

84 [Bonus chapter] Chapter 84

Kate woke up the next morning feeling something big and thick rubbing against her ass. She yawned, and as she regained some of her consciousness, she noticed that she was sleeping on Henry's arm while his other arm was wrapped around her waist. 1

He was spooning her comfortably, which was weird for Kate because she remembered they had been sleeping with a pillow between them. 1

She looked over her shoulder and saw Henry was still fast asleep.

Yet his morning wood was so hard down there, and he kept rubbing it against her ass.

"Mmh... Kitty..."

"Oh, fuck!" Kate woke up instantly when she realized Henry might be having a wet dream about her. She quickly struggled and pushed Henry off of her. It took her a great deal of effort to escape his embrace. It seemed that even in his dreams he didn't want to let her go.

After she successfully escaped, she realized that Henry frowned instantly. He grunted and began to look around for her.

As he caught a pillow, he immediately embraced it and began humping the pillow in his sleep while murmuring her name sweetly again.

"Hmm... Kitty..." 1

Kate looked at him with disgust, "What a horny bastard. He's already 24 and he's still acting like a teenage boy with a raging libido." 1

Kate checked the clock on the wall, and after realizing she still had time, she went to the kitchen to prepare a simple breakfast for Henry before washing her face, and brushing her teeth with an extra toothbrush from Henry's vanity, and then grabbed her bag.

She wondered about her shirt and jeans at first but then realized that she could just leave them here and retrieve them the next time she came to Henry's apartment.

After all, she also wanted to wash the t-shirt and boxers she was wearing before returning them.

Thus, Kate sent a text to Henry before leaving the apartment.

**

Henry woke up about thirty minutes later, he frowned when he noticed the 'Kate' in his embrace didn't feel right. 1

So he opened his eyes and realized he was hugging the pillow the whole time.

Aside from that, he also noticed that his boxer was sticky inside.

So he looked down and realized that he had a wet dream and actually shot his much-stored cum in the morning.

"Oh fuck!" Henry cursed. "Did she see me having a wet dream? Oh fuck, that's so embarrassing, ugh!" 5

Henry got up and rushed to the bathroom to wash his private area and replace his boxers. He then searched his apartment to see if Kate was still there.

Unfortunately, he didn't find any trace of her anywhere, her bag on the living room sofa was gone, so she must've left already.

Henry returned to his bedroom to check his phone and saw a text from Kate.

—

I made you an avocado toast with a sunny side egg for breakfast. Don't forget to wash yourself, you horny bastard. 5

—

Henry laughed when he read the text. It seemed that Kate saw him having a wet dream.

"Well, it can't be helped. I'm not satisfied with yesterday. I want more," Henry said. He texted Kate back and then went to the kitchen to eat the breakfast prepared for him.

He was eating it with relish, and after he was done, he called Michael to meet him in the apartment lobby in about an hour because he had something to discuss with Michael before he reached the office.

★★

Michael parked the Bentley he took from Henry's garage at the VIP parking spot and waited for his boss to arrive at the lobby.

He was wondering if there was any problem because it was quite rare for Henry to meet him early in the morning.

Henry walked out of the elevator not long after, wearing a dark green suit with a black shirt underneath. He swaggered as he instantly became the source of attention from everyone in the lobby.

Michael bowed politely and greeted him, "Morning, Sir, the car is parked in the usual spot."

"Yeah, go drive it, Michael. You're going with me today."

Michael frowned, "To the office?"

"Yes, I need you for my plan."

Michael wondered what kind of plan his boss had. Could he be bored with Katherine Woods after spending a night with her in San Francisco and was now searching for another woman to impregnate?

'Hmm, why does that sound so scummy? But if that's true, I'll feel bad for Mrs. Woods. She doesn't seem to be a bad woman like what Miss Sarah and Mrs. Grant told us about her before.'

4

'But Henry is very unpredictable. I really thought that he had deviated from his original plan to use Mrs. Woods because he fell in love with her. But it seems that everything is just part of his plan, and he's still the same cold man I know.'

Michael and Henry left the apartment and headed to the publishing office.

Michael kept checking on the mirror to see if Henry had something to say, and after a while, Henry finally opened the conversation, "I have a plan for that woman." 1

"Sir, have you decided to use Mrs. Woods?"

"Huh? What are you talking about?" Henry frowned. "I'm talking about Erin. I have a plan to keep her in check."

Michael finally remembered Kate's worthless sister. It had only been four days since the last time they met with that woman, and his boss was already obsessed with taking down that wench. 1

It made him wonder what kind of motivation his boss had to be so eager.

"May I know what you have in mind, Sir?"

"Yes, this is actually not my idea, it's Kate who wants my help in getting rid of her sister. But she said getting rid of her completely wasn't going to be easy, so for now, we should just keep her in check first. We can watch over her while letting her think she got what she wants, just enough for her to stop using their sickly mother as a threat to Kate," Henry said. "She told me that I should accept her as a secretary, but that's just so fucking gross."

"Luckily, I got a better idea, and I need your assistance, Michael." 2

“

*Four chapters for Webnovel Mass
Release Event!
Thank you for reading and please support pupa, whoo! <3*

—

ForeverPupa
Creator's Thoughts