

The Cute Baby by Yanxizi chapter 2

“Susan, I’m uncomfortable. I might have drunk too much and want to go back first.”

Nina rubbed her temples and said to her sister weakly.

“Sister, I have specially arranged a program for you on your birthday. Let me take you to see it.”

She took Nina’s hand and led her to the spot of the program, leaving no chance for Nina to refuse.

Susan took Nina to a hotel not far from the bar.

Looking at the sleeping stream, Susan smiled complacently and ironically.

Nina, if you are rd by others, I’ll see if he will still like you.

You should blame yourself for not showing up in my world.

Then, Susan unboned the light blue shirt that Nina was wearing and spread it on both sides.

There was a white vest Camisole in her shirt. She pulled the Camisole all the way to her arms until her chest was exposed.

Susan took out her phone from her pocket and dialed a number.

“You can come here now.”

The phone was hung up after a few words.

Susan wrapped her arms around her chest and looked at the messy stream on the bed, feeling very proud.

A man arrived at the hotel in less than ten minutes.

“Hurry up. She will be in trouble when she wakes up.”

As soon as the man entered the room, Susan asked him to move quickly.

The man took off his shirt and slept with Nina on the bed, making all kinds of ambiguous movements.

Susan had taken photos from different angles.

She checked her phone back and forth and proudly made an “OK” gesture to the man.

“Well, have a good time. I won’t disturb you and the beauty to spend the night together.”

“Don’t worry. I will take good care of her.”

After Susan left the hotel, the man looked at the fairy-like Nina on the bed and smiled proudly.

“Hey, my beauty, wait for me. I’m going to take a shower. I’ll take care of you later.”

.....

“My head hurts...”

She rubbed her forehead and temples.

Nina looked up at the layout of the room and realized that it was a hotel room.

She wanted to sit up but found that her clothes were exposed.

Nina widened her eyes, unable to speak, lying there like a wooden man.

She had mixed feelings and didn't know what to do.

Hearing the sound of water, she turned to look at the bathroom.

A tall and dark figure came into view.

It was impossible! It was impossible! She must be dreaming!

Nina sat up with all his strength and put on his clothes.

What should I do? She wanted to go out. She didn't want to stay here. She wanted to leave here!

Nina could imagine what would happen next. She got out of bed in fear and stood up.

Nina leaned against the wall and walked carefully to the doorstep by step, trying not to make any noise to disturb the man in the bathroom.

After careful consideration, Nina finally escaped from the room.

After coming out of the room, Nina was thinking about how to leave the hotel as soon as possible.

She felt soft all over her body, and she was anxious and nervous at the same time. It seemed that she was unable to move.

She leaned against the wall and walked forward on tiptoe.

Nina looked up.

Elevator.

Not far away, she saw the elevator not far away.

With her eyes wide open, Nina rubbed her eyes again.

She seemed to have just escaped from an empty desert and saw a lake in front of her.
