Chapter 2121 The Intersection Of Fate (1/86)

In the way they had started the game, Wang Ling and Lotus Sun had chosen the same strategy. Although it was inevitable that they were cheating, they were both very clear-headed. What they were doing now wasn't just for the sake of playing games, it was to be able to provide a certain degree of support to Mr. Hidden Fox when necessary.

To put it bluntly, if Wang Ming was the commander behind this wall-breaking incident, then Wang Ling and Lotus Sun would be the Wang bombs that Wang Ming had placed in the game ready to be activated at any time, when necessary, they would cooperate with Mr. Tibetan Fox to give him a real "Wall-breaking blow."

However, the game world was really too vast, and the initial missions couldn't be skipped. Even if Wang Ling and Lotus Sun entered the game, they could only explore step by step according to their current missions and look for opportunities to overlap in the world line.

Floating Cloud Town.

For some reason, Lotus Sun had always had a feeling that Wang Ling was right next to her.

On the other side, on the way to the general's mansion, Wang Ling vaguely felt as if someone was calling out to him.

When he heard Lotus Sun's voice and Shadow, he was stunned and immediately released a spirit sense signal..

But then, Wang Ling came back to his senses.

He had almost forgotten that spiritual sense was useless in the game world.

Only when they met and added each other as friends would they know each other's information.

The game ID between the player and the player wouldn't be displayed between each other. Although there were ten classes in the game, apart from classes, there were also settings in the game where the player could obtain a new identity through a hidden mission.

The tags of the new identity would become blurry to a certain extent, making it impossible for players to determine whether the person was an NPC or a real player.

Therefore, whether the other party was an NPC or a real player after meeting could only be determined from the conversation and all sorts of secret signals.

This was quite friendly to Huaxiu players. In the inner part of the game, there were people who used secret signals to determine each other's identities.

“Palace Jade Wine?”

“One hundred and eighty a cup!”

“Ask me what I think?”

“Let me blow for you!”

“Look at this dish!”

“A gathering of heroes!”

But Wang Ling couldn't shout out such an appraisal method. Although it wasn't that he didn't know these jokes, he still didn't have the courage to shout them out in the game.

He was already terrified of society to begin with..

How could he possibly do something like this?

So in this situation, he felt that he could only trust Lotus Sun, who could recognize him at a glance.

Led by the jailer, Wang Ling smoothly arrived at the general's residence in floating cloud town. It was the only building in the entire town that looked quite stylish, and he didn't know what the general's residence in the big city looked like, but the general's mansion in front of him was carved and painted beyond the reach of an ordinary small town, and with the stone... dog at the door?

Mm... it looked even more imposing

That's right, it wasn't the huge stone lion in the TV series that was placed in front of the noble's door. It was two huge stone dogs, which were originally loopy toad.

Wang Ling hadn't expected loopy toad to actually have an image implanted in the "Loose immortal child's magical ring"..

And the key thing was that it didn't seem too out of place.

Wang Ling thought of grenade-throwing senior immortal's straight-man gift. For example, on Wang Ling's birthday, grenade-throwing senior immortal had proposed to give Wang Ling two giant loopy toad sculptures the same size as the ones at the entrance of the hotel, he would directly put them in front of the Wang family's small villa.

Wang Ling directly rejected this proposal.

There was no other reason other than that his mother would see him beaten..

Moreover, this was too high-profile; it was seriously inconsistent with the old Wang family's traditional family motto.

After standing at the door and studying it for a while, Wang Ling directly entered the main hall of the general's mansion and saw the legendary General Chen.

“Yo, Warden Wu! You’re here!”Hearing the sound of footsteps, General Chen turned around, and Wang Ling was instantly stunned.

Although this “General Chen”looked to be in his thirties or forties from the outside, and had a thick black beard, Wang Ling could tell at a glance that this face model was general Chen, it had definitely been designed according to Super Chen’s facial features!

In fact, this was also Super Chen’s own request. He and hero Guo were also the first batch of inner-side players in the “Loose Immortal Child Dharmic band”, and after the inner-side was completed.., all players had the opportunity to directly become npcs in the game through facial image authorization. Of course, this also required the player’s consent.

Super Chen and hero Guo, these two shameless and unprincipled guys... it was normal for them to accept this kind of condition.

As for being assigned to the role of general, it was mostly because of Super Chen’s relatively close relationship with him.

In essence, Huaxiu was still a small-minded society.

“Warden Wu, sit down!”

General Chen invited him to sit down and ordered his subordinates to pour tea. It was clear from the game’s plot that the relationship between this general and Warden Wu wasn’t ordinary.

His face was ruddy and he had a lecherous expression on his face as he sneakily looked at Wang Ling, waiting for his subordinates to finish their tea and leave, only then did he say to Wang Ling, “I recently discovered something interesting. I discovered that there’s actually a woman among the guards of my floating cloud town.”

Wang Ling raised his eyebrows.

He still looked calm, but in fact, he quickly thought of Hua Mulan’s story.

At this moment, Wang Ling hadn't thought about it with Lotus Sun. After all, this game map was really too big, and the probability of him and Lotus Sun appearing on the same map at the same time was very low, the probability that the plot could be linked together was even lower... in other words, the female guard in this plot might not be Lotus Sun.

So Wang Ling didn't think in that direction at all.

When he saw General Chen's malicious look, he felt that he had already somewhat guessed what would happen next.

"What are you doing?"

"Hey, didn't you tell your brother last time that you wanted to get a wife? Isn't this a done deal? In the military camp, it was a big taboo for a woman to disguise herself as a man and join the battle. This was a felony that had to be punished on the spot. 'I've already ordered my subordinates to invite her to the manor in your name, Brother.'"

General Chen laughed. "Take a look, brother. If you like her, you can take her away. With a wave of my pen, I'll erase all her information. No one will notice anything wrong. 'But if you don't like her, then this girl is mine.'"

As he spoke, he finally revealed his hidden fangs, he smiled without any scruples and said, "I have three wives and four concubines in my residence, but I've never seen such a type of girl before. 'So... This time, I called you here to make things clear. It's not that I didn't think of you, but if you're picky, then I really have no choice.'"

Chapter 2122 2,118: Wang Ling Is Just A Child (1/86)

Wang Ling was very clear that the person in front of him wasn't Super Chen, but an NPC who had used Super Chen's appearance as a model. He didn't know why, but when this general Chen spoke to Wang Ling with a lecherous expression, his expression was really asking for a beating.

He had Super Chen's face, but his style of doing things was completely different from Super Chen's. Although Super Chen would occasionally act like a gentleman, he was always a gentleman behind the scenes.

Teenage boys would more or less keep some little secrets on their phones.

Wang Ling naturally had some as well.

As for what kind of secret it was, well... no one would know!

So what about in reality? They clearly had almost the same appearance, but people with completely different personalities also existed.

Wang Ling had thought that when he saw Super Chen's face, it would be easy for him to imagine that this general Chen was Super Chen, but in fact, when he realized that this so-called "General Chen" had a completely different personality from Super Chen.., wang Ling felt at ease.

A voice was telling him that this person wasn't the Super Chen he knew..

Wang Ling had heard that Bai Qiao had real information on almost every villain in the Loose Immortal's dharmic ring, and many of these villains had their origins in real life.

As for the story materials, they had been provided by Warden Liang of Songhai first prison for the purpose of teaching and practicing the law in the game.

In other words, no matter how the script went down, Wang Ling would get more or less benefits. From what Wang Ling knew, General Chen's story shouldn't be any better.

To be honest, Wang Ling was still indifferent to matters between men and women. He was still a child... he didn't understand why so many people were obsessed with other people's beauty.

Seeing Wang Ling's reserved look, general Chen also laughed heartily. "Old Wu! You're the same as before! You're still the same! You're so old, and you don't even have a wife; aren't you ashamed. My New Concubine has ten treasures in one child. My goodness, it's so lively in the backyard."

As a child, Wang Ling also didn't understand that there really was such a thing as ten treasures in one child.

For a moment, he had a strong desire to ridicule, but he didn't know where to start.

At that moment, an untimely knock on the door broke the silence in the main hall.

“Who are you! Don’t you know that I’m talking to my brother Wu? !”General Chen was furious and rose to his feet.

Wang Ling saw the shadow of the person outside the door step back, first shrinking into a ball, then gradually enlarging. As if he had mustered up his courage, he said in a very low voice, “General, it’s time to drink the medicine...”

“Cough, cough, this is what brother Wu doesn’t understand. Just because brother Wu doesn’t have night life doesn’t mean I don’t.”As he said this, he got up and opened the door with a raise of his hand.

At that moment, Wang Ling’s gaze focused again on the steaming bowl of soup and medicine that his subordinate had brought over.

On it were a few large words: [9999 flavor earth yellow pills]

After all, the settings were already set for this age..

In addition, there were also three wives and four concubines in the backyard, so it was indeed difficult to take turns taking care of them.

Sometimes, when a person reached middle age, it was already quite difficult to take care of even one, let alone seven.

Wang Ling remembered that Father and mother Wang had been teaching him the correct way to use his ability ever since he could remember. Wang Ling could clearly transform two people’s spirit roots into proper ones, moreover, he was a cultivator with extraordinary talent.

But father and mother Wang still refused, telling him the importance of letting nature take its course

The only exception seemed to be when he had been promoted from primary school to junior high school. Father Wang had come to him and asked him if he could use his invincible divine ability to think of a way..

When a person reached middle age, in addition to staying up late to rush drafts, hair loss and weakness in the muscles of the waist sometimes occurred. At this time, no one would be able to hold on without the support of supplements.

Moreover, at that time, father Wang hadn't been as popular as he was now..

Wang Ling was still a child, and didn't know what exactly father Wang wanted, so he refined a big supplement pill for him.

As for Father Wang, he didn't dare eat all of it..

He was afraid that he would directly ascend and evolve after eating it.

He just gently licked it.

Mm..

That night, the Wang family's small villa experienced frequent earthquakes.

Only Little Wang Ling was dumbfounded.

He was still just a child..

Back to the main topic, although Wang Ling was still a child now that he had grown up, he wasn't completely clueless about this.

There was a physiology class in school, and in addition, there were a few very precocious friends in each class, so it was easy to find out after asking around.

“Every day, I live for this bowl!”

Nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine Earth yellow pills... when the soup was brought close to him, it was bright and colorful, and it could be seen that it had condensed the essence of countless precious herbs.

Unfortunately, in the next second, the two devilish children in the courtyard suddenly charged out and directly cut through the courtyard. Although they were still young, their faces were almost the same as Super Chen’s.

The two seven or eight-year-old children chased each other and ran. While laughing, they accidentally barged into this place. Then, one of them accidentally fell while running, and a heavy hammer spark directly hit general Chen’s vital point.

How could the most powerful general withstand such a critical blow?

Bang!

In an instant, this precious bowl of medicinal soup had been smashed into pieces.

Seeing this father-and-son happy scene, Wang Ling’s mind was in a mess, and he felt like he was watching a sitcom.

Then, something he had never expected happened.

General Chen’s face started to darken, and even his cheeks were rapidly sunken at a visible rate.

At that moment, the NPC subordinate next to him sighed. “The general has been relying on this tonic to support himself all this time... how can this be good...”

Wang Ling:”...”

He didn’t understand.

Wasn’t it just a meal that he hadn’t drunk... was there a need to directly turn him into a desiccated corpse because of malnutrition? !

And from the current situation, this wasn’t just a desiccated corpse!

He was going to... Die on the spot!

“Brother Wu...”

Wang Ling:”?”

General Chen: “My Three Wives and four concubines... and eighteen children... I’ll leave them to you...”

With that, he directly breathed his last.

Wang Ling didn’t understand, but was greatly shocked.

He was still just a child!

Why did he have to help others take care of their wives and children!

Even if it was a game plot, this was still very outrageous!

And then, there was nothing else..

[system: you have obtained a new identity (general Chen of floating cloud town)]

Chapter 2123 2,119 -- What If There Were More And More Identities? (1/86)

Wang Ling had never imagined that he would actually inherit a brand-new identity -- general Chen of floating cloud town, or “General” for short..

He stared at the general’s armor in front of him and fell into deep thought. Now that he was both a general and a jailer, this opening was dreamy and magical enough.

It was so magical that Wang Ling’s heart felt as if it had been clogged with blood, and he couldn’t let go of it. He didn’t know how to describe his current mood, and the ellipses that flew through his mind could circle the earth several times.

But what exactly was this [hidden mission] ?

He couldn’t really be allowed to raise a child, right

Wang Ling was a little flustered.

Although it wasn’t as if Wang Ling didn’t have the experience of raising a child right now, after all, he still had to keep the little girl warm at home. When he was at home, he would often bring his little sister along to change the little girl’s diapers and feed her milk powder.

The little girl was especially good at acting spoiled. She was clearly good at everything, but when she saw Wang Ling, she wouldn't be able to walk on her own, and especially liked to stick to him.

As for Wang Ling, he actually quite enjoyed the feeling of being an older brother.

He had always thought of himself as an emotionless "Monster," but it wasn't until he met Lotus Sun, Super Chen, hero Guo... that he finally understood what friends were.

Now that he had a warm girl, he naturally understood the magical power of blood ties. He was sure that he wasn't an emotionless monster, but because of the seal, most of his emotions and emotions were suppressed, and he was constantly in Sage mode.

It could be said that the Nuan girl was a special existence.

Because Wang Ling could transcend the emotional limitations of the talisman seal and truly feel his love for Wang Nuan on the level of blood ties.

But now..

There were still too many of these eighteen children..

In a daze, the system notification came again.

[system: you have received a time-limited mission.]

[in three days, you have successfully taught eighteen children level-three spells and above. You will receive an additional hidden mission reward.]

"Time-limited mission..."

Wang Ling looked at the mission and felt that it wasn't that difficult.

Feeling rather helpless, he "Tearfully" picked up all of general Chen's belongings from floating cloud town, and general Chen's body also disappeared.

In addition to the two more advanced pieces of equipment, General Chen's tiger helmet (Green) and general Chen's tiger head armor (Blue-RRB- , which had fallen from floating cloud town, wang Ling also found a tiger general mask (purple) that could cover the entire face from general Chen's belongings.

Wang Ling was stunned.

He put all of general Chen's belongings into the inventory, but didn't change into a general's uniform directly. Instead, he put on this tiger power general mask on top of the white-plate equipment on the prison head.

This purple equipment directly gave Wang Ling an additional 50 points in strength and defense.

In addition, his HP also increased by 500 points.

At this point, Wang Ling's total HP had already reached 1,500.

This was a height that most novice players who had just started would find difficult to reach..

He wasn't interested in having multiple wives, and was a little interested in bringing children with him... but he didn't have much confidence in bringing eighteen children with him.

But Wang Ling was still very curious about what kind of reward the system would give him if he completed the mission.

As the saying went, curiosity killed the cat. Wang Ling had actually suffered many losses when it came to being a curious baby, but there was nothing he could do about it... humans were creatures that were keen to explore to begin with.

What's more, this identity of [general] had already given Wang Ling a perfect start.

In addition to this remote general's mansion in Floating Cloud Town, it also meant that Wang Ling controlled the military power in the entire town. Although the overall quality of floating cloud town's soldiers in the entire game world wasn't high, as long as he was there., it shouldn't be difficult to train this group of soldiers into an army of tigers and wolves.

So when he thought of this, Wang Ling felt relieved. These eighteen children would treat it as if he was doing a drill before training the soldiers.

After putting on this tiger general mask, Wang Ling looked at the attendant next to him.

The system displayed this NPC's name: Liu Jun. .

"Liu Jun, bring the children here."

Only three people at home..

Wang Ling was silent for a moment in his heart, then quickly understood.

After all, these were the children of the general. They had lived a comfortable life since they were young, and they lived in an affluent environment. Their lives were free and undisciplined, and they definitely had long since gotten into the habit of playing.

Wang Ling didn't know what the basic cultivation talent of these eighteen children was, but after all, this was just a game, and they weren't real people. Their cultivation talent was set by the system.

Wang Ling had to complete a hidden mission, which meant that it would definitely be difficult to teach these 18 children tier three spells.

So at the moment, regardless of how many of them were at home, Wang Ling planned to first see how much talent these children in the general's mansion had.

He observed seventeen and eighteen, who were standing in the courtyard, and then chose to open their attributes panel. Wang Ling was truly shocked by their pale and powerless attributes.

It could be said that they had almost no talent for cultivation.

Wang Ling didn't know what was going on with the other children, but if they were in the same situation as these two, then the general's mansion could be said to be completely devoid of descendants.

However, there was no harm in being a talent for cultivation. After all, he was still around, and there should still be a bright future if he taught them a little.

“Bring twelve here.” Wang Ling took a deep breath and said to Liu Jun on the side without another word.

With that, Liu Jun shouted at the top of his voice, and a big bald man, as strong as a mountain, ran out of the backyard.

The tiles under his feet shook and loosened as he ran, and then floated up slightly before falling back to the ground.

There was no doubt that this person was a heavyweight, and Wang Ling had originally thought that he was an attendant from some general's mansion.

But when he saw Liu Jun standing respectfully in front of him, he bowed deeply. “General, the twelfth young master has been brought here.”

Why were seventeen and eighteen just children... the twelfth young master was actually so big.

“How Old?” Wang Ling asked casually.

“Eight,” Liu Jun replied respectfully.

This was eight freaking years old? !

The corners of Wang Ling’s mouth twitched

“General, have you forgotten? The twelfth young master has a serious illness and is developing prematurely. He is born with an aging constitution, which is why he is like an adult.”

Wang Ling:”...”

Chapter 2124 2,120: This Novice Village Boss Is So Strong (1/86)

What kind of experience was it to have a baby in the game world? Wang Ling had never experienced it before.

Because of his sister Wang Nuan, Wang Ling didn’t really dislike the idea of having a baby. In addition, Wang Muyu was always sticking to him, so Wang Ling only thought of it as having a little brother.

However, bringing one or two children to play with was still okay, but if there were eighteen of them, it would be enough to give him a headache.

This time, Wang Ling finally realized that Bai Qiao’s game actually had a nurturing element.

It was just that these eighteen children had different talents now, and there were also eight-year-old children who looked like they were forty-eight years old.

Who knew what kind of strange things would come after that?

Wang Ling sighed deeply in his heart as he felt the difficulty of this hidden mission.

He had no choice; he could only take it one step at a time..

“Liu Jun.” Wang Ling’s voice was low under General Hu Wei’s mask. Because of the mask, he realized that his voice had also changed; it was a particularly mature voice, it was completely different from the childish air of a young man.

He called out to Liu Jun and ordered him to bring back the remaining fifteen children outside.

“Yes.” Liu Jun cupped his hands and bowed respectfully, not daring to disobey in the slightest.

Speaking of which, Wang Ling rarely spoke to others in an authoritative tone. Although this experience of being a member of a society was different, Wang Ling still felt a little uncomfortable.

He was famous for his social phobia, and was a man of few words to begin with. Now that he had to play a role to scare others, it was inevitable that he wasn’t used to it.

That was why Wang Ling felt that he didn’t have the talent to be an actor, because he was born with facial paralysis. In an era where acting was becoming more and more important, it was useless to just have a good-looking face.

Even if he didn’t have any emotional flaws, it would be useless if he didn’t pay taxes when everything was perfectly done.

Wang Ling couldn’t help sighing as he watched Liu Jun’s back disappear into the distance. Nowadays, there were people from all walks of life and works that had collapsed one after another. Only his expressionless face and undying love for crispy noodle snacks were outstanding..

After a preliminary examination of the talent of the three children in the general’s mansion, Wang Ling decided to customize a cultivation technique for these eighteen children.

It had to be suitable for everyone here at once.

This was a method that could consolidate one's spirit root, and children with high talent could consolidate their foundation after learning it. Children who weren't talented enough, or in other words, who weren't talented enough, would be able to reach an average level after learning it.

To outsiders, this kind of cultivation method didn't exist at all, but Wang Ling had a huge reserve of spells that no one in the world could match.

Of course, it wasn't easy to find the information he wanted in a limited number of books.

But it was very easy to find the cultivation method he wanted in the vast library of Heavenly Dao magic, not to mention that Wang Ling was a user of the white list of Heavenly Dao, so he naturally had the ability to automatically search for it.

On the other side, Lotus Sun was finally led by the guards to the rumored general's mansion in Floating Cloud Town.

At that moment, the young girl was completely unaware that Wang Ling had already replaced the general of general welfare.

Her Heart was restless. Even though she had already learned "Sword technique", she couldn't help feeling a little worried when faced with an unknown enemy.

Lotus Sun knew very well that the reason she and Wang Ling had entered the game was to expand Mr. Tibetan Fox's influence so that it would be easier for him to make plans for the future.

Time always flew by in the game, and Lotus Sun didn't even know how much time had passed since she had entered the game. She felt that she had spent an inexhaustible amount of time.

Bai Qiao's game environment was too realistic, giving people a sense of reality as if everything was real. The environment, the smell, the light, and even the sound and scenery were all extremely realistic simulations.

Lotus Sun couldn't help admiring Bai Qiao from the bottom of her heart, as well as the contributions of Wang Ming and Shouchong, the think tanks behind Bai Qiao.

"Weren't you going to see the head of the prison? Why did you come to the general?" Lotus Sun asked suspiciously in front of the general's residence.

"The head of the prison is the general, and the general is the head of the prison!" To Lotus Sun's surprise, the guard immediately snorted and replied.

The guard was also one of the game's pcs. The game system would modify the settings in real time according to the development of the plot to achieve a more realistic effect.

A dual-identity NPC?

Lotus Sun was a little surprised. She hadn't expected that the first newbie quest boss she might face in this small novice village would be so fierce. It was a dual-identity NPC with overwhelming power.

Her heart raced as she followed the guard in front of her, dragging her heavy armor as she slowly walked in.

This general's uniform was very stylish and vast. It was almost the most luxurious building in all of floating cloud town. Just by looking at Lotus Sun for the first time, she could tell that this general of floating cloud town must be a wealthy gentleman.

Only a wealthy gentleman would have a certain degree of sensitivity toward people of the same type. Lotus Sun had been born into a wealthy family, and more or less had some ability to identify antiques. From the patterns carved on the beams and painted pillars of this general's residence..., she already had an idea.

Soon after, she was brought into the courtyard, and the first thing she saw was a man wearing a tiger general mask teaching his sons in the courtyard.

There were a total of eighteen children, all of whom had different body shapes and ages. The six of them were neatly arranged into three rows, forming a matrix, and were directly exposed to the sun to train their posture.

This scene gave Lotus Sun an extremely familiar feeling. She didn't know why, but she felt that this was like military training..

Her gaze was somewhat absent-minded as she stared at the "General of Floating Cloud Town" who was training his sons. Lotus Sun didn't dare to speak at all. She only felt that this general and prison head didn't seem as scary as she had imagined, moreover, he gave off a very familiar feeling.

And it even gave her an illusion.

She thought that he was the man she was familiar with.

But at that moment, Lotus Sun quickly sobered up when she heard this general of floating cloud town's incomparably dignified voice.

This game world was so big; how could she have met Wang Ling in the novice village?

While she was smiling bitterly in her heart, Lotus Sun suddenly realized that this general's gaze had met hers through the mask. But it had only been for a moment before this cold and dignified general of floating cloud town moved his gaze away.

Wang Ling hadn't expected that Lotus Sun wouldn't recognize him at first glance because the mask had changed its voice.

But he had recognized her..

Chapter 2125 2,121, Mr. Tibetan Fox's Choice (1/86)

Lotus Sun didn't dare speak at all, even though she felt a sense of familiarity from this general Chen of floating cloud town in front of her. On the other hand, she was also waiting for this "General Chen" to take the initiative to talk to her, this would trigger the follow-up mission storyline.

However, it turned out that Lotus Sun was overthinking things... Wang Ling, after all, didn't have many lines in the entire book, so there was no reason for him to talk so much in the game.

As for Wang Ling, although he had arranged the eighteen children in the general's residence into a square formation and was thinking of ways to let them learn basic sword skills, he was at a loss for a moment when Lotus Sun arrived.

The main thing was that he hadn't expected to meet Lotus Sun directly on the first map that could be called a novice village.

The map in the world of the Wandering Immortal's child dharmic ring was too huge. There were over a thousand map points in a small town, and in the end, he and Lotus Sun had been assigned to the same place.

So after recognizing Lotus Sun, the corners of Wang Ling's mouth couldn't help twitching under General Huwei's mask. He remembered how Wang Ming had kept him in suspense when he had first entered the game with a smirk on his face, he hadn't shared any information about Lotus Sun at all... he could already basically conclude that Wang Ming had deliberately assigned this wave; otherwise, there wouldn't have been such a coincidence.

The scene returned to the real world.

Wang Ming, Zhai Yin, and Shouchong were in the base to monitor everything that was happening in the game.

"Did you do it on purpose?" Zhai Yin asked curiously.

"No." Wang Ming spread his hands helplessly.

"Liar..."

"I really didn't!"

He dared swear on his personality and his future happiness that this time it was really a coincidence and that he hadn't done it on purpose.

Actually, when he had entered the game earlier, Wang Ming had indeed thought about whether he should directly share the location so that Wang Ling and Lotus Sun could meet up sooner. But when he saw that the two coordinates had directly landed at the same location.., he couldn't help wiping his eyes.

Wang Ming subconsciously felt that he had misread the situation..

There were too many maps in the itinerant fairy child's dharmic ring, and the probability of two players who knew each other landing in the same novice village was one in a hundred thousand..

But it just so happened that Wang Ling and Lotus Sun could actually meet each other.

To be honest, Wang Ming had his own thoughts and understanding on whether to assist or not. He wasn't that old, and was only a few years older than Wang Ling. Compared to Odd Zhuo's fancy assists, he actually understood Wang Ling more, he would consider it from Wang Ling's point of view.

It was fine to give an assist only when it was appropriate.

But the effect of an excessive assist was very likely to have negative effects... just like the young people who were constantly being urged to get married, the young people all had their own ideas and liked to make their own decisions, they didn't really like to be told what to do by their elders.

Moreover, this was the cultivation world. A cultivator's cultivation level determined their lifespan, and their age span was long... grenade-throwing senior immortal, who had been a daoist cultivator for more than two thousand years, was still a bachelor, could it be said that the head of this great sect wasn't ambitious? No..

Because his cultivation level was here, and he had both strength and looks, the choice was in grenade-throwing senior immortal's hands. He could look for him whenever he wanted, and no one could rush him.

So this time, Wang Ming didn't make any special arrangements.

Moreover, the wall breaker's action was a major event, and was also the key to letting the cultivators outside Huaxiu who had been blinded by the wall of spirit consciousness see reality clearly. Unexpectedly, after he hadn't taken any action this time., wang Ling and Lotus Sun had unexpectedly appeared on a map instead.

Wang Ming knew that he wouldn't be able to clear his name even if he jumped into the Yellow River. There would always be a thousand mouths that couldn't be explained clearly, and even his own wife didn't believe him. This was simply too outrageous..

His gaze returned to the game, and this time, Wang Ming surrendered his surveillance gaze to the world of Mr. Hidden Fox, who was on another map in the game.

As expected, Mr. Hidden Fox chose to be a [Reincarnator] , a class with balanced strength and intelligence, and had a world map fragment at the beginning.

In the itinerant immortal child's magical ring, all the settings for Spirit Beasts and their worldview were based on the real world. In other words, all the spirit beasts and all kinds of spirit plants that appeared in the game had their living habits and growing habits, were almost the same as in the real world.

In other words, with Mr. Hidden Fox's knowledge, even in the game world of the Loose Immortal Child's Dharmic ring, his set was completely useful.

Slightly different from the equipment Wang Ling and Lotus Sun had used at the start, Mr. Hidden Fox checked his items and found that in addition to coarse cloth clothes (white) and coarse cloth pants (white) , there was also a storage bag (green) .

There was nothing in the storage bag, and it was a one-time use item. After opening it, it would automatically expand the basic 500-slot backpack by another 500 slots.

This also meant that reincarnators could carry more items than other professions at the initial stage.

After checking his health and hunger status and seeing that everything was normal, Mr. Tibetan Fox was slightly relieved.

He rarely played games, but more or less, he had played with a few sand sculpture roommates when he was in university. It was just that the games back then were far less realistic than they were now, and it was just for fun.

In today's world, games had become a way for young people to communicate. Who Didn't know a few internet friends who didn't know each other in real life, but in the game world, they could drink, chat, and tell each other their heartfelt feelings..

Okay.

The emotional end.

Next, Mr. Hidden Fox's first step was to put on the clothes in his inventory. Although it was two pieces of white-board equipment, after all, this game was immersive. Even if his appearance was a hidden fox., this clothes that didn't cover his body wasn't very civilized.

However, just as Mr. Hidden Fox was about to put on his clothes, he realized that the equipment given to him couldn't be worn.

[system: Please do not wear the equipment of different races on your body]

Mr. Hidden Fox did not expect that he would be despised by the game world after entering the game world..

The corner of his mouth twitched, and he almost could not hold back his urge to curse.

However, as a high-quality hidden fox in the human world, he decided to endure it and use his profound knowledge to create a perfect beginning.

After lighting up the map fragment, there was a region rich in resources on the map that was completely lit up, and it was not far from his novice village.

However, to find resources from here to that map, it was too slow to walk on two feet, so he had to pay for a ride.

Mr. Hidden Fox looked at the initial money he had on him. There was a total of 500 copper coins, which was not enough.

He thought about it carefully.

Then, he found a pawnshop in the novice village where he was born. He pawned the two pieces of white board clothing that he could not wear and collected a silver ingot..

Chapter 2126 2,122: Knowledge Changes Fate (1/86)

The start of one ingot of silver was still very cold. In contrast, Wang Ling had just completed two consecutive hidden missions, and not only had he gained two new identities, he had even gained control of the military in general's mansion and floating cloud town.

Hidden Fox only knew that Wang Ming had arranged for two mysterious people to help him at the crucial moment, but he didn't know their real identities, so he could only rely on himself for the start of the game world.

It wasn't easy to achieve a small goal in such a short time in a completely unfamiliar environment. Not to mention the game world, even in real life it was full of difficulties.

Apart from the factor of luck, there were no connections, no start-up funds, and everything else was just empty talk. Mr. Hidden Fox was exceptionally clear-headed, and all he could rely on now was.., his vast knowledge reserves.

Fortunately, the game world of "Loose Immortal Child Dharma Ring" was strictly based on the real world of cultivation. Here, Mr. Hidden Fox felt that he had a lot of potential.

One ingot of silver was enough for the travel expenses in the past, but it was still a little cramped to return.

According to Mr. Hidden Fox's plan, he would use the travel expenses to the resource area that was lit up. Then, he would use his own knowledge to refine pills in the resource area, and finally sell them to these towns for distribution.

However, the initial funds were far from enough. Although he could walk on the way back, without the protection of the hired convoy, it was inevitable that he would encounter danger on his own.

After thinking for a while, Mr. Hidden Fox looked at the pawnshop owner in front of him and took the initiative to ask, "Excuse me, do you still need a staff here?"

Yes, in the "Wandering Fairy's dharma ring", there was a job mechanism. In the case of insufficient money, players could ask the shop npcs in the map in exchange for a job opportunity. The duration of the job would not be long, moreover, one could obtain a high salary in a short period of time.

However, the conditions for successfully triggering the job-hunting mission were also very harsh. In addition to the players asking on their own initiative, the shop would also issue a corresponding initial mission. Only after completing the mission could one obtain the opportunity.

The pawnbroker glanced at Mr. Hidden Fox. Perhaps he had never seen such a strange-looking guy. He saw the owner push up his glasses and immediately said, "You bastard, pawned your clothes. So You're Not a spirit beast from another shop?"

"I'm a human," Mr. Hidden Fox said with a smile. He was used to it.

He was already used to it.

He did not mind others teasing him about his appearance at all.

Mr. Hidden Fox also knew that the conditions of this game were more harsh and complicated than he had imagined.

He was now a job seeker, so naturally, he would not turn hostile.

On the way to the karmic base, Mr. Hidden Fox had used a very short time to go through the introduction to the game. He had even seen the importance of prudence in every conversation and choice in this game.

“You’re quite interesting,”the fat pawnbroker laughed. He then turned around and took a bracelet from his counter and handed it to Mr. Hidden Fox.

At the same time, the system also gave Mr. Hidden Fox two options.

[1. There are options to answer (choose one of the four answers. If you answer correctly, you will be able to successfully start a part-time job quest. The quest reward will depend on the specific quest completed after the part-time job is opened)]

[2. There is no option to answer (there is no option to answer. You will need to answer according to your own knowledge. If you answer correctly, you will not only be able to accept the job quest successfully, but you will also receive double the job reward. At the same time, you will also receive a hidden reward)]

Mr. Hidden Fox took a glance at the bracelet and chose 2 without hesitation. He believed that with his knowledge, he would be able to complete the quest successfully.

He looked at the bracelet that his boss handed him and examined it carefully for a while, then quickly gave his appraisal results.

“The glazed bracelet from the near ancient times is an old item passed down from the big sects in the near ancient times. The Green Dragon, White Tiger, Vermillion Bird, and black tortoise on it remind me of a famous sword sect that gradually declined in the near ancient times.”

Mr. Hidden Fox laughed confidently. Everything was as he had expected. Many of the items in the game were derived from data in the real world.

For example, he had the fortune to see this bracelet once in the Cultivation Museum, so he was very clear about the origins of this bracelet.

He explained slowly, it was almost exactly the same as the historical records in reality. “As far as I know, the full name of this great sect is the Wuji Sword sect. It was founded by Sword Immortal Fan Rui. After that, it evolved into a famous branch like the four divisions. Unfortunately, this sword sect is now in decline.”

He did not continue, because he was not sure whether the person he mentioned later was a plus or minus point. Although he knew a lot, he also knew that it was wrong to say too much.

He also had to learn to stop talking, otherwise he would be suspected of showing off.

“Exactly!” Obviously, the pawnbroker was also shocked. He did not expect this ordinary-looking human-shaped hidden Fox to be able to tell the truth about the treasure of his pawnbroker.

Almost in an instant, Mr. Hidden Fox received the system notification that [you have successfully started a job mission], and he also received a hidden reward for answering without options.

The two pieces of blue equipment surprised Mr. Hidden Fox. However, a bucket of cold water was quickly poured over him.

Because just as he was about to equip them, the system’s error notification appeared again.

[system: Please do not wear the equipment of different races on your body.]

Wasn’t this bullying an honest person? !

The corner of Mr. Hidden Fox’s mouth twitched. Looking at the two pieces of equipment that he could not wear, he was secretly worried.

He could only find an opportunity to pawn these two items.

As for now, it was more important to work honestly.

The entire job mission was like this. On the day of the job, he needed to complete the appraisal of ten items. If he successfully appraised an item, he would automatically receive an ingot of silver. Finally, according to the accuracy of the mission, he would receive an additional reward.

If he had answered with an option just now, there would only be five items appraised, and he would only receive 500 copper coins without any additional bonus.

The difference was quite big.

Then, his career as a part-time worker would officially begin..

On the other side, although Wang Ling had obtained the entire general's mansion in floating cloud town, the current situation was no different from when he had been a part-time worker

In essence, he was no different from a laborer.

Moreover, Wang Ling had always felt very tired teaching disciples, and Odd Zhuo could be considered to have saved him a lot of trouble. However, when it came to those who didn't have talent, he sometimes felt very helpless.

This also made Wang Ling understand why some teachers at school would often get angry at students they really couldn't teach..

“General, you've brought her here? Aren't you curious whether the person under this armor is a man or a woman? If It's as the rumors say, this is a violation of military rules, and she needs to be sentenced to death!” Seeing that Lotus Sun and Wang Ling hadn't spoken for a long time, the guard who had brought her here stepped forward.

He had come to advance the plot.

Under the mask, Wang Ling silently rolled his eyes, then waved at the guard and shouted, “You, stand down.”

He had known long ago that it was Lotus Sun in that armor.

So it didn't matter at all.

The guard was defeated, scratched his head and left resentfully.

But at that moment, Lotus Sun took the initiative to stand up and say, “Well, general... I see that you've been reprimanding the children for a long time, but it doesn't seem to be working. Do you want me to try?”

Chapter 2127 2,123 -- It Was As If He Could See The Future (1/86)

In fact, there were many times when Wang Ling had felt that Lotus Sun was really a very patient girl. In the past, he had thought that she would only put on a mask in front of him and restrain herself into what everyone imagined, she would be perfect without the slightest mistake.

But now, this live teaching of the eighteen children in the general's residence had made Wang Ling completely abandon that old idea, because Lotus Sun didn't know his real identity at all, but she still patiently went on with her teaching.

Earlier, Wang Ling had tried to find a middle talent among this group of children and then teach them a suitable level three spell. In the end, he had found out that Lotus Sun's teaching method was smarter than his.

She hadn't directly taught him cultivation techniques, heart sutra, spells, swordsmanship, knife skills, and so on. Instead, she had started with the basics and taught him... the function.

Strictly speaking, it was just a primary subject in functions, which was the point of impact for studying parabolas.

It must be known that in the world of cultivation, throwing concealed weapons or flying spells required precision. If you couldn't hit it with your ability, it would be useless.

Therefore, parabolas in functions were also classified as one of the basic subjects, which was also known as “Parabolas.”

And according to the modern educational theory system, this course could be upgraded. Unlike other fixed-level spells and subjects, it could be upgraded according to the throwing accuracy of “Parabola,” up to a maximum of three levels.

It wasn't until he saw Lotus Sun's example that Wang Ling realized the limitations of his mode of thinking... he had only been thinking about the high road, but he had missed this basic course.

Even if he had mastered thousands of spells, he was still a student of the Heavenly Dao after all. Even if he had the confidence to teach these eighteen children, it would definitely take a long time.

The point was that it had become a habit for these children of the general's residence to not follow the rules. Even though they looked obedient on the surface, Wang Ling couldn't help feeling conflicted in his heart, which would cause them to deliberately not learn.

Even if they understood and knew that they could, they wouldn't be willing to learn it.

But “Parabolic spell” was different. There was no need to be rigid in the throwing course; it was usually very interesting, and for this group of naughty children, it just so happened to be a course that could be said to be “The right medicine.”

From level one to level three, “Parabolic spell” focused on accuracy. For this group of naughty children, they already had a certain level of throwing skills, because when they were throwing tantrums or fighting, they would often throw things at people.

In the beginning, they couldn't listen to a guard's orders, but now that Wang Ling, the “Old father” of the general, had tacitly allowed this guard to teach here, in addition to the fact that they were already very tired from standing in the military posture..., they just wanted to move around.

Now that they heard that this guard's lesson was the familiar “Throwing of concealed weapons,” their expressions instantly lit up.

Wang Ling had his subordinates bring over the sandbags in the manor, and the basic teaching of the “Parabolic spell” started with these sandbags.

The eighteen children were divided into nine groups according to their age, one older and one younger. Thus, the sandbag throwing battle, which used the entire general's manor as a map, officially began.

They were all having a great time.

Mr. Hidden Fox's part-time job quickly came to an end. There was not a single mistake in the appraisal of the ten items. Including the bonus, he received a total of 20 silver ingots. With so much money on him, not only did he have ample travel expenses, but he could also eat good portable meals on the way.

He went to the inn in the small town and bought ten beef sacks and six gourds of Jade Spirit Dew. He equipped them directly. These things were enough to allow him to resist hunger for a long time and recover his health and fatigue.

He immediately emptied the inn owner's Daily Reserve.

The total cost was 1 ingot of silver.

In the itinerant immortal child's dharma ring, the smaller the size of the food, the more expensive it was. However, in the map in front of him, beef sacks and Jade Spirit Dew were the best choices.

The items sold in the various maps were all based on the regional technology level. The level in the itinerant immortal child's dharma ring varied.

After all, there was still a relatively futuristic place like the machine city.

However, it was impossible to find the products of the old era such as inns in those places. Instead, there were all kinds of twenty-four-hour convenience stores that sold smaller but more expensive bento boxes and so on.

After solving the problem of hunger, the only thing left was the problem of cold. Mr. Hidden Fox calculated the time. If he were to hire a convoy to go to the resource map that was lit up from now on, it would probably be already midnight, if he did not have sufficient warmth, he would easily starve to death in his naked state.

Therefore, Mr. Hidden Fox had no choice but to spend another four silver ingots to buy a set of spirit beast equipment from the Spirit Beast Shop and put it on.

Universal spirit beast headscarf (Green) , Universal Spirit Beast Soft Armor (Green-RRBUniversalrSpiritiBeasteBootsooWhitehite)

Four silver ingots were exchanged for two pieces of green equipment and one piece of white equipment. The average price was twice as expensive as the equipment of a human cultivator.

Mr. Hidden Fox felt that it was not very cost-effective, but for the sake of the follow-up mission, he could only endure it..

As far as he knew, pet products were all IQ taxes. In fact, their functions were not that outstanding, just like some special shampoo for pets... Actually, there was no need for it at all., there was no problem at all if it was used by a human.

After spending five taels of silver to solve the problem of food and clothing, Mr. Hidden Fox found the caravan of Huanglong Town and made a follow-up map for himself. He would not come to Huanglong town again., after collecting the resources, he had to find a larger city to sell his products.

But now the map was almost completely black. Except for Huanglong Town and the resource area that he had lit up, Mr. Hidden Fox really did not have much idea where to go.

He could only open the blind box in the surrounding areas that were close to the resource area.

Because according to common sense, the closer a city was to the resource area, the more developed it would be. At the same time, he also paid attention to the next city that he had chosen, whether there was a waterway.

If there was a port or something like that, it would also be able to show the strength of this place in a certain sense.

After the final discussion, the task of the convoy included delivering Mr. Tibetan Fox safely to the resource area and then setting up camp in the resource area for a day. After a day, they would set off to send Mr. Tibetan Fox to a new city. If they were to set up camp for too long., they needed to add two more silver ingots per day. After two days, the convoy would automatically return to Huanglong town and no longer carry out the follow-up escort mission.

Therefore, including the initial price of six silver ingots after the discussion and the deposit, Mr. Hidden Fox needed to spend a total of 10 silver ingots.

In the end, he only had six silver ingots left.

And he needed to use the remaining six silver ingots and the resources in the resource area to raise at least one million silver in a short time!

Chapter 2128 2,124, Part-Time Warrior (1/86)

Everyone knew that to get rich, one had to stroke the trees first, and Mr. Hidden Fox was no exception. However, what he wanted to stroke was not just the trees, but the spiritual plants that could be used in the resource area. The principle was similar.

The resource area was very large, and some of the rare spiritual plants grew on the cliffs. It was very difficult to pick them, and the slightest carelessness could lead to the danger of returning to the novice village and starting all over again.

Therefore, Mr. Hidden Fox's goal was very clear. He would not consider rare spirit plants from the start. Picking them was difficult and time-consuming, and the convoy responsible for escorting him would only stay in the camp for a maximum of three days, therefore, all actions had to be calculated with a stopwatch in mind.

In addition, when it came to safety, moving within a five-kilometer radius around the camp was the safest.

As for the location of the encampment, it was decided by Mr. Hidden Fox, which was equivalent to giving him a ready-made opportunity.

After entering the jungle terrain, he immediately analyzed the entire map based on his current cultivation knowledge. Although the spirit plants he wanted to collect were not as rare as those on the cliffs, based on the growth habits of the spirit plants, it would be very helpful to analyze where he could dig up a relatively high-level spirit plant.

“It’s here.” Soon, Mr. Hidden Fox confirmed his target. He stared at a triangular area on the map and said to the captain of the motorcade in front of him.

The rainfall here was very high. Because of the mountain fog, the entire environment was unusually humid, and many fungi grew there as a result.

“Okay, Boss.” The team leader nodded. He was a muscular bald man, but his voice was not as rough as his body’s. There was a cute contrast, and he looked very easy to talk to.

The bald leader was also a little surprised by Mr. Hidden Fox’s choice. “But boss, are you sure you want to choose this place? There are a lot of mushrooms growing here, and there are many types. It’s difficult for normal cultivators to distinguish them.”

This unexpected supplementary conversation could be considered as a kind reminder that Bai Qiao had deliberately arranged for the player. This reminder was not available during the closed beta previously.

After the player had directly chosen this area, he had just entered the area when he ate the poisonous mushrooms. The Lilliputian Kingdom lingered in front of his eyes before he died instantly..

It was the most difficult to distinguish the fungi in the cultivation world because some fungi were very similar in appearance, but they were also very easy to be misjudged. Only by grasping all the details could he ensure that he would not accidentally eat them.

The most common way to distinguish was that the more brightly colored fungi were, the more toxic they were. However, in fact, there were also brightly colored fungi that were completely non-toxic.

As a walking encyclopedia, Mr. Hidden Fox was very confident in his knowledge reserves... and in the real world, he was also fearless of mushroom toxins, which was greatly related to the cultivation technique he practiced.

But it was precisely because of his cultivation technique that he became this hidden Fox's appearance... it could only be said that he understood the principle that fortune and misfortune depended on each other earlier than most people.

But Mr. Hidden Fox was also very clear that this was a game..

This was the result of being forcefully cut..

After a sigh in his heart, Mr. Hidden Fox officially set off with the motorcade he had hired and began his journey as a soldier in the game world..

His gaze returned to Wang Ling and Lotus Sun.

Mr. Hidden Fox was working, and although Wang Ling and Lotus Sun looked more comfortable than Mr. Hidden Fox, how could child training not be a part-time job?

It had to be said that Lotus Sun's method of teaching and playing was very successful. This method might not be useful for all children, but in the final analysis, it was the right medicine and a way to control the situation.

Starting with sandbag throwing, out of dissatisfaction with the number of sandbags, the children in the general's residence began to learn to throw spirit energy balls on their own initiative, which was used to solve the problem of not having enough ammunition when throwing each other.

This was a basic spell that gathered spirit energy into a ball on the palm of the hand. The principle was similar to the sword saint's ultimate skill, "Palm Sword."

Once this group of children had the interest, they would learn it very quickly, and as long as one of them learned it, they would definitely share it with their teammates.

It was only now that Wang Ling understood Lotus Sun's original goal of letting the older children take care of the younger one. One was big, and the other was small. They were divided into nine groups, one group for two people.

It looked like they were big and small, but in fact, it was a precise distribution of talent. She had deliberately let those children with high comprehension take care of those with low comprehension, so as long as there was one person in the group who knew how to do it., in order to win, she would definitely help her teammates.

It was hard to imagine that in less than two hours, this group of children had grown at an incomparably rapid pace. This basic parabolic spell had already grown to level three at a visible rate.

Very soon, Wang Ling had completed his third hidden mission.

[system: you have completed the time-limited mission]

[in three days, you have successfully taught eighteen children level three spells and above. You have received a hidden reward: General's order]

General's order?

Wang Ling opened his inventory and read the detailed introduction.

[general's order: you will receive the following rights and benefits upon receiving this order]

[1: you have the ability to inspect military strength. The number of soldiers has been added to your system map. You can check the military strength on the map where the general's mansion is located.]

[2: you have the right to launch an expedition. You can launch an attack on different camps and hostile cultivation countries.]

1: Build the general's mansion here and get the remaining troops. At the same time, you will face the pressure of the enemy camp launching a counterattack.

2: disarm this place and get all the resources on the map. At the same time, you will face the pressure of making enemies with the local camp, and your reputation in the outside world will also be lower.

3: with the right to recruit, you can already use the general's mansion of floating cloud town to launch a recruitment order for Wolong in the surrounding areas. The recruited Wolong people will send you self-recommendation letters through the system mailbox. The higher the regional economic level, the more stable the life of the local cultivators, the higher the happiness index, and the higher the overall quality of the Wolong people can be recruited

[4: I'd rather urge the children in the general's mansion to get married and have them marry the other generals in reverse order to expand their sphere of influence.]

Wang Ling didn't know why, but when he saw this item's introduction, he suddenly felt like he had done this task for nothing.

Starting a war wasn't something that someone like him could do in the first place..

Of course, the most bizarre thing was the fourth one -- he could actually use the children of the general's manor as a condition for the marriage..

This made Wang Ling unable to hold himself back a little.

There were quite a number of extraordinary children in the general's Manor! How could a marriage be arranged like this?

Looking at the introduction in front of him, Wang Ling's heart was a little flustered..

Chapter 2129 2,125, Behavioral Analysis Of Big Data (1/86)

It could be said that this general's order was of little use to Wang Ling. He was an old conservative, and as a world pacifist, he naturally didn't want to fight if he could.

Looking at Huaxiu's history, Huaxiu's current growth and Rise hadn't come from plundering other countries.

Of course, although Wang Ling advocated world peace, he had no choice but to act when it was time, for example, against Bai Zhe and the upcoming battle..

He had already sensed that a great war was inevitable, and all he could do was do his best to protect his home and the fate of all humanity.

During his time studying at No. 60 High School, Wang Ling had also realized the importance of a team. All of this was thanks to Super Chen, hero Guo, Lotus Sun... these people seemed to be giving him trouble all the time, but they were also his companions who could always wake him up at critical moments.

It would be difficult for him to look at the big picture by himself. The outcome of future battles wouldn't depend on him, but on whether human cultivators could truly unite.

This was also what was meant by the saying that human cultivators shared the same fate.

Otherwise, even if he took care of Bai Zhe in front of him, there would be other "Bai Zhe" who would stand in the way of Earth cultivators in the future, and the road ahead would only be more difficult.

Wang Ling didn't know how long he could protect Earth. He felt that he was very strong, but at the same time, very weak.

So what he was doing now was paving the way for the future of all human cultivators, and also paving the way for his ideal future.

It was this thing that had fallen into his hands.

If it had been any other player, they would have long since ignored the need to expand their territory.

His and Lotus Sun's goal was to quietly accumulate strength and wait for Mr. Hidden Fox to support them at any time. If they fought now, it would be an act of exposing their strength and foundation in advance.

So Wang Ling's thinking was very clear.

Now that he had the military power in floating cloud town, it would be better for him to just hide in this novice village. The key was to continue recruiting troops and accumulating strength here.

And the general's order wasn't completely useless.

Wang Ling could use it to recruit.

At that moment, he opened the map and looked at the level of the entire floating cloud town. The income and expenditure of spirit mines, Spirit Wood, spirit stones, and food materials were in a balanced state. There were no negative returns, nor was there any positive growth.

The number of troops that could be deployed was 2,000, with a total population of 8,000.

Size: small town.

Overall Rating: Ding

The number of "Wolong" that could be recruited with this rating was bound to be limited, so Wang Ling's next step was to raise the city level first, by investing in man-made resources like spirit mines, Spirit Wood, spirit stones, and other basic natural resources in the surrounding areas, he would build a small town and expand the population.

However, investing in man-made resources would inevitably destroy the current consumption of edible materials and directly destroy the internal cycle of the current balance of payments.

This made Wang Ling feel a little constrained.

He knew very well that it wasn't easy to manage a sect, so although he had planned the construction of the war sect, he had no intention of becoming the sect master at all.

He couldn't manage so many people.

There were specialties in the field.

Management itself was also a science.

It wasn't necessarily necessary for him, a social phobia patient, to be the boss..

So it was best to have a ready-made boss to manage it for him, and Wang Ling himself only needed to play a supporting role behind the scenes.

But where did a ready-made boss come from?

So at this moment, Wang Ling turned his gaze to Lotus Sun.

He was shocked to realize.

Lotus sun..

Wasn't she a ready-made boss? ?

At the same time, Wang Ling was even more convinced.

Wang Ming had deliberately arranged all of this..

Otherwise, how could there be so many coincidences in this world? !

He really could come up with whatever he wanted?

Impossible!

Absolutely impossible!

Wang Ming felt really wronged.

He swore that he really didn't have it this time!

But Wang Ling had already misunderstood, so at the moment, Wang Ming had no other choice.

He swore that he didn't want to explain anymore, so he directly opened the door and started typing furiously at the computer. Lines of code flashed across the main screen at the speed of light, like a bullet screen.

Although Zhai Yin didn't understand a single line, she could roughly sense the helplessness on Wang Ming's face.

“No... It's all heaven's will! Heaven's will! Heaven's will can not be disobeyed!”Wang Ming didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

He swore that he really had no intention of deliberately trying to set up Wang Ling and Lotus Sun this time... but things had already come to this, and Wang Ming felt that it was better for him to just be the villain for once..

He could tell that Wang Ling wanted Lotus Sun to help him develop the city, so he simply typed out the code so that all the system missions that Lotus Sun would receive would follow Wang Ling's instructions.

Wang Ming couldn't read Wang Ling's thoughts at the moment, but he could predict and analyze Wang Ling's actions by clicking on the buttons on the game interface.

For example, when Wang Ling analyzed the map, the intelligent AI system started to make a replay of Wang Ling's actions, and the highest probability was that he wanted to build a city.

The system's analysis determined that Wang Ling had been staring at the number of resources on the map for a long time, and that he was probably thinking about how to expand the resources and expand the city.

After closing the map, Wang Ling turned his gaze to Lotus Sun, which led the system to conclude that it was very likely that Wang Ling wanted Lotus Sun to assist him in developing the city.

In other words, although Wang Ming couldn't read minds the entire time, he could make predictions based on the players' actions when they clicked on the system's control page.

In fact, this logic was common in many places.

For example, when a player entered a game interface and chose the recharge phase, the speed at which they charged might also affect the gold yield to a certain extent.

Players who charged quickly would not think too much, so the speed of charging was very fast. This behavior also told the game company that this "Boss" was not short of money, so they could get more money.

Then, they could reduce the gold payment rate to let the "Bosses" keep charging.

If the charging speed slowed down, it meant that this person was very likely a student party and was still hesitating whether to spend the money or not. Then, the best way to deal with it was to maintain the normal probability, it was even possible to increase the probability of getting a gold card.

Student parties were all eager to show off. Once they got a gold card that they wanted, they would inevitably show it off to their friends around them, which would cause more of their peers to get involved in it and be unable to extricate themselves from the happy cash card draw

Of course, this reasoning was just Wang Ming's own thinking.

Mm..

This was only theoretically feasible.

He doesn't have any other evidence.

Chapter 2130 2,126, General Of Novice Village (1/86)

At the same time, Lotus Sun soon received a new system mission [time-limited mission: within three days, help the general of floating cloud town develop the city to a higher level and recruit Wolong to floating cloud town]

-LSB- mission reward: unknownThe the reward will be based on the level of development of the city in three days and the average ratingWolonglong recruitThe the higher the level, the more generous the reward.]

This was a mission that had suddenly appeared. The moment the general of Floating Cloud Town looked at her, a system notification almost immediately appeared in front of Lotus Sun's eyes.

She noticed that the general of floating cloud town didn't seem to like to talk much, and for some reason, he especially liked to wear a mask... he looked just like him.

Lotus Sun suddenly felt that she had a mysterious power.

In the past, there had always been people who said that she had Lotus Sun's domain, and that she could attract many people to surround her, so that her charm, which had nowhere to put it, would spread to everyone's line of sight, and then release hormones.

But later on, she found out that her domain was ineffective against “Autistic sociopaths.”.

And Lotus Sun also felt that she seemed to have a special affinity with autistic sociopaths..

Even the npcs she had met in the game were programmed with autistic sociopaths.

For a moment, she felt that this general had a very strange temper. Although he had quite a personality, based on the game’s settings, could a general who was autistic sociopaths lead a good team?

Perhaps this was why the system had given her a mission to help with the development of the city?

Helpless, Lotus Sun could only accept it.

She took a step forward and looked at Wang Ling. “General, do you want me to help you develop the town?”

Under the Tiger Mask, Wang Ling was also very surprised by Lotus Sun’s initiative to volunteer. He only said the word “En”before he put his hands behind his back and prepared to leave the general’s mansion.

“General, what are the young masters going to do next?”

Wang Ling looked at Lotus Sun and tried his best to remain calm. “What’s Your Name?”

He was still acting, so Lotus Sun couldn’t see through his identity.

Her initial task was to hide her true gender, so it was impossible for her to say her real name directly; calling Lotus Sun directly was a bit too fake.

But it was clear that Lotus Sun reacted very quickly. Wang Ling was acting with her again, while Lotus Sun was also acting with Wang Ling.

Under the Tiger Mask, the corners of Wang Ling's mouth twitched. He hadn't expected Lotus Sun to directly mention Old Master Sun's name..

"We'll listen to this Vice General Sun's arrangements,"he said to Liu Jun next to him.

"Vice General Sun?"Liu Jun was clearly stunned. A corporal had directly jumped to the rank of vice general, the same rank as him... Liu Jun was dumbfounded on the spot.

This leap was indeed a little too fast, but it was the general's idea, so Liu Jun could not object to it face to face.

Moreover, the eighteen playfully-playing young masters of the general's residence had been trained by this newly promoted vice-general sun to an unprecedented degree of unity, so much so that everyone had aroused a strong interest in learning.

This matter could not even be accomplished by the seven madams in the backyard, but it was well-organized by a soldier who was secretly rumored to be a woman. It was enough to show that this was a capable person.

Therefore, Liu Jun didn't say anything more. Although he was surprised, he could only do as he was told.

After making an exception and being promoted to vice general sun, the surrounding npcs were clearly much more polite to Lotus Sun, but she didn't receive a new identity from the system.

That was because she didn't have any items that belonged to the vice general in the game, unless Wang Ling killed Liu Jun and distributed his equipment to Lotus Sun before giving her a new order. This was the correct way to obtain an identity.

This could be considered a loophole to tell that this general of floating cloud town wasn't an NPC, but it was a pity that Lotus Sun was still a little young when it came to games... she hadn't noticed it in time.

After arranging the follow-up lessons for the eighteen children, Lotus Sun received a notification at the same time that she had completed a system mission to hide her gender. After Wang Ling had given her a verbal vice-general, the system had immediately determined that she had completed the mission.

This was also one of the reasons why Lotus Sun had been so careless, because she had only felt that the vice-general's identity in the game wasn't the key, but rather a turning point for her to complete the newbie mission.

Without thinking much about it, she directly added all of her level 20 attribute points to her defense.

Looking back at Lotus Sun's [sword work] settings, the damage of all sword-type attacks would be reduced by 75% . Every time a sword-type weapon attacked, the number of passive layers would increase by 1, and she would also gain 1 dexterity. The number of passive layers also determined the number of spirit swords she could control.

In other words, while Lotus Sun was in a state of full-point defense, her agility could also be increased through cultivation methods, and the agility attribute was the key to affecting the attack speed and dodging rate.

Combined with the 75% reduction in sword-type damage, once her level increased, even if Lotus Sun didn't have much HP, the damage that could hit her would probably be as little as a drop of blood., and most of the time, it would be miss... she would be directly dodged because of the cultivation method.

And this was the legendary fast-moving Titan Sword Saint!

With Lotus Sun's assistance, Lotus Sun had simultaneously gained control of a part of the city, but every time she completed the settings, she would have to go through Wang Ling's review.

In Wang Ling's eyes, this process was quite redundant. He trusted Lotus Sun 100% , and it would be over as long as she agreed to it.

Right now, floating cloud town had 2,000 troops, which wasn't even as many as Huaguo water curtain group's employees. Lotus Sun's position as a deputy general was like that of the group's executive CEO, and to be honest, it made her quite nervous.

After all, she was only seventeen years old, and had never been able to mobilize so many people at the same time. When floating cloud town developed, the number of people it would have would probably be even greater than it was now.

Building a city required building resources, so a portion of the soldiers had to be sent out to collect resources. Once the soldiers were sent out, it meant that the safety of the city would be reduced.

In the loose immortal child's Dharma Ring, a map with a low safety factor would definitely be attacked by outside forces.

Even though Lotus Sun was already very cautious about the distribution, she still received a system notification very quickly.

Twelve hours later, the demon spirits from the demon caves around floating cloud town would gather and attack this place. There were about five hundred demon spirits in total!

After seeing the system notification, Lotus Sun secretly sighed. He had only allocated 1,000 people, which was a conservative choice, but in the end, they were still attacked.

In the end, not only did the general of floating cloud town not blame her, he even comforted her.

Wang Ling said.

He knew that the demon spirit would launch an attack from the south entrance of the town.

So he didn’t panic at all and just stood there with his hands behind his back as he slowly walked toward the south.

“General? Just You? Don’t you need to send someone to help defend?” Lotus Sun was flabbergasted; she didn’t understand if this NPC general was deliberately courting death.

Going alone wasn’t a sure way to send someone to their death.

Then, he opened up his health bar to Lotus Sun.

In fact, when Lotus Sun was training the children and hurrying on their way, Wang Ling had never stopped cultivating. He kept silently reciting the mantra of “Heavenly God descends to Earth” in his mind.

So at that moment, when Lotus Sun saw Wang Ling’s true health bar, she was dumbfounded.

At that moment, Wang Ling’s health bar.

Why would a general of a novice village... have 300,000 health points!

Lotus Sun knew that the biggest boss in the novice village in the early days was only 2,000 health points!

A more powerful boss with 10,000 health points was already the limit!

And this general of floating cloud town, actually has 300,000! ! !
