

Dauntless 120

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 120

“You jerk! How dare you make a move on me! Hurry up and pull Yvonne away from me. I'll make him pay for it!”

When Patrick came back to his senses, he ordered the bodyguards to pull Yvonne away from him and told them to go after Harold.

Harold's uncle, Layne, and the other neighbors acted faster than those professional bodyguards as soon as Patrick gave his orders.

They quickly dragged Yvonne aside and opened the door.

Much to their surprise, Harold had yet to leave when they opened the door.

He was standing there outside the door, staring at the people.

Those who opened the door were taken aback when they saw that.

Yvonne, who had been pulled aside, noticed Harold standing in the doorway.

Feeling agitated, she bellowed, “Harold, you idiot! Why didn't you leave?”

“What will become of this family if I'm gone? Don't worry. Now that I've returned, not only Patrick or anyone in Norham, but the entire Chanaea, will not dare to touch a single hair of any one of our family members!”

As he said that, he narrowed his eyes and swept his gaze around the crowd. Although his voice was not loud, his words carried weight.

It was as if he was speaking from the depths of his soul.

“Harold, you unappreciative jerk! Are you trying to ruin the Campbell family? Hurry up and beg for Old Mr. Yarrow's forgiveness!” Layne chastised Harold.

Just as he finished speaking, Harold entered the house once again.

Everyone assumed he would listen to Layne and plead for Patrick's forgiveness.

However, when he approached Patrick, the crowd noticed that he did not stop in front of Patrick. He walked past Patrick instead.

As he did so, Patrick noticed his side profile and thought he looked familiar, but he could not place him.

“How dare you! Where in the world did you gather the courage to hurt my father? Everyone, take him down!”

Watching as Harold ignored his father, Alexander immediately ordered the bodyguards to beat him up.

However, before any of the bodyguards could even approach Harold, Harold kicked them all away.