Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 134

Glen jolted up from his chair and rushed to the courtyard.

He never thought that Thiago would come after him so fast. After all, Thiago had barely left an hour ago, and now he was back for vengeance.

The other members of the Zeller family were surprised, too. They went out after Glen.

Jacob hung at the back. Seemingly reluctant, he brooded as Megan dragged him out.

No one knew what was going on in his mind.

When the Zeller family arrived at the courtyard, they were stunned by the scene that greeted them.

It was true that Thiago had returned without warning, but apparently a bunch of people had dragged him here.

He did not seem to be moving.

Three men exuded domineering auras were in the lead.

They were followed by security guards wearing uniforms indicating that they were from Paradise Hotel.

Glen and the others were utterly confused when the bunch of men came to a stop before them.

"Is Mr. Glen Zeller around?" the middle-aged man in the lead asked politely.

The newcomers crowded the courtyard of the Zeller residence.

"Yes, I'm Glen Zeller. May I know who you are?" Glen relaxed after realizing they weren't here to cause a commotion.

He couldn't help but wonder why they had come.

After confirming Glen's identity, Levi introduced himself and his subordinates. "Greetings, Mr. Zeller. I'm the general manager of Paradise Hotel in Norham. My name is Levi Xanthos. These are my assistant managers, Zachary Walker and Aaron Patel. We're here today to offer our apology, Mr. Zeller. Men, get him to the front!"

He ordered the security guards to drag Thiago forward.

Hearing that, Glen, the Zeller family, and the many guests could barely hide their shock.

They had no idea that the three newcomers were higher-ups working in the acclaimed Paradise Hotel of Norham.

Moreover, the purpose of their visit was too unexpected.

Instead of coming to start a fight, they were here to offer an apology.

Everyone was flabbergasted.
