

D. School 102

Chapter 102 - Busy

“I’m a little bird, I can’t fly high ...”, from the office of Professor Gals, Lu Qiujian hummed back to the dormitory, turned on the computer and planned to continue printing.

On arXiv, there are currently about 5000 new papers added each month. The scope of these papers involves physics, mathematics, biology, computers, finance, and statistics; on average, the mathematics sector increases by about 800 papers per month.

And Lu Qiujian wrote eight articles in a month, accounting for almost 1% of the total number of new papers in the mathematics sector every month. This data sounds like nothing, but if you think about it carefully, this number is better than the forum. , Post it, the ratio of the famous postages to the total post volume is even greater.

Moreover, how many universities are there in the world? How many research institutes? How many mathematicians are in these institutions? And how many of these mathematicians have published papers on arXiv? A little bit of clarification will make this a terrible number.

Since using arXiv, Tao Zhexuan has published a total of 275 papers by the time the chapter code comes out. Although most of them are done in cooperation with different mathematicians, this number is enough to shame other mathematics researchers. Liao Qiujian had no room for self-confidence; Lu Qiujian almost completed one-third of his accumulation in a month, and all of them were completed independently.

The most valuable is that these eight articles are related to eight different branches of mathematics such as Kolmogorov’s complexity theory, non-Abelian algebraic geometry, combinatorial mathematics, and Banach space. General mathematicians can choose one or two It is quite good to have a branch, but he has not only researched in these fields, but also made pioneering results.

Countless mathematicians involved in the above fields were inspired by his thesis and began to write new papers; it can be said that he has accelerated the development of multiple mathematics fields almost by himself.

It can be imagined that there must be many colleges and research institutions looking for his contact information, want to invite him to join, exchange speeches, etc. Fortunately, not many people know his current phone, so there is a lot of harassment.

Jingle Bell, uh, just said that no one was harassing, and the phone rang; I picked it up and said, shout, it 's not Wang Nima ... oh no, Brother Yao, what did he call to do, "Hey , Brother Yao! "

"What is Xiao Lu busy? Is there time on the weekend?" The familiar low voice rang from the phone.

"Why are you preparing to write a thesis, Yao brother, you have something to do with me?" Lv Qiujian walked to the living room with a smile, Patrice was lying on the sofa watching the highlights of the NBA.

"I'm in New Jersey. I'm going to watch the Eastern Conference semifinals. This is not because you are not far from here, so ask if you are interested in coming to the scene?", Yao Ming asked with a humorous voice, "If I come, I'm just here There are two tickets! "

Does he still want to seduce me to continue playing or is it just a greeting? Forget it, no matter, since people are kindly invited, why do I think so much? I just went out on the weekend to relax. Recently, I have used a lot of my brain. The NCAA has stopped exercising and can't keep up, and my head starts to hurt a little. I can rest for two days.

Called Natalie, but unfortunately she was preparing for the exam at the end of the semester, and she had no time to come over; Lu Qiujian had to give this opportunity to Patrice, "Hey, Yao Ming sent two Eastern Conference semifinals Tickets, do you want to go? "

Ok? Patrice, lying on the sofa, jumped up as soon as he heard this, "Yao Ming must have got the tickets in the first row, so fools won't go!"

"It's cheaper for you, then prepare for it. You will have to pay the travel expenses and accommodation at that time!", Lu Qiujian made a joke.

"Relax, it's wrapped in me!", Patrice patted his chest and promised to come down. Since Lv Qiujian lived here, he was considered lucky, two gold-absorbing trips in Las Vegas and New York He directly increased his pocket money by two million, let alone toll, let him buy a car and give it to Lu Qiujian!

Early on the weekend, Patrice drove a brand new Hummer under the dormitory building, carrying Lu Qiujiang to sail to New Jersey; Princeton is not far from the Meadowlands Arena, the home of the Nets, the two did not spend much time Just got there.

Walked around the city, Lv Qiujiang called Yao Ming's phone, and the other party was on the way, asking the restaurant where they found the place, and went in to wait.

"Yao, Xiao Lu, is this your team's Patrice?" The rare thing is that Yao Ming still remembers the * man in front of him.

"Hello, Yao! Your performance this year is excellent! Sign me up later!", Also an inside player, Patrice admires Yao Ming's skills.

"You played well, or come to the Rockets next season!", Yao Ming smiled and issued an invitation. Don't say he really wanted such a black and hard help to carry him on the inside.

Unfortunately, Lu Qiujiang did not plan to participate in the draft, which made Patrice have no plans to join the NBA, had to let Yao Ming again disappointed.

After eating, there is still some time until the game starts Yao Ming finally stated his purpose for this trip, "Xiao Lu, even if you don't plan to participate in the NBA, you will usually play? Are you interested in participating? Next year's Olympics?"

Amount, Olympics? Looking at Yao Ming's expectant look, Lu Qiujiang refused immediately, "I'll be in my senior year next year. It's time to graduate, and it's time to graduate the defense and apply for a new school. There may not be time!"

It's fine if you do n't directly refuse, which means there is still hope. Since the NCAA finals, he wanted to invite Lu Qiujiang to join the national team, but he directly said that he did n't plan to play in the NBA, but he forgot about it when he was shocked. ; It was not until the basketball center called two days ago that he made an appointment for him to watch the playoffs.

Yao Ming knew that this matter was not in a hurry, so when he saw Lu Qiujiang didn't refuse, he wouldn't mention it again. He said something interesting about the NBA for a while, and felt that it was almost time to take them to the Meadowlands Arena.

This year the Nets relied on Kidd, Martin and Jefferson 's troika to achieve a pretty good record. The attendance rate of the Meadowlands Arena has also been good. If Yao Ming is not there, it may not be so good. Location ticket.

The three came to the arena and sat down. Yao Ming's appearance quickly attracted the attention of many fans. They came over and asked for his signature before the game started.

The scene on the sidelines also attracted the attention of the on-site commentary. In addition to this power center, they also recognized the main players of this year's NCAA championship team, Lu Qiujian and Patrice. They immediately became interested.