Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 151

According to Samuel's estimates, she could recover in a week.

As Harold stared at Isabella on the bed, he felt an intense murderous intent toward Bradley and Harvey.

Though he told Craig not to go after them, it did not mean he was letting them off.

His hatred could only be relieved when he punished them personally.

Isabella was his Achilles' heel, so he would make anyone who touched her pay.

Even Isabella's uncle was no exception.

"Logan, inform Craig in Dellmoor to restore the Turner family's warehouse to the state before it was burnt!" Harold ordered Logan, who was guarding outside the door.

"Yes, Mr. Campbell!"

Logan immediately went to make the arrangements.

The next day at noon, Harold sat beside the bed and accompanied Isabella as usual.

He was preparing to eat lunch when he received a call from Felicia asking him to go back.

Not daring to disobey Felicia, he hurried back, and upon reaching home, he realized Glen's family was present too.

When they saw him return, everyone stood up to welcome him, except Louis, who remained seated as he had not fully recovered yet.

"Harry, you're back! Come sit between your dad and me!" Glen exclaimed as he grabbed a chair for Harold.

Now, not only did he know Harold was the mysterious God of War, but he also gained lots of benefits during the party at Golden Sands Hotel the previous night.

The person in charge of the Southvale urban renewal project announced before everyone during the party that Paradise Hotel and Zeller Group would be working together on the project.

After the party, the general manager of Paradise Hotel, Levi, even found him personally and suggested providing capital to Zeller Group at an incredibly low interest rate.

That meant Zeller Group gained all the benefits without doing anything.

Upon returning home the previous night, Glen immediately gathered all the staff from numerous departments, including the finance and audit department, to tabulate the profits.

The result made their jaws drop.

Zeller Group would earn at least ten billion from the project.

As they were only a company worth tens of millions, the only reason why they managed to get such a large project was due to Harold.

Besides, those were just the countable profits.

The profits from the intangible assets had not been added yet.
