0 4 minutes read

Autumn

My heart broke when I walked into the room seeing my father laying there hooked to different machines.

Mom sat in the chair next to the bed holding dads hand as she slept with her head laying on the edge.

Slowly I made my way over to my mom laying my hand on her shoulder. She sat up startled looking at dad then she realized it wasn't him touching her.

Looking up to see who was there her eyes got wide.

"Autumn!" Jumping up she wrapped her arms around me pulling me into a h.ug.

Hugging her back as tears were close to falling.

I felt her shoulders shake she was crying breaking apart she cupped my cheeks.

"I missed you, I'm so happy your back!"

She mouthed slowly mom didn't know yet that my hearing had returned.

Placing my hands over her's

"Mom I have so much to tell you, but first I need to help Dad,"

She frowned a little at my words.

"Autumn? What I don't understand?"

"I'll explain it later Mom but first I need to help Dad,"

Letting go of Mom I walked to the other side of the bed.

"Gem, What do I do?"

“Remove the bandage from his wound, he needs to be unhooked as well from the machines,”

I reached for the bandage just as I began pulling it off Mom grabbed my hand.

“Autumn no,” She shook her head at me.

“Mom trust me please,”

Reins walked to Mom he placed a hand on her arm she looked at him.

“It’s okay Helen, trust her wolf knows what needs to be done,”

“Her what? ” She looks at me “Your wolf?”

“Like I said Mom ill explain later but please Dad needs my help. Rein’s dad needs to be unhooked as well,”

“Alright,” He says as he reaches over pulling the tabs off of Dad.

I pulled the bandage off dads chest letting out a gasp at the sight of his wound.

The wound wasn’t healing he had black lines swirling all around it as the edges were grey looking.

“Silver,” Gem says as I finished removing the bandage.

Hearing the beeping from the machines Reins moved to the door to keep the nurses out as he didn’t want no one seeing or knowing what was going on.

“Alright, Gem now what,”

“Place your hand over the wound sh!t your eyes focus on your dad then repeat the words.

I give you my strength my love my loyalty

Take it all and wake and return to us,”

Lifting my hand extending it forward as it trembled a little placing my hand over his chest.

Shutting my eyes I heard Gem again.

“Picture your father healthy and happy,”

Letting myself remember my dad as he stood hugging my mother or playing with Zach and me.

“Yes, Autumn that’s it, now say the words,”

I began speaking the words she told me as I neared the last word I felt a surge of power run through my body I sucked a breath in at the rush I felt.

“Keep repeating the words,” Gem said as she started saying them with me.

Warmth spread through my hand it was becoming so hot like I stuck my hand in a flame.

“It’s working Autumn keep going,”

Saying the words with more force as if I was trying to pull everything from him.

My canines elongated my voice becoming deeper when I tilted my head back letting out a roar that I didn’t know I had in me.

Reins

I watched in awe as my mate began to chant words. The power radiating off her was enough to make any wolf submit. Even her mother took a step back then I watched as her hair turned to silver almost white as a dim bluish light glowed from the hand she had held over her father’s chest.

She began saying the words louder as her voice became deeper she lifted her head letting out a roar that shook the whole room.

As soon as she was stopped her head dropped down along with her hand she stood there wobbling back and forth just as I went to move towards her she hit the floor.

Moving quickly I reached out grabbing her so she wouldn't smack the floor. Her mom cried out calling her name running around the bed kneeling she brushed the strands of hair out of her face.

Her hair was still a silver color I lifted her eyes lids to see if they were the crystal color when her wolf surfaced or if she spoke to her.

Hearing the small gasp I looked over at her mom.

"Her eyes,"

"It's her wolf."

I scooped her up walking to the small couch laying her down.

Just then the door swung open as Zach Oscar and Kelly came busting through.

"Alpha what happen?"

Oscar asked as he noticed Autumn on the couch.

He went straight to her kneeling next to her.

Letting out a growl he lowered his head sliding back away from her.

"Sorry Alpha, I meant no disrespect,"

"Go find the doctor,"

"Yes Alpha," He stood scurrying out of the room.

Sitting down on the edge of the cushion I watched as her hair returned to her normal color running my fingers down her cheek I see her forehead scrunch up a little. Her face felt super hot as a werewolf we are normally warm but she was beginning to have a small bead of sweat build up on her forehead.

"Alpha the doctor is here,"

Looking over I see him standing there.

"Alpha what happen?"

She passed out she got to the touch .”

I stood so he could move next to her he began checking her I didn't even look back at her dad as I was so worried about Autumn.

He stood after he checked her.

“She just asleep Alpha, she will be fine,”

“Thanks now go check on him,”

I said pointing my thumb over my shoulder.

Bowing a little he turned walking over.

“Um Alpha, “

I spin to look at him but what I saw took me completely surprised.

Autumn

“Mhmm.” Trying to open my eyes but they shut again from the pain in my head feeling so drained it felt as if I had a set of bongo playing in my head it was pounding so bad.

Peeling my eye open slower this time blinking and squinting I let my eyes adjust to the light everything was a little blurry at first but it slowly began to clear.

Trying not to turn my head too much I was able to notice I was in a hospital room. No one was in there I could see the small chair next to the bedside some papers on the end table then on the far wall was a couch with blankets tossed on it.

Where was everyone? Pushing myself to an upright position I wasn't hooked up to any machines I was still in the clothes I changed into before going to see my dad.

My dad! I needed to get to him and see if he was okay. Swinging my legs over the side of the bed I pushed myself to stand up my legs were shaking and my head become dizzy my legs gave out as I fell back on the bed.

My whole body ached I felt as if I ran a Marathon or worked out super hard every muscle hurt.

I heard the click of the handle and then the door open as Reins walked in. His eyes locked on me as I lay halfway out the bed.

“Autumn!” He came running to me as he lifted me to lie back in bed.

“Wait you doing? You too weak yet!”

“No, I need to see my dad!”

I try to push myself up again wanting to get up. Reins placed his hand on my shoulders pushing me back down.

“You need to rest, you over-exerted yourself,”

“Please I need to see my father,” I grabbed his hands.

“Shh, it’s okay your dad is fine, he’s resting in the next room, please calm down,”

I stopped struggling against him when I heard his words looking up at him he gave me a smile cupping my cheek he placed a kiss on my forehead.

“You scared me,” He whispers softly in my ear.

“What happens?” I asked him as I didn’t remember after I said the words Gem told me to.

“You healed your dad, I don’t fully understand what all happened but somehow you and Gem healed him he has no traces of silver left in his system, and his wound is completely healed.”

“I told you we were special,” Gem’s soft voice fills my head.

“Oh my god Gem! Are you today?”

I hear her let out a soft laugh.

“Yes, I’m just a little tired,”

“You both need rest, I’ll stay with you and soon as you are released we will go to your dad,” Reins says as he walks around the bed sitting down in the chair.

“Oh, he can stay as long as he wants or do whatever he wants to,”

“GEM!” I scolded her again.

Hearing Reins let out a chuckle I looked at him.

He reached up pushing the button on the side of the bed.

A few seconds the door opens and a doctor walks in.

“Ahh, Ms. Autumn you’re awake, how do you feel ?” He asked as he walked closer.

“Oh um just tired, my head hurts a lot,”

“Hmmm, let’s have a look,”

He pulls out a small light shining it in my eyes causing me to flinch a little. He listens to my chest checking my reflexes.

“Well, you just to rest your body tired I’ll get you something for your headache, but you can leave today I don’t see a reason for you to stay here,”

“Alpha can you handle the paperwork?”

“Yes but have it brought in here,”

“Yes, Alpha, Ms. Autumn lots of rest for a few days,”

I nod my head to him as he gave a bow then turning walking out the door.

Before I could say anything there was a knock.

“Come in,” Reins calls out.

The door opens and Oscar Kelly and Brad walk-in Nick came walking last.

“Hey Autumn how are you feeling?”

Oscar mouthed to me as he looked at me with a worried face.

“I’m okay just tired,”

Kelly pushed him aside grabbing my hand and holding it as if I was gonna disappear or something.

“We were worried don’t do that again,”

She mouths as her one hand was attempting to do sign language.

She says as Brad placed his hand on her shoulder I looked at her and the others.

“Do what? And why do you guys look as if I jumped off a bridge?”

They looked to Reins I followed and did the same.

“What’s going on?”

Reins stood stepping closer to the bed.

“Autumn they felt your power I don’t know how or why but when you were with your dad all of them felt the surge of power like you were pulling some from them,”

I looked back at my friends.

Their faces all looked pale Kelly had tears in her eyes,

“I don’t understand,”

“They’re your protectors,” Gem says softly.

“My what? Gem I don’t understand.”

“You will have a few that will support you and lend you energy when you ball upon it when needed, they will also be the ones who guard you and protect you in all and any situations,”

“But their my friends Gem I don’t want them hurt, they didn’t ask for this,”

“Their wolves have already claimed loyalty to you, they are your closest friends this is why they were chosen for you,”

Looking at them they all had a look I couldn't explain as they held their heads high as if they could hear Gem speaking.

“Alright you guys got to see her she needs some rest you all know your orders,” Reins's voice broke everyone out of the trance we were in.

All bowed then walked out letting the door close.

Rubbing my temples my head started to hurt more.

“Let me find where the doctor is so you can get something for your head,”

Reins says as he pushes some hair out of my face.

He kissed my cheek before he walked out.

“Gem, something doesn't feel right why is my head hurting so bad,”

I groaned placing both hands on my head and shutting my eyes as the pain increased.

“I think it's another power coming forward,”

The pain hit harder causing me to scream out I couldn't hold it.

Falling forward clutching my head in my hands.

“Reins!” I call his name

Reins

Hearing her call for me when to her as fast as I could. She was slumped over holding her head in her hand.

“Autumn!” I was by her side pushing the hair away from her face and hands to see what was wrong.

"It hurts! " she cried out pulling at her hair.

Just as she screamed again the doctor was in the room standing on the other side of the bed.

"Alpha what happen?"

"I'm not sure she called for me when I turned around she was holding her head."

"Autumn I need you to tell me what's wrong," He was having to take louder cause she was crying.

"My head, it hurts! it hurt so bad,"

"Lean back Autumn I need to check you over,"

"I can't it hurts!"

"Love please lay back," Leaning closer to her.

Slowly she laid back keeping her hands to her head her crying quieted down to just small sobs and sniffles

"Autumn can you move your hands please,"

She had her eyes squeezed shut and her forehead scrunched up moving her hands away from her head I began to brush the hair out of her face.

Looking at her better I noticed a small amount of blood running out her nose.

"Her nose is bleeding," I looked up at the doctor.

His head nodded at my words as he looked over her face he peeled one of her eyes open shining a light on it.

"Um Alpha," He said as stood up away from her.

Looking at him his face was a little pale he swallowed hard.

Giving him a confused look.

"What, Something wrong?"

“Look,” He reached over again lifting her eyelid.

Leaning over her so I could see better I stopped when I saw her eye was two different colors.

The crystal clear look over her wolf’s eye mixed with red it looked almost like blood had been dropped in her eye.

He let her eyes shut as he looked at me.

“What’s wrong with her, why is her eye like that?”

“I do not know Alpha I have never seen that before,”

Looking from him back to her I noticed she had drifted asleep.

“Autumn,” I touched her face but she didn’t respond.

“Autumn, can you hear me? “

The doctor quickly listen to her heart his body relaxing a bit.

“She just asleep,”

“She’s unlocking another power,”

Wait was that Gem,

“Gem?”

“Yes it’s me Autumn is kinda out of it right now but I can still link with you?”

“How doesn’t she have to be talking to you for me to hear you two? And what power?”

“No silly your my mate I’m linked to you just as much as she is to you, we will know her power when she wakes,”

“Why is her eye like that?”

“It’s just a transition period once the power is unlocked her eye will go back to normal,”

Letting out a sigh of relief at those words I still wasn't fully understanding what was happening.

"Alpha maybe we should try and find someone who would have information on her condition,"

The doctor says as he steps away from the bed.

"No! No one can know about her, "

"Alpha I don't know what's wrong or how to treat her! "

"She doesn't need treatment,"

I closed my eyes not wanting to share what she was with anyone until we knew everything,

"It's her powers, She is a silver wolf,"

He stood still with a shocked look on his face.

"I don't want to let anyone know yet not until I have figured this out as well,"

"I understand, Alpha, but how am I to help her?"

"Gem, how long till she wakes?"

"Not long, I can feel her starting to wake,"

"Her wolf said she wake soon so let's just wait,"

"Um Alpha, you said her wolf told you?"

Letting out a sigh I hung my head kicking myself again.

"Yes, her wolf Autumn can communicate with her wolf, and seeing as she is my mate she can link me as well,"

He didn't say anything but just looked at me,

Looking at her face I ran my hand over her cheek.

Scrunching her forehead a bit she let out a small moan.

“Autumn, can you hear me?”

I kept my voice low as I wasn't sure how much pain she was in.

“Mmm,” she slowly opened her eyes she stared straight at me.

“Reins,” Saying my name lowly.

She goes to sit up I placed my arm behind her helping her. She looked at me then at the doctor.

“What happened?”

“Your head was hurting you, then you started to scream we got you to lay back so the doctor could check you but you fell asleep,”

“I remember my head hurting right as everyone walked out,”

She rubbed her head and her scalp which I'm sure is sore from how hard she pulled her hair.

“How do you feel now?” The doctor asked as he stepped closer to her looking over her.

I sat there running my fingers over her forehead pushing her hair behind her ear.

“Ok I guess the headache is gone, but my scalp hurts like heck,”

She placed at him as she reached up again running her finger through her hair once more,

“You were pulling hard on your hair,”

I told her as I kept one of her hands in mine.

“Autumn, Gem said you were unlocking another power?”

She looked at me then at the doctor.

He held his hands up.

“Don’t worry the doctor-patient confidentiality, can’t and won’t speak about anything that is said in here,”

“Okay, I remember saying something about it maybe another unlocking,”

“Did she say how to tell what it would be?” The doctor asked.

She shook her head.

“No, I don’t think so if she did I wouldn’t have heard it with how much pain I felt,”

I grabbed a tissue from the stand as I reached forward wiping her nose as there was some blood still there.

“Why do we ask her now?” I said as I tossed the tissue into the can that sat next to the little stand.

I watched as her eyes changed to that beautiful crystal color but this time I couldn’t hear Gem’s thoughts.

The doctor stood there looking absolutely in awe that she could speak with her wolf.

Suddenly her eyes changed back.

“Gem said it the power of deceit, I’m to be able to tell if someone is lying,”

“Well, why don’t we try?” I said as I stood up from the bed.

“How?” She asked looking at me.

“Simple ask me a question you know the answer to,”

“Oh okay, Um let’s see,”

She acts like she is thinking hard looking out over the foot of the bed then she looks at me out the side of her eyes as she gets this smile on her face.

“Reins,” She drags my name out letting her hand lay on her lap.

“Am I the only women you’ve been with?”

Oh, she was diving right in there, wasn't she?

Hearing little coughs coming from the doctor I looked at him glaring at him he placed his hand over his mouth to stop the laugh that was about to spill out of him.

Looking back my little mate had a smirk on her face.

Yes, I have been with others but not from my pack I had given up on the idea of finding my mate but I did have needs as well.

Standing straight squaring my shoulders I looked straight at her.

"Yes, you are,"

Watching her she never moved or blinked. I could feel my nerves build when she didn't say anything.

I heard Gem's voice.

"Oh someone in trouble,"

I was back sitting next to her holding her hand and kissing them.

"I'm sorry love,"

"I think I'll step out and give you two a moment," The doctor walked around the bed and out the door.

I didn't even look his way or said anything to him. My focus was on my mate who looked completely crushed by my answer.

"Autumn please I'm sorry," looking down at our hands I felt like such an a.ss.

She placed a hand on my cheek causing me to look up at her. She smiled leaning forward and placing a feather-light kiss on my lips.

"It's okay Reins, You are a few years older I kinda figured you weren't inexperienced like me, and when we shared that experience the first time I knew then, It doesn't change how I feel about you, I'm completely and fully in love with you,"

Autumn

I was feeling good my head had stopped hurting as well as my body I had a power running through me I didn't quite understand but I felt strong.

I tighten my hold on Reins's hand as we stopped for a moment outside my dad's room door.

"Love you okay?" He asks turning to look at me.

"Yes, I'm just nervous, Not sure why though,"

He leans over kissing my temple. He pushes the door open leading me in.

Looking around Reins I see my dad he's awake sitting up and talking to Zach and Mom, I noticed that the same lady from the car Ariel was her name. She stood next to Zach holding his arm while they spoke with Dad.

Hearing us walking they all turned their attention to us my eyes meeting my dad's taking in a sharp breath.

"Dad," I ran the short distance across the room. He stood opening his arms for me running straight into them as he wrapped his arms around me.

His familiar scent filled my nose and Gem whined in my head.

He has always been my rock always taking care of us and to think he did all he did to protect me and keep me safe made me admire him more than I did before.

"You alright dad," I sobbed against his chest.

He held me close kissing my head as he rocked us back and forth.

We broke apart as he pulled back looking down and cupping my face in his hand.

I saw tears leave his eyes.

“I was so afraid I wasn’t ever gonna see you again,” He mouthed slowly to me and I realized they didn’t tell him everything and that made me smile inside I got to share it with him.

“I thought the same, Dad, I...I don’t,”

I couldn’t finish those words that were at the tip of my tongue but the thought of it hurt too much.

“Shhhh. ” Dad pulls me into a hug again.

Pulling back he gives me a look over brushing the hair away from my face and wiping the tears that ran down my cheeks.

He pulls me to sit down on the bed next to him.

I felt a hand on my shoulder looking over I saw Mom smiling at me.

“Alright Autumn spill, what happened how did you do it?”

Looking at Zach he was looking at me with that look he gave me when we were kids when he was trying to get me to admit when I snuck cookies or snacks without Mom knowing,

Looking to Reins I wasn’t sure how to explain or even where to begin.

“Start from the beginning love,”

His calm voice runs in my head.

Looking at my family I took a deep breath in I knew Zach knows most of what happened but not all.

Turning more so I could face my dad he looked somewhat confused as Zach spoke to me but didn’t sign or talk slowly and I wasn’t even looking at him but when he called my name I turned my attention to him lifting my head and began to explain.

My father sat there with tears in his eyes as I finish telling him everything that happen from when I was taken to waking up in the room next to him.

“Dad, Please say something, “

“I would love to see your wolf,”

Gem perked up at those words.

“Let me! “She chimed.

“Gem how we only shifted once,”

“Let me come forward I can talk with him we don’t have to shift,”

Closing my eyes I felt her surge forward.

When I opened my eyes I could see my father looking at me with so much love and administration.

“Hello, there Gem,” He cooed at her.

“Hello to you, Dad,” She cooed right back to him I could see him swell up with pride hearing her call him Dad.

We turned our heads looking at my mother next to see her crying hands folded together as they were over her mouth holding her cries in.

“Hi Mom,” Gem calls to her Mom’s shoulder shakes as more cries leave her.

Then my eyes turn to find Reins and I hear Gem purr.

She stands walking to him.

“Gem what are you doing? Go back to Dad,”

She stops in front of Reins just smiling at her. Reaching out she runs her fingers through his hair pressing herself against his front.

“Gem!” I call her.

Reins lets out a chuckle wrapping his arms around our waist and pulling us closer leaning down close to our ears,

“Naughty little wolf behave yourself if you do we will play later,”

Gem let out a low growl which was met with a growl from Reins as his eyes flashed yellow letting his wolf surface and baring his canines at us.

I feel Gem pull back as I gain control over myself as soon as I was back in control I could instantly smell our arousal and embarrassment hitting me and inside my face in Reins's chest.

"She so bad," I mumbled.

Hearing the laughter from behind me I turned to take a peek.

"I love her she is full of mystery."

"Dad says while laughing."

"Gem why did you do that!"

"What I can't help it our mate is delicious looking,"

"Oh my word," I just hit my face again but Reins just laugh kissing my forehead.

"Alright I don't want to break this up or anything but we still have the other issue to deal with," Zach says

Spinning around I look at him and Ariel.

"What issue?"

No one said anything but all their faces paled.

Looking at them and no one was saying anything.

"What issue!" I yelled feeling the power rip through me as they all bow submitting to me. I felt his arms slide around my waist and then his hot breath on my neck.

"Calm down love your power is too strong for them,"

His words snapped me out of my anger and the power slowly slipped back as I relaxed in his hold.

They all sat up looking at me.

“I’m sorry I didn’t mean it,”

“It’s okay dear your still learning how to control it,” Dad says but he still had that look of awe on his face.

I see them give Reins a look then his head nodded against my shoulder.

Zach looks at me as he sighed a little.

“We just learned that Rachel isn’t dead and she is holding Ariel’s sister hostage,”

With those words, my control snapped power pouring out of me in waves so strong I thought I would burn up with the heat I felt.
