

Daddy CEO's Beloved Wife #Chapter 7 No Tears Left To Cry - Read Daddy CEO's Beloved Wife Chapter 7 No Tears Left To Cry

After getting her shot, Ran Xueyi discussed with the doctor what she must do after today. Aside from eating healthy foods, she must stay away from anything stressful and visit the clinic once a week to ensure that the procedure was successful and enable the child in her womb to grow healthy and safe.

It was hot that day, and so Ran Xueyi decided to go back to her apartment to rest. But then, she recalled that Yang Baihua and Song Qian rolled in her bed and used her apartment as their lovemaking hut.

And so, she decided to go back to the Ran family's mansion.

When Ran Xueyi arrived in her family's manor, the cheating couple was no longer around. Even her parents have already left to do their thing. The only person who was left was her sister, Ran Yue.

"Sister, what are you doing here?" Surprise was written all over Ran Yue's face. She didn't expect her older sister to arrive since they all knew that she would arrive after a few days.

"What? Am I also not allowed inside my own family's house?" Ran Xueyi coldly glanced at her younger sister.

Shocked at the sudden question, Ran Yue said, "Of course not! But I thought you would like to stay in your apartment with Brother Yang Baihua." Thinking about this future brother-in-law, Ran Yue added, "Did you already notify Brother Yang about your arrival?"

"No." Ran Xueyi curtly answered as she walked past her younger sister.

"Then, I'll tell him then!" Ran Yue pulled out her phone from her pocket and quickly typed. She tapped her fingers on the screen as if she was scared shitless. But in truth, she was actually feeling alarmed since Yang Baihua was still with Song Qian, buying her a new designer's bag.

What will happen if her older sister finds out?

No! She must stop that from happening!

Ran Yue frantically typed, but on the surface, her face was calm and her lips was smiling.

When seeing her younger sister make a fuss over this, Ran Xueyi sneered coldly.

With her hands clasped into a fist, her nails almost broke from the anger that was boiling inside her heart. The tip of her nails nearly tore her skin and bled once again.

"Alright, you do that. I'll go upstairs and rest first." Ran Xueyi had already turned around and had gone upstairs before Ran Yue could ask her why she returned a few days earlier.

Shutting the door behind her, Ran Xueyi lost all the strength in her knees as she slowly slumped down to the floor.

She wanted to scream.

She wanted to curse at them and ask them why did they do this to her.

But, Ran Xueyi knew that her plans would fall through even before it could start if she did that.

So, without making a sound, Ran Xueyi bit her hand as she cried until she no longer had tears to cry.

At 9 pm, her parents arrived after staying outside for 8 hours. They already heard from Ran Yue that Ran Xueyi returned this morning, and her mother decided to go to her room.

However, when she was about to enter, the doorknob wouldn't turn, so she could only knock helplessly on the door.

"Xueyi? Are you in there?"

No one responded from behind the door.

"Are you sleeping? I heard from the nanny that you didn't go down to eat dinner." Mrs. Ran said with concern.

Behind that door, Ran Xueyi stared blankly at the mirror, reflecting her beautiful face for hours after crying for half a day.

Upon hearing her mother's voice that sounded soft and filled with concern over her daughter's health, Ran Xueyi blinked her eyes in hopes that a tear would slide down her cheeks.

But no.

No tears were left for her to cry after crying all day.

Ran Xueyi wanted to erase her mother's voice from her world, shut everyone else away from her. But she was already surrounded by them everywhere she looked.

Left with no other choice, Ran Xueyi tidied herself and put a slight concealer on her face to cover up her tear-streaked face and red eyes.

After making sure that no trace of her sad face was found, she opened the door for her mother.

"Mother..."

"Are you alright? You look a little pale." Mrs. Ran raised her hand to touch her daughter's face.

However, before her mother could touch her, Ran Xueyi smacked it away.

Shocked at the sudden reaction, her mother looked at her with a frown.

Damn it... I almost slipped. Ran Xueyi thought.

"I'm not feeling well right now, mother. The plane I was on today shook a lot due to the storm." Ran Xueyi explained and covered up her previous mistake.

"You only arrived today? What time did you arrive?" Mrs. Ran was nervous since she remembered that they were with Yang Baihua and his little mistress this morning.

Ran Xueyi still wanted to believe that she could trust her mother and everything was a lie. At the very least, she wanted her mother to be the only one who would stand by her side.

But when she saw the woman standing before her nervously stare at her and ask her, Ran Xueyi's heart broke into tiny pieces before the shards gathered themselves and recreated a new heart. But this time, the heart that should have been red turned black.

"I arrived around 11 in the morning," Ran Xueyi replied.

Hearing that it was eleven in the morning, Mother Ran almost sighed loudly in relief. Thank God, and she didn't find out.

"Are you hungry? Should I tell the nanny to make your supper?" Mother Ran asked. She didn't notice that her tone would turn more joyous when her daughter was visibly not doing well.

Ran Xueyi thought for a second before nodding her head.

"Alright. I'll eat just a little," Ran Xueyi said and rubbed her stomach where she hoped that the little child would soon grow inside her.

'Grow healthy, child. You're the only one I have now.' Ran Xueyi thought in her heart.

Author has something to say: Here's today's update! I wanna pat Ran Xueyi's shoulder.

Baobei: Mommy, don't worry. I'll protect you in the future!

Song Yu Han: Wifey, come. I'll take you away.

Ran Xueyi continued to adoringly rub her stomach as they went downstairs to the dining hall. Her mother didn't seem to take notice of it, or perhaps, she just didn't care about what her eldest daughter was doing.

If Mother Ran actually knew what was inside her daughter's mind and womb, she'd probably go ballistic and demand she abort the baby once it turns into a fetus!

After ordering the chef to make a quick supper for her daughter, Mother Ran finally asked what she had been longing to ask her daughter ever since she returned from the countryside.

"How are your grandparents?" she asked inquiringly. Mother Ra. Observed her daughter's face and saw nothing was wrong.

"They're doing alright."

"Do they have any plans to come here to the city? It has been a while since they've come to visit us." Mother Ran frowned with worry.

In the eyes of other people, they would think that Mother Ran was extremely concerned with the current patriarch and matriarch of the Ran family. But in her eyes, Ran Xueyi knew that her mother had other thoughts.

Since the moment Li Jing married Ran Mo Zheng, everyone thought that she was the Cinderella in the modern era. She was just a secretary with no family backing and didn't get to graduate college. She was only able to get the secretary position because Ran Mo Zheng's friend recommended her to him.

At that time, Ran Mo Zheng was still young and had just taken the position as the vice president of the Ran Corp., but when he saw Li Jing for the first time, he fell for her beautiful face and innocent smile.

He hired her and made her into his secretary. In no less than a month, their feelings for each other grew to the point that Ran Mo Zheng decided to get out of the engagement he originally had with another woman who came from the same wealthy background as he does.

Grandfather Ran and Grandmother Ran were extremely angered by his decision and threatened to take his position as vice president from him. However, Ran Mo Zheng insisted and knew that his parents couldn't take him away from being their heir as they had no other son or legal heir who could take his place.

Ran Xueyi's grandparents also knew about this fact and did not know what to do. In the end, they didn't agree to their marriage nor tried to stop him. However, they never showed their faces at their wedding and only showed up when Ran Xueyi was born.

Li Jing initially thought that once she gave birth to a child, they would come back to the family mansion in the city and like her. However, she didn't know that her scheme to control and seduce

Ran Mo Zheng was seen through by his parents and didn't change their views on her even after two children were born in their family.

But despite their hatred and dislike towards Li Jing, they loved and adored the eldest daughter, who was never afraid of this old couple and often came to the countryside to visit and care for them.

And now that Ran Xueyi had just returned from the countryside, Ran Xueyi knew that her mother was thinking of using her to get her grandparent's heart.

In the past, Ran Xueyi tried to make her mother's image good in front of her grandparents. But now... Ran Xueyi didn't plan on doing that ever again.

Let's see who will lose this game.

Ran Xueyi stared at her mother and shook her head as she said sarcastically, "Mother, grandpa and grandma are doing well in the countryside. Why would they want to come to the city where all the pollution and dirty things are everywhere?"

That's right. Her grandparents are old already. Ran Xueyi won't allow anyone to corrupt them.

Mother Ran didn't seem to hear the sarcasm and hidden meaning in her words. "But Ran Yue's birthday is in just a few days. Don't they have plans to come to celebrate it with her?"

"Who knows... Maybe if Ran Yue visited the countryside and begged them to come. Then, they might come here." Ran Xueyi told her mother and sneered.

Ran Yue has never stepped a foot in the countryside and disdained the thought of going there as though it was the dirtiest place in the world. Ran Yue didn't want to show anyone that her grandparents lived in the countryside and embarrass herself as an actress.

However, what Ran Yue didn't know was that nothing was really different from the city and the countryside. On the contrary, her grandparents' house in the countryside was bigger and wider than their mansion in the city, and they owned a vast land in the countryside, making them a landlord in the countryside.

But Ran Xueyi won't enlighten Ran Yue since the latter detested coming there for the sake of her celebrity image.

Mother Ran was struck dumb at her words. She then said, "That's right. Maybe if Ran Yue calls them and asks them to come, they will attend her birthday party." She took out her phone and said, "I'll call Ran Yue and tell her to call your grandma."

Ran Xueyi watched as her mother made a fool out of herself in front of her like a clown. In time, the chef served a plate of steak and red wine on the table.

After thanking the chef, Ran Xueyi took a sip from the rim of the wineglass and coldly smiled.

—

Author has something to say: Sorry for the late update because my right hand was hurting a lot. DX I'll be releasing a mass release instead.

Mass Release 1/3