

Deadly 461

Chapter 461

"They haven't taken any action yet. Even if I were to call the police, they would disregard it," Yolanda said to Sharon.

Yolanda was observing the situation through the rearview mirror. "When they take action, lock the car doors. Do not open it under any circumstances."

"But you "Sharon was a little worried.

Even if she knew that Yolanda could fight decently, for her to face a bunch of robbers was still a little...

"I'll be okay." Yolanda smiled. Suddenly, she saw a minivan coming at them at full speed from behind.

Her expression turned solemn as she muttered to Sharon in a low voice, "Slow down."

"Huh? Okay..."

Sharon released the gas pedal and slowed down the car to the slowest possible speed.

that

van ahead of them swerved sideways, blocking

Sharon to slow down beforehand, so when things like these happened, they were the brakes. Her car stopped just right before the van with less than 10

time, Yolanda tossed her backpack to Sharon, opened the car car doors and hugged Yolanda's backpack tightly. Then, she out. There were four men and one woman in total, and they all wielded was Owen Santiago, a bald man with a long from the underworld who lived by the edge of

to use such a secluded place instead of using the main road." Owen spat out the joint he had in his is a pretty spot. You've chosen a good resting place for yourself. Don't worry, I'll kill you first, then finish your buddy him burst out in laughter. It was you wanted to kill us too?" Yolanda cocked her eyebrow were just greedy and wanted the martyr's relic she had, she could be gracious enough to let them go alive. But, it seemed like

Chapter 462

Rita Skates, the only female in the group behind Owen, who had black hair, said coldly, "Looks like you'll have to die here today."

"Those who know about our identity have only one outcome-death," Owen declared as he lifted the machete in his hand and swung it at Yolanda threateningly.

"Stop wasting time." Yolanda tilted her head as she loosened her wrists. "All of you, just attack at the same time."

"How confident of you!" Owen stepped forward to close in on Yolanda. "I could kill you single-handedly!"

Owen raised his machete and swung down swiftly, aiming directly for Yolanda's chest. He wanted to kill her with one move, then finish off the person in the car.

Little did Owen expect, his machete only swung halfway before coming to a sudden halt.

"What? How is this possible?" He didn't know when, but the little lady before him had grabbed his wrist firmly.

She hadn't exerted any force, yet what difference could it make? There were so

"My turn! Die!"

gritted his teeth and kicked his leg forward toward Yolanda's started to realize that things weren't going in their favor, so they gripped their weapons tightly and rushed over. They were planning to attack to Yolanda before she forcefully took were continuous sounds threw Owen's machete onto the ground. Then, she called Joel to bring his men so that they could clear the

Owen, who had passed out, and stomped down on his

was immediately awakened idea of the identity of the person behind this, but she still had to ask to get confirmation. She didn't want to blame the wrong to fight. What was left

She really terrified him.

Chapter 463

Yolanda was pretty pleased about her accidental discovery-a normal antique shop was, in fact, housing a Harveria artifacts illegal trading syndicate.

She had recorded her conversation with Owen on her phone. After he told her everything, she knocked him out once more and returned to Sharon's car.

"Are you okay, Yolanda?" Sharon asked immediately as soon as Yolanda got into the car.

"I'm fine." Yolanda sent Owen's recording to Joel. Then, she took out wet wipes from her backpack to clean her hands.

"Let's go."

"Most certainly!" Sharon chirped.

After going through so much with Yolanda, Sharon was now very calm and collected. "Are we just going to leave them here? Will they try to exact revenge on us in the future?"

be almost here." Yolanda thought police, we have to go with them to record a

Shall we get burgers, Yolanda?" Sharon had been out the entire day. She hadn't had

My

she took something she had so anxious. Someone in her team had gotten their hands on a reliquary that Edna had only recently gotten her hands on this reliquary, so naturally, it made her really envious that Yolanda to put these two treasures together and sell them to foreigners at a very high price, so she sent people to kill

She had carry a significant research-worthy value. Since it was something that Jay wouldn't be interested in, Yolanda was planning to gift it to Harold on behalf of the original burger joint. By the time Yolanda finished dinner and headed back to the

Chapter 464

After all that had happened, Yolanda didn't want to continue staying in the Henderson residence any longer. It would ruin her mood.

She was planning to get her things from her room upstairs and move into the villa at Cerulean Abode.

The service provided at Cerulean Abode was top-notch. If the owner of the house was not usually home, the management would ask for the owner's permission, and if granted, send cleaners to clean the house regularly.

It didn't matter when Yolanda would return. She would be able to move in immediately.

"You still dare to claim that you live here! When you're partnering with strangers to shame your father and me, do you consider the fact that you're still staying here?"

"When you buy an expensive antique and want to keep it all to yourself, do you stop to realize that you're a Henderson?" Diana pointed at Yolanda angrily as she roared.

"I thought you were just stupid and hopeless. I didn't think you'd be despicable as well. Your father and I have raised you, but right now, for an antique worth a few million dollars, you upped and left us in that old town to fend for ourselves.

"If we knew you were going to turn out to be such an ungrateful piece of shit, I shouldn't even have given birth to you!"

Mom. It's not worth it to be angry like this. She's never changed. If you are to out of this, Yvonne. I have to teach her a

"You have two options today, Yolanda. The first option, you give that martyr's relic to your father and promise the fuck out of the Henderson residence. We refuse to acknowledge a relic. The martyr's relic is important to a child. What use could you have for a martyr's relic?" Harold came down and his face darkened after hearing want that martyr's relic for yourself. You're not willing to give that Harold, concerned.

fault, Yolanda! How dare you make Dad so angry he had a heart attack? No matter added fuel to Yolanda for what she did. Yvonne might not be able to buy a precious martyr's relic at such a low price. Then, she felt like this was Harold was with his antique-collection hobby. However, since the Hendersons only had limited cash flow, Harold could that Harold would be dying to add that martyr's relic

The Novel will be updated daily. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!

Chapter 465

"Amazing negotiation skills, Yvonne, for wanting to exchange a martyr's relic worth 50 million dollars with just three million dollars." Yolanda smirked as she praised Yvonne sarcastically.

"You knew I would never agree to such ridiculous conditions, yet you still said them anyway to portray a thoughtful, good-daughter persona. You accentuate your thoughtfulness by emphasizing how selfish I am time and time again. Once is enough for such a boring, uncreative method, yet you use this time and time again."

"I'm sincerely helping Dad get the martyr's relic, Yolanda. How could you misunderstand me like this?" Yvonne feigned a look that portrayed how hurt she was.

Her acting skills were so extraordinary that it annoyed Yolanda.

"Enough, Yolanda. Why are you still arguing about this and blaming everything on others? You're just doing that to cover up how selfish you really are."

was immensely disappointed in that martyr's relic today, she can just want to stay, or get out of the Henderson household. If you give up the martyr's relic, you're still our walked in through the front isn't your door closed?" Joe was the first to walk in, followed by Paul, Alice, and Skylar, they weren't able to get a free meal previously. He also felt that since Skylar had done Harold and his family a huge favor, it was only right for and Skylar's date day, so Skylar went outside the door and were excited to see the drama unfold. However, on the surface, they still you two just standing around like a log? Why won't

Paul felt like an elite as he stood smugly and triumphantly in the

about to explode

often, you'll get wrinkles." Alice pretended to care

Chapter 466

Diana replied with full confidence and added, "That wretched child only wants to keep the gains she received all to herself. All those years of bringing her up were a waste of time!"

Alice and Joe shared a look. If Yolanda had really gotten a martyr's relic from 16th-century Espanol, that would be extremely lucrative! Sadly, no matter if Yolanda gave up the martyr's relic or not, they wouldn't be able to get anything out of it.

Joe and his family initially wanted just to see what drama would unfold. But now, their mood was affected.

How could Yolanda be so fortunate?

Why was it always Harold's family that encountered such great things every single time? Life was unfair.

Even the Henderson Group was in Harold's grasp! How annoying.

Joe and Alice had a lot of resentment toward the Henderson family, but they seemed to have forgotten that, in the beginning, no one wanted to take over the Henderson Group at all. That was why it ended up in Harold's hands.

best to make the company thrive, and after that, all his siblings came around and tried their luck to claim their shares, firmly in Harold's grasp. No one else is where you're wrong, Yolanda." Alice switched up her facial expression a few times and finally, she was able to behalf, but in reality, she couldn't get a piece of your parent's things. You're one family. Hurry up, give up the martyr's Yolanda. You can't be so greedy, you know. It's only right for an adult to care for your marital gifts in the future, and it scoffed coldly. Firstly, she already had plans for this martyr's relic. Secondly, knowing Diana's blabber mouth behavior and her usual tendency to brag about everything to the world, if robbers, and thieves, bringing destruction to the Yolanda! Don't think you can sneak your way past this without saying a word. If was quiet and yelled chaotically as if the

in the old town by ourselves." Diana was still harping about

Chapter 467

"You're so good at fabricating stories, Yolanda. It's a shame you're not a playwright," Diana interrupted Yolanda before she could finish.

"You're saying that you had to lure the robbers away because you cared for our safety? The audacity you have to spout lies like this!" Harold was fuming after he had heard Yolanda's explanation.

"Stop looking for excuses, Yolanda. Don't we know you well enough? With that puny courage of yours, if there really were robbers, you'd be the first to run away!

"This is a lawful society. I refuse to believe that people would resort to robbery in broad daylight! Uncle Harold, Aunt Diana, she's bullshitting for sure.

"If there really were robbers, the martyr's relic she had on her would be long gone. All these robbers only understand what's valuable, and it doesn't matter who that valuable is on. Once they get their goods, they kill the person off.

"How did she come back safely then?" Paul also treated Yolanda's words with disdain.

"Lies like these would only work on 3-year-olds. Don't you think so, dear?" Paul looked at Skylar pointedly.

for an antique worth a few dozen million dollars... How greedy can hasn't seen much of the world, something worth a few dozen million dollars would have easily gotten her to reveal clear about who you are, Yolanda? You'll only bring embarrassment to yourself if you keep lying like had something to say to mock and tease Yolanda. No one

She was still composed as she continued. She told them and called the police so they could deal with these robbers. These were infamous robbers of to be hidden in the snuff box. Now that I've gotten my hands on that martyr's relic, of course, she was very unwilling to let it intended to kill off those who knew about it, so even if she were to successfully snatch the martyr's relic back, come over to the Henderson residence to search for the martyr's

Paul led the others in a round of applause story? Amazing story you've fabricated much this time, Yolanda." Diana felt ashamed and embarrassed after called the police on your own, Yolanda. I only want one answer. Are you surrendering the martyr's relic and staying in the Henderson residence, or are

Chapter 468

Harold was slightly brighter in the head when compared to Diana, who was stupid and arrogant.

"But I can give you an antique more valuable than the martyr's relic." Yolanda took out the reliquary and handed it to Harold.

"This is more valuable than the martyr's relic?" Harold took the reliquary and exploded with fury as he slammed the reliquary on the ground. "How dare you trick me with this shabby ol' thing?"

The reliquary Yolanda gave to Harold was something the robbers from Tartarus Abyss had robbed from the tomb raiders. They didn't care for it or clean it properly after they had gotten their hands on it, so in the eyes of many, it was just an old, shabby piece of artifact.

Harold might have some understanding of dated artifacts evaluation, but he had never seen reliquaries made in Espanol from the 16th century before this. It was only natural that he treated it as trash.

"Did you really think I'm stupid?" Harold felt like Yolanda was just giving him a worthless item to teach him a lesson.

So, he pointed at her angrily and roared, "Get out right now! I won't have a daughter like you. Even if you're going to give me the martyr's relic today, don't even think of staying here anymore!"

Harold's explosion shocked everyone. Joe and his family had never seen Harold so angry before. They were all stunned, and no one dared to speak a word.

was so angry

many chances, but if he didn't want them, she didn't have to care leave, there's try-hard. There's nothing you can say that would matter felt utterly satisfied. She was so afraid that Yolanda would refuse to leave the Hendersons, so in a flurry of emotions, she pointed

Who gave you the audacity to continue staying here?" Alice hugged her arms as she stood and watched coldly on the us to

"No need."

and in ten minutes, she had her didn't have much that really belonged to her. When Yolanda got into her room, other than packing up her things, she also this." When Yolanda went downstairs, she this?" Harold was confused. He picked up the agreement, and his face

you want me

Chapter 469

Everyone else in the living room was very surprised when they learned about the document that Yolanda had presented. Yolanda was just trash. Since when did she have so much dignity?

Or, was she just stupidly naive?

Most of them were shocked, but Yvonne was sincerely hoping for Harold to sign the agreement right away.

As soon as Harold signed it, everything else of the Henderson family would belong to her from then on! Yolanda could only dream if she wanted anything back.

"You got to think this through, Yolanda. Once this agreement is signed, you're no longer a Henderson. If you were to regret this in the future, it would be in vain," Harold advised with a solemn face.

"I've thought it through. Hurry up and sign it." Yolanda picked up the pen and signed her name onto the agreement.

Harold was speechless when he saw how swift Yolanda was to sign the agreement. He told himself he couldn't hesitate and hurriedly signed it as well.

There were two copies of that agreement.

copy in her bag and was about to walk out when Skylar suddenly spoke, "Wait a minute." No one expected Skylar bag? What if she has taken something precious why, but from the first time she saw Yolanda, she already didn't see eye to old and cheap flea market clothes, and even if Yolanda was looked down on by the Henderson family, she felt like it remain calm when she was mocked never sever ties with their families at all. Skylar

The Yolanda who was trampled on Yolanda walk out of the

had reminded Alice and it's better if you

it would seem very petty of him if he had to check his daughter's bag. Also, the gold and silver pieces of jewelry, antiques, and artifacts were was really no need to check her bag for anything. Even if Yolanda did take something, your

Chapter 470

"Who do you think you are to want to check my bag?" Yolanda responded coldly.

"I slapped you because I want to teach you a lesson. Next time, when you feel your mouth itch as you have the urge to stir up trouble, remember this slap."

No one expected Yolanda to suddenly throw hands with Skylar.

"How dare you slap my girlfriend?" Paul snarled and leaped toward Yolanda. He wanted to tackle her and give her a few slaps to avenge Skylar.

However, before he could pounce, Yolanda kicked him away, hard.

Paul yelped as his body crashed painfully on the side of the couch. He couldn't get up for a long while even after struggling.

There was a pin-drop silence in the living room.

an easy feat for him to beat Yolanda up if he eyes. He was weak. He couldn't take a blow and Yvonne couldn't hold back their shocked expressions. Why did they not know that Yolanda could fight so have no ties at all with the Henderson family. You're on your own now." Yolanda glanced at everyone else. They all looked flabbergasted with their mouths open. Yolanda left the Henderson residence without the ridiculous!" Alice had only mustered the courage my son got beaten up out of nowhere. I complicated expression on his face and was silent for a long now seem so different from the timid,

her wrongdoings and work really hard while she was in the juvenile detention that was the case, did he miss what he was feeling at the moment, but he knew he didn't breathe a sigh of relief like he should have when he chased his useless

pot

teach her a lesson when I get a chance to." Diana forced a smile and