

《Do angels exist》

9 Different from my thoughts

After the ceremony I returned home to take my stuff , Junnaid came in person to pick me . It was a little strange for me but never mind. He was silent during the way and I had a number of questions to ask but I was afraid how he would react . We reach his home I was astonished it was so big . There were a number of servants . It was so different from my home . His room was very fancy . I expected him to be arrogant but he was totally different from my expectations . He came in the room , I was a little nervous . He said , " I know it's all new for you and I am a stranger for you so we can start with friendship. Will you be my friend? " I was unexpected. I agreed and smiled . He seemed so happy . We talked a lot and I ended up sleeping while he was talking . The next morning I woke up he was not in room but there was a note " Zaru , I have an important meeting this morning so I am going to office early so have breakfast and go to college . I will come to pick you up in the evening. " This was so sweet. Only my mom called me Zaru. I changed and went downstairs and I met May she was girlfriend of Junnaid's assistant and told me that Junnaid asked her to take care of me . I had breakfast and went to college . I was focused in studies and didn't realise when it was evening. I came out of college and Junnaid was standing in front , he actually came to pick me ! We were in the car and he asked me how was my day I ( this was the first time someone asked me this question after mom died ) I said it was good and then there was awkward silence . Assistant Terrence and his girlfriend May were really close to Junnaid , just like left and right arm . They were a very good couple and were very sweet to me . May became very close to me like a sister.