

Dear Chief 88

Chapter 88: Your Little Fairy Is Flirting With Someone Else

“Master Jue, are you going back to the old residence to accompany the young chief tonight?”

“Yes.”

“Then, should I push the matter of the research and development of the new aircraft back to the research base in Qing Cheng?”

“Of course! It’s just a small laboratory. Why would I watch over it every day?”

Gong Jue replied coldly, pretending to be indifferent.

That petite figure from the research base involuntarily appeared in his mind.

Qing Cheng was originally a small and inconspicuous place.

But for some reason, there was something different about it in his heart now.

Night fell.

Qing Cheng, Qiong Hua Bar.

This was the most fashionable entertainment venue in Qing Cheng.

Eating, drinking, and gambling, as well as working out and taking baths.

Bai Lang was in the gym just now. He stepped on the rowing machine for the entire afternoon before he could finally vent the frustration in his heart.

His Bai family’s pharmacy had never lost to the Chu family’s in history.

But today, because of a little demoness, he had met with unexpected failure and suffered a terrible fall.

Not only was he fined a large sum according to the law, but he also nearly lost his business license.

Thinking about it, he had already suffered a loss of nearly 80 million dollars from the little demon. Of course, he had to take into account the 25 million dollars that Gong Jue asked him to donate to Africa.

“Hmph! Little vixen, I’ll remember this score!” Bai Lang changed into a white suit and walked down the stairs.

Suddenly, he stopped in his tracks!

Tsk. What did he just see?

Little demon actually arrived on time? Did she have to be so amazing?

They saw that Gu Qiqi was still dressed in her refreshing school uniform with her hair tied into a neat ponytail. She was only short of carrying a school bag to school.

Seeing Gu Qiqi walk towards the VIP room located in the depths of the bar, Bai Lang smiled. “Hehe, it’s finally my turn for you to fall into my trap...”

He quickly dug out his phone and took a photo of Gu Qiqi's back as she entered the private room. Then, he sent a WeChat message to Gong Jue. "This is the Jasper Flower Feast Bar. Its famous feature is that it has a young lady accompanying it. She is specially used to entertain rich old men and costs a thousand dollars per night. If you bring her out for an overnight stay, the price will be doubled..."

After sending it, he smacked his lips smugly.

"Hmph! I can't take care of you but there's someone else who can!"

Three seconds later.

Gong Jue replied, "So, you're that old man who went to look for that young lady?"

Bai Lang staggered. "Hey, Master Jue. The important thing isn't me. It's your little vixen. She's taking advantage of the fact that you're on a business trip to fool around with someone else, all right? Is she lacking money?"

On WeChat.

There was no reply for a long time.

"F*ck! Others can't be relied on! I have to do it myself!"

Bai Lang rolled his eyes and quickly followed her.

In the private room.

Gu Qiqi pushed open the door and discovered that more than half of the people had already arrived.

Looking at the familiar faces, her expression gradually turned cold.

In her previous life, she didn't have much of a relationship with these classmates. She always listened to Gu Meifeng's words and quietly studied by herself.

Hence, she was nicknamed 'Bookworm'.

Gu Xuexue was the one who pulled her to this class gathering in her previous life.

As soon as she entered the ward, everyone started criticizing her for being stupid and ignorant in her studies. They even mocked her for causing a lawsuit despite having been an intern in the hospital for a few days.

Soon, three rounds of drinks had passed. When the news of the college entrance exam application form was announced, she—as a top scholar—went to a nursing school. She was even mocked by everyone for the entire night.

Gu Xuexue, on the other hand, was like a princess who received everyone's praise and congratulated her for getting into the best medical university. Her future was limitless.

She and Gu Xuexue were like heaven and earth.

What a stark contrast.

Gu Qiqi laughed coldly.

Actually, what was the point of such a hypocritical class gathering?

If she didn't want to bump into Xiao Ning, she wouldn't have come at all.
