Chapter 992 It's Okay to Cry

Rufus' POV:

Afraid that I might not believe him, Arron repeated himself stubbornly. "I'm telling the truth. My mommy is not ugly."

I smiled. "I know. Your mommy is not ugly. Otherwise, she wouldn't have given birth to such cute children as Beryl and you."

Arron's POV:

I looked at the man in front me. Mommy said he wasn't our father, but Beryl said he was. Beryl called him "Daddy", so what was I supposed to call him? I thought of "Daddy-Long-Legs", because he was very tall. I always had to raise my head to look at him properly.

Title of the document

When I asked him if he was my father, he looked very surprised. His reaction made me very sad. It was impossible for him to be Beryl's Daddy but not mine, because Beryl was my twin. Mommy was our Mommy, so her Daddy had to be my Daddy, too.

Rufus' POV:

Even though the little boy was against it, I still insisted that the doctor remove his dressing and check his wound. So many weeks had gone by but his wound hadn't healed yet. The child was still so young, and it wasn't good if the injury wasn't treated on time.

"Stop!"

Crystal crossed our distance and managed to catch my hand just in time before I totally removed the bandages from Arron's face.

Then she rushed over to the other side and grabbed Arron away from my reach. She held him tightly in her arms and shot at me the deadliest glare she could muster. "What the hell were you trying to do to him?"

When I came to my senses, my first instinct was to turn my face away from him. But Rufus cupped my chin and forced me to face him. He stared at me for a long time, his expression gloomy, his eyes unreadable.

Chapter 997 Looking Into It

Rufus' POV:

Crystal ran away as fast as she could, Arron in tow. She wasn't as calm and cunning as she used to be before, when she was trying to get rid of me. On the contrary, she looked quite scared and helpless without the mask. I highly doubted she'd have reacted like this if wearing a mask was just her "hobby". She wasn't a weak woman, and she should've been able to fight back, but she didn't. I watched the she-wolf's receding figure in the distance. Instead of chasing after her, I asked everyone to leave and sat alone in the lounge, lost in thought.

Title of the document

Crystal's face still lingered in my mind. It was the first time I'd seen her real face, and I couldn't seem to shake off the weird feeling gnawing at me inside. I leaned against the backrest of the sofa and closed my eyes tiredly. Although the room was quiet, my mind was buzzing.

Warren immediately refused. He pried my fingers away from Crystal and he even had the audacity to use our son as an excuse, claiming that Lucas missed me.

But when we got back, I found Lucas sleeping soundly in his room.

Speechless, I closed the door to his room and turned around to scold Warren. However, before I could get a word out, I was silenced by a kiss.

His lips pressed against mine, I moaned slightly and closed my eyes. I stood on tiptoe to wrap my arms around Warren's neck, responding to his affection wholeheartedly.

In the blink of an eye, he stripped off my dress.
