

Daddy CEO 106

Chapter 106 Ran Xueyi's Indifference

Inside the VIP room.

Yang Baihua got up and looked around him. He was now alone and the woman he had just held in his arms had already left.

After having a passionate yet quick moment with Ran Yue inside that room, Yang Baihua's thirst for her seemed to have not been quelled just yet. If only she hadn't protested and stopped him from getting another round with her, he would have already ravaged her until they were both spent and incapable of moving a muscle.

But this was also good. This way, he wouldn't get tired of her easily and still have the desire to keep her around his side.

As he was just thinking of this, his phone that was placed on the bedside table suddenly lit up. A name he was overly familiar with was on the screen.

Song Qian has been calling him since earlier, but Yang Baihua was preoccupied with making love with another woman in his embrace that he didn't notice it until he was alone in the room.

Suddenly, guilt combined with his annoyance appeared in his heart. He was filled with guilt that he had made love with Ran Yue behind Song Qian, but he was also filled with annoyance of her calling him now.

Thinking about it again, since when was the last time that he and Song Qian made love? Yang Baihua wondered and found that he and his lover hadn't done it for a while now ever since they found out that she was pregnant. And because of that, he hadn't been able to get his much awaited release for several weeks... Until Ran Yue happened to him.

After a few more rings, he finally reached for the phone and answered lazily. The guilt inside his heart was quickly puffed out.

His voice still contained the raspiness of the previous round he and Ran Yue experienced on the hospital bed. However, Song Qian didn't seem to notice it either as she greeted him normally and asked him what happened.

The first thing that Ran Xueyi did when she got home was not to shower but to head to her computer that she recently bought when she arrived in the Capital.

When she saw the screen lit up and showed the icons, Ran Xueyi quickly clicked one app and started to run it. At the same time, she pulled out her headphones and plugged them into her computer. She controlled her mouse cursor and clicked a few times before she finally stopped clicking and only stared at the screen.

Ran Yue's appearance at the audition site was not unknown to her. Song Yu Han already mentioned to her before they stopped before the building of Dream TV that Ran Yue will appear as one of the auditioners as mentioned by his friend.

Thanks to that, Ran Xueyi was able to get prepared and bring a recorder. The recorder she got was not an ordinary one either. It was a recorder shaped like a button and had a function that saved the audio it captured every 30 minutes before restarting again and recording for another 30 minutes.

In that way, the moment Ran Xueyi left the audition room, she quickly turned on the recorder she put into Ran Yue's body and could hear what happened to the latter.

A few seconds later, Ran Xueyi finally heard something from her headphones. At first, it was just some rustling noise as if clothes were just rubbing together and nothing else. But soon, Ran Xueyi heard something other than that.

It was the sound of people speaking. It sounded a bit muffled if one were to not to focus on the voices. However, Ran Xueyi clicked a few times on the mouse again before the voices became clearer.

Soon the voices of Ran Yue and Yang Baihua were transmitted to her headphones.

Ran Xueyi heard the two of them discussing what happened to Yang Baihua's eye. Then, the two of them headed towards the hospital.

The journey to the hospital didn't seem eventful so Ran Xueyi poured herself a cup of tea. The audio continued to play and there wasn't that much to hear from it until she heard Yang Baihua asking Ran Yue to stay with him.

And just when Ran Xueyi was about to swallow the liquid in her mouth, the next second, she could no longer do it.

Ran Xueyi: "..."

Thankfully, she didn't spurt out the tea inside her mouth and spray it on her computer. That would be such a waste of money.

However, Ran Xueyi really wanted to destroy her computer now.

What was happening? Was this real? These two questions popped into her mind. Shocked at the turn of events, Ran Xueyi had a hard time taking this information in her system. At first, she only wanted to listen to what Yang Baihua and her sister planned to strike against her.

But who would have thought that she would hear Yang Baihua and Ran Yue's moans and pants through the audio. Of course, Ran Xueyi didn't need an assist to guess what was happening and what caused these sounds to come from them. But it still greatly shocked her.

When did Yang Baihua and Ran Yue have this kind of relationship?

And more importantly, what about Song Qian?

Ran Xueyi was done listening to the audio and finally stopped it. Though the recording will still record every thirty minutes, she no longer wanted to listen to it for now.

What happened between Ran Xueyi didn't affect her as much as when she found out that Song Qian and Yang Baihua had been cheating on her. Probably it was because she no longer has feelings for Yang Baihua. Besides, she's now married to an outstanding man like Song Yu Han that no matter whom Yang Baihua got together with no longer mattered to her.

But still, she couldn't help but grow silent at the thought of her own sister having such views and feelings towards Yang Baihua. What was so great about him anyway that Ran Yue would put her life at stake for that man?

Nevertheless, Ran Xueyi didn't have any reasons to get between the two or have any other thoughts about this.

Looking at the audio she saved on her computer... Ran Xueyi thought that she was a wicked person too. Because instead of feeling concern for her blood-related sister, she had malicious thoughts... Such as using this audio to make all of them suffer.

Chapter 107 Ran Xueyi's Office

The next day, Ran Xueyi took a bath and changed her clothes when she went downstairs to eat breakfast with Song Yu Han. They talked about simple things and even that was enough to make the two of them grow closer to each other.

"I'm going to the office now. Call me if you need anything." Song Yu Han grabbed his coat and pulled on her waist as he planted a kiss on her lips.

Ran Xueyi giggled and said, "The country will be surprised to know that the legendary Young Master Song loves showering his wife kisses."

Song Yu Han stared deeply into her eyes and replied, "They will be even more shocked if they knew what other things I'm capable of doing with my wife."

"Beast!" Ran Xueyi playfully pushed him away.

But Song Yu Han's body didn't even move when she did that. He tightened his hold around her waist and said, "Let me get my daily dose of energy from you."

Ran Xueyi didn't know what he was talking about and only felt him put his chin on the crook of her neck. Then, Song Yu Han took a deep breath, taking her scent into his system.

Her soft, supple body was just too alluring and was the perfect fit in his arms. Her natural scent was even more tantalizing and if Song Yu Han hadn't controlled himself in time, he would have to call on his assistant to cancel his schedule for the day and accompany his wife in the house and cuddle with her the whole day.

But before Song Yu Han could bring a finality to his decision, Ran Xueyi pushed him out of the door and told him to go already. She felt a bit guilty after seeing him stare at her with those puppy eyes, but she steeled herself. She already took a lot of his time and even made him wait on her yesterday! At this rate, she was really going to get addicted to him spoiling her like this and end up stealing all his time to herself!

Thus with great difficulty, she finally pushed him out of the villa and watched his car leave the compound.

Ran Xueyi smiled and closed the door behind her. The moment she stared at the spacious living room, she felt that it was too empty. If only there were children running around this place then, wouldn't this place be a bit more crowded and lively?

But Ran Xueyi didn't want to think about this matter for now. The IVF already failed according to the doctor who operated it.

After putting on her makeup and changing into a casual dress, Ran Xueyi drove her car to the building that she previously bought when she first came to the capital. The drive there wasn't long and before she knew it, she already arrived in front of the building.

Standing right in front of it was Liu Ran, who quickly waved his hands to her. Ran Xueyi beeped her horn and slowly got closer.

"You're finally here!" Liu Ran exclaimed.

Ran Xueyi laughed, "That's why I told you to wait for me inside."

"How can I do that? I need to act as your tour guide today!"

Ran Xueyi laughed and finally got out of her car. The building finally had a touch of life in it. The insides of the building were also designed quite well, and it perfectly matched the pictures that Liu Ran sent to her by the interior designer.

After almost an hour of touring the whole place, Ran Xueyi finally stopped at the top floor where the president's office was located.

Ran Xueyi felt an indescribable feeling of excitement and almost wanted to jump when she saw her office. The whole top floor was hers to use and it was even more grandly designed compared to the floors below.

Liu Ran stepped behind her and asked, "Did you like it?"

"Of course, I like it!" Ran Xueyi happily exclaimed as she rushed to her desk. Her fingers caressed the smooth surface of her desk table and finally plopped on the cushions of the chair behind it.

Liu Ran watched her in joy as well. He felt proud like a mother when they saw their children achieve something in their lives. Though Ran Xueyi was his friend, she was still someone he could consider as his younger sister.

"That's good to hear. The designer who designed your office would cry if she finds out that you didn't like it. Thankfully, you did..." He put his hands on the back of her chair and spun it around to face the floor to ceiling glass window. "Look in front of you."

Ran Xueyi raised an eyebrow in question as she looked in front. "What is it?"

The floor to ceiling windows were transparent. Since it was in the capital, there were many skyscrapers buildings and companies that were sporadically scattered. If they weren't as tall as the building that Ran Xueyi bought, she wouldn't even see them from where she sat.

The sun was already at its peak and the reflection of light was gaudy and dazzling against the glass walls of these buildings. And just when Ran Xueyi was almost blinded by the glare of lights, she saw Liu Ran pointing towards the tallest building in the center of the capital.

"You know what that building is?" Liu Ran asked mysteriously with a smile.

Ran Xueyi shook her head and said, "No."

She hasn't been in the capital for a long time. And when she finally got here a few weeks ago, she also had no time to sightsee and observe the capital. And so, she had no idea what Liu Ran was talking about.

Liu Ran let out a tired sigh before he pointed at the tallest building again as if it was an insult and an offending matter not to know that skyscraper building!

Ran Xueyi glanced at him, completely clueless.

Upon seeing her oblivious expression, Liu Ran finally gave up and dispiritedly said, "How could you not know that your husband is the one who owned that building?"

Ran Xueyi: "..."

After a long silence, Ran Xueyi blinked her eyes multiple times.

Chapter 108 A Different Type Of Hunger

She didn't expect that her husband's company building was just right in front of her. Fascination overwhelmed her as her eyes were glued to the skyscraper in front of her and wondered what Song Yu Han was doing right now.

Seeing her in a daze, Liu Ran waved his hand in front of her eyes, but Ran Xueyi was quite captivated with what she was looking at.

Finally, he couldn't take it any longer and Liu Ran snapped his fingers, "Hey, wake up! It's not time to fantasize about your husband in his office!"

Ran Xueyi stared at him with an odd gaze: "What are you talking about?"

"Do you honestly think I don't know what's happening inside your mind?" Liu Ran laughed bitterly. "I know you're thinking what he'd look like while he's in his office and what other naughty things you could think of!"

Ran Xueyi: "..."

I definitely wasn't thinking of that... But now that you already mentioned it, I can't help but imagine it! Ran Xueyi screamed inwardly.

Ran Xueyi went silent as she really did imagine Song Yu Han inside his office, pulling on his necktie and icily gazing at his people. She didn't know whether she should laugh or cry at this situation.

"Alright, enough. I'm not as perverse as you think I am." Ran Xueyi tried to make herself look a bit better in front of her friend.

However, Liu Ran only disdainfully stared at her, before he sighed as if there was no saving her from falling down the gutter.

After touring the whole building, Ran Xueyi finally decided on the opening day of her entertainment company... However, there was a tiny problem that almost made these two in chaos.

"I already told you, naming it Paradise Entertainment is better!"

Ran Xueyi glared at her friend, "And I told you, It's too cringe-worthy! What kind of paradise do you think the entertainment industry is? Some kind of heaven-like place?"

Liu Ran did not know what to respond to because he knew that the entertainment industry was truly not a place like paradise. He was silent for a second before asking, "Then, what do you think will be a good name?"

Ran Xueyi: "..."

"You at least thought of it before deciding to create an entertainment company right?" Liu Ran stared at her suspiciously.

Ran Xueyi awkwardly smiled. "I want to name it Chestnut."

Liu Ran: "... Why?"

Under his intense gaze, Ran Xueyi scratched her nose and replied, "I just thought that if I ever have a baby or a cat, I'd name them Chestnut."

Liu Ran didn't know whether he should laugh or cry. In the end, he had to show a dead-panned look as he sighed. "Your naming sense is much worse than mine."

"It's cute though..."

"I think your husband will disagree if he hears this," Liu Ran paused, then his eyes lit up as he thought of something great, "I know! Why don't you call your husband and tell him to help!"

A minute later, Ran Xueyi held her phone against her ear while Liu Ran stood closely to her and also had his ear pasted on the other side of the phone.

The ringing tone continued until it stopped.

A deep and magnetic voice soon sounded through the phone, "Xueyi?"

Ran Xueyi couldn't blush by just hearing his voice. Her heart even skipped a beat as he uttered her name.

"What's wrong?" Song Yu Han held his hand up to stop Special Assistant Guo from continuing.

Special Assistant Guo quickly shut his mouth and didn't utter any sound.

Ran Xueyi finally stopped falling into his dreamy voice and asked, "Are you busy right now? I just want to ask you something really quick!"

"Go ahead, I'm not that busy."

Special Assistant Guo looked at the reports on top of the president's desk and sighed bitterly.

Ran Xueyi told Song Yu Han what she and Liu Ran had been discussing. After a whole minute, Song Yu Han hummed and replied, "I think Chestnut is a good company name."

Liu Ran: "..."

Special Assistant Guo: "..."

Ran Xueyi smiled calmly and said, "Alright, hubby! Thanks!"

Song Yu Han responded warmly to her before the two hung up.

"Sir... Are you sure that's alright?" Special Assistant Guo couldn't help but ask his boss.

Song Yu Han answered with a look, "Aside from the fact that my wife's naming sense is adorable... I think the name will be accepted by other people. The name Chestnut hasn't been used and heard of, but once people hear it, they will think of it being such a friendly environment and company. In this way, not only will people accept the company warmly, they will be curious to know about it."

By the time the newly established entertainment company with the name Chestnut will be released, there will be people who will wonder and get interested in it. And the moment the company rises in the country, more people will try to get themselves involved with it and won't underestimate it anymore.

Besides, when has it that a company would have such an endearing and friendly name in front of their building?

Special Assistant Guo threw a thumbs up to his boss. He was really impressed that his boss thought further than him. As expected, how his boss's mind works is really different to other people! He could even make his wife's bad naming sense into something immaculate and perfect!

Unbeknownst to Song Yu Han, a certain assistant was already admiring his method of spoiling his wife.

After talking to Song Yu Han and getting his reply, Ran Xueyi threw a smug look at Liu Ran.

Liu Ran raised his hands in surrender, "I give up... I can't compete against your luck to get such a henpecked husband."

Ran Xueyi: "Then, you should get yours."

Liu Ran: "Where would I get a wife who's a CEO and would spoil me?"

Ran Xueyi stared at him: "Why not get a husband then?"

Liu Ran: "..."

On the evening of that day, Ran Xueyi received a call from the staff of the drama << A Thousand Lotus >> informing her that she got the role of the female protagonist and will immediately go to the shooting site next month.

Hence, for a whole month, Ran Xueyi had a lot of free time to gather all the things she needed to complete her company and also get enough preparation on whatever Yang Baihua and her family was planning.

Ran Xueyi just finished taking a bath for the night. She came out of the bathroom with her hair still wet and a droplet of water fell on the ground. She made her way to the bed and stared at Song Yu Han who had his back leaning against the headboard. "How are you still working even though you're no longer in your office?"

Ran Xueyi watched the fingers on the tablet in his hand paused before he tossed it aside. Song Yu Han put his hands on her shoulders before dragging her to his arms. He rested his chin on the crook of Ran Xueyi's neck. His deep obsidian eyes twinkled like the stars in the sky; it was if his eyes held the entire universe in it. And Ran Xueyi could see her reflection through his eyes.

"It's a little cold tonight." Song Yu Han suddenly said. "Put your arms around me. I want to cuddle, dear wife."

"Alright--" Ran Xueyi was about to do as he said, when she felt that a hand had already slipped through her shirt.

Ran Xueyi frowned. She glanced up at him to reprimand him of his stealthy actions, but upon seeing the terrifying look in his eyes, she blinked and could only stare at him. Slightly taken aback by the ravenous look in his eyes, Ran Xueyi finally realized that he wasn't just purely asking for cuddles.

"Yu Han..." Ran Xueyi tentatively called out his name. "What kind of look is that?"

Song Yu Han didn't avert his gaze and seductively answered: "It's how I look when I'm hungry."

Ran Xueyi: "But didn't we just have our dinner earlier?"

Song Yu Han didn't deny it and nodded: "That's right. But this is a different type of hunger."

"And my stomach can still take a few more bites of something else."

Ran Xueyi had no response to that. She'd be a complete idiot if she still couldn't realize what he meant by his words!

In the end, Ran Xueyi was eaten by a ravenous beast in the middle of night. It was only until one in the morning did the two shadows under the light stopped moving and peacefully slept through the remaining hours of the night to catch their sleep.

Chapter 109 Getting New People

The very next day, Ran Xueyi woke up early and had already gotten out of the house to take care of her newly furnished entertainment company. She was going to be preoccupied with a lot of matters and she had no time to waste because next month, she will start acting in a new role in a drama.

After briefly saying goodbye and kissing Song Yu Han on the cheeks, Ran Xueyi drove her car to the office building. And just as she saw the front entrance of the building, she saw several figures standing in front.

Ran Xueyi frowned. What's going on? Did the press already know that she had opened her own entertainment company?

She quickly squashed this thought as she hadn't contacted any press to spread the news of her owning an entertainment. Besides, other than her, there was Liu Ran and Song Yu Han, who were the only ones who knew about this.

Nevertheless, for the sake of finding out the reason why there were people waiting outside of the office building, Ran Xueyi slowly drove her car towards him, only stopping the car when she was a few feet away from them.

"Hello, everyone. What are you standing in front of this building?" Ran Xueyi greeted them as soon as she stepped out of her car. Her smile remained professional and friendly.

The crowd's eyes suddenly brightened up when they saw her. They quickly surrounded her, and it took a lot of effort for Ran Xueyi to not have the urge to step back. As the people around her were looking at her as though they were hyenas in the middle of the desert who finally saw their prey walking blindly in front of them, a sound from someone clearing their throat seemed enough to stop these people from advancing to her.

Ran Xueyi sighed in relief when she saw the people stop just a few feet away from her. She then whipped her head towards the sound and saw an older man about the age of 40 years old and a bit on the taller side, just around the height between 182cm to 184cm. He also carried an aura of someone who was used to ordering people around.

Somehow, he reminded Ran Xueyi of her grandfather when she was younger.

The middle-aged man approached her and reached his hand out for a handshake. "I am Wu Qi. I was sent here by President Song to help you in your company." He pointed to the other people who finally distanced themselves from her and stood in line behind the man.

Ran Xueyi was surprised. She didn't expect that Song Yu Han would send her some people who would help her out manage the whole office building. She has been wondering if she should call Liu Ran to hire some people who could help her since it was impossible to single-handedly manage a whole 17-storey building by herself. Thankfully, Song Yu Han quickly read her mind and thoughtfully sent help to her.

After getting to know the names of the people brought by Wu Qi to help in the office building, Ran Xueyi led them inside and did a short tour for them. After touring the building, Ran Xueyi finally settled with the others in the lounge room located in the sixth floor of the building.

The lounge room was a spacious area where any of the artists and employees of the company could take their rest or breaks when they had nothing to do. The whole floor was created to make the person who would stay there feel a sense of peacefulness and at the same, they would feel at home.

Ran Xueyi led the group to the other side of the wide room where a long table was placed. She sat at the head of the table and made a gesture for them to take their seats.

She found out that Wu Qi and the others were employees of YH company from another branch in City Z. They were originally employees of the Lu family, however, after the family fell to ruins years ago, they couldn't find another place to work at and decided to scatter around the city. But when Song Yu Han returned to Flower Country again, he quickly found them and started to get in contact with them, wishing for them to return.

As someone who knew how to be grateful and pay back the good things they received, these people didn't even think about it and accepted his offer. After all, Song Yu Han was the son of their young miss and they couldn't neglect him. Besides, they still owe him a lot for the kindness that his mother showed to them when they had nothing in life.

But gathering all of the people who scattered in the country was not easy. There were some who refused Song Yu Han's offer and said they want to live in the outskirts and near the ocean and focus on their families, while some were either not in this world anymore or out of the country. Thus, it took him a bit longer to get every willing person to come.

Ran Xueyi felt all warm inside after hearing everything from Wu Qi. Not only did Song Yu Han help her get some people to help her in her office building and manage her company, he even sent the people who were once beside his mother to her side.

Needless to say, Song Yu Han's trust in her was limitless.

Since it has been a long time since she was able to get involved herself in business matters and how to handle a company, Ran Xueyi let Wu Qi manage the people and what position they will be playing in the country. Of course, though she handed the power to manage these people to Wu Qi, she didn't forget what position she held in the company.

After a long day, Ran Xueyi sat inside her office and was looking at the resume that Wu Qi gave her. These stacks of documents on her desk were all from them. It took her half a day to finish familiarizing herself with the information that was in their resumes. And just when she was about to close her eyes to rest them, a rapping sound came from her office door.

"Come in!"

Chapter 110 "Yu Han! Don't Be Too Shameless!"

Ran Xueyi nonchalantly said and didn't bother opening her eyes. She was too tired for the day and even lifting an arm was already tiring for her. She heard the door to her office slowly being pulled open and the soft yet firm footsteps walk in the room.

Still with her eyes closed, Ran Xueyi listened to the sound calmly. She assumed that the person who entered the room was Wu Qi who came to give her another stack of paper for her to work on, when Ran Xueyi found something strange.

Wu Qi didn't stop in front of her just as he did so earlier when he entered her office to discuss some business matters. The footsteps continued to walk until it stopped beside her chair.

Suddenly, out of instinct, Ran Xueyi felt somebody's eyes staring at her, very intensely. She no longer had the urge to take a nap and let her eyes fly open. What stood in front of her soon shocked her.

"What are you doing here?" Ran Xueyi asked. She was surprised to see Song Yu Han inside her office.

Song Yu Han held a flower in his hand and said, "Congratulations on officially starting your own entertainment company."

Ran Xueyi took the bouquet of flowers from him and took a smell of it; the sweet, resplendent scent gently assaulted her nose, but it wasn't overwhelming. Instead, Ran Xueyi's nerves that had been tense all day quickly relaxed upon taking a whiff of these flowers.

After saying her thank you, Ran Xueyi stood up and went to the vase on top of the sideboards against the wall close to her desk. Since it was empty, Ran Xueyi quickly took the flowers in her arms and put each of them inside the vase. Soon, the room became a bit more lively with the flowers finally occupying the vase.

Returning to his side, Ran Xueyi saw him sitting on the chair she used to sit on just now. She raised an eyebrow, but he returned it with an amused look in his eyes. He then gestured for her to come closer and she did walk closer to him.

The moment Ran Xueyi stood next to him, his hand gently pulled her towards him. Ran Xueyi gasped and found herself sitting on top of his lap.

"What time is it?" Song Yu Han said as he grabbed a strand of her hair and twirled it between his fingers.

Ran Xueyi looked at her watch and said, "It's already four in the afternoon."

"And have you had your lunch?"

Ran Xueyi thought about it... It seems that she didn't eat anything. "I forgot about it."

"I thought so." Song Yu Han said. "I heard from Uncle Wu that you haven't stepped down since you entered your office."

"He called you?"

Song Yu Han nodded. "I sent him here to help you. But aside from that, I also sent him to you so that he could lessen your worries and tell me if anything bad happens to you. But it seems that not even a day has passed and you're making me worry about you already."

"I only forgot about lunch... There's no need to worry too much," Ran Xueyi told him. "Besides, I am not feeling that hungry. I'll just grab something to eat when dinner comes or when I feel hungry."

The fingers twirling her hair froze. Then, she heard him say: "But I'm hungry."

Ran Xueyi frowned. She seemed to have heard this line before. "You didn't eat anything too?"

Song Yu Han flashed her a mysterious smile and didn't say anything.

Ran Xueyi shivered and jumped up from his lap only to be pulled down towards him again. There's no need for her to hear the words from his lips, his smile was enough for her to remember last night.

Ran Xueyi: "Yu Han! Don't be too shameless!"

Song Yu Han wrapped his arms over her waist and planted his chin on her neck. "I can only be shameless when I'm with you, dear wife. And didn't you say you weren't hungry?"

"So, I thought maybe you aren't hungry for food. But you're hungry for me."

Ran Xueyi felt her mind exploding. How had she not realized that this man could be so outrageous with his appetite and words!

"O-kay! Okay! I'll eat now!" Ran Xueyi surrendered.

"Hm? What did you say?" Song Yu Han asked as he unbuttoned the first button on his shirt. His eyes were glimmering with a light that Ran Xueyi knew too well. It was the same light he had last night!

Ran Xueyi's soul almost flew out of her body. "I mean I want to eat food! I think the lobster restaurant we went to last time should be good! No, I think I can order all the food in their menu and gobble them up!"

She felt the man behind her tremble. Ran Xueyi realized that he was laughing at her. But no matter what, Ran Xueyi didn't want to stay inside the office anymore. She dragged the still laughing Song Yu Han out of her office as if she feared that if she was even a minute late and Song Yu Han was finished laughing, he would pull her down her desk and start to ravage her just like last night.

Though Ran Xueyi didn't hate it and even felt excited just thinking about it, she was afraid that with Song Yu Han's appetite, she might only get out of the office building until the next day arrived.

And so, the two came out of the office building while holding their hands and drove to Ran Xueyi's favorite lobster restaurant.

Watching the two leave, Wu Qi sighed in relief. He was standing in front of the window glass and looking at the two figures disappearing inside their car. His eyes had a faint hint of joy as he saw the gloomy and cold son of his young miss finally have a smile on his lips.