Chapter 511 The Little Tyrant And The Three Chicks!

When Song Yu Han returned, he saw Ran Xueyi in the kitchen. She cooked chicken soup with bamboo shoots that day. The kitchen was always supplied with ingredients through a supplier that delivers food in the villa because it was located far away from the market.

Ran Xueyi happily waved him to come towards her and have him taste the dishes she cooked.

After having a spoonful, Song Yu Han praised her and he almost couldn't wait to eat them all up.

When they first cohabited in the same house, Ran Xueyi didn't know a thing about cooking. She could only sit behind the counter and watch him do his magic in the kitchen. Now, after almost four years, she learned how to cook some simple dishes that weren't too complicated and time-wasting.

Then, Ran Xueyi asked him about Daren Wang.

When they were filming their scenes earlier, Song Yu Han and Ran Xueyi had already noticed their son sitting beside the directors. He perched on the director's chair as if it was the most natural thing to do and even spoke a few words to the two directors.

Because they were slightly far away and couldn't lose focus, they were unable to hear what their son had told them. But they knew that he was again doing some mischief again just by looking at the stiff expressions of the director.

Ran Xueyi was unable to scold her son. As an actress, she knew that once the camera started to roll, no sound or noises should be made by anyone inside the filming set. It was common to get scolded by everyone or even asked to leave the place once you did. But Little Zhanzhan is still a child, over three years old only, how could she scold him and tell him not to be mischievous and be childish?

Surprisingly, even though he was whispering from where he sat in the director's area, no one had stopped him. Even Director Qing Luo, a veteran and stern director, did not say anything!

Song Yu Han answered her by solemnly saying, "Daren Wang didn't say anything either. But when you went away with Zhanzhan, he kept glaring at me and scolding me for making mistakes while acting."

This time, just looking at Song Yu Han's face, reminded Daren Wang of the Little Tyrant.

When they finished setting up the table for them to eat, Song Yu Han went to look for their son.

As he walked to the garden to the side of the villa, a few yellow bright chicks could be seen swaggering outside.

Little Zhanzhan was walking ahead of the chicks and kept saying, "Xiao Yi , Xiao Ni, Xiao San*, you are now my little followers! Do not stray from the line!"

[A/N: Little One, Little Two, Little Three.]

Finally, after a few seconds of shock, he moved towards his son and tried to not look at the chicks below.

Song Yu Han's lips kept twitching as he asked, "Zhanzhan, where did you find these chicks?"

Little Zhanzhan: "Baobao."

Little Zhanzhan nodded: "It's an online market. A'Yu doesn't know there's one?"

Naturally, he knew that an online shopping mall/market called Baobao existed. After all, he was one of the major shareholders of that company. However, he did not know that they actually sold live chicks in there as well.

Not hearing a reply, Little Zhanzhan grabbed his father's pants and said, "A'Yu, I'm going to raise them like how mommy raised me. So, treat them well for me!"

Song Yu Han stared at his son and smiled, "Oh... How should I treat them well?"

"By feeding them and taking them outside for walks!"

Obviously, he didn't only want to raise chickens at home without notifying his parents, he also wanted to pull his father to become the little chicks' servant!

Once again, Song Yu Han couldn't understand the thoughts of his son. Since when did chickens become pets who can be taken for walks?/ But looking downward, these chicks seemed to be quite obedient. Look at them making a line and following Little Zhanzhan as if he was their mother hen!

Song Yu Han never raised a pet in the past. He was too busy to care for one. He could hire a help to raise a cat or dog, but that steals the essence of raising a pet.

Looking at his son, who was grinning and proud of his plan to turn his father into his chicks' servant, Song Yu Han had a hard time deciding whether to laugh or get angry.

As a result, Song Yu Han bought books to learn how to raise chickens and ordered a pen for them to live so they don't get lost in the villa and make Little Zhanzhan worry.

As for Little Zhanzhan, he happily watched his father work in front of him.

Ran Xueyi, who thought that her husband would definitely put the chicks away, was extremely shocked at the sudden turn of events.

She didn't have any interest in raising chickens in the first place. When she received a parcel from the delivery truck, she thought that it was from Adelle.

However, when she saw the holes on the box and felt the movements inside it, she was so scared that she almost let go of it. Thankfully, the delivery man was kind enough to tell her that there were chicks inside the box, and it was only then did she calmly place it down.

As it turns out, Little Zhanzhan ordered some chicks when he was playing on his tablet yesterday. It only arrived today and she was never informed by him.

Initially, she dissuaded him from raising them. She told them that they are only adorable when they are small, but after a few months, they will turn into big and mature roosters which will no longer look cute.

In addition, raising them altogether meant that he needed to feed them and also clean after them. It was too difficult since they are too fragile and easily get sick when they are too small.

What's more, Ran Xueyi agonized that her son couldn't get a normal pet like cats and dogs!

Chapter 512 Sleeping Separately

But Little Zhanzhan insisted on keeping them and told her he would raise them himself... Ran Xueyi half-believed him, but she didn't think that her son would trick his father to raise them together!

Feeling a headache coming, Ran Xueyi turned around so she didn't have to see this pair of big and small people with the three chicks.

At this time, she received a message from one of her people hiding in City A..

This person was tasked to observe the Ran family and report their every movement to Ran Xueyi.

Ran Xueyi no longer had any affection left for the Ran family, she didn't forget that she still had her grandparents who were part of that family. She couldn't completely separate from them, but she also couldn't return to their side. So, she decided to have some of her people watch over the Ran family so she could hear whatever they did and not make trouble and ruin the Ran family any further.

For the past three years, their movements have been observed and watched by Ran Xueyi.

Naturally, Ran Xueyi knew of Ran Yue's unfaithfulness towards Yang Baihua.

As soon as the report was done, Ran Xueyi fell into deep contemplation.

While she was thinking, she saw Song Yu Han return with Little Zhanzhan to their bedroom. Their clean clothes were now stained with mud.

Obviously, the pair of father and son had a lot of fun outside.

Seeing them looking like they crawled in the mud, Ran Xueyi ushered them to the bathroom so they could clean themselves. She was going to leave them alone after, but who knew that they stretched out their paws and pulled her to the bathroom with them!

Ran Xueyi could not beat Song Yu Han. And she didn't have the heart to refuse her son's request to take a bath together. So, she could only surrender and let them rub their muddied hands on her clothes and skin before crowding the bathtub.

That evening, Adelle video called her.

Adelle swiped her fingers on the tablet screen and said, "Just like what you said, there's no need for us to respond to the rumors. Although the traces of the person who first posted had disappeared leaving no hint for us to follow, the water army that came after them were easily tracked."

She summarized what had happened.

Soon after someone posted that they had seen Ran Xueyi walking at the mall with a man who looked like a parvenu, a water army was raised to boost this headline post so that it would become viral.

[A/N: Water Army are fake accounts that are used by marketing accounts or entertainment agencies to further boost an artist's popularity by liking, commenting, and voting for them.]

"They got more than 20,000 water army at their disposal and were able to trend the topic. The people who paid them didn't know much about how the entertainment industry works so they were unable to hide their traces. I sent the screenshots for their transactions to you," said Adelle before taking a sip from her orange juice.

Ran Xueyi took a quick look at the transactions that her manager sent to her. She was not surprised to see that it was Cao Yujin who had hired someone to pay for a water army to spread her scandal with a parvenu.

She personally didn't know Cao Yujin and only met her at her mentor's retirement party. She didn't know what kind of a person Cao Yujin was.

However, Ran Xueyi could tell that Cao Yujin had some sort of obsession towards Song Yu Han after she had Lapis investigate Cao Yujin.

Song Yu Han also told her that the Cao family had reached out multiple times to the Song family, especially the Old Patriarch Song to have him and Cao Yujin become partners in life through marriage. Song Yichen didn't share the same vision as the Cao family thus, the discussion between Song Yu Han and Cao Yujin becoming marriage partners prolonged for several years.

Cao Yujin had failed to move Song Yu Han despite her efforts. Song Yu Han had mentioned that she tried all methods to make him surrender to her; persuasion, if that didn't work, coercion, and if that didn't still work, she would bully him.

Fortunately, Song Yu Han was an impressive prodigy with a talent that is one in a hundred million. Despite the Cao family's threats and pressure, Song Yichen didn't give up on him.

But Ran Xueyi also knew that if she hadn't married Song Yu Han first, Old Patriarch Song would have considered it and forced the union between the two seeing how Song Yu Han remained alone for so many years.

It was thanks to her impulsiveness that snatched Song Yu Han away from their hands.

But Cao Yujin thought otherwise. She must see Ran Xueyi as some sl*t that stole the man who was supposed to belong to her!

She couldn't allow Ran Xueyi to be happy and she did not want Song Yu Han to remain together with her. Hence, she devised a plan to smear Ran Xueyi's reputation by using the headline post and hint to everyone that she was not married. Instead, she was being kept by a third-rate wealthy man.

Adelle reported the current situation on social media, "Honestly, I should thank the person who decided to spread a rumor about you. It made my job as your manager to further make you popular a lot easier. Look, even your films are getting a lot of attention now. Say, should we give them a reward?"

Rather than being ruined by this scandal, Ran Xueyi instead got swept by the heat and turned into the most talked celebrity of the decade. Cao Yujin should really get a reward for her actions.

But what would be the most suitable gift for her?

Ran Xueyi suddenly had an idea and went to look for Song Yu Han.

When Song Yu Han heard her plan, he turned his head to look at her with a complicated look in his eyes.

He tentatively asked her, "Are you sure you want to do this?"

"Why not?" she asked him in return.

Song Yu Han replied, "Well, won't you be put into a dangerous position if you went there alone?"

Ran Xueyi shrugged and told him, "Even when I'm sitting here, I could be dragged into a dangerous situation so what's the difference?"

He had nothing to say to that.

She was right. Even if she didn't do anything and stayed silent, others won't do the same.

So, it is better for her to do something now.

Song Yu Han finally agreed to her, "Alright. I'll tell Guo Yun that we will attend the party."

But before he could pick up his phone and tell Guo Yun, Ran Xueyi said, "No, I will be going there alone."

"No. I won't agree." Song Yu Han frowned.

Song Yu Han didn't want to go to that party in the first place, knowing that there's nothing good there. He knew that they wanted to trap him into their evil plans and could have played along with it, but he refused to act and pretended he didn't know what they wanted to do.

But Ran Xueyi's sudden decision to go to the party deterred his intention of not attending the party. He decided to go there with her.

But surprisingly, she told him not to go!

There was no way he would let her go there alone. The Cao family may not be her opponent, but there are bound to be some accidents. Song Yu Han couldn't afford to let these 'accidents' happen.

Ran Xueyi could tell that he wouldn't agree. But she was of the same mind as him. She understood that he was afraid of letting her go alone to face the people who had tormented his past. But all the more she didn't want him to go with her.

Song Yu Han's traumatic past shouldn't be triggered by letting him see them again. If she could allow it, she wouldn't let the Cao and Song family appear before him again.

However, Song Yu Han was adamant with his decision to not let her go to the party alone.

The two of them were at an impasse. Both didn't want to give up and retreat.

But Song Yu Han had underestimated Ran Xueyi's stubbornness.

When it was time to sleep, Ran Xueyi took her pillow and went to their son's room to sleep there.

She even told him: "Let's sleep separately for now. I don't want to talk to you unless you agree to let me attend the party alone."

Naturally, Song Yu Han was head-strong with his decision. But seeing his wife moving to sleep in their son's room had wavered his heart.

This was the first time Ran Xueyi had done this. They never slept separately even if they got into an argument.

Although he didn't want to agree with her, how can Song Yu Han let Ran Xueyi sleep somewhere else? Even if that place turned out to be their son's room, he wouldn't allow it!

In the end, because Ran Xueyi locked the room, Song Yu Han climbed through the walls and jumped into the window to their son's room. He saw Ran Xueyi and Little Zhanzhan holding each other to sleep.

Song Yu Han sighed and went to sleep on Ran Xueyi's other side and pulled her close.

Alright, let's agree for now.

Chapter 513 Steal A Kiss

The next day, Ran Xueyi woke up to an arm hugging her waist. With her eyes closed, she thought it was Zhanzhan who had placed his arm over. But the weight and the length of the arm was a bit wrong.

Why does it feel an adult's arm instead?

Opening her eyes, she saw her son in her field of vision. He was curled up into a fetal position with his thumb stuck inside his mouth. Even though he was already three years old, he liked to suck on his thumb as if he was still a baby. He looked so precious that Ran Xueyi just wanted to keep him inside her pockets.

Then, who was the owner of the arm?

She clearly remembered she locked the door last night before sleeping. The windows were also closed so as to not let the cold wind into her son's room.

Yet, Song Yu Han still found a way to get into the room and slept beside her!

Annoyed that he was too shameless and disregarded that she was still mad at him because he didn't agree with her last night, Ran Xueyi had the urge to kick him from the bed.

Song Yu Han was also not a tight-sleeper, so the moment she moved, he was already awake. But he still chose to pretend to be asleep and see what she would do when she finds him sleeping right next to him.

Who knew that the next moment, Ran Xueyi would press on his chest and ruthlessly push him off the bed!

"Ugh!" Song Yu Han made a pained noise as soon as he fell off the bed.

Ran Xueyi was even more shocked that he fell. She looked down at her hands and wondered when she developed her strength? Obviously, she lightly pushed him and didn't do it strongly, but why did he still fall?

Song Yu Han remained on the floor, clutching his head as though he was really suffering from great pain.

Worried that she really hurt him, Ran Xueyi couldn't stay upset with him and sat up to stretch her hand out to him.

But the moment she did that, Song Yu Han brazenly pulled her to the floor. When she fell unhindered, he broke the impact of her falling by using his own body as a cushion for her. He then wrapped his arm over her back and rolled so the next moment before she could react, she would be underneath him.

–Smooch!

This guy!

He really learned how to act! By pretending he was hurt, he made her worry about him. But as if it was not enough, Song Yu Han audaciously stole a kiss from her!

Glaring at the man lying on top of her, Ran Xueyi opened her lips to fiercely scold him. But before she could utter a word, her lips was again sealed with his own lips, making her breathless and under his total mercy.

In the end, Ran Xueyi couldn't win against this sort of intimacy and started to enjoy it. Alright, let's enjoy this first and get angry later.

"Mommy? Where are you? Are you in the bathroom?"

Their son had woken up and noticed that his mother was gone. Little Zhanzhan didn't wait for his mother to respond as he stood up and rolled to the other side of the bed and placed his foot on the ground without looking down.

Both Ran Xueyi and Song Yu Han couldn't move quickly to evade his foot. Little Zhanzhan, who stepped on his father's back, finally noticed them and stopped his action altogether.

Little Zhanzhan confusedly looked at his parents and frowned, "Mommy, A'Yu... What are you two doing on the floor?"

Ran Xueyi was embarrassed after being caught by their son, "Uh... Mommy is..." She couldn't quickly think of an excuse why her son found his parents on top of each other on the floor!

"Mommy got kicked by you while you were sleeping. I'm here to catch her so she won't get hurt," Song Yu Han expressionlessly said.

The way he said this was full of righteousness. No shred of shamelessness or lie could be heard from his tone.

Naturally, their son was not his father's opponent. Little Zhanzhan believed his father and looked almost apologetic and tears welled up within his eyes.

He quickly sidestepped and kneeled on the floor beside his mother, "Mommy, I'm sorry. I didn't mean to kick you off the bed. It's all my bad legs' fault for doing it!"

What great excuse, you just made our son cry!

Song Yu Han also didn't think that his lie would make Little Zhanzhan cry and hit his legs as if punishing it for doing something evil. Somehow, he felt extremely guilty for making his son do this to himself!

"Alright, don't cry. Zhanzhan didn't kick mommy from the bed! It was me, daddy was wrong. You should hit me instead!" Song Yu Han held his son's hands and was instantly distressed.

Little Zhanzhan finally stopped crying. He suspiciously looked at Song Yu Han before asking, "Then, why was mommy on the floor with A'Yu?"

Ran Xueyi was speechless. But she still ended up giving him the truth, "Your daddy wanted a good morning kiss, but we ended up falling off the bed. Zhanzhan didn't do anything! Can you forgive us for lying?"

They made their child cry without a good reason. It was truly their fault.

Little Zhanzhan took a quick glance between his mother and father before lowering his head. His eyes gleamed adorably as he said, "It would take a kiss or two for me to forgive you."

Ran Xueyi only felt her heart melting into a puddle of goo under her feet from his cuteness. How could a child that came from her womb be so adorable? He must be a fairy of cuteness!

Even one or two kisses won't do, Ran Xueyi would give him tens, no, hundreds of kisses if he wanted to!

Ran Xueyi pulled her son towards her and endlessly kissed him on the cheeks, forehead, and the lips. Little Zhanzhan, who was showered with love and kisses from his mother, gleefully laughed as if he was tickled.

But in the middle of being kissed, his pair of childish eyes looked at his father and triumphantly smiled at him.

Hmph! Stealing a kiss from Mommy is not allowed!

As if he could see through his son's thoughts, Song Yu Han's face became unbearable.

Alright, this was really his son. He even knew how to trick his mother into giving in to him!

An hour later, Ran Xueyi had to meet with Adelle. They had to discuss the film that was about to be released in three days. As one of the main cast, she had to be present at the first release premiere of the film and walk on the red carpet.

This would be her first appearance after her scandal broke out. So, they had a lot to prepare before the actual premiere date.

Song Yu Han was about to scrub his face with the soft towel when Little Zhanzhan stopped him by saying, "Don't scrub there! Mommy's kisses will disappear if you scrub it!"

However, Song Yu Han pretended he didn't hear him and expressionlessly rubbed his face with it.

Little Zhanzhan: ".....!!!"

"Mommy!!!"

"Stinky A'Yu is bullying me again!"

Ran Xueyi was startled by his earth-shattering cry. Even Adelle and Elder Wu Qi, who was on the video call with her, almost had their hearts jumping out of their chest.

Later, they saw a naked and wet Little Zhanzhan running to Ran Xueyi and hugging her, making her shirt soaked with water.

Little Zhanzhan complained to her, "Mommy, A'Yu bullied me! He stole your kisses and rubbed it off my face! WAH--! Mommy, Stinky A'Yu is bad!"

Because he cried so hard, his face was red and even his eyes were full of tears. He was too pitiful to look at, and Ran Xueyi was most affected by this. She ended up giving him another kiss on the cheeks to stop him from crying.

Little Zhanzhan had learned his lesson and didn't arrogantly boast in front of his father. He covered both his cheeks with his palms and glared at him as if Song Yu Han would steal it from him!

Chapter 514 His Moon

Ran Xueyi underestimated her husband's capabilities to make their son cry. Most of the time, the two would bicker on who should sleep beside her or sit beside her. At first, it looked adorable and comical since the two shared the same look, and those who looked at them would feel a burst of warmth.

But at this moment, Ran Xueyi felt like exploding.

Lowering her head to the hands that were holding each of her arms, Ran Xueyi couldn't even take a step forward without feeling as if she was shackled.

Adelle, who had stood in front of her, also couldn't understand why the father and son started their rivalry battles. But for as long as she wasn't the one suffering, it didn't matter to her at all.

It had been three days since the day Little Zhanzhan ran to her while complaining about his father stealing the kisses she gave to him. Song Yu Han also didn't seem bothered by his son telling on him to his wife as he continued to have a smug look on his face.

But at the end of the day, the two would go out to the garden and raise the chicks that Little Zhanzhan bought online. She would even find the two sleeping on the couch looking all dirty from playing outside.

Honestly, she didn't know what to do about it so she could only surrender to their demands.

Today, the film premiere was going to happen. As it would take a while for Ran Xueyi to finish her hair and makeup, a styling team was already inside the dressing room reserved for her.

It was already chaotic inside the room with all the hair and makeup stylists circling around her, but Song Yu Han and Little Zhanzhan had to grab their armor and weapon to start another rivalry fight. And Ran Xueyi had to send over a glance full of apology towards everyone for their current behavior.

Like a wolf cub and a tiger, Song Yu Han and Little Zhanzhan glared at each other while holding onto her.

Thankfully, the styling team didn't say anything. They were impressed to see two handsome males who accompanied Ran Xueyi today. Although everyone was curious and wanted to know the identity of the two, they didn't utter a single question.

Naturally, they also heard about the circulating rumor about Ran Xueyi going out in a mall with a parvenu. However, looking at the beautiful Ran Xueyi and the two handsome guys, it seems that it was really dangerous to believe in tasteless rumors.

In their heads, they wondered how could Ran Xueyi become kept by someone when she could get anyone she wanted?

The film <The Invitation> was filmed several months ago. At first, Ran Xueyi's role, Ruan Jiaojiao, was not the main lead, but after seeing the development of her character and being a focal character in the film, the producers and directors had decided to have her included in the main lead cast. After all, her excellent acting of portraying Ruan Jiaojiao had enthralled everyone on the spot.

Thanks to that, Ran Xueyi was able to come out to the stage at the same time Su Zixi and Miao Li, the main leads of the film, would come out to face the fans and the reporters.

Adelle was tasked to handle everything down to what Ran Xueyi had to wear. She chose every brand that had signed with Ran Xueyi per the contract had stated.

The brand Deor chose her dress by customizing a floral embroidered dress personally crafted by their chief designer, Marilyn Grace. The dress was fragile as it was mostly made of flowers rather than fabrics. Thus, making it into the list of one of the world's most expensive dresses.

Marilyn Grace personally brought the dresses. All of which were beautiful and enchanting. However, for the sake of modesty and stealing the spotlight from the original main casts, Ran Xueyi chose a more low-key dress that didn't seem to be extravagant but graceful enough to be worn at the red carpet.

"You look stunning, dear." Marilyn came into her dressing room when Ran Xueyi was done changing into the dress.

"It's only because the dresses you made are beautiful, Miss Grace." Ran Xueyi didn't have to lie because the dresses made by Marilyn were all beautiful. Anyone who wore the dresses she made would be an icing on top of the cake.

Marilyn waved her hands to imply that there's no need to overpraise before she said, "Unfortunately, I have to go on a long flight back to Paris for the Fashion Week. I'll also have to remind you that you need to make an appearance there as you are a global face of Deor."

"I'll definitely come, Marilyn. You have my word on that."

The Fashion Week was a battle for every celebrity all over the world. Superstars who were lucky enough to be invited by this world's brands are said to be the true powerhouse of the entertainment world. As for those who are popular yet were not invited, they can only be said as first-rate queens and kings without a real crown.

Ran Xueyi would absolutely not miss this event as it was also one of the requirements that a star should meet to get the Triple Crown Award.

In the past, she received countless invitations from world top brands. However, at that time, her parents, Ran Yue, and Yang Baihua had stopped her from going. They kept all her invitations to themselves and let other artists from the same agency go instead of her. Ran Xueyi only found out about it after she discovered Yang Baihua's unfaithfulness and her family's betrayal.

But it was all in the past now. Even if she kept agonizing about it, there was no way everything would be returned to her.

So rather than being upset with it, Ran Xueyi strived hard to achieve the same spotlight as she had in the past. Perhaps, she could even surpass it.

Marilyn had left to catch on her plane. Ran Xueyi and her team of stylists waited to be called on stage.

They kept praising her beauty that shined more than the stars in the sky. Ran Xueyi subtly smiled and thanked all of them. Little Zhanzhan, also didn't stop complimenting her.

"Mommy~ You are so beautiful!"

"Will I shine like you when I grow up, too?"

"Mommy, I think my heart is stuffy. I seem to not want you to go out today."

Ran Xueyi almost melted on the spot. If not for her dress being so delicate, she would have carried her son into her arms. But the hard work of the hair and makeup team should not be wasted. So, she held back by pinching her son's cheeks and pecking him on both to give him a reward.

Grinning ear to ear, Little Zhanzhan achieved his goal to get a kiss from his mother. He turned around and looked at his father before childishly sticking out his tongue.

Song Yu Han did not expect this little guy to be so sneaky. He was slightly depressed but seeing his wife looking so enticingly beautiful tonight made him forget everything.

Like a moon shining brightly and dazzling everything in the darkness with its silvery lights, Ran Xueyi stood there with a smile on her face.

Song Yu Han knew he was the luckiest guy in the world to have married her, and he reminded himself repeatedly. But it seems he needed to do it every second. He must warn himself to protect that smile and always keep her by his side so no one can steal his moon from him.

The team of stylists had already heard Little Zhanzhan calling Ran Xueyi 'mommy' but they kept their thoughts inside their hearts. They knew Ran Xueyi was married, but they never heard of her giving birth to a three-year old child. Even though they really wanted to share this news to the world, they knew that they cannot afford to offend Ran Xueyi, a powerhouse celebrity in the entertainment world.

Plus, they received a hefty amount of money from her. How could they betray the person who had given them more benefits than harm? Thus, even though they screamed inwardly due to the tremendous curiosities in their hearts, they could only do it without voicing it.

"Ran Xueyi, please be on standby. You will be on stage with the other main cast in a few minutes!"

Ran Xueyi smiled at Song Yu Han, who woke up from his daze and stepped back, before turning to the production staff, "Thank you! I am ready to go out any time."

The production staff nodded at her before turning to call on the other main casts and directors.

Finally, the time for the premiere has arrived!

Chapter 515 Premiere Interview (1)

Ran Xueyi met both Su Zixi and Miao Li backstage. Similarly to her, they were beautifully dressed for the night and their agency didn't skimp out on pouring money on what they wore tonight.

"Sister Ran!"

A short lady in white mermaid gown jumped towards her and quickly grabbed her arm. Ran Xueyi smiled at the overly friendly actress and said, "You look different today."

Miao Li nodded in agreement. Her usual fashion style was on the cute and sweet type. However, this year, her agency had a change of mind and told her to go on the bold and mature route. For the past few months, all her wardrobe was changed to accommodate her new image.

"My agency's president thought that I can no longer show off my cute personality since I started accepting more mature scripts. Honestly, I've been waiting for this to happen since I celebrated my 24th birthday last year!"

For an actress, their face was one of their main products. They would be forced by their agencies to follow a trend that was suitable and agreeable to the masses. Miao Li's petite and small figure definitely fell into the category of naive and sweet type that many male fans liked.

Creating a false persona was only one of the many duties that a celebrity should have.

Ran Xueyi smiled at her before sweeping her gaze over the shy Su Zixi. The man confessed before the film ended shooting that he was a fan of hers and asked for her autograph. After receiving it, he even posted a picture of it on his Weibo account, drawing in tens of thousands of fans to like and push him up to a higher count of followers.

"Good evening, Goddess Ran!"

Su Zixi didn't change his way of calling Ran Xueyi, even though the latter had already told him to call her casually. The young man did not have his usual youthful and innocent aura around him anymore. Rather, he looked more mature and handsome now as if he was one of those veteran actors in their thirties and forties.

"Director Sun is still not ready. I bet he's trying to fit into his suit for the interview!"

"I've never seen Director Sun wearing a business suit since we worked with him, I wonder how he would look when he wore one."

"Even after shooting, you two still didn't learn how to respect your elders."

A stout-looking man in a business suit walked towards their direction. Director Sun scowled at Su Zixi and Miao Li, who grinned at him. Obviously the two didn't seem affected by his reproach. He already got used to them making fun of him and was not bothered by it. He turned to look at Ran Xueyi and praised her beauty.

The production team called out for them to come out to the stage. As soon as the main cast of the film <The Invitation> came out from backstage, fans who received a special ticket to attend the first premiere screamed in excitement. The reporters also didn't get defeated by these fans as they aimed their cameras upright, held onto their pens and notebooks, and eagerly asked questions they had prepared for tonight.

Today's premiere event was definitely not as big as those awarding ceremonies that happen a few months or biannually. However, the number of reporters who came today was almost the same amount as some small awarding ceremonies.

The reason behind the swarm of reporters and media journalists was rather simple and reasonable. The current forefront of the juiciest gossip in the country was Ran Xueyi. They couldn't possibly let go of this opportunity to put her on the hot seat and get answers from her!

Although it was disrespectful for them to come solely for her, the PR team of the film couldn't be even more glad to have them for as long as they could include the film in their reports.

Ran Xueyi also agreed for the film to use her for publicity stunt. It was just the way to boost the popularity of the film, no artist didn't experience being used by the film they represented. Whether they'll be used for a publicity stunt or a black material, in the face of future benefits, no one could refuse it.

Since there was no live broadcast tonight, the fans who were present that day were lucky to see the celebrities they idolized.

The host for the premiere of the show welcomed the main cast of the film along with the directors and producers. One by one, the main cast introduced themselves before sitting on a stool prepared by the production team.

Turning towards the superstars sitting beside him, the host nodded at all of them before turning his attention to Su Zixi, "Mr. Su, your role in the film is a policeman. I heard that you trained with real police officers before you came out to shoot your scenes. Did you face some difficulties when training?"

"I definitely faced some difficulties. Before, I admired the police officers who aimed to protect our people and country, but I was never exposed to the way they trained and only knew little about them. Joining them for their training and learning more about them opened up my views and discovered that it was truly hard to maintain good order."

Su Zixi answered the question without filtering his words or making up lies to make it look like he had it easy to make his fans like him more.

"Then, would you prefer to become a policeman if you didn't become an actor?" The questions were slightly tricky. The host absolutely knew that it was a question that was hard to respond correctly.

If he didn't say he didn't want to become a policeman, his anti-fans will definitely use this to make him look pompous and dishonorable to his country and to the other police officers. If he agreed to say he wanted to become a policeman, they would still accuse him in some other way.

Su Zixi contemplated and knew that the host was only doing his job. He turned to the camera and smiled sincerely. "I would definitely choose to serve the country. Unfortunately, before becoming an actor, I graduated from a culinary university. I can only buy a small shop and cook inside the kitchen while serving my customers with my food if I didn't become an actor."

His resume and biography was not hidden to the world. No one can deny that Su Zixi would have become a chef had he not been scouted by an entertainment scout.
