

Dauntless 481

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 481

At that moment, Lothar and Liam were sitting in one of the booths at the corner of Daroga Cafe.

Although they could see a group of people gathered outside, Harold was blocked by someone in the crowd. Not only did they not see Harold, but they also weren't paying attention to the group outside.

To big shots like them, street fights were just immature children messing with each other.

What made them concerned was the fact that Harold was still nowhere to be seen even though they had been waiting for him for a while.

Right when Lothar was about to call Harold to ask if he was arriving, he received a call from Harold.

Lothar answered the call right away, but Harold merely said a sentence before hanging up.

Lothar instantly jumped in alarm when he heard what Harold said.

When he was in the hospital and heard Harold saying that he was the God of War, Lothar could tell that Harold wasn't an ordinary person. Besides, what the Oracle said to me made me believe that Harold was really the God of War. In that case, the God of War in Dellmoor has to be fake. Be that as it may, I still don't know why is someone impersonating God of War. There's a possibility someone is trying to keep everyone calm now that no one knows where the real God of War is. It's also possible someone is doing it for their own personal interests. In essence, I must be careful when I'm dealing with Harold.

Liam was puzzled when he saw Lothar rising to his feet right after receiving a call. The former stood up as well and asked, "What's the matter with you, Mr. Hightower?"

Liam was puzzled when he saw Lothar rising to his feet right after receiving a call. The former stood up as well and asked, "What's the matter with you, Mr. Hightower?"

Lothar had no time to explain himself, so he blurted as he walked, "That man is here. Let's welcome him!"

Liam grew increasingly curious about the big shot's identity when he saw Lothar heading out personally to receive Harold. Furthermore, he noticed that Lothar was acting cautiously and solemnly, so he quickly followed suit.

Upon exiting the café, they saw a crowd gathered in the parking lot. Lothar scanned the surroundings and saw no sign of Harold. Hence, he brought Liam along and squeezed through the crowd.

Meanwhile, Donny checked his watch and realized that almost three minutes had passed, and Harold's reinforcement had yet to arrive. "Brat, didn't you say you could make us beg for mercy within three minutes? Your time is almost up. Where's your reinforcement?" Donny sneered.

Donny was starting to think that Harold was merely pretending to make the phone call and that the latter wanted to stall some time before making an attempt to escape. My men are armed, and they have this b*stard surrounded. There's no way he's getting out of here.

Harold ignored Donny's question and stood calmly on the spot.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 482

"Who are you? Buzz off! You're blocking my way!" Lothar saw Donny walking up to him while reaching his hand out for a handshake. Seeing the way Donny was dressed, Lothar shoved the former aside and hurried toward Harold.

Needless to say, Donny was incredibly humiliated.

Before Lothar could reach Harold, however, the members of the biker gang stepped forward and got in his way.

"What's with your attitude, old man? Mr. Hancock offered to shake hands with you because he respects you. How dare you shove Mr. Hancock aside? Do you have a death wish?"

The members of the biker gang were used to having their way on the streets. Ordinary people would usually shy away from them for fear of offending them, giving them a misconception that everyone in Xenhall was scared of them.

When those blockheads saw Lothar shoving their boss aside, they immediately went up to Lothar while brandishing their machetes, staring at Lothar haughtily.

Lothar frowned and shot Donny a look when those foolish young men got in his way.

Donny almost peed his pants when he realized what the gangsters were doing.

Before they could utter another word, Donny rushed toward them and kicked the gangster that threatened Lothar, sending him flying.

"Are you guys f*cking blind? How dare you disrespect Mr. Hightower, the richest man in Xenhall? Are you guys trying to get me killed so that you guys can take my money?" Still fuming, Donny went on to kick a few other gangsters.

"Are you guys f*cking blind? How dare you disrespect Mr. Hightower, the richest man in Xenhall? Are you guys trying to get me killed so that you guys can take my money?" Still fuming, Donny went on to kick a few other gangsters.

The gangsters were baffled by Donny's actions. We were merely protecting Mr. Hancock's dignity! Why would he say we were trying to get him killed?

"I'm sorry, Mr. Hightower. My name is Donny Hancock. My family runs a logistics company in the southern region. These guys are foolish, so please forgive their ignorance!" Donny apologized to Lothar after reprimanding his men.

"Hmph!" Lothar let out a cold snort in response. Since no one was blocking his way anymore, he quickly walked up to Harold and asked, "Are you all right, Mr. Campbell?"

Lothar initially wanted to address Harold by his first name, but he changed his mind after giving it some thought. I think it's more appropriate for me to address him as Mr. Campbell.

Harold glanced at the scooter and uttered helplessly, "I'm fine, but the scooter I borrowed isn't! I'm going to have a hard time explaining this to Luna!"

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 483

"I don't want much. I just want you to restore it to its original state!" Harold replied with a smirk.

"Um..." Donny was caught in a tight spot. The top box and mirrors of the scooter are damaged beyond repair. What he's asking for is impossible.

Lothar could tell that Harold was purposely making life difficult for Donny, so he immediately put pressure on Donny by saying, "Didn't you hear Mr. Campbell? If you don't repair Mr. Campbell's scooter, I'm going to make the Hancock Family's business go belly up tomorrow!"

Dad is going to kill me if I'm the reason our family goes bankrupt! Donny's heart skipped a beat when he heard what Lothar said. He then dropped to his knees all of a sudden and begged, "Mr. Hightower, Mr. Campbell, please have mercy on me. I won't commit the same mistake again. I'll avoid bumping into Mr. Campbell from now on."

At the same time, Donny remembered what Harold had said to him before. Since he mentioned he could get me to beg on my knees by simply summoning one person, I should just kneel before him!

Lothar was moved when he saw Donny dropping to his knees. Youngsters nowadays are arrogant and ignorant. Since Donny is already kneeling, that shows he's a man who knows when to relent and when to persist. We shouldn't keep making things difficult for him. With that in mind, Lothar turned toward Harold and suggested, "Mr. Campbell? Perhaps you can just ask for compensation and let him go."

There was another reason why Lothar suggested so. He wanted to test Harold's temperament and see if Harold was just as arrogant and unforgiving as the other typical rich heirs.

There was another reason why Lothar suggested so. He wanted to test Harold's temperament and see if Harold was just as arrogant and unforgiving as the other typical rich heirs.

"Since Mr. Hightower is pleading for mercy on your behalf, I'll forgive you. I'll let this slide if you can pay me two hundred thousand!" Harold remembered how he was asked to pay two hundred thousand, so he decided to return the favor. I still need to pay for the repair fees of that Mercedes-Benz 600! The owner of the vehicle could easily demand an amount bigger than that!

Harold's words caused an uproar among the crowd. A new unit of that scooter is only going to cost around ten thousand, while a used unit is only worth a few thousand. The only parts that are damaged on that scooter are the mirrors and the top box. Did the owner seriously just ask for two hundred thousand?

Although everyone was in shock, none of them thought Harold was crossing the line. These biker gangs are always up to no good, and they're a nuisance to the public. Yet, no one had ever dared to teach them a lesson. Besides, these people aren't breaking the law, so there's no point reporting them to the police. The most the police can do is keep them detained for a couple of days until they post bail. Now, we should be glad someone has finally stepped forward to take them down a peg or two!

Furthermore, everyone knew Donny was the one who demanded Harold pay two hundred thousand in the first place.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 484

Harold went on to have a meeting with Lothar and Liam in the café.

Meanwhile, Naomi and Michelle were on the second floor of the clinic, discussing ways to teach Harold a lesson while Luna was treating a patient on the first floor.

An idea popped up in Michelle's mind when she saw how resentful Naomi was when she mentioned Harold's name. "Naomi, should we get Donny to teach Harold a lesson? After all, he's powerful enough to subdue Owen."

Naomi beamed when she heard Michelle's suggestion. Upon giving it some thought, however, she hesitated. "Um... I don't think that's a good idea. What if Donny uses that to force me into dating him?"

"Naomi, you ought to understand the current situation. Donny knows a big shot that can make even the Sunderland family bend to his will. If he seriously wants to date you, do you think you'd have a choice? You might as well accept him graciously. As long as you and Donny are in a relationship, the Sherlock family can ride on the Hancock family's coattails and lord over everyone in Xenhall. I don't think you should worry too much about Donny's attitude, either. You can always educate him afterward!" Michelle convinced Naomi to come to terms with it.

Although Naomi didn't quite agree with what Michelle said, she couldn't find the words to refute her viewpoint. Hence, she gritted her teeth and said, "Fine! No matter what, we must get Donny to make Harold pay. That b*stard teased me multiple times, and I must teach him a lesson no matter what!"

"That's right! We must make him pay! However, we must keep this between us and not let Luna know about it. We should make it seem like Donny himself is the one who wants to teach Harold a lesson because he's dissatisfied with Harold!" Michelle reminded.

"That's right! We must make him pay! However, we must keep this between us and not let Luna know about it. We should make it seem like Donny himself is the one who wants to teach Harold a lesson because he's dissatisfied with Harold!" Michelle reminded.

"That's easy. Later, I'll invite Donny out for dinner as a token of appreciation for his help this time around. All we need to do is convince Luna to bring Harold along." Naomi had the utmost confidence in her plan.

At that time, Donny was filled with rage after leaving Daroga Cafe along with his biker gang. Yet, he knew there was nothing he could do to change the situation.

Right when he was about to invite a couple of girls out to find comfort in them, he received a call from Naomi.

When Donny answered the call and heard that Naomi wanted to invite him out for dinner, hoping he could help her teach some loser a lesson, he accepted the dinner invitation unhesitatingly. I was still trying to find a way to vent my frustration! Since someone had the balls to mess with Naomi, I guess I'll just use that person as my punching bag.

After accepting the invitation, Donny even promised Naomi he wouldn't disappoint her.

In order to avoid bumping into Harold, Donny deliberately chose to have dinner at a restaurant far away from Daroga Cafe. The venue he picked was Morinstar Hotel, a famous hotel in Xenhall.

Naomi only told Luna about the plan for the evening after Luna was done treating the patients.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 485

Naomi and Michelle had already left. Luna would have joined them if she wasn't concerned about Harold getting lost because he didn't know the way.

Harold replied casually, "I was just out for a stroll."

At that moment, Luna received a call from Johnny, the director of the internal medicine department at Xenhall Hospital, asking her to join him for dinner.

"My apologies, Mr. Tawle. I have a date with my friends tonight. Why don't I treat you to dinner some other day?" Luna rejected his invitation tactfully.

"The more, the merrier! Why don't you ask your friends to join us?" Johnny was reluctant to give up just like that.

He was rather troubled, for he was rejected every time he asked Luna out for dinner. Moreover, Luna always used the same excuse that she had to join her friends.

"I don't think that's a good idea. My friends dislike joining men they don't know for dinner. I'm in a rush, by the way. I'll be hanging up now!" Luna replied, hanging up the phone when she saw it was time for her appointment with Naomi and Donny.

"Turn the motorbike around and head to Morinstar Hotel," Luna instructed after the call ended, urging Harold to send her to the venue where they would be meeting Donny.

Meanwhile, Naomi, Michelle, and Donny had been waiting for some time at Morinstar Hotel.

Donny fixed his gaze on Naomi constantly as he asked curiously, "Naomi, is that loser who's pestering you too afraid to show up or what? Why hasn't he arrived yet?"

He was anticipating the appearance of the man mentioned by Naomi. Not only could he unleash his frustration on Harold to vent his anger, but he could also show off his capability in front of the woman of his dreams, Naomi.

"He is on the way. I think he will arrive soon. I despise him so much. Just do whatever you want to him. Ensure you embarrass him to the fullest, so he won't dare to offend me in the future." Naomi clenched her jaws with fury when she spoke of Harold.

"Don't worry. He's just a loser. I will make sure he kneels and apologizes before you and everyone in the hotel when he arrives. Oh, I have a plan. To humiliate him to the fullest, why don't we change our table? Let's forget about the private room and sit in the main hall because more people are there. That way, we could achieve the best result in shaming him," Donny stated confidently.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 486

Six to seven o'clock in the evening was the peak hour for everyone to get off work. Hence, the streets were jam-packed with vehicles.

Johnny ended the call while wearing an upset expression after Luna rejected his invitation to dinner. Then, he changed into plain clothes and got off work.

His mood only worsened when his car got stuck in a jam on Xemrich Road. There was a long queue of vehicles ahead of him, and they just wouldn't budge. Only those on motorbikes, electric scooters, and bicycles could make their way through the tiny gaps between the cars.

As getting caught in traffic congestion was annoying, Johnny, who drove an expensive car, was extremely envious of those riding on motorbikes and electric scooters.

He stared jealously at the motorbikes whizzing past his window when burning anger suddenly filled his eyes.

That was when he saw Harold riding past his window with Luna in the seat behind him. To make matters worse, he also heard the intimate conversation between these two.

"Say, Harold, can't you ride faster?"

"Of course. Wrap your arms tightly around my waist. I will pick up speed now to show you what I'm capable of!"

Even though Harold and Luna had long disappeared from Johnny's sight, their words echoed in his mind. "I'm part of the Tawle family, one of the top ten families in Xenhall. How can I, the director of the internal medicine department at Xenhall Hospital, lose out against a man with mental problems? B*tch, just you wait!" Eyes glued in the direction where Harold and Luna had vanished, Johnny clenched one of his fists and slammed it forcefully against the steering wheel.

Hatred flashed across his eyes. That b*tch is clearly going on a date with that crazy loser. How dare she lie to me, telling me that she is going out with her friends?

Johnny's anger was palpable. He had the urge to alight from the car and chase after them, but they were long gone.

Meanwhile, Harold had weaved through the pedestrian walkway and the congested road with Luna in tow.

They finally arrived at Morinstar Hotel at half-past six, the peak hour for dinner.

Luna felt something was amiss while they were on the way here. However, she couldn't quite put her finger on it.

When they reached the entrance of Morinstar Hotel, realization finally dawned on Luna.

Naomi despised Harold. Why would she use him to make Donny give up on courting her? Naomi and Michelle must have asked Harold to come over so they could get Donny to teach him a lesson!

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 487

Noticing Luna's angry expression and how she was protecting him like he was her younger sibling, Harold knew she was worried about him. Hence, he stopped arguing with her and obeyed her wishes.

"That's more like it. Lock the car. I'll head in first to take a look at the situation."

While Harold was locking the car, Luna feared that Naomi and the others would get impatient from waiting too long, so she hurried into the hotel. Harold followed behind her and entered Morinstar Hotel after locking the car.

Naomi had already sent a message to Luna through WhatsApp to let the latter know that they'd switched from a private room to the lobby.

Hence, Luna and Harold did not go to the private room. Instead, they went straight to the lobby of the bustling hotel.

Glancing back and forth at the entrance, Naomi quickly raised her hand and called out to Luna when she finally noticed the latter entering. "Luna! Over here!"

She turned to shoot Donny a smug look when she saw that Luna had noticed them.

"They're here, Mr. Hancock. It's up to you now. Don't let her notice that I was the one who instructed you to embarrass that b*stard that's trailing behind her," Naomi reminded Donny.

"Don't worry. I'll make sure that brat gets on his knees before you. Plus, Luna won't be able to link anything to... you!"

Donny patted his chest and promised. As he was speaking, he turned to look at the so-called b*stard behind Luna.

However, he froze on the spot when he recognized Harold, who was following Luna.

His heart thumped rapidly as he panicked.

Oh gosh, what awful luck. I can't believe the b*stard Naomi keeps mentioning is the brat that even Lothar respectfully calls "Mr. Campbell."

Donny no longer had any interest in flirting with Naomi at that moment, much less helping her to teach Harold a lesson.

The only thought in his mind was to find a way to leave the hotel and run as far as he could.

As that thought flashed across his mind, he discreetly moved his chair and prepared to escape when he noticed Naomi and Michelle were focused on Luna and Harold.

However, he was caught by Naomi just as he turned around.

“Mr. Hancock, they've already arrived. Where are you going? Don't you dare screw up at such a crucial moment!” Naomi ordered as she grabbed Donny's hand when she saw that he was about to get up and leave.

Donny almost burst into tears when he heard Naomi's words.

Jeez! Please spare me! That man is not someone that I can afford to offend.

Luna and Harold arrived and stood before them just as Donny was about to confess to Naomi.

“Sorry for the long wait!”

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 488

Under Naomi and Michelle's anticipation-filled gazes, Donny stood before Harold.

However, Donny's following action caused Naomi and Michelle's jaws to drop.

“Mr. Campbell, it's all my fault. Please don't apologize to me. I don't deserve to receive an apology from you!”

When Donny saw that Harold was actually following Luna's instructions and apologizing, he was so frightened that his legs turned to jelly. He thought Harold was trying to pull a prank on him.

“Luna wants me to apologize, so you must accept my apology no matter what. Otherwise, you'll only be making things difficult for me!” said Harold deliberately when he noticed the terrified look on Donny's face. He then bowed and apologized once more.

Thud! Donny immediately dropped to his knees before Harold in public when he noticed the latter was adamant about apologizing. He's clearly trying to intimidate me!

“Um... What's going on? Mr. Hancock, didn't you say you would make this b*stard get on his knees in front of everyone and apologize to me? Why are you the one on your knees? Plus, why are you addressing him as Mr. Campbell?”

Naomi, who had just sat back down, immediately jumped out of her seat and stared at the duo.

Luna and Michelle widened their eyes as they stared in disbelief at the scene unfolding before them.

I can't believe it! Donny, who doesn't even respect the Sunderland family, kneels before Harold! What the heck is going on?

“Daddy, Mommy, look! Someone is proposing!”

The little girl from the next table had been surveying the lobby curiously while she was eating. When she saw the scene at Harold's table, she was amazed and quickly told her parents about it.

Her cute voice immediately attracted the attention of many guests who were having their meals in the lobby. They turned to look in the direction where she was pointing, their gazes falling upon Harold's table.

“Pfft! Darling, that man is actually apologizing to the other man. He's not proposing. It's only considered a proposal when a man kneels for a woman,” explained the little girl's mother patiently, chuckling when she saw Donny on his knees before Harold.

“Why can't a man propose to another man?” the little girl asked her mother curiously.

The people around them laughed when they heard the girl ask such a serious question with her adorable voice.

The woman smiled awkwardly, unsure how to answer her daughter's question.

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 489

That was exactly what Donny had been waiting to hear from Harold.

After finishing his sentence, he quickly got up and ran out of Morinstar Hotel, leaving the three women gaping at him in utter bewilderment.

What in the world is Harold's identity? A simple sentence from him sent Mr. Hancock running!

Harold watched as Donny ran out of the hotel before turning toward the three women and shrugging.

“Who are you? Why was Mr. Hancock so frightened when he saw you?” Luna asked as she stared at Harold, wondering if he had regained his memories.

“I've already told you. I'm the God of War. You're the one who didn't believe me!” Harold spread his hands in exasperation.

At that moment, he was certain he was the God of War. However, he was still unclear why he had lost his memories, nor could he remember anyone he knew.

For the past few days, a blurry but gorgeous figure would often inadvertently appear in his mind.

However, Harold could never make out the person's face or remember their name.

Moreover, every time he tried thinking of it, that blurry figure would disappear completely from his mind.

All he knew was that the person must be someone important to him.

“Tsk!”

After hearing what Harold said, the customers of neighboring tables, including Luna and company, looked at him in disdain.

“What nonsense! The whole world knows that the God of War is at Dellmoor right now. It's all over the news recently. How dare you try to fool us with that? Aren't you afraid that we'll report you? Aren't you afraid that the real God of War would kill you?” Naomi yelled as she stared at Harold angrily.

The God of War was the ideal type for many women. Naomi was no exception.

In fact, she was still single because somewhere deep down, she would subconsciously compare the men who courted her with the legendary God of War.

As such, she always felt that none of those men were up to par.

At least, when compared to the God of War, they were worlds apart from him.

“Harold, be serious and tell me honestly. Who in the world are you?”

Dauntless God Of War

Chapter 490

After hearing Michelle's suggestion, Naomi took out her phone without another word and walked to a quiet corner to contact Donny.

However, her eyebrows furrowed into a frown as she realized Donny had blocked her right after leaving the hotel.

She could not reach him at all, whether it was via his phone number, WhatsApp, or social media. He had blocked her everywhere.

She might have to visit Donny's house in person if she wanted to talk to him.

That filled Naomi with displeasure. She felt like she had been dumped.

I did tell Donny that Harold, that b*stard, kept bugging me. Donny must've blocked me completely because he fears Harold.

A helpless feeling overwhelmed Naomi when she realized that Harold was a force to be reckoned with.

In the end, she had no choice but to return to her seat.

“How is it, Naomi? Was Howard telling the truth?” asked Michelle as soon as she saw Naomi return.

“That coward blocked me everywhere, so I can't reach him at all. I'm so pissed!” Naomi hissed, annoyed.

Luna and Michelle exchanged gazes after hearing what Naomi said.

“That's enough. You don't need to make a big deal out of this. I have the WhatsApp of Owen's father, Liam Sunderland. I'll video call him and have him apologize to you. That should serve as proof, right?”

Harold glanced at Naomi's distrustful look before taking out his phone to video call the plump man, Liam.

The Mercedes-Benz 600 that was knocked by the motorcycle that afternoon at Daroga Cafe belonged to Liam.

Back then, Harold thought of paying the other party a few thousand for the repair after seeing the massive dent in the car. Hence, he took the initiative to add Liam's WhatsApp.

However, he did not expect Liam to be such an upright man. Not only did Liam not accept the few thousand from Harold, but he also said that his car had blocked Harold's motorcycle, which caused the accident to occur. He even paid Harold fifty thousand to repair his motorcycle.

As such, Harold had a good impression of Liam.

At that moment, Liam was disciplining his idiot son, Owen, back at home.

This idiot! He doesn't even know who he offended! I'm going to teach him a lesson!

Just as he was about to whip Owen with a leather belt, his wife ran over with his phone.

“Liam, you've got a WhatsApp call!”