.

Amused by this, Rufus chuckled and asked in a low voice, “Do you want to go again?”

“No!” I looked up at him playfully and pinched his waist. The part I pinched seemed to be a sensitive spot for Rufus. He instantly froze and his eyes took on a dangerous light.

I climbed out of bed and stretched. After getting dressed, I walked out of the bedroom barefoot and found Rufus on the phone in the living room. He looked very serious, so I didn't dare to disturb him. Instead, I looked around the living room quietly.

Although Rufus was staying in a single dormitory, it was fully equipped. Not only was there a proper living room, but also a small balcony.

There was an armchair and a table on the balcony. On the table was an ashtray with a lone unfinished cigarette sitting in it.

But my mind was still a mess. I had no idea how to tell Leonard that I was to leave on a mission.

My training suffered as a result.

Leonard, who could keenly sense that my mind was elsewhere, naturally got angry. He slammed me to the ground and muttered, “Get out of here if you don’t want to train. Don’t you dare waste my time.”

Chapter 418 The Same Colors

Sylvia's POV:

The training went on until the sun dipped in the horizon. Finally, Leonard patted me on the shoulder and called it a day. "Not bad. You were able to withstand such intense training. Let's wait and see tomorrow. We can increase training volume if there's still time."

Title of the document

I didn't have the energy to refute him. Anyway, any protesting would've been futile. I waved my hand and said weakly, "It's up to you. As long as I won't die, it'll be okay."

As though he had heard the funniest joke in the world, Leonard burst into peals of laughter. When he finally calmed down, he changed the topic. "In fact, the lycan power reaches its full potential when in wolf form. I planned to show you on our last day of training, but now I have to do it ahead of schedule."

"Are you saying I need to transform into a wolf for training?" I looked at him questioningly, not understanding what he meant.

Chapter 419 Release Your Nature

Sylvia's POV:

When I approached, the giant wolf nodded coldly at me. I knew from the get-go this was Leonard's wolf form.

Title of the document

He pawed the ground with his forelimb and eyed me meaningfully.

I figured he was trying to tell me to turn into my wolf form.

Under his watchful eyes, I turned into a wolf. As soon as I transformed, I couldn't help but stretch my claws out and shake the fur on my body. It had been a while since I had turned into a wolf, and I wanted a good stretch.

All of a sudden, I had the sudden impulse to scream. I suppressed the impulse and stead*ied myself carefully.

Sylvia's POV:

"Huh?" Yana obviously didn't understand what I meant. But I didn't say anything. I just quietly observed as Yana grew agitated.

Title of the document

She was so anxious that she started crying again. "Sylvia, tell me what to do!"

The giant wolf had almost disappeared from her sight. Yana felt the dangers of the forbidden forest closing in on her, and her voice began to tremble. "Sylvia, I'm scared. Something doesn't feel right..."

Yana sobbed pitifully. "Sylvia, just talk to me. Please... I'm afraid..."
