Home / Fantasy / Alphas Deaf Mate

Chapter 125

Autumn

Dad held his arm around my shoulder as he walked me back to the pack house.

"Don't worry sweetie he didn't mean to sound so harsh,"

"He's never talked to me like that Dad it hurt, but I do understand what he said and I should have just followed what he said, I'm sorry for ordering you to take me there, that was wrong of me,"

Dad gave me a squeeze kissing my temple,

"It's okay sweetie it's behind us now, let just get back and wait for any word,"

"Dad, do you know what's gonna happen with those people?"

"Reins is taking them to the clinic to be checked over then he will decide on what's to come of them being here,"

I nodded my head knowing he would make the right choice,

"They were in bad shape I wonder what happened to them?"

"I don't know, but im sure everything will be explained in time,"

I didn't say anymore I just walked along with him he never let me go and kept his arm around which only made me feel worse for overpowering him.

"Gem we need to fix this," I call to her.

"I agree, I'm sorry I shouldn't have made you do that it was wrong, " She whimpered softly.

"Do you know what happened to them Gem?"

"They are from Rkyer's pack they have his smell on them, but all what happened im not sure but I can tell all those children belong to him,"

I let her words sink in. "Oh god Gem he actually??" I couldn't finish that thought.

"Looks like it yes, "

My heart hurt for those women he took something from them he forced them, how cruel was he,

I didn't realize we reached the house already. I had been lost in my thoughts I wasn't paying attention.

"You want to go up to your room?" Dad asked me as he opened the door for me.

"I think I'll go up to my room and wait for Reins,"

I started up the steps when I heard footsteps and turned to look over my shoulder to see Oscar.

"Oscar, what are you doing? I know where my room is you don't have to come with me,"

"Sorry Autumn but I was giving orders,"

He gave me an apologetic look.

"Okay, but you're not standing outside the door again you can come in and sit down," I told him before turning and going up the steps.

I heard him following me. Reaching my room I opened the door and walked in Oscar stopped at the doorway.

"Oscar," I call his name with a raised eyebrow.

"I don't know Autumn Alpha said to guard you, and sitting in here really doesn't feel like im doing my job,"

Placing my hands on my hips.

"Seriously Oscar you were my friend first please come in I don't want to wait alone."

With a defeated sigh he steps in shutting the door,

"Alright, you win,"

Talking with Oscar took my mind off of everything else he told me how his and Gracie's bond was becoming stronger he's such a good mate. With her being underage still he understands this and is very patient with her she has become more of herself since coming here, Shes is the sweetest person.

I was about to answer Oscar's question when I heard his voice.

"Love,"

I was so excited to hear him.

"Yes, Reins im here!" I quickly blurted out jumping to my feet and causing Oscar to jump up as well he took a stand as if someone was busting down the door.

"Sorry," I mouthed to him making him relax a bit.

"Oscar still with you?"

"Yes, he here never left the door,"

"Love I know he's not at the door, but have him escort you down to the clinic there are some people hear I think you should meet and talk with,"

"Ok, I'll be right there."

I turned to look at Oscar.

"Hey, Reins said we can go down to the clinic."

"Alright, Do we need to let your father know?"

"He didn't say, but we can tell him on our way out,"

Walking to the door Oscar pulled it open for me.

"I'll link him letting him know im sure he would want to be with me,"

"Be with who and where?" I jumped a bit Oscar growled as we snapped our heads in the direction of the voice.

" Jeez Dad, you gave me a heart attack, " I placed my hand over my chest.

He stopped to stand in front of us.

"Well, this means you weren't paying attention, "

The smirk on his face said he was holding his laughter.

"Reins has said we can go down to the clinic, I thought you would like to go with them," Oscar said quickly not wanting to show Dad startled him as well.

"Yes, I would, "He held his arm out for me I smiled linking my arm with his. This is why I love my dad even though I pulled what I did it's over with and he's not mad at me now.

We reached the clinic Oscar pulled the door open for us when a roar ripped through the hallways the glass shook almost breaking. Dad and Oscar froze submitting to it.

"Gem!"

"Mate it's Lyon and Reins something is wrong!"

With her words, I took off down the hall not waiting for either Dad or Oscar I could hear them call me but I kept moving searching the halls.

I got a sudden rush of rage and it stopped me in my tracks making me take a sharp breath in.

"Gem where is he?"

Just then the door down the hall slammed open as Reins came busting through it. His head snapped to me his eyes black.

"Lyon," Gem whimpered.

He closed the distance between us in a second pulling me into his arms burying his nose in my neck and taking deep breaths.

"Mine!" He growled.

I wrapped my arms around him letting him run his nose up and down my neck I knew he needed it to calm himself. Lyon was so close to the surface.

"Yes yours," I said as I rubbed my hands along his shoulder.

Footstep came from behind me. Reins tightened his hold on me growling at whoever was there.

"Reins tell me what happened?"

He hugged me tighter trying to keep me as close as he could.

"You mine, my mate no one can have you! Not even that stupid Beta! I'll kill him let him come he will meet his end!"