

dear lawyer 231

Chapter 231 Two pills of Medicine

They didn't know who was surprised and called out, "Look, that girl looks nice."

"Oh, if you she's ugly, you can take her back by yourself." The horse faced man didn't believe that the man was so lucky that he saw a good-looking woman so soon. Now everyone was wearing glasses.

"There she is." Said the man, pointing to the center of the stage.

The horse faced man followed Leo and looked in the direction he pointed to. Beside the small bar in the middle, there was a graceful girl with a beautiful ponytail and a mask on her face, which did not affect her youthful vitality. Her slim waist was even more attractive.

Even Leo was attracted by her, and there was a trace of immorality in his eyes. "Mike, you're really a radar." "That's real." Mike's face was obscene.

Leo clapped him on the shoulder happily and said, "Good boy, I'll give you to the SUV in my garage tomorrow."

"Thank you, Leo." Mike was so excited that he could hardly speak. The woman he found was equal to a SUV. Leo was so generous that he couldn't match with him.

It was called the birth of a rich family. There was no shortage of money for them.

Other people saw Mike get a car. They couldn't hide their envy, jealousy and hatred. The horse faced man was very angry. If he hadn't been slow, it would have been his car.

Leo didn't care and said, "Well, it's just a car. Who of you will bring that girl to me? I still have a reward." "Let me do it."

"Leo, let me go."

“TL go.”

Mike was happy and flattered, “Leo, I’d better go. It happens that I know several people in the bar, and I will complete the task for you.”

Leo enjoyed the feeling of being surrounded and flattered. He was very proud of Mike, “OK, you can go.” Several people secretly regretted that they didn’t find the woman earlier.

The horse faced man’s angry eyes were about to jump out. The damned Mike was brought out by him. Now he was still flattering in front of him. He was an ungrateful man. But he didn’t show too obviously.

Mike walked towards the ponytail girl with several people. Leo and other men watched them. The ponytail girl quarreled with Mike for a while. In the end, they were unable to compete with them. She was carried back by two men.

The friend of the ponytail girl was also beaten by Mike’s people, lying on the ground and unable to get up. In such a messy place, this small conflict did not attract other people’s attention.

The horse faced man’s eyes turned, and he immediately had a plan in his heart. He flattered Leo and whispered a few words.

Leo raised his eyebrows and looked at him. He said, “I don’t want to play a dead fish on the bed. Is your medicine safe?”

“Don’t worry about it. This medicine is just for fun. Even if the pure girl takes it, she will become a slut, so that you can have a good time.” The horse faced man said with a crafty face.

Leo also agreed, “OK, pay attention to it.”

“No problem.” The horse faced man nodded with a smile, took out two pills of medicines from his pocket, threw them into a bottle of wine directly, and stirred them in the cup.

At the same time, the girl with ponytail was also brought here, and she said in a delicate voice, "Let me go! Do you know who my father is?"

"No matter who your father is, you are mine tonight." Leo took off the mask of the ponytail girl. Seeing her small white face, he couldn't help touching her smooth chin.

He said, "Women are made of water."

The ponytail girl angrily turned her face and refused to give in. She held her chin high and said haughtily, "You'd better let me go, or you'll have to land yourself in trouble."

"What an arrogant girl." Leo did not put her threat in his heart, and directly glanced at the horse faced man and said, "Why are you still in a daze and don't quench our little beauty's thirst?"

"OK." The horse faced man immediately understood. He was holding the cup of drugged cup, and made a wink to the two men holding her, indicating that they should fix her body.

The two men nodded clearly.

The ponytail girl saw the horse faced man with a glass of wine coming towards her. She also knew something about that in the bar. Then she shook her head in horror, "Don't come, I don't want to drink it, let go of me quickly."

"Do you know, I'm..."

Before she finished her words, the horse faced man pinched her jaw directly and forced her to open her mouth. The spicy wine ran down her throat, and she was choked.

"Damn it. You'll regret it. I am a daughter of...the police chief..."

Her unclear words were obliterated by the deafening DJ sound on the dance floor.

“What are you looking at? Take her away.” Leo kicked the two men and walked in front of them.

After drinking the wine, the ponytail girl quickly became hot and dry, and her strength all disappeared. She had no resistance.

Waiting for them to go far away, one of the men also murmured to himself in some doubt, “I just heard that, what is her father’s identity?”

It seemed to be the director of public security? I don’t know. If it is, all of them would die.

“No matter what his identity is, Leo can cover up.” The horse faced man took a mouthful of wine with his glass in his hand, and said with hatred.

“So it is.” Leo was supported by Angie’s family. There were several people in the city who dared to offend them. After the men thought about it clearly, he also joined the ranks of playing.

Leo, with a ponytail girl, opened a room upstairs in the nightclub. He gave a little tip to let the two men go out and stay alone with the woman who was almost unconscious.

He looked at the woman who was half-asleep and half-awake on the bed. Looking at her red face He couldn’t help but say with pride, “Sleeping with me is a great honor for you. Enjoy it.”

“Go away...” The ponytail girl could only say two words.

Leo was more excited and rubbed his hands, “Hey, I like such a ragged woman like you.”

He then quickly took off his clothes and fell toward the girl on the bed.

Chapter 232 Spread like virus

Leo had a good night.

But the next day something happened.

He hadn't woken up yet. There was a noise outside the door.

"Damn it, who disturb my dreams early in the morning? Is the management of the city all dead?" Before he finished his words, the door of the room was kicked open.

Suddenly, a group of people rushed in, including police, special police, and some reporters. Leo was also shocked. What was the matter? Was the nightclub investigated at night? But no one told him.

"What's the matter with you? Don't know who I am? How dare you break in at random?"

No one paid attention to his words. The road in the middle suddenly separated. A middle-aged figure walked in anxiously. He saw the naked woman on the bed, and his eyes were all red.

He gritted his teeth and said in a sharp voice, "Let the reporters leave, tie up the suspect and take him back to the Bureau." "Yes, director." Several policemen saw this picture and felt very angry.

All the reporters were asked to go out, but some smart reporters had taken a few photos with their mobile phones, and those who did not see the pictures all left regretfully.

Leo's face changed instantly when he heard the word "director". His eyes were very different when the director looked at the woman in bed. He thought that she was his woman and wanted to deal with it with money. "Director, you don't have to make such a fuss. She's just a woman. How much money do you want?"

The director ignored him and took off his coat to cover her body. If it was not for his identity, he would like to shoot the man in front of him.

The ponytail girl had been tortured for a whole night. When she saw him, her tears came down in an instant, and she cried out weakly, "Dad..."

The director patted her hand and did not let her speak again.

Hearing 'dad', Leo's face completely changed. It was ok if she was just his woman, but it would be different if she was his daughter. He let himself calm down first. There were many directors in the city, and he might be just a person without real power.

"It has nothing to do with me. It's your daughter who came over."

"Take her to the hospital for examination and evidence collection." The director said, and someone carried the ponytail girl away with a simple stretcher.

As a father, he saw his daughter was ruined. Shawn looked at him, as if he wanted to eat him.

"She's a minor, so get ready for the prison."

"No, you can't. who do you think you are? Even if the director of public security is here, he doesn't dare to speak to me like that, and what evidence do you have?" When Leo heard that he was going to jail, he was in a panic and couldn't calm down any more.

Shawn sneered, all the people left in the house were his relatives, and he was not afraid to be known by others, "I'm really sorry.

I'm the director in your mouth. Even if you ask Alan for help, I'll fight with you to the end."

He seemed to feel that the panic on Leo's face was not enough, and added, "And don't think Alan will help you. He is at a critical moment now. Do you think he will ruin his own future for you?"

The answer, of course, was No. Leo remembered that the ponytail woman yesterday seemed to want to say something, but finally she could not say anything because of the wine fed by other men. Now he began to feel remorseful.

However, it seemed that it was too late, but he still did not give up and struggled, "Even if you are the director, you can't put me in prison, you have no evidence, I want to find my lawyer, William, you know? He is my cousin's husband."

Hearing William's name, Shawn seemed to have a trace of fear. Leo also could see that William's name was more useful than his uncle. He said William's name directly, Angie might not mind it.

He continued, "How is that, director? Don't you want to think about it? Although I'm also wrong, but as long as you make a condition, I can fill your requirement."

Shawn had some hesitation. When he heard Leo's tone of no regret, his eyes became cold. He said, "Leo, don't forget your surname. You can't represent your whole family. Moreover, I believe William won't help you. Even if he does, I have evidence. He can't help you retract your confession."

"No way. It's impossible that he won't help me." Looking at the coldness in Shawn's eyes, Leo was a little nervous.

William should help him.

"What you think is really simple. Anyway, I will certainly ask for justice for my daughter. I have all the monitoring evidence, and only need to be confirmed by the hospital." Shawn didn't want to talk nonsense with Leo any more. He was afraid that if he went on, he would kill this animal out of control.

He waved his hand and let his subordinates take Leo away.

Two uniformed policemen directly handcuffed a pair of cold handcuffs on his hand. Leo was stunned for a second and struggled fiercely.

"You can't do that. I want to see my grandfather, I want to see my father, I want to see my aunt!"

The two policemen standing by him were unmoved and respectfully said to Shawn, "Director, do you want to cover him with something?"

Now, Leo was still naked, and he didn't have a cover.

Shawn said indifferently, "Since he's shameless, just give him a bath towel." If it wasn't for the bad influence, he would rather let the beast run naked.

The police nodded and casually gave Leo a bath towel and dragged him out.

The reporters waiting outside were as excited as flies to see the scene, and they took photos of Leo fiercely. Some reporters thought that it would be a big news today, so they directly started the live broadcast.

Leo forced the underage girl in the hotel, and all of a sudden, it was broadcasted in a larger and important section of the city. It was like a gust of wind, and the information leaked out faster than the virus.

The flash lights were flashing constantly.

Leo also understood what was fear and wanted to cover his face. However, the two policemen tried to hold his two hands tightly to keep him from moving. His face was photographed.

“Don’t shoot...” No matter how Leo yelled, no one listened to him. During the towing, Leo resisted too fiercely. The bath towel was loose and was directly put on the ground.

Now Leo really had no cover, the reporters were like frying pots and crazily shooting.

These scenes were broadcast live, and all the people in the city knew it.

Chapter 233 She had the nerve to say so

In the large office, someone held a tablet on the table, pointed to the pictures on the TV, and said, “Well, are you satisfied with it? My executive ability is getting better and better.”

The news was exposed so quickly that all TV viewers knew that. This was because Grace, according to William’s arrangement, he informed this news to the newspaper and magazine reporter.

Yesterday, Leo acted rashly in the apartment of Vivian with his friends. They were seen by the informers nearby arranged by William. In order not to arouse their suspicions, he only let them investigate the place where Leo planned to go.

And they saw Leo's friends harassing a girl. William was also very smart. He quickly let his people find out the girl's identity. He didn't intervene. He just waited for the final result. However, Shawn's people were informed.

It was only because Shawn himself was doing something with his mistress. He had told him the news. Shawn only knew about it after that and it was too late to find Leo.

However, it was the best result for him, so no matter what, Shawn would fight with Leo's family because of guilt.

Grace waited for a while, but no one answered him. He couldn't help looking up at his silent friend. He was still that person, but he became a little strange. He used to think that his good friend was indifferent, but he still had a little human sentiment.

Now it seemed that there was no sense of humanity in his body, and he was even more inaccessible.

"William, this is what you did for Vivian, don't you intend to tell her?"

Sure enough, his friend reacted when he heard the name of Vivian, and his calm dark eyes had some fluctuation, but it was more terrible than his expressionless face. Grace was sure that they were in conflict again.

He subconsciously said, "Does she cheat on you?" A strong murderous spirit came towards him. Grace knew that he had said something wrong and said with a laugh, "I'm just joking. Why don't you say a word?"

He felt that he had guessed right. The woman at home had been making love with him yesterday. If he hadn't had a strong waist, he would not have been able to do the work well.

It's not easy to be a man.

“Your company is going out of business.” William, who had been silent for a long time, had a cold tone.

Grace, who was wearing short sleeves and enjoying air conditioning, felt the pores on the back of his hand all stood up. There was a terrible man here and a gossip woman at home.

He had to ask for some actual information to exchange, or he might have to sleep on the sofa at night, “How can it be? If my company goes bankrupt, you, the major shareholder, will cry to death.”

Yes, he ran a company, most of the funds were from his friends, he was just an operator.

Of course, his mind was also indispensable. The projects and investments he chose were very profitable, and those bastards would be relieved to give him money.

Grace absolutely did not want to admit that William was more suitable to be a boss than a lawyer, because his vision was not only spicy, but also his methods were very tricky. Even the experienced guys in the sea of business might not be able to beat him, an old fox.

“When did you start working as a paparazzi?” William didn’t pay attention to Grace. He just took a light look at the picture in the tablet and closed his eyes.

This was the result which he had expected for a long time. It was not today’s event, but other things in the future. Just now that he saw the result he wanted, his mood did not get better, but became much worse.

Isn’t he just saying that he’s a gossip? Grace cried out innocently, “No, I asked Little Red Hat to do it, and soon the people in Angie’s home should come to you.”

Not long after Grace finished speaking, William’s telephone on the table began to vibrate. Grace looked at it, touched his nose and stopped talking.

They talked of the devil and he came. If he knew his words were accurate, he would go to buy a lottery ticket at the door to see if he would win five million yuan.

William didn't avoid Grace. He directly opened the hands-free button. As soon as the phone was connected, Angie was crying.

"William, did you watch TV? My cousin had an accident. He must have been framed. You must help my cousin. William, I beg you."

Grace couldn't help rolling his eyes when listening to the phone. The TV was broadcast live. Angie was still telling lies.

However, the man who he thought was very smart, seemed to really agree with the words of Angie. He said faintly, "Well, I know."

What? What it means? Not only Grace didn't understand, but also Angie, on the other end of the phone, didn't understand.

She didn't know whether he helped or not. She was very angry when she knew that Leo had caused such a big thing. When she wanted to use him, something happened to him. It didn't take long for the TV to broadcast his "wonderful" story.

Then her grandfather called her, forcing her father to rescue the useless bastard. Her father threw the trouble thing to herself directly, and the phone bombing of her mother, aunt, uncle and grandfather.

She could only make a phone call, and everyone was waiting for her answer. She couldn't tell others about this ambiguous answer.

"William, when will you come over? The police must be interrogating and convicting soon."

"If the police have no conclusive evidence, I can arrange a lawyer to help him here." It meant that if Leo really did it, there was nothing he could do.

Grace gave a thumb to his answer. It was very artistic to hear his speech as a lawyer, and his official words was absolutely safe for him.

Angie's face was a little bad. They all knew how bad Leo was. They didn't doubt. Leo must do it. The evidence from the police was ready. Everything was enough for Leo to stay in prison.

Of course, she didn't care about it, but her grandfather couldn't accept it. But when William said this, she could say nothing.

"William, my cousin may have been framed yesterday, and I don't know where the girl came from. Everyone's unwilling to let my cousin go to prison. Can you help him? Such as criminal detention for several days, or a few months."

Grace couldn't help laughing when he heard it. The IQ of Angie was so low. She was the daughter of a director, and Leo raped her. She really had the nerve to say so.

Chapter 234 Cooperation

"His affairs have been known to all, and it is impossible to solve them in private. No matter who is in charge of it, it will be the same result."

William told her the worst result.

Since he let people spread the news, he wouldn't give Leo's family a chance to stand up. Even if Alan wanted to get involved in it, he couldn't suppress such a big thing with his power.

Not to mention that the victim was the director's daughter, Leo would not escape from prison. As long as he went in the prison, Shawn would definitely let his people take special care of him in it.

Angie didn't know that things would be so serious. Leo had done such things before. Basically, he dealt with them with money.

She was also confused when she heard that her grandfather said that what happened this time was not the same and it was not so easy to handle. Then he asked his granddaughter for help.

Now that William had said so, it was impossible for things to change.

“William, is there really no way out?” If Leo couldn’t be rescued, how could she face her severe grandfather? Leo was really a fool. He dared to do that without asking about the background of others.

This time he’s on the iron plate.

William said ‘yes’ as an answer.

“William, I’ll go and ask about the details first. I’ll call you later.” In Angie’s heart, William was not to blame. However, it was Leo who made himself in trouble and the news went live. Now it was so difficult to handle this.

After hanging up the phone, Grace couldn’t help saying, “Is this woman’s brain is as big as walnut? She really treats you as an omnipotent God.”

William didn’t care at all. He put the newly purchased phone aside and wrote and corrected the documents again.

...” Grace saw William, who was already abnormal. He had regarded him as the nonexistent air. If he stayed there, he was either mad or driven mad by his friends.

Well, he was a man that he couldn’t provoked.

“Well, I’ll take a look at the rest.” On the one hand, Grace was worried about the Little Red Hat, who might be a bottom at any time. On the other hand, he couldn’t stand the constant cold from his friends.

This office was about to turn into a big ice cellar.

When Grace was about to turn around, he suddenly said indifferently, “Six-ears has got the support of Daniel.” “Really?” Grace stopped and said, “When did Six-ears catch up with Daniel? Didn’t he have no way to go?” He had let someone to pay attention to it but he didn’t receive the news. William was always faster than them.

William’s face didn’t change, but his deep dark eyes went dark. The deep voice made Grace difficult to distinguish his real ideas, “Six-ears designed a trap and he found Daisy.”

“Even if we find that naughty lady, Daniel can’t be unaware of Six-ear’s intention.” Finding Daisy was indeed a good breakthrough, but Daniel was not a fool.

“As long as a person is cruel enough to himself, everything will happen. In order to get close to Daniel, Six-ears is not only injured, but his left face is probably disfigured.”

The purpose of choosing the left face was to cover up the scar of shame. Does he think that he can wash away everything in the past if he covered it up? That was impossible.

Even if the centipede scar was not there, it would be imprinted on the heart of Six-ears like a permanent.

“Six-ears is really a cruel role. I will let my people pay more attention to him.” Grace also became serious. In order to achieve the goal, he dared to hurt himself. He was a very terrible existence.

He had been ruthless to himself, not to mention the enemy.

“No, go and tell Jack about it first.” He had other plans.

Grace thought for a moment and said, “Jack? He was not favored, wasn’t he?”

Daniel was the leader of his family now, and Daisy was the favorite of all. As for Jack, although his surname was the same as theirs, he was an illegitimate child. He had been ignored for a long time. He could only live on his own outside. He had opened a magazine on the top floor of the Imperial Building. He still earned a good living.

But compared with the rich, it was still a thousand miles away between them.

“It’s time.” William’s dark eyes flashed slightly and he said the secret language that Grace didn’t understand.

“Even if Jack belongs to Daniel’s family, he can’t fight against him.” Daniel’s ruthlessness was obvious. He didn’t care about anyone talking about him, and there were few people talking about him behind his back.

In this city, Daniel’s family was so powerful that no one could defeat it.

He didn’t know why his friend let Jack, who had no real power, get involved in this matter, but he knew that his friend would make this decision for his reasons.

“Jack was not incompetent. He’s a man who knows how to hide his talent and keep a low profile. He just needs a chance.” A long time ago, William and Jack met each other in secret several times.

Jack was not incompetent. He just hid himself very deeply. He was just a member of the magazine, which made Daniel’s family feel that he was nothing and reduce their vigilance.

“It sounds reasonable. But it’s unrealistic for Jack to deal with his whole family.” Grace was still a little uneasy. Jack had the ability. But they couldn’t make any mistakes in this mission.

It’s better to be careful to let people in on the way.

William understood Grace’s consideration, “Although Jack’s mother was gone, but his old man is still alive. As long as he does not die, the leader of Daniel’s family may be replaced at any time.”

“William, do you mean Jack wants to take power?” There was a touch of light in Grace’s eyes, if Jack wanted to take the power, it was possible to cooperate with them.

William’s slender fingers beat regularly on the smooth table top, sending out bursts of “thumping” sounds.

For a long time, he said slowly, “No, he wants revenge.” Revenge for his poor mother.

Jack's mother was not willing to be a mistress of her man. At that time, because Jack's mother looked like his first love, he forced her to give birth to a child.

If he had not investigated their relationship, he would not have believed that Jack wanted to take revenge on Daniel's family.

From Jack's current behavior, he could be sure that the hatred in Jack's eyes was real.

"Why?" Grace didn't understand.

"You don't have to worry about other things. You just need to contact Jack." William did not give more explanation. This was the agreement between him and Jack.

Grace nodded and didn't ask more.

Chapter 235 No shame without clothes

At the moment, Vivian was not discharged from the hospital and she was packing things for Roe. Selina also came to join in the fun. She was watching TV. All of a sudden, all the channels broadcast one news.

She gave a careful look at the screen title, her eyes almost went round, "Vivian, did you see that?"

God, that shameless thing was on TV. Isn't he Leo?

Vivian followed Selina's eyes and found Leo, who was being sent to the car. She was a little shocked, "What's going on here?" "Come and have a look." Selina quickly asked Vivian to come.

"Mom, why is that uncle undressed? Didn't he feel ashamed?" Roe also saw this scene in the ward.

Vivian was embarrassed and didn't know how to answer.

Selina directly answered, "Honey, he is a bad guy. Do not look at it, or you will have an eye disease."

“Oh.” Roe seemed to understand and nodded. The teacher said that men and women couldn’t get too close to each other, and they couldn’t let him or her see their own shy parts. Should they close their eyes?

But why does aunt watch TV so seriously?

Selina increased the voice in the TV, and the voice of the reporter also clearly passed out, “It has been confirmed that the biggest century scandal in the history of the city, Leo, the suspect, is the only son of Madison, the boss of the construction company. His grandfather’s status is prominent, and he often bullies men and women.”

“Last night, he took a group of friends to play in the nightclub and added medicine to a young girl. Now the girl has been sent to the hospital for examination. The girl’s identity is suspected to be the only daughter of a certain director.” “The specific situation needs to be investigated, and we will continue to follow the broadcast.”

After hearing this, Selina couldn’t help saying, “God, Leo is really brave, and he dared to do this to the director’s daughter. He’s better to be sent in the prison by William at the beginning, and there won’t be such a big incident.”

When she finished saying, she seemed to feel something wrong and added, “Shit, I really doubt that whether this is William’s trap.”

William had said that he would not let Leo go so easily. He was sent in prison again just a few days after he had nothing to do, and this time, no one was able to protect him.

This method was really cruel enough, Leo absolutely had no possibility of standing up again.

Can it be William? But she felt that her idea was a little ridiculous. He could let Leo go for Angie, but how could he be willing to make her sad?

Leo himself was a piece of shit. It was only a matter of time before such a result.

Selina saw that Vivian didn't speak for a long time. She still folded the quilt and cleaned up her clothes. She asked unexpectedly, "Vivian, don't you want to say anything?"

"No." Vivian did not change her plain tone, and she folded the quilt flat on the head of the bed.

Selina was tongue tied for a moment. Yes, what did she want to say? Moved by what William has done? Still want Vivian to give William a chance? Whether this thing was done by William remained to be investigated, it was just one of the rare things that William did.

She didn't mean to speak for William.

She could only say, "Well, it's also a matter of time for this bastard to be sent in the jail. It's a shame with which everyone will be happy. How about going to celebrate in the evening?"

"No, Roe should go to bed on time." She wanted to accompany Roe now, she must stare at him to eat and sleep on time.

Roe pitifully looked at Selina, he also wanted to go out to play.

Selina received his watery big eyes and immediately said, "Vivian, you haven't gone out with Roe for a long time. Besides, I'm here, nothing will happen. Do you really want to refuse the lovely boy?"

With that, she pushed the little cute twinkling boy with tears to Vivian.

Vivian looked at him and Selina amusedly. She couldn't bear to make him disappointed, but she was worried about his health, so she had to compromise, "It's ok to go out, but you can't come back late."

The next second, Roe, who was pathetic, immediately became smiling. He said happily, "Hurray! My mother is the best. I love you!"

Selina gently pinched his small face and pretended to be envious, "You little apple polisher." "My aunt is very nice, too." Roe quickly comforted Selina. His big bright eyes were even brighter than the stars in the night sky.

Selina felt that his heart was about to melt. Oh, it was a critical blow.

"Honey, can I wait for you to marry me when you grow up?"

She could throw away that bastard, and wait for Roe to grow up. For such a cute thing, she was willing to wait for a decade.

Vivian listened to her friend's heroic words. She was almost choked by her own saliva, "Come on!"

Roe was still a child less than four years old. It was immoral to destroy flowers.

Selina snorted, ignoring the jokes of her friend. She blinked her charming eyes and looked at Roe's handsome and lovely steamed bun face.

Anyway, she was also a big beauty. Handsome men would rush up as long as she hooked her fingers.

It was a perfect match for domineering lady with young cute man.

Roe frowned and thought seriously. He once again made Selina covered her chest and sigh. His serious look was also very cute.

"Auntie, although we are not related by blood, I think we should be cautious. I don't think we are suitable."

..." A clearly little cute angel carefully said 'no', she was afraid of hurting her heart.

Although Roe was only less than four years old, she had a feeling of being treated with tenderness. The girl's heart burst to the point of direct explosion.

“Roe, if I’m ten years younger, I will marry you.” He made her feel so warm. He was much better than those men.

“Well, stop teasing him.” Vivian took a look at Roe. Roe looked like William on his appearance. Fortunately, Roe was not as indifferent as he was.

Chapter 236 Take “risks”

Selina now became Roe’s crazy fan girl. Her eyes were shining and she looked at him, “Honey, where do you want to go?” “I want to go out alone with auntie.” Roe was very shy, before bowing his head, he blinked at her.

Selina was a little surprised, he just refused her, now he suddenly wanted to date alone, and he didn’t even want to go with his mother, “Honey, you want to go out with me alone?”

Roe hesitated for a moment, and quickly nodded with his small head, “Yes.”

Vivian was also puzzled. Roe wanted to go out with Selina alone and left his mother behind.

Selina, who did not understand, suddenly realized what Roe meant. But if she went out alone, she had to bear a lot of “risks.” “Roe, why don’t we wait for the next time?”

“Oh...” Roe’s voice was obviously a little lost.

Vivian’s eyes were even more confused. She touched his little head and asked, “What’s the matter, Roe, where do you want to go? Auntie has no time. I can go with you.”

Selina couldn’t help answering in her heart, “Your baby son wants to see his father.”

She knew what Roe meant, so she didn’t agree immediately. It was a tense moment. If William found out Roe, she would die in front of Vivian.

“No, I just remember the last time auntie said she wanted to take me...” Roe said half, and looked at Selina, hesitated to finish his words.

Selina was a little nervous, her face immediately changed into an exaggerated smile and she pinched his small face.

With a tone that could only be understood by them, she said, “Oh, I’ve thought about it for a while, didn’t you want that book last time? I’ll take you to buy it today.”

“Auntie, sorry to trouble you.” Roe laughed. He had an innocent face.

“It’s ok.” Selina was a little stiff with a smile. She was almost crying. There was no such a bad child. Last time, she secretly took Roe to KTV without telling Vivian. It didn’t look like a big thing.

But for Roe’s health, it was a bit bad for him. Fortunately, Roe was in good health at that time. However, if it was known by Vivian, she would definitely get a roar and the possibility of breaking up friendship.

Vivian couldn’t understand the riddle between them. She asked suspiciously, “Have you hidden something from me? What books do you want to buy? I can go with you.”

She felt that they were conspiring something, and they were not willing to let her know.

“No.” They answered in unison, looked at each other again, and couldn’t help laughing.

Seeing this, Vivian could only shake her head helplessly, “You can go out, but you should go back before six o’clock. Don’t forget that we’ll have dinner with uncle John today.”

“Yes, mom.” Roe answered obediently.

Selina did not forget to say, “Don’t forget, I will go too.”

Having a meal, plus some gossip, by the way for the observation of the living environment for Vivian and so on.

“I see. I’ll go to the supermarket to buy vegetables.” Vivian also packed up her things.

Selina held Roe’s hand and was ready to go out, and the door of the ward was pushed open. John, a slender figure, happened to come in and almost hit Roe. Fortunately, he reacted quickly and reached out and held him in his arms directly to avoid being hit.

John looked at him with gentle eyes and smiled, “Roe, are you ok?”

“Yes, thank you, uncle John.” Roe replied politely.

Selina was a little stunned. For a moment, she felt that John was like a martial artist, but it should be possible. John just refined in manner.

It might be that he often exercised, so he looked more powerful than ordinary men. She should be dazzled.

“Well, I’ll go out with Roe, and please take care of Vivian.” Selina gave him a look and signaled John not to thank her much. And she hugged Roe from his arms.

John was stunned for a second, then he understood the intention of Selina’s words. With a trace of thanks in his eyes, he said, “Let the driver give you a ride.”

“No, no, I can drive very fast. See you later.” Selina left a few words, held Roe and left.

There were only two people left in the ward.

In order to avoid embarrassment, Vivian took the initiative to say, “I’m sorry to trouble you. In fact, you don’t have to come so early. I’ll go shopping for vegetables later. I’ll call you when I get back.”

“It’s OK. I just came here in advance with nothing to do.” John smiled at Vivian. In fact, he put off several important meetings, and he couldn’t wait to come here. Moreover, the decision was worth it.

And he could accompany her to the supermarket.

“Well, let’s go, too.” Vivian finished the discharge procedures in the morning, and now she was ready to follow him with her small luggage bag.

John reached out to lift her luggage bag for her and said naturally, “OK, let’s go to the supermarket first and then go home.”

Vivian wanted to take back her luggage bag, and then looked at John’s serious expression. If she did, he would be bad, so she simply nodded at his meaning.

Selina held Roe out of the hospital, and said, “Honey, you really want to find him? If you say in advance, I can prepare for it.” “Aunt, I want to go.” Roe stretched out his hand and patted the small backpack on his back and said, “I brought everything.” Selina couldn’t help but say, “You’ve been ready for it.”

Did this little guy plan to let her find William early? He was too smart and terrible.

Roe said with a sad childish voice, “Auntie, I’m going to leave soon, maybe I will never come back...”

This made Selina speechless, and her heart was a little sad. William was a bad man, but she couldn’t hide the fact that he was Roe’s father. In addition, Roe might never come back.

There was nothing wrong to meet William for the last time.

She sighed, “Well, I know how to do it. Let me think about how to date that guy.”

It was too abrupt. With William’s keen sense, it would certainly be seen through. But what excuse can she looking for? They didn’t know each other well. What about asking Grace for help? It seemed that it was not suitable.

Roe had already thought of a good excuse, “Auntie, you don’t have to think about it. I’ll call him directly and make an appointment.”

Chapter 237 Blind eyes

“Really? It’s so easy.” Selina didn’t believe it. According to the rumor, it was more difficult to see William than to ascend to heaven.

Now, William was not the little-known lawyer in the past. He was regarded as a sweet cake in other people’s eyes. Although she still couldn’t understand how William did that.

He was like a dusty pearl of the night and was washed away the dust bit by bit. Then it showed a dazzling light and made everyone’s eyes blind.

William was deeper than the sea. He had been hidden for such a long time and exposed a little bit. However, it was estimated that he had not been fully exposed.

Roe saw that Selina suddenly stopped talking and started to think of things. He couldn’t help but stretch out his white tender small hand, shook in front of her a few times, “Auntie, what are you thinking about?”

Selina found that she was wandering, so she quickly cleaned up his mind and pretended to be OK and asked, “Nothing, Roe, don’t you have a way? Tell me what to do.”

“It’s very simple. I called him last time. He said that I can find him if I met something.” Roe blinked his big eyes and answered naturally.

Selina couldn’t help but sniff. It was so simple. They were father and son, and they were born with an unspeakable attraction.

She opened the door directly, pushed him into the seat and said, “Well, OK, you can call him. Do you want a mobile phone?”

Roe look at Selina, as if he was saying ‘auntie, you are stupid’, “No, I have a phone.”

.” Selina refused to speak, and gave a hurt look to him. She closed the door. No, she had to stand outside to slow down, or her blood pressure would rise to 180.

Roe shrugged his shoulders and took out a mobile phone from his backpack. He found out William's number and dialed it. He sat on the chair in a proper manner, waiting for the phone to be connected.

The phone rang for a long time before it was picked up.

"Pudding?" William's deep and honest voice came from the other end of the phone. In fact, William was surprised to see the number of the caller ID, and the cute and proud big-haired suddenly appeared in his mind.

He felt a little better. He suddenly thought of this little guy's parents, who seemed to be fighting last time. Is he wronged again? When he reacted, he had already connected the phone.

"Uncle William, are you busy now?" Roe asked in a direct way.

John took a look at the important document in his hand, reached out to cover it gently, and replied with the same look, "Well, I'm free."

"Can we see each other? How about the KFC in the downtown?" Roe said, his little hand nervously grasped his mobile phone, and he was deeply afraid that William refused him.

William, at the other end of the phone, did not immediately agree, but said, "Where are you? I'll pick you up."

It was OK to meet him, but he had to pick him up. The little guy is only five years old, isn't he? It was easy to have an accident on his own.

"Uncle, you don't have to come. I'll take a taxi. Let's talk about it when we arrive. Goodbye, uncle, see you later." Before William refused, he hung up the phone and took a long breath with his small chest.

Dad had promised to meet him.

Thinking that William said he would come to pick him up, his ruddy little lips couldn't help rising a little.

Just as Selina opened the door and came in, she saw the smile on his face, and she leaned over and leaned against his side, and asked, "Honey, what's so happy about? Share it with me."

Roe immediately withdrew his smile, and his eyes dodged and flashed. He just didn't look at Selina. He pretended to be serious and said, "Auntie, he has promised to meet. You can send me to KFC downtown."

"Don't you want me to go with you?" Selina thought it was inappropriate. If she was there, William might ask some tricky questions.

Roe took out that explosive wig from his backpack and shook his head, "No, I won't stay too long."

Selina didn't say anything else. She reached out and tidied up his hair cover. She suddenly remembered an important thing.

"Roe, we have to go back. I didn't bring a cosmetic bag today."

She came to the hospital today, but she didn't know he needed make-up.

"It's OK, aunt. I've got it." It was like a magician. He took out an eyebrow pencil and a puff cake from his backpack.

Selina didn't immediately take the eyebrow pencil and the puff cake. Instead, she took his little backpack and shook it. There were several snacks in it, and there was nothing else. She still thought it amazing and said, "Roe, your schoolbag can be retractable, right?"

The explosive wig had made her surprised. He could still pack so many small things. The most important thing was that he could tell the eyebrow pencil and the puff cake at a very young age. She knew about them when she was twenty.

"No, the wig is very soft. It can be put down. Just put it in order." Roe answered.

Selina suddenly remembered her habit of littering things and touched her nose unnaturally. She was not as careful as a four-year-old child. She was ashamed to say it.

“Well, you’re really a good boy.” Selina powdered on Roe’s face, pointed a black mole and nodded with satisfaction, “Well, it’s perfect.”

“Auntie, let’s hurry up.” Roe also had a strong sense of time. He still remembered that KFC was very close to the office when he went to see his father last time.

“I know, I know.” Selina had to start the car, let the restless little guy sit well and tie the safety belt.

The hospital was still a long way from the city. There were only a few red lights along the way, and she still drove for 20 minutes.

Selina didn’t dare to drive the car too close. She put Roe down at the corner and told him to be careful of the crowd. If there was anything, she let him call her and she would walk around first.

Roe noted down all of them. He untied his seat belt, jumped out of the car, waved his small short hand, carried his small schoolbag and walked towards the appointed place.

Selina looked at his back with mixed feelings. If William didn’t stay with Angie, Roe could also have a complete family.

But she didn’t know whether he was bewitched, and he must be with that hypocritical woman.

He really had a clever mind but blind eyes.

Chapter 238 the melting of the iceberg

As soon as Roe entered, following the direction that many people scanned from time to time, he saw William’s eye-catching figure sitting by the window. He subconsciously raised his hand to trim his hair and check his clothes to make sure that there were no flaws.

Then he took a deep breath and walked towards him.

“Uncle, sorry to keep you waiting.” “It’s ok.”

William said, his dark eyes were staring at Roe's cute face. He remembered that his face was not so white last time. Was it because he was influenced by his irresponsible parents recently?

Roe could not bear William's eyes, and even the thick pancake could not cover up the little red blush on his face, "Uncle William, am I disturbing you?"

"No." William took back his eyes, and the intermittent comments made him frown unconsciously. He didn't like noisy places. If it wasn't for waiting for this little guy, he would never come to such a place.

"Wow, that man is so handsome." "That little guy can't be his son, is he? He's got a personality. They're too cute standing together." "That's right. Their faces are similar. My heart can't stand it."

Do they look alike? Because of an unconscious discussion next to him, he glanced at his white and tender face with his black dark eyes, and he also looked at himself with clear eyes.

It's rare to see such a bold child.

The room was full of fried chicken and hamburger smell, Roe, who was hungry for a long time, touched his plump little bully and said pitifully, "Uncle, I'm hungry."

Anyway, the "heartbreaker" was his father. It was not too much to pay for a KFC for him.

William thought Pudding came out hungry. He could not help but denounce his bad parents. He asked mildly, "Well, I'll take you to have dinner."

In William's eyes, the food in KFC was classified as junk food, and it was not suitable for a growing child.

"Uncle William, I'd like to have chips and roast chicken wings." Roe blinked his curly eyelashes like a leaf fan and said with a childish voice.

If he didn't eat KFC, what else can he do? His mother had been strict recently. If his aunt took it secretly, it would be confiscated.

He hadn't eaten chips for a long time.

How pathetic he was!

"These are not suitable for you. I'll take you out to have dinner." William still disagreed. He still had a lot of things to do, but he couldn't help but put down everything and run to the place he didn't like most because of a child.

It was a challenge for him.

"Uncle, I'm hungry..." Roe said and his mouth became flat, that pair of speaking eyes also showed a layer of fog.

William looked at Roe's eyes, which looked like Vivian's. He was lost for a second. He didn't know why he saw the shadow of Vivian from a child who had nothing to do with her.

"Are you really five years old this year?" He didn't know why he wanted to ask this question, but he seemed to have an idea in his heart to let him do so.

Roe couldn't help touching his ears, and the other hand just stretched out to draw in front of William, "Yes, I'm five years old." William looked at his movements, and his cold dark eyes couldn't help getting darker. Why are the small actions of lying also like hers? Everyone had specific actions that they had not found.

For example, Vivian would touch the earlobe when lying, or blink several times when she was guilty.

Suddenly, he realized that he had been thinking about the woman who had given her arms to other men, and his face became worse.

Roe was watching William's emotional changes repeatedly. His intuition told him that it was absolutely not a good thing. He said with a soft voice, "Uncle William, can't I?"

William was rarely in a daze, he was staring at his innocent small face for a few seconds, and said, "No, what do you want to eat?"

Roe quickly replied with a loud voice, "Children's meal."

.” William glanced at the long queue of counters, and immediately decided to take him away, and let his secretary come to buy

“Let's go. Someone will deliver it later.”

William naturally held his little hand and went out.

“Where are we going?” Roe's ears were red. Even if William slowed down, he could barely follow his pace.

Before William took a few steps, he was acutely aware that the boy was breathing heavily. As soon as he released his hand, he squatted down directly. In Roe's surprised eyes, he took him in his arms and walked out.

William had no reaction, but Roe, who knew everything, began to pump in his heart. His face turned red quickly. His arrogant posture lasted less than three seconds, and he let his head down on William's shoulder.

He absolutely didn't want to be close to him. He was just worried that he would fall down.

When Roe's smooth skin was close to his neck, William paused for a few seconds. Then, as if nothing had happened, he took him to his office.

Selina, who was hiding in the coffee shop opposite the corner, ate the cake leisurely. She still thought that when she went to pick up Roe, she would buy a piece of cake for him. Inadvertently looking out of the window, she spat out a mouthful of coffee directly, and her eyes almost popped out of her eyes.

As if she was worried about whether her eyes began to go wrong at a young age, she couldn't help but rub her eyes with her hands. At a close look, the two figures were William and Roe.

It's real.

She couldn't help saying, "Damn it, when is William holding Roe? Where is he going?"

Selina wanted to call Roe in a panic. She took out half of his mobile phone and put it back. She said to herself, "No, I can't call Roe now. No, it's not right. William knows that I'm Roe's cousin, but it seems inappropriate now."

What should I do? She was worried.

Roe also seemed to see Selina scratching her ears and cheek. His eyes carefully glanced at William in front of him. He carefully made a safety gesture in the direction of Selina.

Seeing Roe's safety gesture, Selina showed a smile that was worse than crying. It was over. If Vivian knew that William took Roe away, she would surely kill her.

She shouldn't be so adventurous. She could only wait here for two hours. This was the time she and Roe had agreed on. After two hours, she would go up to rescue the 'hostage'.

She hoped Roe could be clever, and not be found by William.

Chapter 239 Not bad

Returning to William's office again, Roe was not as rigid as the first time.

However, a group of busy lawyers outside the door saw their great and callous lawyer, William, with a soft face, and a small explosive head full of personality coming in, and one by one, their mouth was as big as an egg.

Some people couldn't control their emotions, covering their mouths and exclaiming.

Oh, my God, the sun rose from the west. William had such a warm expression. Is this the end of the world? After William and Roe entered the office, everyone began to gossip.

They were chattering and not like rigorous and meticulous lawyers at all, but a pile of gossip reporters.

“Did you see the expression of William just now? It’s like the melting of icebergs for thousands of years, and the flowers are blooming in an instant.”

“I saw it, too. But William was so handsome when he laughed. ”

“Don’t you notice the point?! William came in with a child in his arms. He was so kind because of the child. ”

The speaker wanted to take out a pointer, and beat the blackboard to tell everyone that this problem would be a test in the future.

“Child... Is he the son of William?”

“Don’t talk nonsense. If William has such a son, I’ll jump down from the 19th floor.” There was a loyal fan of William, with a look of desperation.

All the people around her ignored her. If she jumped down from the 19th floor, she would be smashed into pieces.

“I don’t believe it. If William has such a big son, Angie will be crazy. Maybe he was just a friend’s child.”

“Yes, I seem to remember that little boy, was, eh...” The woman who spoke couldn’t remember it for a moment, but she had a deep memory of the big-haired.

Ordinary children had the common hairstyle, but the child impressed her.

“Don’t make a wild guess. That child is Selina’s cousin.” Layla directly came out to refute the rumors. She was also there that day, so she knew a little about the child.

As soon as Layla said this, they were not discussing it. But they were still saying something that had nothing to do with it.

Then Alex came out of the office and said to them, "Don't forget what William said. The office is not an entertainment place.

When you go to work, you should do your own job well. No one will care what you want to say after work."

Then they began to do their own work. After all, William's sacred image still remained in their hearts.

Layla returned to her office with a melancholy sigh. She hadn't seen Vivian for a long time. Even Selina didn't go to work upstairs, as if neither of them had ever appeared.

In addition to her, no one else mentioned that name. Even Amy was slowly getting through. If Vivian came back to work now, she would certainly be troubled.

In the office, William pressed a call button on the landline, said a few words and hung up and went to the sofa to sit down.

Roe, who looked around, sat honestly.

"Didn't your parents know you come out alone?" William thought that he was carrying a bag on his back and ran out alone, which was likely to be abducted and sold by others, or something unexpected happened to him. His heart felt extremely upset.

At the same time, he was very angry. How could there be such irresponsible parents in the world? They didn't even know their children were lost.

"Well, I came straight by taxi." This was his first time to lie. His voice was a little low.

But in the ears of William, he looked like a homeless little elk. His cold voice lowered a lot, "They quarrel again."

Roe first nodded, then shook his head violently, frowned and said plaintively, "They are completely separated. I think I will leave with my mother soon."

It was not a lie. He had a little hope in his heart, but now it seemed that it was really impossible, so he wanted to make a final farewell.

William's eyebrows frowned, it seemed that he had been dissatisfied extremely to his parents, but his was not meddlesome, "Since you are ready to go out with your mother, don't run around."

He didn't know why when he heard that the little boy wanted to leave with his mother, and he became gloomier, as if something in his heart was missing.

"I know. I'll go back later. I just want to say goodbye to you." Roe said with some grievances.

William's heart was softened by the tone of accusation. He wanted to touch his small head, he suddenly felt that it was not suitable. He had to give up, "You can come back and find me again."

He thought that the little boy was just going out with his mother for relaxation and would come back after a while.

Roe couldn't help but look up at him and said in a sad voice, "Uncle, you don't understand. My father really hurt my mother. She may never come back again."

Don't you ever come back? William's heart trembled, and his unspeakable emotion spread in his heart. Vivian also resolutely told him that she would leave here soon.

In her eyes, he was a cold-blooded and merciless devil. That's all. Only John was her ideal lover.

William quickly cleared his mind and asked, "Don't you want them to separate?"

“Of course not, but I think it’s better for them to separate.” Roe said, and also looked at William with blame. His small mouth pouted and was about to be able to hang a small teapot, “Dad now has a new girlfriend, and he doesn’t care about mother and hurt her, I do not want such a father.”

He didn’t know about the relationship between his parents, so he couldn’t give a comment. However, the man was really irresponsible, leaving a lovely and sensible child and looking for other women. He was indeed a jerk.

William didn’t know that the person he scolded was himself, “Is he not good to you?”

Apart from other things, the feelings of a father towards his children were always real.

Speaking of this, Roe was even more aggrieved. You are my father. Don’t you know it in your heart? Unfortunately, he couldn’t say anything, “I don’t know if he’s good, but I don’t think he’s too bad.”

It was not too bad from the feeling of meeting twice.

Chapter 240 The smell of dad

William frowned harder. There were really men in the world who were not as good as wild animals. He was not worthy of being a father, and he was not qualified to be a responsible husband.

He couldn’t help but sympathize with his mother whom he never met. The woman brought up her child alone, her husband was still the kind of man who didn’t care his family.

Looking at that white tender small face, he didn’t know why there was a kind of affection mood in the heart unexpectedly, “When will you leave?”

“In a week.” Roe looked at his toes with lost eyes. For a moment, he thought his father would touch his head.

But he didn’t.

At this time, there was a knock outside the door. Alex brought KFC's takeout. He saw their cruel lawyer sitting with a very small child. The atmosphere between them seemed extremely harmonious. At first glance, there was a sense of harmony between father and son.

Alex was startled by the idea in his heart. He still put the bag on the table dutifully and said, "William, the food is here." "Well, you can go out." When William faced Alex, he immediately turned back to the cold man.

It really let Alex have an impulse to tears. He still remembered that when the office was just started, he worked hard to follow him. Now he was even treated not as good as a child.

He was sad. He had to go out for a while.

With a click, the door of the office was gently closed.

William said to Roe, his voice unconsciously softened a lot, "Eat it."

"Well, thank you, uncle." Roe looked at the food all over the table and there was starlight in his eyes. Wow, many of them were forbidden by his mother. They were also the delicious food that he had thought about for a long time.

William clearly knew Roe was very hungry, but he was very cultured in eating. He didn't gorge on the food he liked. It seemed that his mother had educated him well.

He quietly watched Pudding eating KFC with a satisfied look on his face.

Although Roe wanted to eat more, he didn't dare to eat anymore when he thought of his physical condition. However, he was full after eating a little. He looked at the delicious food that hadn't been eaten much.

He couldn't help turning to look at the man who was taking a sip of coffee, he asked with soft voice, "Uncle, don't you want to eat? This is very delicious."

“Well, I don’t eat it.” He didn’t like this fried junk food very much. Unlike someone who liked it too.

William felt a little depressed. This little boy today had made him think of Vivian for several times. The person who left was her.

Why does he still think about the little woman without sensibilities?

Roe didn’t know what William was thinking about. He says sadly, “Well, uncle William, can I pack it back?”

His mother said that it was a shame to waste food. It was so wasteful to throw away these things if he couldn’t finish them. It was better for him to take them back.

“Are you going back?” William loosened his eyebrows and looked at him.

Roe naturally nodded, “Yes, it’s very late. I have to go back, or my mother will worry.”

“Well, I’ll take you back.” William was not at ease to let him go back alone, and now it was even more impossible to let him go back alone. There was also a strong impulse in his heart to see what kind of woman Pudding’s mother was.

A woman who could stand such bastard.

“No, no, I have money. I can take a taxi back.” It was kidding. If dad really sent him back, his mother would get mad.

Roe refused, and at the same time classified the food on the table and took it back into the bag bit by bit. It seemed that he had done it many times.

William was only five years old, but he was mature beyond his age. He was sensible and clever, and he knew etiquette very well.

What kind of environment can cultivate such a smart child?

“You’re not safe on your own. I’ll take you back.” By the way, he could help him to teach his father a lesson.

Roe quickly shook his head and said pitifully, “Uncle, I can go back by myself. I run out secretly. If my mother knows, she will be unhappy.”

“It’s OK. I’ll explain it to her.” William insisted.

“Uncle, you don’t know my mother. She’s very good at thinking nonsense. Otherwise, I’ll call my aunt to pick me up.” Roe worried that William really wanted to drive him home. He quickly took out the phone and dialed Selina’s phone number.

When William heard that Selina came over, he did not insist.

Selina watched it for more than ten times in five minutes. He had left for almost three hours. When she was about to go crazy, Roe finally called.

Selina hadn’t said a word yet.

Roe was more anxious than her. He said before her and deliberately said loudly, “Aunt, I’m here with Uncle William. Can you come and pick me up?”

Selina soon understood that William was right next to Roi. She responded quickly, “How did you go there? Your mother is dying of anxiety. OK, I’ll come to pick you up.”

Vivian did make a few phone calls and asked them to go back. If she didn’t take Roe back, it was estimated that Vivian would have to kill her.

“Well, I know, aunt.” Roe hung up the phone, smiled to William and said, “Uncle, can you please send me down?” William nodded, stood up from the sofa and helped him carry the bag. “Let’s go.” Roe nodded, “well.”

His father was really tall standing beside him. He didn’t know when he could grow so tall. Time went by so fast that he had to leave. Maybe he would never have a chance to meet again.

Pudding stood in a daze, there was a layer of sadness in his big bright eyes, as if there was something sad bothering him.

William stopped and handed the bag in his hand, "Can you take it?" "Eh? Oh, yes." Roe reacted slowly and took the bag in William's hand.

When he had just taken the bag, his small body suddenly rose into the air, and was once again held up by the tall man beside him.

William did not say anything and went out with him in his arms.

Roe's disappointed eyes become extremely bright. After hesitating for a few seconds, Roe reached out and hugged William's neck. His face looked like a ripe apple on a tree. So lovely.

It was the smell of dad.