

Dear Chief 37

Chapter 37: Anything Could Be Bought With Money!

Zhu Fen's videotape disappointed Gu Qiqi.

The video didn't record the scene where she was being bullied by that mysterious pervert on the operating table that night.

2

Where was that important video?!

She actually dared to cheat her!

"Where's the rest?" Gu Qiqi knocked Zhu Fen on the head and asked coldly.

"Don't hit me. Wuwuwu. I've already told you! The rest... I think they were taken away by the people from a research base at Science City..."

Gu Qiqi frowned.

Research base at Science City?

Wasn't that the territory of that domineering man with erectile dysfunction?

Could it be that she had to walk straight into a trap?

No!

It seemed that she had to think about this matter thoroughly before she could make her move.

What was most important now was to...

Gu Qiqi changed the topic. "Gu Xuexue said that she wanted to malign me for the anesthetic mistake. How is that unconscious patient now?"

"This... I know!" Zhu Fen was afraid of being beaten and revealed everything. "I heard that he has been picked up by his family and has returned to the Imperial Capital..."

Imperial Capital?

That was a big city thousands of miles away and was the heart of the Empire.

Gu Qiqi—who was based in Qing Cheng—sighed.

That beautiful man left just like that...

She performed a life-saving operation for him and brought him back to life, after all...

He must have some conscience left in his heart, right?

Zhu Fen thought that Gu Qiqi was afraid that she would be implicated in the anesthetic incident.

In response, Zhu Fen hurriedly swore. “Gu Qiqi, let me live! I’ll definitely plead with my father, and I will not let him expose you...”

Before she could finish her words, she was heavily struck on her head and she fainted.

Gu Qiqi shook her wrist and looked at the wounded Zhu Fen in disdain. “How noisy! You’re not worthy to die in my own hands.”

The most important matter after that beautiful man was the professional ambition field on that application form.

If she wasn’t able to change her professional ambition and enter a medical school...

Her plans of taking revenge and changing her fate would be nothing but empty talk.

There was a change to the script, and that big shot had left. What else could she do?

A soft voice suddenly rang out in her mind. “Hey, you can earn money! If you have money, you can buy a degree! Just buy one! As long as you collect—”

Gu Qiqi’s heart skipped a beat.

This wasn’t the first time that she heard this soft voice.

Back then, this voice had urged her to collect the “essence” of that domineering man with erectile dysfunction back in his car.

What’s more, this voice had also instructed her to agitate the other party by calling him a man with erectile dysfunction previously in that extraction room. It said back then that agitation was the ultimate trick in dealing against domineering men.

Speaking of which, this voice was the reason why she had provoked that domineering man with erectile dysfunction in the first place!

Gu Qiqi warily scanned the ward.

Aside from the two women whom she had knocked out on the hospital bed, there wasn’t anyone else in the ward.

This voice... who exactly did it belong to?

Why was it so close to her, yet she couldn’t see its owner?

Even the brave Gu Qiqi knew fear. A thin layer of sweat formed on her palms.

But after thinking about it, she soon calmed down.

She was someone who had crawled out of the grave to be reborn.

Furthermore, what could be more terrifying than what she had experienced back then?

What was she afraid of?!

“Come out! Why are you sneaking around? Isn’t it embarrassing to constantly hide?”

Gu Qiqi coldly said.

“I can’t come out...”

That soft voice replied, aggrieved.

She listened closely again.

The soft voice originated from within her mind, not from the outside world.

D*mn it.

Could it be that she had seen a ghost and was now being possessed by that same ghost?

Gu Qiqi rubbed her temples. “Who are you?”

“I’m your... little cutie!”

Gu Qiqi was speechless.

Was she living in a fantasy world?

This voice simply sounded like a three-year-old child.

Gu Qiqi couldn’t help but think of that boy whom she saw in the hospital corridor a few days ago.

He had big and black grape-like eyes.

He was also pretending to be an adult with his child-like voice.

His cuteness was simply unforgettable.

However, just as this thought appeared...

That soft voice suddenly retorted in anger. “No, no, no!”

“Don’t compare me with a three-year-old child!”

“A stripe on my shell can kill stupid humans for the next hundred years, all right?”

Gu Qiqi was stunned.

What the...

Did it really exist?

Also... it had a shell?

Please forgive her... Please forgive this “stupid human”.

She needed enough time to comprehend all of these!