66 Marry me !!

" I mean marry me ." Jay said and was looking serious . She looked shocked ans just kept staring at him for some time .

" Zaru " He whined .

" But why ?" She shouted .

" We love each other ." He stood up .

" But we just got into a relationship." She followed him .

" You know these two are different things . You can love someone you can't have and you can also be in relationship with a person you don't love ." He said putting his hands on her shoulders

" But what's the need to get married " She said releasing from his grip .

" Cause i want you to be mine ." She smiled at his reason .

" Why are you smiling ? I'm serious right now ." He shouted but still was soft .

" I couldn't control your acting like a child ." She made him sit and explained , " You know what commitment isn't important when you love someone . And marriage is just to show people that you're spending your life with someone . "

" You're right but... " He was trying to say something but was cut by Zaira .

" You know we can live together without marriage also and when you love someone truly nobody can separate you . So don't be so insecure from now on . I'm yours and only yours ." She said and cupped his cheeks . He nodded and hugged her .

" We still have to build our future together so the day we reach our dreams we will get married then ." She placed her arms around his neck .

" Until then you are staying here " He placed his arms around her waist . She nodded .

" And i can do whatever I want to you ." He moved close to her face . She closed her eyes . He smiled and kissed on her cheek .

" What are you thinking babe ." He whispered in her ear and left to the kitchen as she loosened her grip around his neck due to embarrassment after hearing this sentence . He went to kitchen and started cooking but she was standing there and was red cause you know she was blushing .

" I hate you ." She shouted as she was angry as he was teasing her . He laughed loudly . She went to the kitchen .

" You're really cute when you're shy ." He said controlling his laughter and pinched her cheeks .

" Oh so you think I'm shy ." He nodded and she kissed him on lips.

" Do you think this was being shy ." She said looking straight into his eyes .

" Babe i warn you don't play with fire ." He said wrapping his arm around her waist .
