

Dear Chief 73

Chapter 73: The Scheming Young Lady Qiqi

Since the Chu family and the Bai family were competitors in the field of medicine...

That would be fun.

Gu Qiqi revealed a deep smile and opened her red lips lightly. "Release the news of the 70-year-old donkey hide gelatin appearing on the market."

The manager was dumbfounded.

But considering that the chairman had given his instructions, no matter what this girl said, she had to be satisfied.

He immediately went out to do it.

In the business world, competitors would always send scouts to each other's companies to infiltrate and collect information.

The medical profession was no exception.

Once the manager announced the joyous occasion of acquiring five catties of supreme-grade donkey hide gelatin—in a corner of the pharmacy—a hydropower technician in charge of repairing circuits heard the news and immediately lowered his head to release the information...

After a while, the old manager returned gleefully and told Gu Qiqi. "Our spies in the Medical Hall said that their shop exploded when they heard the news. Their Young Master Bai Lang happened to be in their shop, and he made the decision on the spot to snatch the medicine from us at all costs..."

Gu Qiqi nodded lightly. She was very confident.

He didn't seem surprised at all.

The manager sighed in his heart. She was so calm at such a young age. Her future was limitless.

He couldn't help but flatter Gu Qiqi. "But no matter how hard they tried, it was useless! It's all thanks to Young Lady for selling us the precious 70-year-old gelatin... I understand now. Young Lady, you're doing this so that they won't be able to sleep despite the greed in their eyes, right? Haha, this is so satisfying!"

Who would have thought?

Gu Qiqi slowly curved her lips. "Let them snatch it."

The manager was taken aback. He covered the gel in his arms tightly. "This... This is a deal. It belongs to us. You can't go back on your word, young lady..."

He was already so old that he was about to cry.

Gu Qiqi blinked. "I still have 1 kg here."

"Ah? Young Lady, this..."

“Continue to spread the word. Tell them that the five catties that you bought previously cost 2 million dollars per catty.”

The manager was dumbfounded.

The lights flickered in the corridor.

He finally understood!

D*mn it. This girl was 100 times more scheming than he had imagined.

She was going to dig a pit for the Bai family to jump into!

She had clearly sold donkey hide gelatin to the Chu family for 600,000 dollars, but she was going to claim that it was 2 million dollars.

On the market, 50-year-old donkey hide gelatin was a rare commodity. A 70-year-old top-grade product was simply hard to come by.

In order to compete with them, the Bai family would definitely offer a higher price.

Thus, this young lady was deliberately raising the price to cheat the Bai family!

She was going to cause trouble.

The manager’s eyes became respectful. He was convinced that this person dared to challenge the Bai family!

At the Medical Hall.

After Bai Lang received the latest intelligence.

With his legs crossed and a smug look as if he wasn’t lacking in money, he said, “Snatch it! Definitely! Let alone two million dollars, we’ll snatch it even if it’s an extra million dollars! Whatever the Chu clan can buy, our Bai clan definitely won’t be lacking. In business, we won’t lose money if we don’t lose our pride! Understand?”

Upon receiving the instruction, the subordinate immediately complied and did as instructed.

Indeed.

As soon as Gu Qiqi walked out of the Chu clan’s pharmacy, a man dressed as an electrician caught up to her and said sincerely, “Young Lady, please hold on...”

Little Filthy Turtle snorted excitedly, “Master is wise! That was the Bai family’s spy in the Chu clan! That scum entered the pit!”

Gu Qiqi smiled at the other party.

The fish took the bait so quickly. It seemed that she didn’t feel a sense of accomplishment at all.

Ten minutes later.

The transaction was completed.

The electrician brought back the one-kilogram worth of donkey hide gelatin that he had bought in secret to the National Healer Hall.

Unable to contain his joy, he sought credit from Bai Lang. "Second Young Master, we have the 70 year old goods! The other party is a young girl who is very innocent. She seems carefree and I only used 2.5 million dollars to coax and cheat her. I saved 500,000 dollars."

Bai Lang nodded in satisfaction. Suddenly, he felt that something was wrong.

"What young lady? Where is she?"

"She's just a high school student. She's quite pretty. Her skin is so white..."

"I'm asking you where the fu*ck she is!"