Chapter 171 Posting The Photos Online (2)

Director Zheng, who was the other person in the photos spread in several social media platforms, had no idea about what happened that night. He was currently texting his wife before rescheduling all the scenes that were supposedly set to shoot in the coming days.

Since the script was changed and Ran Xueyi's lines and scenes were reduced a lot, the first day of filming did not include her in it. Originally, it was Ran Xueyi who had several scenes to shoot on that day, but since the changes were made, the other characters in the drama had to replace her.

It was long after dinner that some of the crew in the drama went back to work with Director Zheng to set the new schedule that one of them procrastinated and looked down on their phones and saw the post.

He exclaimed, "Woah! These people are really shameless."

Hearing him cry out while everyone else was busy, some of the other crews were clearly dissatisfied and reprimanded him.

"Hey, who said you could use your phone when we're busy rescheduling and recreating the plans for the props?" one person said.

The man who exclaimed in the beginning looked a bit embarrassed since what they said was true. But his gossiping soul couldn't calm down and wanted to share what he saw in his phone so he reached his hand with the phone and let them see the photos he was just looking at now.

The others wanted to stop him and tell him to refrain from messing around, but when they saw the photos, they became silent and also looked intently at the photos.

Director Zheng also noticed them, but didn't scold them for using their working time to look at their phones. Actually, he was also curious about what they were looking at and moved his chair over to have a look.

The first few seconds his eyes fell on the photos, he wanted to go along with the others and laugh, but then, his body froze when he saw a familiar mole on the inner leg of the man in the photo.

Ultimately after seeing that mole, he felt his soul leaving his body as he also recognized that room in the photo.

It was the room he and Gu Jiao were in that night!

He didn't want to believe it, but the photos were a hard thing to ignore especially since he was very clear about the mole on his inner legs since he was almost bullied because of it during his teen years and even wished to undergo a surgical procedure to slice off that mole.

How could this happen? Who did it?

These questions spiraled inside his mind as he continued to look at the photos that the others were laughing about.

"Woah, this young woman is amazing! I'm impressed she could actually sleep with someone with that wrinkly body," commented the assistant director.

One of the cameramen laughed. "Yeah, right. I bet you'd sleep with an old man too."

The assistant director thought about it for a second and shrugged. "Well, if that man can give me enough money, maybe I can reconsider and sleep with him too."

The others laughed at their conversation. It was only Director Zheng, who didn't laugh and looked extremely pale as he listened to the other's speak without thinking.

Actually, the truth behind the reason why he agreed quickly when Gu Jiao told him to change the script and delete most of the female lead's scenes was because of this. Two nights before he contacted Scriptwriter Chun, he met with Gu Jiao after that latter asked to meet with him to ask him about something that concerns the drama.

As the chief director, Director Zheng wanted to perform his best to grab this year's Best Television Director award during the Golden Leaf Award. He was also not this amoral and corrupt that he would mindlessly do something that could erase the true essence of the drama he wanted to direct.

However, after he got drunk and slept with Gu Jiao, everything changed. Gu Jiao threatened to tell him wife about what happened and also tell everyone that he r*ped her. It was inaccurate and ridiculous since he never forced her to sleep with her and it was her who made him drink so much that night.

But since the deed was done, he could only bend to her wishes since Gu Jiao's threats were truly scary since no matter if they did it because they're drunk and too confused, once words that he forced her to sleep with him were to spread, his life would be over. Besides, she promised to give him three million yuan if he followed her wishes.

Thus, he agreed to her every request. First was to add more scenes to her character, the second female lead, and promote her more so she could gain everyone's attention. The second was to delete almost all of the female lead's scenes and NG her a lot while Ran Xueyi filming her scenes so she could be humiliated in front of everyone.

"Director Zheng, are you okay?" the assistant director saw how pale his face looked and she asked in concern.

When Director Zheng stepped into the hotel, he never expected that he would bump into someone he knew inside the elevator.

Gu Jiao and Albert also didn't expect that they would encounter each other so soon. But the timing was perfect since they also wanted to talk to Director Zheng since this issue involved him.

"Director Zheng, are you here to look for Gu Jiao?" Albert saw how dark Director Zheng's expression was and stepped forward to shield his artist from him.

"Were you the one who released the photos?" Gu Jiao stared daggers at Director Zheng.

Director Zheng gritted his teeth and angrily scoffed. "I was going to ask you the same question... but since you're clueless as I am, I guess you're not the one who released it."

"If it's not you then, who is it?" Gu Jiao said. "The only people who knew about what happened that night are in this elevator."

Director Zheng looked away and thought about it. He was running back to the hotel to confront Gu Jiao about this, but surprisingly, she also had no clue and was accusing him of spreading it. All of them knew that if this kind of thing was spread around, their careers and life would be over so they wouldn't think of stabbing each other without gaining anything.

Then, who did it?

At this moment, the person they were looking for was eating donuts inside her room.

Zhao Fei walked back inside the room after making a call and said, "As you expected, someone already made a move and took down the photos."

"What's your next plan?"

Ran Xueyi slowly chewed her food. Her eyes were bright while she happily smiled as if she wasn't about to destroy somebody's life forever.

"Contact Director Zheng's wife and Gu Jiao's support. Give them a snippet of the video so they can enjoy it too."

Chapter 172 The One Who Should Leave (1)

After the photos were taken and removed from the hot search and trending list, it previously suppressed any discussions from being talked about by the netizens and passersby. However, not even a few hours later, a new topic was pushed forward in the rankings, shocking everyone at their roots when they read the words titled for that topic.

The topic "A veteran actress who remained on hiatus for the past 6 years has returned to suppress a new actress", spread so much that it almost resembled a wildfire. Many who saw this topic rushing forward to take the top 3 in the trending hot ranking showed a confused expression on their faces. They had no clue who this topic was talking about until someone pointed out that there was indeed an actress who took a long break for six years and only recently did she emerge in the public through another scandal involving another actress.

When some of the expert netizens on several platforms saw this, they immediately took their magnifying glass and detective hats to act like Detective Conan, and investigate the identity of this 'veteran actress'.

Not even an hour passed by, they quickly found Ran Xueyi's name which was also embroiled in a scandal that her younger sister, Ran Yue, was currently entangled with a few weeks ago.

This led many people to think that Ran Xueyi was making her move to return to the TV screens and had already joined a crew to film something in secret. And if they followed this train of events, however, they also found out that she arrived in Silver City at the same time as Gu Jiao evidenced by a photo taken during Gu Jiao's drop-off meeting with her fans.

Originally, not many believed this since it was a bit too much of a coincidence, but Gu Jiao's fans were heated up when they saw their idol's name being mentioned and also dug up the airport photos and videos they took during that day.

It wasn't only Gu Jiao's fan who came to take a look, even some of Ran Xueyi's minor fans she obtained at Ran Yue's birthday came to investigate. When they dissected the videos and photos taken on that day, they found that a tall woman covered in black clothes, black mask, and a black hat on top of her head was there. And if they zoomed it a bit and compared it to past airport photos of Ran Xueyi, the similarities was almost 95 percent of that tall woman in the recent airport photos of Gu Jiao.

Everyone was extremely astonished at their discoveries and this was quickly spread around. It didn't blow up as much, but the effect was still there especially, since many of Gu Jiao's fans were calling out Ran Xueyi to come out and explain why she's bullying their idol, Gu Jiao.

Albert and Gu Jiao's company saw this happen and they also lent some help to make this matter blow up so much that it took the top ranking in hot searches. It was unknown which post first wrote the words "Ran Xueyi, get out of the entertainment circle. Stop bullying new actresses", but it ignited many fans and passersby to fire and start shooting off their mouths to express their opinions.

At this time, Gu Jiao's fans were extremely angered by this. They went and cursed a lot on Ran Xueyi's official Weibo page and called her out. Most didn't know the reason behind this topic from blowing up, but still, they love their idol so much that they only wanted to defend her from a bully! Their goddess Jiao was an innocent and gentle angel, why should she be bullied by some actress who left the entertainment circle for six years and is not as popular as their idol?

More and more people came to Ran Xueyi's latest post, which was the photoshoot endorsement she did for Senhe Fashion House. The blatant swear words and unsightly things they called her almost flooded Ran Xueyi's fans' previous comments in there.

When Zhao Fei saw this, she felt her heart tighten and she took a deep breath. Her heart was aching watching these people abuse her artist without knowing the truth. And as much as she wanted to do something such as fire back at these abusive and brainless fans, she couldn't do it without Ran Xueyi's permission.

"They took a bite. They might have already guessed that the photos had something to do with you. However, they don't have any evidence to back their suspicions and decided to ruin you in front of everyone." Zhao Fei put down her phone and grabbed the pair of chopsticks to grab a piece of meat with a spicy sauce. "Look at these fans trying to raise this issue and asking the government to blacklist you from the entertainment circle. Tsk, so shameless!"

Ran Xueyi slowly nodded and savored the taste of the meat inside her mouth, "Wait a bit longer, Sister Zhao." She tapped a finger on the table as she glanced down at her phone with the Weibo page filling the screens. "Let this thing blow up some more before we counter attack. I'm sure even without lifting a hand, someone will reverse our situation."

Zhao Fei sighed. She thought she met all kinds of people in their circle, good and bad. But she never thought that Ran Xueyi was so smart and calculative that she could see through the overall situation and even planned an attack that would never be evaded by her prey.

"We just need to cut Director Zheng's and Gu Jiao's support then, everything will go as smoothly as I wanted it to be."

"That's true." Zhao Fei admitted that Ran Xueyi's method of revenge was very effective and intelligent.

Director Zheng's arrogance was all due to his wife's position as the Vice President of Brilliant Media. As for Gu Jiao, she was only able to shoot up to her current popularity because of the patron behind her back, helping her boost up her fame and get more endorsement deals.

Without these two people's support and help, would Director Zheng and Gu Jiao even be able to survive in the entertainment circle?

"Sister Zhao! Sister Ran!" Feng Huai pushed open the door to their hotel room and hurriedly stepped inside. His face was white as a sheet of paper and he took a huge gulp before exclaiming, "Not good! Gu Jiao, Director Zheng, and Producer Luo are trying to do something behind our backs again!"

Zhao Fei and Ran Xueyi looked at each other.

Zhao Fei asked him what he was talking about. Feng Huai immediately explained, "I just went out to buy our drinks when I overheard Gu Jiao's manager telling somebody to release a statement with them admitting that your contract with them will be terminated. They also planned to have a press conference and accuse you of defamation and threats."

"What?!" Zhao Fei slammed her hand that was holding the chopsticks on the table, making a loud clattering noise, "Defamation and threats? Do they actually have proof to back their accusations? This is really nonsense, who would believe them?!"

Feng Huai also thought like this when he first heard this. Earlier, the elevator of the hotel had to undergo a maintenance repair when he came back after buying their drinks. They told him that it would at least take 15 minutes for them to finish. Not wanting to let their drinks lose their cold and freshness, Feng Huai took it upon himself to use the emergency stairs to their hotel room.

But who knew that when he reached the third floor, he would hear somebody talking alone in that cramped and lonely place. He quickly recognized the voice of Gu Jiao's manager, Albert, and he couldn't help but listen to it especially when he heard Ran Xueyi's name from his lips.

Later, after Albert left, Feng Huai ran back to their hotel and told Zhao Fei and Ran Xueyi about what he heard.

Ran Xueyi glanced at the two people talking in front of her. Her appetite was gone and her eyes sank completely.

Director Zheng, Gu Jiao, and Producer Luo banded together to bring her down ruthlessly. They would make up lies and paint themselves as victims, taking consideration of the current situation where the fans are currently siding with them.

With their united statements and accusations, whether their words were true or not, people will still believe their words over her own.

They even planned to do a press conference to address this issue ahead of time.

That only means they found a way to get out of this situation.

Zhao Fei and Feng Huai saw her walk out and looked at each other before they quickly followed after her.

Inside Producer Luo's room.

Sitting comfortably in the cushion of the sofa inside the mini living room, Gu Jiao was looking down at the white paper she was holding in her hand.

Director Zheng glanced at her for a second before moving his gaze to say, "Luo Huan, I'm surprised you are willing to go through the press conference with us. I thought you wouldn't want to join us."

Producer Luo had a stern look on his face, but a rare helplessness flashed in his eyes. He replied, "Since I already made up my choice, I should naturally go through it until the end. Don't question me again, Director Zheng."

Director Zheng scoffed, "What are you saying? It's not as if you can't resign and let us do this by ourselves... Oh, wait... you can't do that since you might get blacklisted by President Tzongshi if you did that."

"Don't worry, Producer Luo. Just think about the money we will receive from President Tzongshi." Scriptwriter Chun stepped forward and patted him on the shoulder, "In addition, didn't he promise us that he will give us what we wanted during the Golden Leaf award?"

Producer Luo also knew this and did not know what to say. President Tzongshi, who was the man supporting Gu Jiao, really said this to them earlier. For as long as they would accuse Ran Xueyi of defamation and threaten them with edited photos and kick her out of the play, they don't have to worry about anything else.

Additionally, President Tzongshi mentioned that he would fabricate the evidence against Ran Xueyi. What they needed to do was act and pretend as victims instead.

Scriptwriter Chun saw that Producer Luo was calming down and was about to say something when they heard a commotion, and in the next second, the door was kicked open from outside.

The loud sound shocked everyone and before anyone inside the room could react, Ran Xueyi had already stepped into the room.

Ran Xueyi's complexion was naturally pale, but at this moment, it was even whiter under the warm lights of the room, and the coldness in her eyes became more obvious.

"What are you doing? Trespassing inside another person's room without permission, Ran Xueyi, aren't you being too unruly right now?" Director Zheng's courage was too big after getting somebody's help.

Ran Xueyi raised her eyebrow and coldly asked, "When you changed the script and deleted my scenes, did you even ask for my permission? Did you get your wife's permission to cheat as well?"

"You!" Director Zheng pointed his finger at her. "So it was really you!"

Ran Xueyi did not care if they knew that she was the one who spread it since sooner or later, they would know about it anyway. However, she couldn't forgive them for what they were about to do. Rather than repenting, they would rather fight against her to death.

In truth, she wanted to give them one last chance to regret their actions and settle things privately, but they chose to publicize it in hopes of destroying her completely.

How could Ran Xueyi allow them to act recklessly like this towards her?

Gu Jiao stared at Ran Xueyi. This should have been the second time she met Ran Xueyi. The first time, she met her at the airport and at that time, she was already feeling self-conscious and lost her confidence when standing beside the masked Ran Xueyi.

However, right at this moment, that same inferior and suppressed feeling was coming back to her. It irritated her even more when she saw Ran Xueyi's peerless face and seductive body.

Gu Jiao stepped forward with an insincere smile, "Miss Ran, you don't have to come here to say all these words to us. Either just accept the new script or resign. Then, maybe I will be more forgiving and forget what you did."

"Ah, you have to post an apology on your Weibo page too. Tell everyone that the photo was spread by you because you wanted people's attention and to promote yourself in public."

Director Zheng stared at Gu Jiao, surprised that she would be willing to forgive Ran Xueyi. However, he doesn't want this to happen. Ran Xueyi already admitted that she was the one who spread their photos, almost destroying him if not for Gu Jiao's help. Why should he let Ran Xueyi go unscathed?

"There's no need to forgive her, just resign and get out of here!" Director Zheng angrily shouted.

Zhao Fei and Feng Huai almost died out of anger at this situation. Why are they so outrageous and unashamed?

Ran Xueyi was also thinking of this and was about to retort when another person's voice fell.

A low and deep voice resonated inside the room. It was filled with danger and unconcealed anger, "The one who should resign and get out should be you, Zheng Hua."

As soon as the voice fell, everyone turned to look at the door one after another, and the expressions on their faces changed—

Chapter 174 The Big Investor Said: Resign And Leave The Crew (1)

Song Yu Han stepped into the room with a straight posture. He was dressed in a black silk shirt with two of the buttons undone and black pants that made his already long legs even more elongated while looking like the King of the Night making his presence known.

With an aura full of power and authority, he made his way inside and only stopped when he was a few steps away from Ran Xueyi.

"And who are you?" Gu Jiao questioned after she was taken aback for a while by the man's stunning handsome face. "What are you doing here? Go away, this isn't something you should get yourself involved with."

Somehow, Gu Jiao couldn't help herself from blushing when in front of the handsome man and she couldn't stop herself from warning him. It would be bad if an extremely handsome man like him were to intervene. She didn't want to destroy that beautiful face.

Song Yu Han did not respond to her questions and slowly glanced around. His eyes fell on each person inside the room and when it landed on his right side, his eyes stayed a bit longer on Ran Xueyi's figure.

Finally seeing him after several days of separation, Ran Xueyi's anger and frustration after what happened in the crew disappeared instantly. Her eyes fell on him at the same time as he swept his gaze over her. She nodded slightly at him, not wanting to be too obvious and hint at their relationship in front of these people.

,m The anger in Song Yu Han's eyes decreased significantly the moment he saw that she was unharmed and he quickly set his heart to relax.

Then, he looked away very naturally as if they didn't know each other and he pointedly stared at Director Zheng, who had his eyes staring widely at him.

He coldly said, "Director Zheng, you should already know who I am. Why not introduce me to everyone?"

Director Zheng heard his name being called out by that man and his body shook instantly in fear.

However, he didn't want to delay any longer to avoid angering the other party even more. But there seemed to be an invisible tape covering his mouth from making any noise that he couldn't utter a single word without turning himself into a fool.

After waiting for several seconds and still, Director Zheng couldn't gather his courage to say anything in front of the man, someone else took the opportunity and did it themselves.

Another man walked inside the room. He was an older man with a cane and a silver-painted frame on his nose bridge that he pushed slightly upward as he spoke.

"Director Zheng, why aren't you speaking? Should I do it for you?" The old man asked but didn't wait for the director's reply as he continued to say, "Listen, everyone. This man is the main investor of the drama film we're shooting — President Song."

Early this morning, Chief Producer Li received a call from the representative of the president of YH Group, the main investor of the drama < A Thousand Lotus >. A man who called himself as Assistant Guo told him that President Song was not amused by what the crew of the film was currently doing and warned him that if nothing was to be done with it, the president would pull out from the list of investors of the film.

Chief Producer Li was extremely shocked when he heard this. He was a second-rate producer who had several awards under his belt and this was the first time he heard that an investor threatened to pull out from funding the film he was going to produce. As the chief producer, he had absolute power and authority in the film he was going to produce, however, above him, there were still the investors who used their money to fund the film.

And so, Chief Producer Li called Producer Luo in the morning right after his call with the man named Assistant Guo to ask him about what happened in the shooting while he was recuperating from an old illness of his. However, the phone call was never answered and returned. Instead, he got a notice that if he didn't do anything by the end of the day, the notice of YH Group pulling out from the investor's list will be sent to him.

This scared Producer Li a lot and his old illness was quickly forgotten by him. He took the earliest and fastest flight to Silver City to personally ask the crew. Unexpectedly, he met Assistant Guo and the president of YH Group, Song Yu Han.

At first, Chief Producer Luo did not know what happened, but on their way to the hotel where the entire crew and cast was arranged to live temporarily, Song Yu Han threw the new script to his face and asked him why the script was changed? Not only that, he also inquired why the actors of the crew were allowed to have freedom to change, delete and modify the direction of the drama and scenes of the film.

The truth was that Song Yu Han did not only invest in the film due to the fact that he wanted to help Ran Xueyi in her career. The script was given to him a long time ago and he was very interested with the plot and characters in the original novel. He saw the potential of the drama before he even met Ran Xueyi and already planned to invest in it.

It was just that he couldn't make up his mind and the shooting for the drama itself was pushed back due to his request to have an intensive search for a better actress who could immerse herself to act as the female lead, who has a very complicated character and has complex emotions in the drama.

And just in time, he saw Ran Xueyi and he thought that he finally found someone who could do justice to the female lead character.

Of course, he was also willing to help her succeed in her career as an actress after returning to the spotlight after six years of inactivity.

But he really didn't expect that the filming did not even start yet there were already troubles that they encountered.

At this moment, Chief Producer Li was also thinking like this. He didn't think that because he was away for a bit, the crew would be this unreliable and made him lose face in front of someone very important like President Song. That Producer Luo, whom he had a strong belief that he would succeed in the producer circle, would actually let this happen as well!

"President Song, I apologize for making you come here personally. As the Chief Producer of this drama, I will give way and let you do all the decision-making."

This was also saying that he would surrender his power to Song Yu Han and wouldn't say anything even if he decided to disband the entire crew.

YH Group was the biggest investor that any film in the entertainment world wanted to invest in their films. Just hearing that YH Group was looking for a project to invest in, many directors, producers, and other entertainment company owners would flock towards their direction only to have them as their investor.

Chapter 175 The Big Investor Said: Resign And Leave The Crew (2)

The power of the man who single-handedly owned YH Group was too terrifying. Once he pulls out of investing from any film, all the investors who heard of this would follow him and also pull out and the future of the film would be casted with a dark shadow that might never see the light ever again.

With this kind of domino effect, nobody wanted to offend YH Group but they still wanted and desired their powerful support.

Director Zheng woke up from his dream when he heard Chief Producer Li's words. He frowned deeply, but he didn't say anything.

He came forward and was about to greet the other in a more friendly way taking into account that they shared some bond as friends. He didn't believe that Song Yu Han came here because of what they did to Ran Xueyi.

To Director Zheng, Ran Xueyi must have been one of the many others that Song Yu Han secretly took interest in as a plaything. He surely wouldn't protect her just because she has a pretty face and forget about their friendship, right?

He was about to come forward with a fawning smile and approached the other in front of everyone, but he was ruthlessly interrupted by Song Yu Han.

"I don't dare accept Director Zheng's greetings." Song Yu Han already saw his intention even before Director Zheng could even finish thinking about greeting him. "I only came here to say a few things."

"First, my investment in the film was solely due to the fact that I found the script and original novel has a big potential to achieve many achievements in this year and the following years. The original author of the novel is someone I know which also reinforced my decision to invest."

"However, now that the script was changed without consulting the original writer of the novel and me, the investor of the film, I will have to ask Mr. Chun to resign from his position as the scriptwriter and leave the crew."

Scriptwriter Chun never thought that he would be the first to be called out. He already had a bad feeling when he heard that the man who suddenly appeared in front of them was the main investor of the film and he even came together with Chief Producer Li.

He just never expected that he would be the first to go.

Previously, he also wanted to ask Ran Xueyi to leave the crew but before he could say it, Director Zheng already took the step first and said these words.

Song Yu Han sensed his unwillingness and sneered, "Does Scriptwriter Chun still have something to say to me?"

Scriptwriter Chun stared at him.

Song Yu Han raised an eyebrow. "Changing, deleting, and adding scenes is the scriptwriter's responsibility. However, a scriptwriter must have the overall situation and success of the entire film in mind before taking any actions. From what I saw, not only did you not take into your heart the welfare and prosperity of the entire crew, you selfishly took benefits from other people."

"And you still wanted to say something?"

The scriptwriter of any play showing in the TV screens isn't only there to write the script. They were there to ensure that the potential of movies, dramas, or shows increased through their masterful weaving of the plots, dialogues, and narrative directions of any films.

Scriptwriter Chun ignored all of these and was swallowed up by his greed.

Scriptwriter really had something to say. He bit his lips and bravely said, "If I leave, who will write the script? If President Song wants the original script, I can still do it."

Scriptwriter Chun still thought that he could save himself.

Unfortunately, he encountered the living devil that many cannot afford to offend and still think they would be forgiven.

Song Yu Han coldly stared at him as he said, "Don't worry about the script. I can easily find a better scriptwriter who will follow the mission of a true scriptwriter and never deviate from their purpose."

When Scriptwriter Chun heard this, he finally understood that there was no way to save himself, and there was a sense of panic inside his heart.

He knew that what Song Yu Han said was right. He wasn't the only scriptwriter who could write a script in this world. He could really 'easily' find one.

Scriptwriter Chun, though he was reluctant, could only take his leave and turn to the door.

When Director Zheng saw this, his back was already soaked with sweat. Even Gu Jiao and her manager, Albert, who was keeping his silence the whole time while observing Song Yu Han, felt choked up and terrified at the display of dominance that Song Yu Han showed in front of their eyes.

Director Zheng knew in his heart that he made a big mistake, but he still wanted to take a chance and use their relationship as friends as a leverage in this situation.

He knew Song Yu Han and knew that the latter treasured his relationship with his friends. He would help when his friends were in trouble. Director Zheng even heard from some of the close friends around Song Yu Han that he met in one party that Song Yu Han helped a friend from being persecuted by the government in Autumn Country.

Surely, Song Yu Han would overlook his small mistake, right?

However, in the next second, before Director Zheng could say anything, he heard Song Yu Han speak.

"The second thing is for Director Zheng to give up his position as the director of the film. He allowed just anyone to change the direction of the film, allowed an actor to modify and add scenes, and let the previous Scriptwriter Chun to run amok in the crew. He lacked the leadership that should be found from a director. Therefore, he will no longer direct and stay with the crew during the filming."

"As for who will direct the film in his absence... I trust Chief Producer Luo to find someone who has the ability to lead the entire crew. If there's no one like that, I can also look for one."

Then, Song Yu Han served the last strike towards Director Zheng as he added, "The world is too big. Certainly, a good director can be found just anywhere if I look around."

Director Zheng did not even get to say a word, and he was already fired from his position as the director and was even mocked by the others. If Song Yu Han really could find a good director just anywhere like he said, does he, Director Zheng, even have to keep being a director and open the path for these directors who could be found anywhere?

Earlier, Director Zheng scolded Ran Xueyi to get out of the crew by herself. But not even thirty minutes had passed, and he got fired from his job.

Suddenly, he couldn't help but think that what happened to him was all because he tried to block Ran Xueyi. However, he, himself, shut these thoughts down. Song Yu Han was not like any ordinary man who could be swayed by a femme fatale. He had countless women who would kneel and bow at his every word, but ignored all of them. So how was it possible that he would go as far as to do this just for Ran Xueyi, an actress who already lost her fame six years ago?

Ran Xueyi, who has been silent and watching this scene, couldn't help but turn her gaze to look at Song Yu Han. She had a feeling that Director Zheng's ending wouldn't be so light like Scriptwriter Chun even though he said that he would only fire Director Zheng from his job.

However, this was just her thoughts and there was no way to tell if this was really the case.

Either way, Ran Xueyi didn't care.

At this point, what she really cared about was that she got to see Song Yu Han again.
