Chapter 2 - Princeton

Thank you for your life, Yunshuixin, picky crow, lin11210, dare91 for your reward, and thank you for your evaluation.

The long-distance flight is very boring, middle-aged women and reporters quickly fell asleep, Lu Qiuqian still holding the “Scattering Theory of Autonomous Function” read with relish; wait for the reporter to wake up after a long sleep At the time, Lu Qiuqian still kept the posture of holding the book, and it seemed that he had never rested.

The following journey was a bit dull. The middle-aged woman stopped speaking after the blow. Yang Yang tried to talk to Lu Qiuqian several times and was blocked by her mother. Other people’s topics were also replaced by Yao Ming’s performance in the new season. , Shopping on Fifth Avenue, etc. After more than ten hours of flight, the flight landed at JFK International Airport in New York, and everyone got up and packed their bags before leaving.

Taking the mother’s empty baggage, Yang Yang quietly stuffed a small note into Lu Qiuqian’s hands and whispered, “I visited your school that day and you gave me a tour guide? Is there my phone number and email address on it? , Remember to email me! “

Lu Qiuqian froze a little, then nodded slightly, and the girl immediately burst out with a big smile. After completing the procedures, he came out of the airport and changed several modes of transportation. After more than an hour’s drive, Lu Qiuqian came to the small town of Princeton between New York and Philadelphia. This small town is located in the Delaware Plain of New Jersey.

On the east, it borders Carnegie Lake in the east, and Delaware River in the west. The scenery is beautiful, surrounded by trees and green grass. The clear river flows quietly around the town; at first glance, no one might think of this. There is a world-famous top school hidden in a town of 30,000 people.

Lv Qiu Jian strolled into the campus. Gothic buildings could be seen everywhere on both sides of the road. Ivy climbed the entire outer wall. The inscriptions on the seal all revealed a sense of historical weight. As reflected in these buildings, Princeton has spent more than 250 years since its establishment. It is the fifth longest university in American history, and it is also one of the top Ivy League universities in the United States. One of the promoters (the other three are Harvard, Yale, and Columbia). Because the oldest and most elite school buildings in the United States are covered by ivy, ivy has become their synonym.

Turned a corner, two stone tiger statues appeared on the roadside. Every university in the United States has its own symbol, and the symbol of Princeton is the tiger.

This university is also one of the richest universities in the world. US-NEWS ranks first in the latest ranking. So far, it has received nearly 10 billion US dollars, continuous donations from the Alumni Association and the efforts of some investment experts. In addition to academic research, Princeton has spent a lot of money on buying collections for the school's art museum, including works by Monet, Andy Warhol, and other famous painters. It can be said that the art collection here is not lost to any private museum.

The Chinese character engraved in front of the building—Hu Yingxiang's building was donated by Princeton's alumni, donated by Hong Kong's famous industrialist Hu Yingxiang. His architectural design came from a graduate of the Princeton architecture department, an architectural design master, and the Pritzker Prize, the highest award in architecture The hand of Robert-Venturi.

Lu Qiu built a stop in front of a red and white building. This is the Princeton Institute for Advanced Studies. In 1933, Albert Einstein, the greatest scientist of the twentieth century, came to the United States and served as a visiting professor in Princeton. And conduct general relativity research in this building. I have also worked here with Oppenheimer, the father of the atomic bomb, von Neumann, the father of computer and game theory, Gödel, who has shattered the beliefs of mathematicians for two thousand years, and the Chinese are familiar with it. Qiu Chengtong, Chen Shengshen and Yang Zhenning.

The long history, world-class academic environment, top academics, strong financial strength and lofty reputation bring an extremely demanding admission process. Nearly 30,000 people apply for Princeton every year, and only 2,000 lucky in the end The admission rate is only about 8%, which makes Princeton one of the most difficult universities in the United States to apply, but still can not stop a batch of talented young people to go on to succeed.

Lü Qiujian spent almost three months after possessing this body, and almost all his energy was used to fight for this precious exchange student.

Fortunately, the former owner of this body was also an academic hegemony. His credit points made him eligible for the application, and then he used his thesis to impress the old professor who holds the qualification for quota allocation to get what he wanted.

According to the instructions on the mail, he found the department responsible for the exchange student management and handed over a full set of supporting documents. The staff quickly completed the formalities for him, “You are assigned to Butler College of Accommodation, today you can go to the dormitory to rest, This is the course schedule. You will start the class with the Mathematics Department starting tomorrow! “

“Thank you, sir!” Lv Qiuqian concealed his excitement. William-Timothy-Galls, Andrew Wiles and other world-leading mathematics masters taught in Princeton. UU Reading Being able to have close contact with them is a dream opportunity for everyone in the world who is interested in developing mathematics, and this opportunity is in front of him.

From the office building, Lu Qiuqian slowly walked along the ivy-enclosed wall to Butler College, a sudden headache interrupted his appreciation of Princeton’s beautiful scenery, damn, came again, it seemed earlier than yesterday One hour!

Lv Qiuqian swallowed the headache and came to sit on the bench on the roadside. His finger pressed gently on his temple. “1A7488, what’s going on, how is my headache getting more and more frequent!”

“This is normal. There is always a price to pay for improving your IQ in a short time!” An indifferent voice echoed in his mind, “This carbon-based monkey’s brain has evolved too fast, plus you For a while, it is normal to use the brain too much to absorb the knowledge mastered by the original owner of the body. Frequent headaches are normal. “

“Is there any solution?”, Lv Qiuqian hit a frustrated punch on the mattress, “Also, when will I be able to return to my plane! I want my family, my friends, I want to see them earlier! “

“Boring emotions of lower creatures!”, The voice of 1A7488 without a trace of emotions sounded again, “Parasis, I said earlier that you only need to provide me with enough energy according to the plan, and I will let you go back; and Now, my energy is not enough to support my daily activities. I’m going to hibernate! As for your headache, you just need to use physical activity instead of mental activity to relax yourself! “, 1A7488 finally remember to help him before entering long sleep Solve the problem.
