

Dauntless 471

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 471

“Good job, Owen. Since you're so sincere, you must compensate each of us with one million in losses, and then I'll help you.”

Naomi calmed down and thought about how her best friend Michelle had to succumb to this jerk for the sake of her siblings at home. She took advantage of the situation and demanded a large sum from him.

“All right, as long as Ms. Sherlock is willing to help me, I will compensate you the three million!”

Three million wasn't a significant amount for Owen. At that juncture, he was even willing to kneel before them. Thus, as he spoke, he had already transferred one million to each of them.

“Good, you can go back and wait for the news. However, I can't guarantee that Mr. Hancock will forgive you!”

After leaving such a remark for Owen, Naomi and her friends left the café.

Meanwhile, after having a threesome at the hotel, Donny smoked a cigarette while watching people flirt in the group chat.

Suddenly, someone sent a video of the Sherlock family's mall being vandalized by a group of thugs, with several security guards seriously bashed up.

It immediately caught Donny's attention.

He recalled Naomi's upset face from before and immediately inquired about the Sherlock family's situation in the group chat.

Soon, someone with reliable information revealed that the Sherlock family had offended one of the top ten families, the Sunderland family.

After hearing this, Donny gasped.

He had bragged before Naomi earlier, claiming he knew influential people who could help her with anything.

Recounting the incident, he realized he might have gone overboard and boasted too much.

In the face of the Sunderland family, he, Donny Hancock, was nothing!

At this moment, Naomi's call suddenly came in, startling Donny.

He wondered if Naomi had taken his words seriously and wanted him to deal with the Sunderland family.

With this in mind, Donny didn't dare to answer the call.

He also didn't dare to hang up, and just let the phone ring incessantly.

"Mr. Hancock, why aren't you answering the phone?" asked the two girls curiously as Donny refused to answer the phone.

The two girls accompanying Donny to the hotel saw him staring at his phone with an unsettled look.

"Get lost!" Donny was annoyed at not knowing what to do and snapped at the two girls, giving them a thousand and sending them away.

Naomi saw that Donny wasn't answering the phone, so she kept calling.

She had too many questions for him and wanted to get some answers.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 472

"Naomi, listen to me. The Sunderland family is one of the top ten families in Xenhall, powerful and with extensive connections. They're not someone ordinary people can handle, so you should think of ways to appease the Sunderland family..."

As Donny spoke, he trailed off, but his meaning was clear—the Sunderland family was very powerful and a small fry like him couldn't handle it.

However, Naomi, on the other end of the phone, misunderstood his meaning.

"Donny, I understand what you're saying. The Sunderland family is indeed very powerful, and you must have made a lot of effort for my sake to make them cave in. Let's meet up sometime when we're both free, and I'll thank you in person. I have to go now as I have something to attend to!"

Naomi thought Donny meant that the Sunderland family was very powerful, and his words hinted that she should know the extent of effort he put in to solve the problem she had with the Sunderland family.

Naomi was afraid that Donny would make unreasonable demands that she couldn't refuse, so she hung up the phone immediately, wanting to keep the initiative firmly in her own hands.

She planned to discuss with her close friends how to repay him later.

“This...”

Still in the hotel, Donny listened in awe to the busy tone from his phone. He was dumbstruck.

It seems like Naomi has misunderstood my words even more!

After thinking about it, Donny sent her a message to clarify the matter.

There was no way he could fight the Sunderland family.

As he composed the message, he hesitated to send it.

He would lose the golden opportunity to pursue Naomi if he sent this message.

After some thought, Donny felt a bit unwilling.

“Maybe I can use this opportunity to deceive Naomi and get her. As long as I don't admit it, it won't matter, even if she finds out later. She's the one who insisted on giving me the credit. Hehe...”

With that thought, a sly smile appeared on Donny's face, and he quickly deleted the message.

After hanging up the phone, Naomi drove Luna and Michelle to Luna Clinic.

Meanwhile, Harold had just sent off Owen's lackeys in the clinic when he encountered two unwelcome visitors.

Wilhelm and his son Bill came to visit.

“What are you doing here? This is a quack clinic. If you're sick, go to the hospital!” Harold spoke to them in a cold tone, clearly mocking Bill as he saw the duo getting off the car.

Bill looked embarrassed at Harold's words but still gritted his teeth and brought Wilhelm inside.

Wilhelm, on the other hand, didn't take Harold's sarcastic words to heart and happily walked into the clinic with his cane.

After Wilhelm's fever subsided that day at the hospital, he recovered very quickly. The hospital's experts observed him for two days, and he was finally discharged.

It was only because of his special status that the hospital kept him for an extra day for observation.

Otherwise, he could have been discharged yesterday.

The first thing Wilhelm did after being discharged was to visit Luna Clinic to express his gratitude.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 473

“Sorry...”

Bill saw that Wilhelm was serious, so he could only apologize reluctantly to Harold.

Harold almost laughed out loud at the sight of Wilhelm and Bill.

Bill, a middle-aged man in his forties or fifties, was kneeling on one knee before him, apologizing. Harold felt a sense of the absurd.

At the same time, he also had a good impression of Wilhelm.

“Dr. Leiden has gone out for something. If you want to see a doctor, return tomorrow or go to the hospital!” Harold’s face still appeared cold and indifferent.

“Dr. Campbell, my son is ignorant. Don’t take it to heart. We are here today to thank you in person for saving me back then. I want to give you this as a token of gratitude. Although I have retired, I still have some connections in Chanaea. If you ever need help, show this to the party concerned, and I’ll be able to help you!” Wilhelm said, handing a strange-looking badge to Harold.

The badge was inscribed with the name of the Chanaea Law School together with that of Wilhelm’s.

It was the highest honor badge from Jussipi Law School.

Since the university’s founding, only three such badges have been issued, specially awarded to those who made outstanding contributions to the university.

Wilhelm had one of them.

“Dad... you’re giving the badge to this kid?” Bill jumped up from the ground, looking shocked.

He had secretly played with this badge when he was young and almost got his legs broken by Wilhelm when he was discovered.

At that time, his mother was still alive and desperately protected him. It was because of her protection that he didn’t suffer worse consequences.

At that time, his mother was still alive and desperately protected him. It was because of her protection that he didn't suffer worse consequences.

Otherwise, he was uncertain if he could still stand.

Over the years, Wilhelm had locked the badge in a password-protected safe, showing its importance.

It seemed that the badge was more important to Wilhelm than his own son!

But today, he was giving the badge to Harold.

It was too shocking for Bill!

“What? Do you have a problem?” Wilhelm saw the shock on his son's face and sternly asked.

Bill lowered his head in resentment and didn't dare say anything else.

Since they entered, Harold had only spoken two sentences.

Both indicated displeasure against Wilhelm and Bill.

Then, he just watched their bickering.

Even at this point, Harold thought Wilhelm and Bill were putting up a show to boost the value of the badge!

However, Harold didn't bother to think of a reason why they would do this.

“I'll accept the badge. You can leave now!”

Harold didn't expect Wilhelm to thank him personally. He didn't care about the badge, so he accepted it and told them to leave.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 474

“Initially, Owen still wanted to pick on us, but surprisingly, Donny, Naomi's pursuer knew a big shot. That big shot is too powerful for Owen to handle, so not only does Owen not dare to come near us anymore, but he's also paying us a million each as compensation. Now, Michelle and I are millionaires!” uttered Luna, who had just exited the car, in excitement when she heard what Harold said.

After she finished talking, she even waved her phone in the air gleefully.

“Wait... Did you say her pursuer helped you guys handle Owen?” Harold was confused. I told the richest man in Xenhall, Lothar, to deal with the matter, no? Why did Donny end up being the person who helped them?

“What's wrong? Are you feeling upset about the fact that I have a pursuer? Listen to me. Stop thinking you have a chance with me. You're nothing but a pervert. I'll never fall for you.” Naomi wasn't pleased when she saw the shocked look on Harold's face.

Ever since Harold saw her changing the last time around, she always had a feeling that he had done it on purpose because he harbored inappropriate thoughts toward her.

“I'm not into you! You're being delusional!” Harold retorted, rendering Naomi speechless.

“I'm not into you! You're being delusional!” Harold retorted, rendering Naomi speechless.

“You...” Naomi, who was in a skirt, lifted her leg to kick Harold. However, there was no way she could ever hurt him with how agile he was.

Harold instinctively reached out his hand to grab her leg and lift it up.

Although nothing could be seen up the skirt because she was wearing thermal stockings, Naomi still felt humiliated being in that posture.

Her cheeks burned bright red at once.

“Y-You're a f*cking pervert! Go to hell!” Naomi subconsciously threw her phone at Harold.

In response, Harold lifted her leg even higher, thinking he could use it to block the phone.

As a result, Naomi lost her balance and fell backward.

“Ah!” she screamed frightfully. If I fall down this way, I'll surely hit my head. What if I get a concussion?

Everyone at the scene was dumbfounded by what was happening before their eyes.

Harold then quickly reached out his other hand to grab her by her shirt to prevent her from falling down.

Naomi was still in shock when she suddenly felt someone grabbing her chest.

Her bra hook underneath her shirt broke on impact.

“You b*stard! Get your disgusting hands off of me now!” Naomi fumed.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 475

“What happened? What did I do?” Harold was puzzled by Naomi's reaction.

“What do you mean? She was wearing a seamless bra with a clasp in front. When you broke it, the straps snapped and hit her breasts. How could you say you did nothing?” Luna hissed, annoyed.

“Oh... I didn't do it on purpose. Luna, could you please help me explain the situation to her?” Harold scratched his head awkwardly after figuring out what he had done.

“All right. I'll talk to her on your behalf when she returns. However, you shouldn't get your hopes up. She might not forgive you!” Luna uttered in a helpless tone. I initially thought I could get them to fall in love with each other, but it seems rather difficult!

“Okay. By the way, please tell me more about how Mr. Hancock helped you guys deal with the Sunderland family.” Harold changed the topic. I don't get it. Did Owen let the three of them off because of me or Mr. Hancock?

“Long story short, we met Mr. Hancock at a café... Oh! After Mr. Hancock left, over fifty thousand showed up in my PayPal account. What's with that?”

Luna unloaded Naomi's car while relating everything to Harold, and before she could finish her story, she suddenly remembered receiving over fifty thousand in her PayPal all of a sudden. Hence, she was hoping that Harold could explain it to her.

However, she didn't receive a response from Harold.

However, she didn't receive a response from Harold.

When she turned around, Harold was no longer standing behind her.

Right at that moment, Harold was already outside making a call to ask Lothar about the situation.

Meanwhile, in Dellmoor, it had been a few days since Logan had managed to get in touch with Harold. He began panicking and immediately called Carolyn, Xander, and Bronson, asking them to search for Harold discreetly.

At the same time, the fake God of War and his subordinates had come up with a plan to force Harold, the real God of War, into revealing himself. The plan was then carried out.

While the Fields family focused on pressuring Dellmoor's Big Three and Matthew, the fake God of War was supposed to make his move on Isabella. Concurrently, he had ordered his subordinates to monitor Wrenna and Brittany closely.

It had been a few days since the fake God of War last had a meal with Isabella.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 476

"I heard that you're planning on opening a clothing studio, right? Here's ten million. I would like to invest in it. Besides, since you're in the fashion industry, I think you might as well start a company. A studio is too small, and it's pointless!"

The fake God of War's words caught Isabella by surprise.

"Oh... Is this what you wanted to talk to me about?" Isabella was taken aback. Does the God of War really want to invest in my business?

"Yes. This is what I wanted to talk to you about. I'll invest on behalf of The Veteran's Foundation. That way, your company will be the first business The Veteran's Foundation invests in. Furthermore, I think your company will rise to success by having the God of War as its ambassador," replied the fake God of War firmly.

The way he carried himself made Isabella feel as though he was the heir to a prestigious family.

"Your suggestion sounds nice. Having you on board and endorsing it, my clothing company is definitely going to flourish. Besides, I can do something to repay those adorable veterans! However, please keep your money first. If you're investing in it, I ought to amend my business plan. Once I've done that, I'll let you check it out. If everything's okay by then, we'll proceed with the rest of the process. What do you think?" Isabella was filled with excitement after she realized the benefits of the God of War's involvement.

"No problem! I have to make a move now. I look forward to hearing good news from you!" Seeing that Isabella had agreed to his proposal, the fake God of War rose to his feet.

"No problem! I have to make a move now. I look forward to hearing good news from you!" Seeing that Isabella had agreed to his proposal, the fake God of War rose to his feet.

Isabella was surprised to see him getting ready to leave so soon.

Despite so, she didn't give it much thought. After all, the God of War is a busy man. I'm grateful enough for the fact that he took the time to discuss the matter with me.

With that in mind, Isabella didn't dare to say a word about it. Instead, she stood up and shook his hand before watching him leave.

The fake God of War exited the café and put on his mask the second he got into his car.

He was constantly reminding himself that he was pretending to be Harold, so he had to do whatever Harold would do.

The reason he didn't wear his mask when he met Isabella was that he wanted to leave a special impression on her.

“Sir, why are you out so quick? Why didn't you take the opportunity to bring Ms. Turner out for a movie or a trip to the amusement park? That should be able to improve your relationship with her, no?” asked the fake Logan, the driver of the day, when he saw the fake God of War coming back from the café so soon.

“What's the hurry? This was only the second time we met each other. If I make a move too soon, I'll only make things worse! Now that she has agreed to let me invest in her company, I'll have plenty of chances to ask her out!” the fake God of War answered calmly.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 477

However, he couldn't tell if it was Evelyn or Marilyn.

Even so, he was still glad to see the girl appearing before his eyes. Both sisters have come into contact with the God of War recently, and I might be able to get some information on the God of War out of this girl.

The fake God of War observed the girl's expression, and an idea popped up in his mind. “What are you doing here?” he asked in a cold tone.

The girl stood still and grumbled, “You jerk! Why did you leave me in Jinrich after saving me?”

The fake God of War had been paying attention to what was happening on Hishwick Island, so as soon as those words fell, he knew the girl before his eyes was Evelyn.

Indeed, the girl was none other than Evelyn who came all the way to Dellmoor from Jinrich to look for the God of War.

Prior to that, Quintus had already sealed the news of Harold's plane crash. After Evelyn woke up in the hospital, she saw the news showing that the God of War was in Dellmoor.

That was why she thought the God of War had left her alone in Jinrich while she was unconscious because he needed to rush back to Dellmoor for the event.

Having gone through countless life-and-death situations with Harold, the real God of War, in Jinrich, the willful young lady ended up falling head over heels for him.

Since she was the princess of the Schmidt family who had been pampered since she was little, she was used to expressing her emotions boldly. Even more so when she was in love.

Since she was the princess of the Schmidt family who had been pampered since she was little, she was used to expressing her emotions boldly. Even more so when she was in love.

Hence, instead of going home, she went straight to Dellmoor to look for the God of War after leaving Jinrich.

She even mistook the fake God of War for the real God of War who had saved her life.

However, since the fake God of War had reserved the entire Grandeur Hotel and it was heavily guarded, she didn't have the chance to meet the fake God of War. The fact that the fake God of War seldom appeared in public made things even harder for her.

In the end, she stayed in a hotel near Grandeur Hotel. Apart from eating, drinking, and sleeping every day, the only thing she did was wait for the God of War to appear at the entrance of Grandeur Hotel. After three days of waiting, she finally saw the God of War she was missing dearly.

“I...”

The fake God of War didn't dare to answer Evelyn's question because he didn't want to expose himself.

Evelyn could no longer suppress her emotions anymore, so she dashed toward him and threw herself into his embrace.

She then burst into tears and said, “You're so mean! I hate you!”

While she was crying, she kept punching the man's chest to vent her frustration.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 478

“What do you know?” the fake God of War asked in a cold tone.

In response, Evelyn rolled her eyes and said, “What's with that mean tone? I meant to tell you I know why you smell different. When we were in The Poisonous Forest in Jinrich, the air was pungent and foul. Now that you're staying in a hotel, you get to shower and bathe every day. Obviously, that's why you smell different!”

The fake God of War's fierce attitude didn't weird her out because Harold treated her the same way when they were in the forest.

Hence, the fake God of War's attitude gave her a sense of familiarity.

The murderous look on the fake God of War's face gradually subsided when he heard those words.

"Good that you know. What else do you want?" Based on the short conversation, the fake God of War had gotten the hang of Harold's attitude toward Evelyn. Otherwise, she would've realized something was wrong when I spoke to her in an aggressive tone. I must get into character and behave nonchalantly. In other words, I have to play hard to get!

"C-Could I please stay in Grandeur Hotel as well?" Evelyn stammered.

The fake God of War was thrilled when he heard that.

The fake God of War was thrilled when he heard that.

However, the mask was concealing his expression, so Evelyn didn't see it. He continued acting indifferent by saying, "Do as you please."

With that, the fake God of War entered the hotel. As long as Evelyn keeps her guard down, I can slowly get more of Harold's information out of her. If necessary, I can also use either Isabella or her to force Harold to show himself. Of course, that's the last resort. Now, I still need to find a way to get Isabella to fall in love with me. Only then can I bring her home and marry her!

"Don't mind if I do!" Evelyn was on cloud nine after seeing that the fake God of War wasn't against the idea of her staying in Grandeur Hotel. As long as I can stay in Grandeur Hotel, I'll have more chances to be by the God of War's side. In fact, I should even try to seduce him. Otherwise, there's no telling when this aloof man will realize his feelings and accept me.

With that in mind, Evelyn quickly went through the check-in procedures at Grandeur Hotel.

Little did she know that the man before her eyes was just an imposter who was setting up a trap for her.

Once she fell into his trap, she could get taken advantage of and even lose her life.

Meanwhile, Harold was in Xenhall, and he had no idea the trouble the fake God of War was going through to force him to make an appearance.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 479

Xenhall was a small place, and it only had one café.

That café was a subsidiary of Daroga Hotel, and it was located on the first floor of the hotel.

Upon arriving at the entrance of Daroga Cafe, Harold saw that the parking spots were filled with luxurious cars and only a few motorcycles and public bicycles.

Harold couldn't find a place to park, and he saw a wide space between a Maserati and a Mercedes-Benz 600.

Seeing that the space was wide enough, he parked his scooter there, locked it, and walked toward the entrance of the café.

After taking just a few steps forward, he saw a young man in a suit and a pair of cropped pants exiting the hotel and walking toward the Maserati.

That young man was the man that sent the schoolgirls away, Donny.

After sending the girls away, he no longer needed to stay in the hotel.

Donny arrived next to his Maserati, saw Harold's scooter, and roared, "What the f*ck? Which poor b*stard parked the lousy scooter next to my car?"

By then, Harold had already arrived at the entrance of the café. When he heard what Donny said, he gave it some thought and decided to move his scooter to make it easier for Donny to move his car out.

Before Harold could reach his scooter, however, Donny had already gotten into his Maserati and reversed it out.

Before Harold could reach his scooter, however, Donny had already gotten into his Maserati and reversed it out.

If Donny were more careful, he could definitely move his car out safely despite having Harold's right scooter next to it.

Yet, Donny was the spoiled young heir of a rich family. Taking advantage of his family's wealth and power, he was used to being an arrogant and inattentive man.

Consequently, Donny ended up knocking Harold's scooter over after reversing barely a meter.

Before Harold could get there, he heard a crash, and he saw that his scooter had hit the Mercedes-Benz 600 next to it.

Harold's expression changed drastically, and he hurried over to lift the scooter up.

A huge dent was visible on the rear of the Mercedes-Benz 600 due to the crash.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 480

Those gangsters were from a biker gang, and they all rode modified motorcycles that sounded as loud as speeding sports cars.

In fact, they were so loud that they could cause public disturbances.

As if that wasn't bad enough, they also liked speeding down the highways as a group.

As soon as they arrived at the other end of the street, the roaring sound of their motorcycles already traveled all the way down the street. Needless to say, they were a nuisance to the public.

Just one noisy motorcycle was enough to catch attention, much less a whole group of them. Moreover, they all had eccentric hairstyles and outfits that were hard to miss.

"You sounded eager over the phone, Mr. Hancock. How may we help you?"

Those gangsters were drinking at a place nearby, and they rushed toward Daroga Cafe upon receiving a call from Donny.

The biker gang was founded by Donny. Donny was rich, and everyone was eager to butter him up. Hence, he was considered the leader of the biker gang.

Donny didn't ride his modified motorcycle that day because he was picking up girls.

"Nothing much! It's just that this fellow scratched my car, and he's refusing to pay up. I asked you guys to come to help me pressure him," Donny said to the gangsters.

Upon hearing that, the gangsters immediately took out their metal pipes and machetes before surrounding Harold.

Upon hearing that, the gangsters immediately took out their metal pipes and machetes before surrounding Harold.

Although they hadn't said a word, one would be terribly frightened upon seeing them waving their weapons around.

"What do you think, brat? I managed to gather all these men with just a phone call. Are you paying me a hundred thousand, or are you willing to get beaten up by every one of them?" Donny asked Harold smugly.

Having already beaten the men sent by Bill and Owen, Harold knew what he was capable of. Hence, although the gangsters assembled by Donny had surrounded him, he wasn't afraid. Why do so many people want me to teach them a lesson?