

BACK FOR MY DAUGHTER

Chapter 5 - So What If You Have A Gun!

Let's move our attention towards the current situation now.

While Ye Qian was surrounded by about ten people holding bats and sticks in their hands, one of them scoffed at him and said with a devious smile.

"Brat you should not have stopped our boss from having fun with that woman, now, though he will have fun with her you will pay the price for poking your nose in his matters."

"Guys let's beat him blue to let him know the consequences of disturbing our boss."

"Yeah! beat him."

"Break his limbs."

The surrounding other thugs supported him with cheering.

Meanwhile, the leader was having his gaze on Little Qing's mother while drool was falling from his mouth.

Little Qing and her mother saw him looking at her and hid behind others.

As the thugs surrounded Ye Qian he was having a calm expression on his face.

"Hey, Ah Su go and break his limbs for our boss." A thug said with a smirk on his face.

The man called Ah Su walked forwards while fanning his stick towards Ye Qian while saying "Brat this is all your fault, don't blame others for this."

As he walked towards Ye Qian while swinging his stick towards his legs, he suddenly heard a wooshing sound coming towards his left ear. Then he heard a silent puh sound coming from his ear and flew towards his right like a thrown gunny sack.

"Crack"

While the people surrounding Ah Su could hear a cracking sound and then they saw Ah Su flying towards his right and crashing on the other three of his buddies who tried to support him from falling.

As Ah Su was caught by them they felt being hit by a truck and fell on the ground while clutching their hands and wailing loudly.

They tried to stop him from falling as a result the force transferred to them through their hands which could not handle it and their bones broke.

Meanwhile, as Ah Su fell on the ground he suddenly felt darkness spreading in his eyes and all he could see was blurry while thinking 'Was I crashed with a car.'

He then fell unconscious the others didn't know whether he was alive or dead.

"Oops, sorry I didn't control my strength" Ye Qian mumbled while seeing the thug falling unconscious. He lowered his leg which was in the position of high kick just then.

The other thugs and villagers were dumbfounded.

'You didn't control your strength and this happened then what will you do if you decide to kill someone won't it will be a plaything for you.'

Little Ming looked at her father and said with shining eyes.

"Look dad big brother knows martial arts, I will ask him to teach me next time he visits us."

Her father looked at her with mouth agape thinking 'If you learn it that what will we do if you accidentally killed someone, we still don't know whether that man is dead to alive.'

"Be alert he is a Martial Practitioner." Someone from the thug said to the others.

Everyone nodded, as one of them said "Let's all attack at the same time I don't believe he can counter us all at the same time."

As he said that Little Qing's mother looked at Ye Qian with worry.

She was worried as fighting several of them might injure Ye Qian even if he was a Martial Practitioner.

As the thugs were coming near Ye Qian he still had a calm expression on his face.

Suddenly a bat came from behind him, he quickly turned and while this time controlling his strength used a palm at the thug on the chest.

The thug felt he was being crushed by a train as he heard the sound of his ribs cracking and he curved like a stretched bow and was sent flying toward a wall where he stumbled and fell unconscious.

If he knew that if Ye Qian had used a bit more of his strength then his heart would have turned into meat paste then he would have thanked Ye Qian for showing mercy.

As the others saw another one of them injure they looked to each other and nodded.

They rushed towards Ye Qian, this time their aim was to hit him on the head so that they might have a higher chance of beating him.

Meanwhile, Ye Qian turned around to face the others, as he turned he saw that a bat was coming near his head, he squatted down and neared towards the one who was hitting him and punched towards his thigh.

"Kaka"

"Fu*k! Bast*rd!"

A loud cracking sound was heard again and the one whose thigh was cracked fell down and started wailing loudly while cursing Ye Qian.

The remaining four of them were just about to hit him when his punches came towards their face.

They were flabbergasted and let go of their weapons and fell on the ground, still, they were no match for Ye Qian's speed and were punched on the face with a punch each but only their nose broke and they stumbled back.

They saw Ye Qian coming toward them and went on their knees.

"Sir don't kill us we will leave far away and won't come to this village again and even leave the gang."

They all sounded chorus as they urged Ye Qian.

Ye Qian looked at them and nodded while saying "If you really won't come to this village then I won't hurt you. Now run away and never do such things."

They nodded and ran towards the village gate and ran without even looking at their previous boss. They thought 'Our life is more important, we can do some heavy labour and can earn big. Ah Su and others won't be able to be in good health, it's good that we knew what is good for us otherwise we would have been the same.'

The leader looked at Ye Qian with a ferocious glint in his eyes. "So you really are something, but can you stop a bullet. Hehe."

He stepped down and removed a pistol from his belt and pointed towards him.

"Gasp"

Everyone in the village sucked a breath of cold air while seeing the leader of the gang pointing a gun at Ye Qian.

Though the gun looked handmade it was still a gun and would sure-fire a bullet that might kill anyone who faced it.

Ye Qian looked calm even though he pointed a gun towards him.

"If you don't want to die hand over the money and your woman, whom you have been trying to save." the leader said while licking his lips.

Little Qing's mother's cheeks flushed hearing the leader say that she was Ye Qian's woman but she quickly shook her head and thought of the situation that was ahead.

"Well, I won't die and you are wrong she is not my wife, but still you can't take her." Ye Qian said without an ounce of fear.

Little Qing's mother looked at him a little touched and her eyes turned moist 'Nobody had treated me like this before. Do I matter so much to him?'

While she thought such that was not what Ye Qian meant, if he knew he might have felt disaster coming towards him.

But what can you say, when a woman likes someone she will like everything he does.

Well, that topic is for another day.

"You sure are brave, let's see if I can take her after I pull the trigger. Hehe."

The boss smirked at Ye Qian and put his finger on the trigger.

While he was about to pull the trigger something happen which made others mouths wide open.

Ye Qian suddenly slapped him on the face and his teeth fell, while the gun in his hand was taken by Ye Qian as he broke it into two pieces with his bare hands.

"So what if you have a gun, I can just break it!" Ye Qian said while punching him in the stomach.

The boss fell on the ground and curled like a cooked shrimp while wailing and blood coming from his mouth, though it was due to his teeth which were knocked off.

The lackey who was by the side of the boss immediately kneeled and said "Sorry sir, let us go we will never do this work again." He was not an idiot he did the same as the ones who were spared before.

"Ok just leave and don't come here again if I hear that you were here again.." he pointed at Ah Su and others "You know what will be the result."

"Yes sir, thank you for sparing our measly lives, we will definitely cherish it." The lackey bowed again and again and said.

"Now, what were you waiting for, pick your people and scam from here." Ye Qian said sternly.

What he didn't like the most was when women were forced to do things that they never would.

So he was angry but still, he did not kill anybody and at most severely injured them.

Though he was now currently at the Pseudo Immortal realm and would have to cultivate a long way if he had to reach his previous realm he didn't care about it, but as the Spirit Energy in the Earth was very less, the thing which he suffers the most was that the stored Spirit Energy in his dantian would deplete as he uses it, though he might recover, it might take time.

But if he didn't recover the used Spirit Energy and used what he has, his stored energy will start to deplete and might result in his degradation of the realm which might result in him falling further bellow to Nascent Soul and further less the more he used it without replenishing it.

So he didn't use any kind of Energy-related art on the thugs, if he wanted to he could make an Energy barrier around him through which the bullet would not penetrate.

He turned towards the villagers and went to Little Qing who seemed to be calling him.

"Thank you Big Brother for saving me and my mother." Little Qing said while she went towards him and hugged him.

"Hey don't say that, am I not your Big Brother why won't I save her?" Ye Qian said as he smiled and patted her head.

She smiled and asked, "When will you come again Big Brother?"

"Umm I will come back in two months and I will bring you guys some gifts then." He said as she looked at him with her big eyes.

He looked around and saw Little Ming running towards him.

She clung onto him and said, "Big Brother you must teach martial arts when you come next time."

"Ok, I will." He nodded and looked towards Little Qing's mother and asked "Are you fine?"

She nodded while her cheeks turned crimson.

Seeing her becoming red again Little Qing asked "Mom are you having fever again should Big Brother check you."

"Um.. No no, I am fine." She struggled to look towards Ye Qian and said "I am just a little exhausted by all this."

"You must take a rest and don't go to work quickly now that you are healthy take a rest for a few days." Ye Qian said without any thought.

'He cares for me so much.' Little Qings mother felt honey was about to drop from her heart she could not help but look at Ye Qian shyly.

Well, she is into him now, guess I have to add her.
