

91 Chapter 91

Erin felt like a queen as she was treated like this by two very capable and handsome men. She couldn't wait to see all the things she could do with these men when she finally made them completely hers, after she was done seducing them they would obey all of her commands and fulfill all her demands. 1

Erin pulled her hand from Henry. She traced her fingers around Henry's defined jawline and pinched his chin.

She forced Henry to look up to her, "Thank you so much for hiring me, Mr. Grant. I will make sure that you are satisfied with me, and you can also tell me to work in any position you want," she said in a seductive tone as she maintained eye contact with him. "Why don't you come up and kiss me on the lips. That would be a great welcome treat, right?" 1

Henry's body stiffened instantly. He was already at his limit at this point. He already swallowed all of his disgust just to make it look convincing, but he began to think this plan wouldn't work in the long run because there was no way he'd be able to pretend to like this woman for a long time. 1

Erin translated his nervousness as a sign of embarrassment. She giggled, 'So cute, he looks so domineering on the outside, but he's actually quite shy in private!' 2

"Well, I guess it can't be helped," Erin lowered her back, leaning towards Henry, who knelt beside her. She was ready to kiss Henry, who was petrified by shock and disgust.

But before Erin could kiss him, the office door was suddenly slammed open. 2

SLAM!

Erin, Michael, and Henry turned all of their attention to the door that had just slammed open and saw the Chief Editor cross her arms over her chest while Mai was standing right behind her, carrying a document.

Kate was indifferent as she saw the scene before her where two men were treating a slut like Erin as their queen. 5

Meanwhile, Mai didn't even bother to hide her disgust. She looked at them like they were a bunch of filthy bed bugs that didn't deserve to live.

Erin smirked when she saw her sister, who had suddenly barged in.

She knew that Kate must've been so jealous of her because she could bag two handsome and powerful men at once with her beauty, while Kate was so ugly that she couldn't even keep her useless husband in check.

"Why are you here, Sis?" Erin asked with a taunting tone. "Can't you see that I'm busy with these two handsome men?"

Kate was indifferent. She looked ten times colder than usual, which sent shivers down Henry's spine. 3

He didn't know if Kate was angry or not. She shouldn't be because he was just doing everything according to her plan.

But from the looks of it, she looked pissed off for some unknown reason, maybe even jealous.

"I don't care about what you're doing with them, Erin," Kate said coldly. "I'm here to call Mr. Grant, we have a meeting with an author in thirty minutes. We can't be late."

Kate's eyes darted at Henry, who flinched immediately. Though everything he did with Erin was just an act and she knew well enough that he was just pretending, somehow he got the feeling that he just got caught red-handed cheating with another woman by his wife. 5

"How long are you going to kneel like an idiot there, Mr. Grant?" Kate asked sternly. "Get up and come with me, we have a meeting to attend." 2

"Aww, but Mr. Grant wants to spend his time with me. Isn't that right, Henry?" Erin asked him, his name on her lips made Henry's skin crawl in disgust.

"Not everything is about your dirty vagina, Erin. I don't give a damn about what you're doing with them, but Mr. Grant needs to do his job as a CEO," Kate said. 3

Erin was amused by her sister. Kate was definitely pissed off she couldn't wait to take Henry away from her.

It was obvious that Kate was jealous because Erin was far more beautiful, sexy, and perfect in every way than Kate's average self. 1

It was also apparent to Erin that Kate was interested in Henry. Unfortunately, it seemed to be a one-sided feeling because Henry was already on his knees for Erin. 1

'Well, I guess I can let her have Henry for a little while. Maybe she will desperately cling to him because Henry doesn't reciprocate her feelings. But seeing her so heartbroken is also fun, I hope she will kill herself out of heartbreak,' Erin thought. 2

"Well, that can't be helped then. Mr. Grant, I know that you want to spend more time with me, but you should do your job as the CEO...." Erin said to Henry.

Meanwhile, Henry was dazed. He didn't even hear what Erin had to say because his attention was fully on Kate. He was petrified when Kate stared at him with her cold gaze.

"Mr. Grant, let's go," Kate said.

Like an obedient dog, Henry got up from where he knelt and quickly followed Kate. He ignored Erin and everyone else completely and only had his eyes on Kate, who had called for him. 5

Henry stopped in front of Kate. He truly looked like a man who had just been caught cheating on his wife, but before he could say a thing, Kate quickly turned around and instructed, "Follow me, we can't be late for our meeting. Aren't you the one who said you want to be involved with our million-dollar authors?"

"I am," Henry nodded obediently. All that was lacking was for him to stick his tongue out and wag his invisible tail. 5

"Then let's go," Kate said. She glanced at Mai, who still eyed Michael and Erin like a pair of bed bugs, then Mai shifted her gaze to Henry and looked at him as if he was the biggest, stinkiest bed bug in this room. "Don't forget to put those documents on Mr. Grant's desk, Mai. I also want you to show those two their new offices. You will be assigned to watch over them." 3

"Understood, Ma'am," Mai nodded. "Please be careful on your way, and don't forget to tell me if you need help, in case you get treated unpleasantly by someone, Ma'am," she said while eyeing the CEO. 1

At this point, she already lost all her respect for Henry and only saw Kate as her boss. She continued working as Mr. Grant's secretary but just because Mrs. Woods told her to do so.

However, Henry couldn't care less about Mai or anyone in this room aside from Kate. He was wondering if he had done something wrong because all he did was follow Kate's order to satisfy Erin's lust for men and power.

Henry followed Kate, who walked out of the CEO's room. He quickly took a big step forward so they could walk side by side. He checked on Kate, who was still walking in silence, her arms crossed over her chest, her stilettos clicking on the hard floor whenever she stepped.

Tap! Tap! Tap!

Henry wondered if she was intentionally making that noise to show him that she was upset or was just THAT upset to the point that she didn't even know what she was doing right now.

Each tap of her heel on the floor sounded like the ticking of a time bomb to Henry as if it were counting down to how much time he had left. 8