Chapter 471 Jealousness

After hanging up the phone, Six-ears hesitated for a while and went with Angie.

In the car, Angie complained, "It's really slow. You've talked so long, and it took me so long to wait for you."

"It's all my fault!" Six-ears chuckled and begged for mercy. He said, "To express my apologies, I'll take you to an interesting place. OK?"

"Where?" Angie said expectantly. She was very interested in his suggestion.

She had always considered herself good at entertainment. She had not been at home for a long time, but she had tried all the interesting places in Jin'an City. However, the places that Six-ears took her to during this time were more exciting and intriguing and were hidden in some secret places that ordinary people could not think of at all.

Six-ears smiled and said, "You will know when we arrive." Finally, they stopped at somewhere underdeveloped.

There were two buildings under construction, which looked dirty and messy, and there were few people except the construction workers.

Angie got out of the car and frowned. She asked, "What the hell is this place? You can't make a mistake, can you?" "Of course not. Greatest genius often lies concealed. Lady, just come with me." Six-ears smiled and walked forward quickly.

Angie had no choice but to follow him.

Wearing a beautiful dress, she was so elegant and incompatible with the surroundings. There were only some rude workers with steel caps around her. It seemed that they had never seen such a charming young lady, so they all looked at Angie.

Angie was scared because she thought the expression in their eyes was disgusting.

She did not feel at ease until she went forward to hold Six-ears's hand.

Six-ears smiled and the scar on his face looked more vivid.

They turned left and right and walked through a slum-like place. Angie did not want to go then.

She simply stopped and said, "Six-ears, what exactly is this place? I don't want to go any further! Let's go back."

"It's not far away. We are coming soon." Six-ears pacified her.

Angie looked at him stubbornly and did not take a step forward.

Suddenly, a girl turned from another alley, wearing a small yellow dress. She was charming and lovely. Like Angie, she was also incompatible with the surroundings.

However, the girl was not angry as Angie. She looked at Six-ears in surprise.

She trotted over, and her eyes were red. She said, "Brother Six-ears, I finally found you. Why didn't you tell me when you left? I... missed you."

Angie felt a little puzzled and looked at the charming young lady. Her arms folded over her chest.

Six-ears frowned and said, "Why are you here?"

Hearing that, Daisy patted her chest proudly and said, "Of course I found the place by myself. Big Brother did not allow me to come to you. He also said that you have something to do, but it doesn't matter. I have my solution. I know you have a good friend here. I wanted to come over and ask if he knows where you are. I didn't expect to meet you directly. It's great!"

Six-ears did not know what to say.

In the beginning, he approached Daisy to find Daniel through her.

He did not expect this girl to be so honest.

“I didn’t expect that you, the little prince of the Shen Family, would demean to come to such a bodyguard. Six-ears, aren’t you touched?”

Angie’s arms folded over her chest, and she said cynically.

She thought she had a good memory, so she definitely knew Daisy.

Although Daniel did not want her to appear publicly too often, Angie, as Alan’s daughter, frequently attended those banquets, and she was very impressed with the beloved daughter of the Shen Family.

It seemed that Daisy did not notice her until now. A woman’s innate sensitivity and hostility made her alert for the first time. She asked, “Who are you? Brother Six-ears, why are you with her?”

“Daisy, you can go back if you have nothing to do. I will go back to you when I have time. Now I have something to do with this lady, so I will go first.” Six-ears hesitated just for a second, and then he realized that he was loyal to Daniel, so he had no choice.

Daisy became sad, and thought that he asked her to leave because he fell in love with another woman.

Angie sneered and said, “Little girl, you look very sad, but don’t get me wrong. I don’t like such a man. I have a fiancé. He is just my bodyguard. Take it easy.”

“Nonsense. Brother Six-ears is so excellent, and he won’t be your bodyguard.” Daisy glared at her and did not allow her to say anything bad about Six-ears.

Six-ears was not disappointed immediately, but he said, “All right. Go back first, Daisy!” “Brother.”

“Go back!” Six-ears said.

Daisy cried out loud.

Since childhood, few people have yelled at her. Because of love from the Shen Family and Daniel, she was the spoiled daughter at home.

Now she finally fell in love with a man, but he even yelled at her because of another woman. She suddenly cried and ran away.

Six-ears turned to Angie and said, "Lady, let's go!"

"Why are you so calm? Your honey is leaving in tears, so why don't you go to comfort her?" Angie raised her eyebrow and asked.

Six-ears smiled and said, "Lady, you've misunderstood."

"Have I? I remembered that she's the beloved daughter of the Shen Family. Marrying her is much better than being a bodyguard.

Don't you want to marry her?" Angie satirized him.

Six-ears suddenly looked at Angie, jokingly and lovingly, "Lady, don't you know what I'm thinking of?"

Angie felt extremely satisfied.

Although she knew she liked William very much, it is always a happy thing for a beautiful woman to be pursued by a man.

She glanced at Six-ears indifferently, but she was not angry and followed Six-ears conformably.

Six-ears sneered secretly.

Ten minutes later.

Angie looked at the small yard suspiciously and asked him, "Is this the interesting place you said?"

“Of course.” Six-ears replied.

“Are you kidding me? A shabby farmhouse?” Angie frowned. Obviously, she was not satisfied.

Six-ears sneered and said, “Just go ahead and you’ll know it’s interesting.”

Then he pushed Angie who wore a pair of high heels and hustled her in the house.

The high threshold on the gate tripped her directly, and she fell embarrassingly on the ground.

“Ah...” Angie grimaced in pain and was about to swear angrily. But when she saw Six-ears’ face, she found that he was sneering.

She always considered him a good person, but he suddenly became evil, which made her feel breathless and scared.

“Six-ears, you...”

“Bro, is this the elder daughter of Alan? She’s not beautiful enough.” A rascally man was clothed in ragged garments came out from the inside. He had a bristly unshaven chin, the expression in his eyes was so fierce that made people shudder.

Angie shivered with fear and suddenly regretted coming here.

Chapter 472 I’ll Teach You

She should have noticed that this place was remote and backward, and there were few residents. How could it be a fun place? She trusted Six-ears too much.

Angie nerved herself, stared at Six-ears, and said, “Six-ears, don’t forget that you are my bodyguard. If I have an accident, my father will never let you go.”

Six-ears and the rascally man, Sam, had been thugs for many years. They could easily find that she was outwardly strong and inwardly weak.

They glanced at each other and laughed out loud.

Six-ears's arms folded over his chest. He said, "Of course, so I will arrange it properly before Alan finds out you are in trouble! As for you..."

"Bro, take it easy. You can do something you want. I'll take over her. I promise to make her obedient." The man said with a smile.

Six-ears took a meaningful look at the Angie and turned away.

Angie felt extremely scared. She opened her eyes widely and did not care about the pain in her feet. She jumped forward and grabbed Six-ears. She said, "No. I don't want to stay here. Take me away. I don't want to stay here."

"Lady Angie, do you look down on me? We'll have a lot of fun here, so don't hurry." Sam seized Angie and dragged her back.

Angie struggled, and her voice was sharp. She said, "Let me go. Let me go! Go away..."

Unfortunately, both Sam and Six-ears did not care about her struggle.

She looked at the closed door hopelessly. She felt increasingly scared and repentant.

What should she do?

The man sneered at Angie, and the fear in her eyes made him very happy.

"Lady, don't worry so much. I won't bully you. Don't you want to have fun? I'll teach you." Sam laughed and said.

The sweat on Angie's face dripped down.

Once left, Six-ears quickly returned to the Alan's house.

"You are coming back so early today. Where is Lady Angie?" A bodyguard who was often on duty with Six-ears said with a smile.

They had followed Alan for so many years. Although they seemed to be ordinary guards, each of them was skillful and had helped Alan a lot. They also knew the temper of Lady Angie.

Seeing that Six-ears was protecting Angie and becoming her specialized mobile shopping companion, everyone sympathized with him.

Six-ears smiled helplessly and said, "Lady Angie had gone to play with friends. She thought I would be in the way, so she asked me to come back first."

The other guards all smiled sympathetically.

Six-ears was not good-looking, and sometimes Lady Angie thought she would be disgraced followed by a bodyguard like him, so she would drive him away on parties.

They had got used to it.

After Six-ears said hello to them, he went inside.

They did not think carefully.

Six-ears looked carefully and found that the female servants were not in the living room, so he quickly went to Alan's study.

He had been to this study several times. Although he had not carefully checked it several times, as a bodyguard, he was keen enough to observe something.

Therefore, he started rummaging quickly.

But Alan was thoughtful.

He could gain such high status prudently, so he would not leave the clues in any obvious places, with which he could be caught.

In half an hour, Six-ears almost rummaged through the whole room and found nothing of value.

Time is money.

In this case, he was getting impatient.

On the other hand, William's case came to trial. With a handsome face and calm aura, William had once again won over court and the jury below.

The case was proceeding in an orderly way.

When Vivian got a call from Ken, she was confused.

Although she had asked Ken as her lawyer regarding the custody case of Roe, may be due to her concern for William, she had always been inactive.

Now Ken suddenly called Vivian. Vivian was puzzled.

But...

"OK, Mr. Ken. I'll be right there." Vivian knew they could not communicate well on the phone, so she agreed and left for his office.

Hanging up the phone, Vivian put on her clothes and went out quickly.

Seeing that, Mrs. Lucia suddenly frowned and asked, "Where are you going? I remembered that William said you will not go out today."

Vivian was slightly distracted and immediately shook her head. She said, "Aunt, I have something important to do. I will come back later. It's OK." "No. You can do it tomorrow. William had told me that you should not go out." Mr. Lucia became angry.

She was not stubborn. She did not know much about what William was doing. But she knew that William would have a definite object. Besides, his grandfather did not agree with him to be a lawyer, but he suddenly turned his attitude then.

Although the reason was not obvious, as a person who had experienced many crooked things, Mrs. Lucia could still find something wrong.

So she naturally did not want Vivian to go out to do something dangerous.

Vivian bite her lips and thought for a while. Then she called William.

Unfortunately, he had turned off his phone.

"William has a court case today. He would not turn on his phone. Don't bother. But the case won't last for too long. So, when William finishes later, I'll contact him. If you have something to do, you can go out with him." Mrs. Lucia pondered for a while and then realized that Vivian maybe had something important to do according to her expression. So she suggested.

Therefore, Vivian could only nod and agree.

But Mrs. Lucia told James about this immediately, who was responsible for the safety here today.

James waved his mobile phone in his hand and said, "Auntie, you may rest assured. I know what to do." "OK." Mrs. Lucia nodded. She trusted them, but...

"James, tell me the truth. What is William doing today? Is there any danger?" Mrs. Lucia felt a little nervous.

James blinked and quickly returned to normal. He shook his head and said, "Don't worry, Auntie. It's no big deal. It's just a court case. It won't be long before William comes back. Just wait, please."

Mrs. Lucia knew he would not spill the beans, so she nodded and said nothing. After a small talk, she left.

Then James called William, but he had not turned on his phone yet.

James sighed and said with mixed feelings, "The old fox is quite fortunate. His son, wife, and mother all care much about him." As for himself, his parents maybe did not know what he was doing until now. Besides, Joe also...

Forget it. He was afraid to go home anyway.

Life is long. When would it go well?

Chapter 473 Nowhere to Go

William received the news from his family as soon as he concluded the trial.

He frowned and said, "Did she say why she is going out?"

"No, but it seems that someone had made her an appointment. William, are you coming back now, or are you going to Joe's?" James curiously asked.

William said in a deep voice, glanced at the extremely crowded court today, and threw a briefcase to Alexander, "Go to the office for the time being, you go and hold Vivian, and do not allow her to leave the manor, even if you have to do it by force, you know?"

"Ok."

After hanging up the phone, Alexander walked forward, "Back to the office?"

“Well, by the way, arrange two cars.” William’s dark eyes looked over, with a somewhat mysterious color.

Alexander was taken aback, almost did not react.

The car roared away, towards the direction of the office.

At the back door of the court, a car with its license plate the same as his car was driving in the other direction.

Daniel sat in the office, and Kevin walked in with great joy.

“Boss, as expected, people at Port 1 and Port 2 are blocking them. The large-scale cargoes that come and go today are being carefully inspected”

“Well, how long will Bob take?” Daniel’s brows eased a little.

Kevin hurriedly said, “He just called and has arrived at the dock. The transfer will take about two hours.”

“Hurry up and pay attention to the transfer.” Daniel lowered his tone and said solemnly.

Kevin nodded immediately and hurried out.

As soon as the door was opened, a figure rushed in, with tears on her face.

“Big brother,” Daisy rushed in, sobbing.

Seeing this, Kevin went out.

Daniel frowned, “What’s the matter?”

“Big brother, I saw brother Six-ears with a woman. He doesn’t like me anymore, so he let me go...” Daisy cried loudly, standing in front of Daniel, begging for comfort.

Daniel frowned, “I told you not to contact him a long time ago. A person like him is not worthy of you, and he has a deep mind.

He is definitely not someone you can hold. Why are you so disobedient?"

"I just like him, and he is worthy of it. As long as we both love each other, these are not problems!" Daisy pouted, righteously said.

Looking at her with complicated eyes, he didn't know whether he should be proud that he brought up such an innocent little princess, or it was ridiculous that the daughter of the Shen Family actually had such a naive idea.

Finally, Daniel said coldly, "It's a pity that he doesn't like you!" "Big brother, you are too much!" The little princess stomped her feet angrily after being unscarred.

Daniel coldly snorted, "From today on, I don't want you to go to Six-ears; otherwise I will help you find a marriage as soon as possible! At that time, no one will tolerate your little temper!"

Daisy was dumbfounded, and it didn't look like he was joking. She stared at Daniel for a long while, seemed to be frightened.

When Daniel saw this, he only thought she might be behaved, and his tone slowed down again, "Daisy, when did your big brother hurt you since you were a child? Six-ears is really not suitable for you. He had a purpose in his mind when he approached you, just forget him."

Daisy pushed him away suddenly, and Daniel was caught off guard, leaning on the desk, and the documents on the desk were scattered.

"Big brother, I hate you, you...what is this?" Daisy's eyes fell on the enlarged document scattered around her feet.

There was a big picture inside, wasn't it just Six-ears?

Daniel's expression changed and he was about to take it away.

Unexpectedly, Daisy's body was much more flexible at this moment, turned around angrily, and put the document in front of her eyes.

Sweeping through ten lines at a glance, she could see the general meaning even if she didn't see clearly.

"Brother, you are crazy!" Daisy couldn't say anything.

When Daniel saw this, he could only conquer his thoughts of wanting to fight, and squinted his eyes and said, "Daisy, there are some things that no one teaches you, but it doesn't mean that they don't exist. Six-ears approached you just because he wanted to meet me. He is a vicious fugitive, do you know what kind of fugitive he is? The one that will be shot once caught!"

"No...impossible!" Daisy couldn't believe it and took two steps back.

Her brother Six-ears was obviously such a good person, how could he...?

Daniel took the documents in her hand, "The last time you saw him injured and hospitalized, it was actually because he was in an accident. As a fugitive who is wanted by the police, I gave him a relatively safe condition, and naturally he has to return it. So what you see is not that I am using him, but that we are using each other, it is a cooperative relationship, understand?"

"No, if he is really a bad person, brother, how can you help him? You are breaking the law!" Daisy's eyes widened and she grabbed Daniel's cuffs. Her eyes were black and white, as if she was talking, "Don't lie to me again."

Daniel stared firmly at her, "Since childhood, have you really never doubted the business dealings of the Shen Family at all?" Daisy shook her head frantically.

Wasn't the Shen Family based on their group? Wasn't it the wealth accumulated over generations?

Now he was telling her that it was actually grey income?

Daisy couldn't accept it, pushed Daniel away and ran out.

Daniel's expression changed, and he wanted to chase her out, but finally held himself back.

He called Kevin over, and ordered, "Let someone follow the eldest lady, and nothing should happen to her."

"Yes!" Kevin hurriedly sent someone.

Unfortunately, when Kevin found someone to go out, Daisy was already in the car and disappeared.

Half an hour later, in a small apartment, Daisy held warm tea in her hands, feeling a little lost.

Jack leaned against the wine rack, and said, "So, you quarreled with the eldest brother, now there is nowhere to go?" "...Hmm." Daisy lowered her head.

A flash of light shined in Jack's eyes.

"If you don't want to go back for the time being, then stay here for a while, his hands can't reach here yet." Jack said.

Daisy was not close to him, but she was not like Daniel, wishing to kill him.

Jack helped her find the relationship between Six-ears and Sam, and because of this, she saw Six-ears. Because of this matter, Daisy was a little closer to him.

"By the way, did you find the brother Six-ears you mentioned earlier?" Jack took a sip of water.

Daisy nodded, her eyes gloomy, "Unfortunately he has someone he likes, and..."

"What?" Jack raised his eyebrows.

Daisy hesitated for a moment, wondering whether to tell him what she saw.

When Jack saw this, he smiled, "Since you don't want to say it, and then forget it. I just watch you hold it in your heart for fear that you will catch a glimpse of the illness."

Chapter 474 Fisherman's Wharf

Because of Jack's words, Daisy's entanglement and hesitation disappeared in an instant, and shook her head, "It's not that I don't want to tell you, but I also find it a bit weird. Big brother... what he said made me confused."

Jack listened respectfully.

Daisy quickly relayed what Daniel had just said to her.

Finally looked at Jack imploringly, "Can you tell me is what my eldest brother said true? Is it true that our Shen Family is really...in some black business?"

Jack's eyes faintly swept across Daisy's face and there's emotion in his heart.

"Daisy, I actually envy you sometimes. "He said sincerely.

Daisy opened her mouth, puzzled.

Then, she heard him say, "You are the only one in the Shen Family who is the purest and least aware of these filthy things." It was like a bolt from a blue sky, shattering the fluke in her heart.

Jack left space for her to settle alone.

In the bathroom, he called William.

"Fisherman's Wharf, it is estimated that the handover will be completed at 12:30, the first switching checkpoint will be in the warehouse at the corner of Yanhe Road and Garden Road." He left this sentence and hung up the phone.

A smile appeared at the corner of William's mouth.

Jack was really reliable!

The car drove towards the Fisherman's Wharf.

At the same time, Six-ears got the things smoothly and rushed towards the Fisherman's Wharf.

The delivery point Daniel arranged for him was just at Fisherman's Wharf. As long as he handed Alan's account book to Daniel's: people today, Daniel would directly arrange someone to send him out to sea with the cargo ship workers and leave the city.

And Angie was a gift he gave to William because he was unwilling to take revenge.

Unfortunately, if time permitted, he still wanted to bring William's son and Vivian.

Twenty minutes later, Bob wiped the sweat from his forehead and subconsciously breathed a sigh of relief as he watched the last batch of goods loaded into the car.

"Bob, it's almost over! The transfer is also arranged." A subordinate came over and said to Bob with joy.

There were not many goods in a single batch, but if you wanted to go through the inspection smoothly, it would naturally be mixed with other goods, so there were several trucks prepared for this place.

The brand was imported daily necessities.

Bob nodded, not knowing why, feeling a little uneasy.

But considering that they had prepared a lot of smoke bombs in advance, he was relieved a lot.

Six-ears came before the last batch of things got on the bus.

“Long time no see, Six-ears.” Bob smiled, and had already received news from Daniel.

Six-ears didn't have a good face, and looked around. When he saw that they were in a hurry to move the goods, a trace of mystery passed through his mind, and before he had time to think of anything, it disappeared.

While feeling anxious, he insisted, “You remember, Mr. Danis told you, where I can get on the boat?” “It must be arranged, but don't worry, some things are not delivered with one hand? What about your things?” Bob sneered.

Six-ears hesitated for a second.

In the end, he took out a small notebook from his pocket. It was really a small book the size of his palm, but it was written all over.

Bab took it in his hand, opened two pages, smiling, and nodded, “It's done, brother Six-ears, you really did a great job.” “Stop talking nonsense, boat!” Six-ears rolled his eyes.

Bob said, “There, that ship, the route will go through most of China, and then directly to the southern tip to ensure you have enough time to leave. Even if you go abroad, there is no problem. And this, Swiss bank card, the boss specially ordered for you!”

The facial expression of Six-ears improved quite a lot.

Daniel was still honest.

William's car was parked in an inconspicuous place, with a headset in his ear.

“Boss, we are here.”

“Roger, I'm here!”

“Take action!”

Under this order, a group of people came from nowhere rushed over quickly and caught them off guard.

Within a few seconds, Bob was pointed at with a gun.

Six-ears reacted quickly, swiftly running towards the boat.

William held a gun in one hand and hit the curve of his leg with a touch.

Six-ears knelt down by the water.

“Take him down!” William narrowed his eyes.

People on the dock looked at such arrogant gunmen in broad daylight, and they were scared.

Bob’s face was pale, and he turned his head to look at William, “You...what do you want to do? In broad daylight, are you robbing goods?”

“Check!” William didn’t even look at him. The people brought by Grace and Joe began to check the goods.

There were too many things, and the number of people they brought was limited. Naturally, they couldn’t check quickly.

Ten minutes later, many people from the police force came to help, which shocked many people.

Alan was naturally among them.

After being worried for a cup of tea time, Alan smiled and watched his colleagues talking about the police station’s big move, squinting without knowing what he was thinking.

At the same time, Daniel also got the news.

“Mr. Shen, William did not go back to the office at all. Only assistant Alexander and another court man went back. We were lost.” The guy over the phone said with guilt, and he was ready to be thrown into the river to feed fishes.

Daniel’s face was cold, and there was a bad hunch in his heart.

In the next second, Kevin walked in anxiously, “Boss, something has happened, and the goods on the dock have been detained.” “Waste, all waste!” Daniel picked up a teacup and threw it at Kevin.

Kevin did not hide, and there was a blood stain on his forehead.

“Boss, what should we do now?” He opened his mouth, even though he knew Daniel was angry now.

Daniel worked hard to calm himself down.

No way!

Calm down, this was just a small thing!

“Now contact the people in the bureau immediately to see how big the trouble is, and if there is still room for salvation. If it is not enough...just give up Bob.” Daniel gritted his teeth.

Kevin had a chill in his heart, and quickly lowered his head, “Yes.”

“Also, hurry up and erase all traces of follow-ups. Make sure they cannot find us, contact the best lawyers in Jinan City, to prevent the Shen Family from being involved.”

Kevin nodded and led the way.

Daniel waited for the others to leave, and punched on the table.

“William!”

The phone rang. It was an unfamiliar number.

Daniel was not in a good mood, but he still picked it up.

The voice of a stranger came out of the phone, “Daniel, you are really disappointed.”

Daniel frowned, “Who are you?”

“Hmm, I guess Mr. Shen must be praying for self-protection now. Uh...it’s a pity!” The man sighed and hung up the phone.

Daniel’s eyes widened, staring at the phone in his hand for a long time, and finally threw it to the floor fiercely, shouting curses!

Chapter 475 His Weakness

Daniel’s barely compressed anger was ignited after he received a call from an unknown man who mocked him.

Then he started thinking about other question after he restored his composure.

How William knew it when they kept it at a secret to distract William and his fellow men. Most of the men who got involved were unfamiliar to him, except for Bob and Kevin.

He suddenly thought of the word traitor.

Daniel gritted and was determined to find out who the traitor was.

In the car, William was looking through the booklet with a snigger on his face.

“Finally, I got the evidences without much effort. I can have a rest for a few days.” Joe leaned backward, stretching his arms.

William narrowed his eyes, “This is just a start!”

“What do you mean?” Joe sat straight as he heard what William just said.

William threw the booklet at him, “It’s not enough to overthrow Alan.”

Kevin didn’t check it well. It was a scattered record of the mistakes Alan had made when he was on duty. But they had been hidden for a long time.

Even if it was present in the court, it was far from enough. And they would find it incomplete if they decided to make an investigation about it.

Most likely, he would only be suspended for a period of time.

“So we spent so much effort on something useless?” Joe opened his eyes wide as he looked through the booklet.

William squinted and cast a glance at the booklet.

His brain was running quickly.

“Now you go and keep Six-ear under our men’s supervision, and ask him where did he put the thing he obtained from Alan.” William said in a low voice.

“There’s something else?” Grace, who had been quiet before, suddenly cast William a surprised glance.

William nodded, "I'm pretty sure about it."

"So what should we do now? We just let him go and allow him to be prepared?" Grace asked.

William shook his head, "Go to the police station first."

Let him go? Impossible!

He had finally found the protector of the Shen Family. If he could not root them out this time, there would soon be another Shen Family if this one fell.

Daniel was never his only target.

Half an hour later, William left the police station with a somber face.

The chief of the police stood behind him, smiling coyly. He wiped the sweat on his forehead and was frightened.

He was just a chief of this city's police bureau. He could not afford the consequences of offending these moguls.

"William? Why are you here?" Alan walked towards William. He seemed surprised when he saw William.

William put on a cold smile and narrowed his eyes at Alan.

There was sadness in Alan's eyes. "You came at the right time. I had intended to lie to you. But it's better if you know of this.

Angie... She is missing."

William said, "You should call the police before it's too late." "You..." Alan frowned, "William, I know there are misunderstandings between Angie and you. But you too are sworn to each other. She's your fiancée now. Aren't you being too cruel to her? She has been missing you so much that she barely eats!"

“You must have made a mistake. As her friend, I’m sorry to hear about her missing. But I’m just a lawyer and I think the police will do a better job on finding her. So you’d better resort to the police.” He then wheeled around with a faint smile.

Alan smiled as he watched them leaving, his eyes gleaming.

He believed he would outwit these young men! There was silence the moment they got into the car.

After a while, Grace slammed on the wall, “Damn it. What a shameless old bastard. He took all the credit. Our effort has become a waste!”

“Yeah, he’s fast on this. Before we could spread the word, he called the police with the evidence about the Shen Family’s fault.

He seemed to be the loyal servant while we were like just picking up whatever that was left. What a shameless man!” Joe clenched his teeth.

In the police station, they heard that Alan had already handed over the evidence of the trade between Daniel and Eric, which made him seem to be a selfless person who had been investigating the Shen Family for a long time.

It was obvious that Alan intended to sacrifice the knights in order to save the queen.

However, even if someone noticed his scheme, he could not say anything about it.

Because there was no evidence to prove it.

The proof from Six-ear was not enough to send this man behind the bar. And what was worse was that they might get into trouble.

This time they were really defeated by Alan, who was so cunning.

“No wonder this cunning fox dared to expose and protect a wanted man. It turns out he wanted Daniel dead since he kept Six-ear by his side. How ruthless he is!”

William winked, "Where is Angie now?"

Grace went blank for a moment and spoke immediately, "She's with Six-ear's friend who was called Alex. Rumor has it that this man and Six-ear are even closer than brothers. I assume Six-ear intends to destroy Angie after he leaves, so you will be in pain.'

After all, during recent days, William acted like he loved that woman very much in front of Six-ears.

"Send someone to investigate this Alex." Something flashed through William's mind, but it was so fast that he could not grasp it.

Alan only had one daughter. Was he not worried about her at all?

No! There was something wrong.

If Alex was not sent by Alan, could it be that he was the person to help Six-ears?

He was willing to live in this city like a dog when he knew that Six-ears would leave with a large amount of money.

William's eyes twitched. Then he suddenly turned around, "Let's go home."

Joe, who was driving the car, was surprised by the look on William's face. He felt something wrong. He turned the steering wheel and drove towards the mansion fast like he was a racing-driver.

It only took half of the usual time for them to get back from the downtown.

William's heart was beating fast. He swore he would not turn back until he saw her.

"William, the mansion is secured by many men. And Little James is there." Grace could not help comforting William.

No one knew what William was thinking better than him.

The mansion was his weakness and if anything happened to it, it was possible that he would not remain calm.

Chapter 476 Who Needed a Spanking

At the gate of the mansion, standing behind James, Vivian was looking at Selina with her reddened eyes. Selina was captured.

Vivian opened her mouth and tried to say something, but the words didn't come out.

Selina was grabbed by a man in suit, her wrists tied together.

The man looked vicious with a knife in his hand.

"Miss, you'd better come with us." The man cast her a cold glance, and smiled viciously.

James sneered, "How dare you be so provoking in my place. I assume you need some hard lessons."

The smile on the man's face froze. Then he looked at the bodyguards behind James, then he looked away with disdain.

He waved his hands. Soon a group of men came out from the vans behind him.

The ground was soon crowded by his men.

Vivian's heart sank instantly.

The man sneered, "Well, James. Tell me, who is going to be beaten up now?"

“Nothing but a bunch of worms. I will show you the strength of our men.” James guffawed, then the several guards of his ran towards him.

The man didn't expect they dared to fight back while the hostage was still in his hand.

He gritted his teeth and brought the knife closer to Selina with brutal force.

Vivian opened her eyes wide in terror.

“BANG!” Suddenly a blow came from the gun in James's hands. The bullet bite the man's wrist.

Immediately, the knife clattered on the ground.

And blood splashed.

“Selina!” Gagged, Selina was whimpering, tears were running down from her cheeks.

Vivian then ran towards Selina and hugged. She tried to take selina away from here.

The man grimaced when the bullet hit his wrist, but he still glared at them and tried to take her. But James kicked him over.

Then there was chaos.

Grabbing the opportunity, Vivian untied Selina.

Selina cried the moment Vivian took out the gag in her mouth.

‘It's alright. You're safe now.’ Vivian held her head in her arms. She knew she must be frightened.

Just as she was the last time.

Selina had never expected that she would be thrown into the trunk when she was just about to have her lunch in a restaurant, and be tied up and used to threaten Vivian in front of the mansion.

However, James was a capable man. Otherwise William would not assign him for the safety of the mansion.

Though they were outnumbered, they defeated all their foes.

James felt relieved.

He was also afraid that something would happen.

“This is the consequence of offending me!” He snapped as he looked at the whimpering men on the ground.

Suddenly, the booming sound of engine came into their ears from nowhere.

Vivian and Selina were startled. The moment they looked up, they saw a man on a motorbike, which then made an incredulous turn. The man on the bike then yanked Vivian towards him and made her sit behind him.

Then he drove downhill in the blink of an eye.

It was not until then James had realized what happened. He pulled the trigger several times towards him. But that man seemed to be very skilled at motorcycling. He dodged James’s blow almost every time.

Eventually, he lost track of them.

“Cars! Give me a car.” James bellowed anxiously.

Then his fellow men instantly prepared cars for the chase.

There weren't many cars on the road and it was a straight road to the foot of the mountain. Hence, although the distance between the motorbike and them was huge, they could clearly see the location of the motorbike.

James was sweating while thinking of Vivian. He was sure that William would lose his mind if he knew about this.

He drove fast as if he was in a racing competition. Soon the other cars were far behind him.

James felt stressed as he stared the motorbike in the distance.

They met their first fork. James felt elated when he saw the motorbike slowed possibly because the man was unfamiliar with the road. But soon a black car raced into their sight from the other side.

They were about to crush.

"No! James opened his eyes wide and tried his best to turn the steering wheel.

The other driver was also startled. If it weren't for their excellent skill, the two cars would have bumped into each other. But they dodged one another by running alongside the fences, leaving a long trail on the ground. The sound of the braking was horrifying.

'Little James, are you okay?' Joe asked. He got off his car hurriedly without waiting for it to stop completely.

James shook his dazed head and got off the car with the help of Joe.

Accidentally, he met William's eyes when he looked back. He shivered instantly.

"Wi... William..." James sounded guilty.

William's hands were shaking, but his eyes still seemed calm. "What happened?" He asked in a low voice.

'Vivian... She was captured.'" James almost cried.

William didn't speak, nor made any other movements, but the coldness he suddenly gave off even made others feel like it was winter.

Grace grabbed his arms and said, "It should be just as what we had guessed. Angie and Vivian were captured by the same person. Since Alex was not sent by Alan, there can be only one possibility that the Daniel needs the girls to protect himself. So I assume Daniel won't hurt them. Please be assured."

James was confused, but he dared not speak at this moment. He just shot a baffled glance at Joe.

Joe shook his head and put his hand on William's arms, trying to comfort him.

After quite a while, William spoke, "Let's go!"

Hence, they were driving towards the mansion again according to the plan.

But now they were in a different mood.

William was leaning on the seat with his eyes closed, his face pale. Others exchanged a glance and didn't dare to make any sound, in case their boss would be bothered.

What Grace said was right. If the man was sent by Daniel, then he would never hurt Vivian and Angie. But that didn't mean they should not be worried.

Grace sounded rational when he was comforting William, but when he found Selina, who looked so miserable in the mansion, he was eager to go straight to the Shen Family and kill Daniel.

It was William who stopped him!

Chapter 477 You are Drunk

Of course, Alan could also guess what William guessed.

So for Angie, although she did not abide by his initial arrangement, he didn't worry.

He only worried about another matter.

"No one went into Angie's room. Right?" Alan said coldly. He was always amiable but now became indifferent for the first time.

The servants who did cleaning and cooking shook their heads one by one and said, "No. We've been at home all day, and no one went to the second floor."

Alan's eyes ran down their expressions. He finally waved his hand and said, "OK. You can leave now."

In the study, Six-ears had taken away the fake "evidence" that Alan deliberately put there, and it was now either in the hands of Daniel or William.

Where was the real document? Alan felt extremely disappointed. Who took the document?

"Where have you been?" When Alan was thinking and coming down from upstairs, he saw Vanessa rushed into the house with red eyes, which made him frown.

Vanessa stepped forward and pushed him, "Where's Angie? Is something wrong with her? Why don't you tell me? I didn't know that Angie has been kidnapped until someone told me!"

"Who told you?" Alan frowned and said.

He told them to keep it a secret, and he only told the police station to show his attitude.

Vanessa said bitterly, "Never mind who said it. I wanna know if it's true. What did you do to make our daughter kidnapped? Tell me!"

“Well, stop that for now. I’m also sad when Angie is missing, but it’s useless to be sad now. The most important thing is to look for her. Don’t bother me!” Alan pushed Vanessa away with irritation and walked towards the outside.

“Where are you going?” Vanessa roared.

Alan went away indifferently without a single word.

Vanessa gritted her teeth.

He always concentrated on his official career and regarded their daughter as a bargaining chip and a stepping stone for promoting to a higher position in the future. He thought she did not know it!

It did not matter. Although he did not care about her daughter, she still cared about her.

In a small apartment, they went out after opening the door and throwing Vivian in.

“Ouch!” Her palm clapped on the ground, and some beer bottle debris embedded into Vivian’s palm. She felt very painful.

“Oh, here comes another little sheep!” She heard a familiar voice. The person who was speaking might be drunk.

Vivian looked up and was suddenly surprised. She said, “Angie!”

“Yes?” Angie stopped drinking and looked at Vivian’s face. When she recognized that the person in front of her was Vivian, her expression suddenly changed. Angie said slowly and angrily, “Vi-vi-an!”

She gnashed her teeth and said with great hatred.

Vivian concealed her surprise and stood up.

The small apartment was well decorated and looked very warm.

In addition to the locked doors and windows with several safeguard measures, there were several doors. She forgot her injured hand and looked around.

Angie sneered and said, "It's useless. This is a new real estate that has just been developed recently. There are few residents around, and no one will come even you try your best to should. Also, all doors and windows have been blocked. You can't go out by yourself because you are so weak. Stop it."

Vivian glanced at her and said, "God helps those who help themselves. Drinking can't solve the problem!"

"Oh! You are not an omnipotent superwoman. Vivian, you are just a lamb to be slaughtered now. How can you still be so proud?" Vivian said coldly and stared at Vivian with malicious intents.

Then she suddenly laughed evilly, "Do you know what welcoming ceremony these people will have when they catch you? Do you looking forward to it?"

Seeing Angie's expression, Vivian looked at her carefully and noticed her messy dress and a hickey on her neck.

She felt scared and disgusted, and could not help but recall what happened in the abandoned car pile last time.

Seeing her pale face, Angie stood up with satisfaction. She perhaps had drunk too much so she teetered. But it was when Angie stood up that Vivian realized that she was in a difficult position this time.

Her hair was messy. There were scar and finger marks on her cheeks. Her neck and collarbone were full of hickeys, and her eyes were red because she had cried too much.

"I don't care. I've played too much abroad, but you think yourself so arrogant and pure. I don't know if you can afford it!" Angie touched Vivian's chin with her delicate nails. It was cold and pricking.

Then Angie leaned slightly and got closer to Vivian, "Oh, I forgot that you are the best at sex, or William wouldn't fall in love with you. Oh, Vivian, tell me how many men have you slept with so that you can be skillful in sex?"

Vivian looked at her face with complicated eyes and finally said, "You are drunk!"

"Come on. You are so boring!" Angie waved her hand and said, "You are so good at pretending. You are a bitch who has slept with so many people. You always pretend to be a noble and innocent girl. Vivian, you may not know how disgusting you are. I have endured you for so many years and made myself uncomfortable for so many years. I really admire myself"

Vivian said in surprise, "You..."

"Why? You don't believe it? Do you really think that I, as the eldest daughter of Alan, will really consider you bitch as a good friend?" Angie laughed and looked at Vivian's surprised expression with satisfaction.

Then Angie's expression changed suddenly. She looked at Vivian with disgust and hatred, and shouted, "Who are you? You are a humble woman with neither background nor advantage. You only have a beautiful face, and they even compare you with me.

Bah! I just want to stand with you and let everyone know that I'm the most beautiful girl and the real beauty in the school. You are just a bug from the slum, and you can never compete with me!"

Vivian puckered up her lips and became angry.

Angie seemed to be really drunk. She spoke out a lot of thoughts that she had kept as secrets. She giggled, but her tears nearly came out. She said, "So, I succeeded eventually. As long as we stand together, they will find out who is the real princess. As for you, Cinderella, even if you are beautiful, you are just a bitch who will be burnt by fire. You will always be frumpy. You can never compare with me!"

To beat Vivian, Angie treated the people around her friendly and generously. She had made many friends and made William, a famous law student in their college, her boyfriend.

Everything made Angie feel extremely proud.

Chapter 478 Fighting

The corner of Vivian's mouth twitched. She recalled a lot of things happened a long time ago. Looking back on the past, she suddenly felt like a fool.

Because of Angie, Vivian felt guilty for four years.

Because of her, Vivian always gave in, and she did not even dare to compete with her.

But now Angie told her that the friendship she once cherished were actually nothing.

Vivian could not describe how she felt.

She might be disappointed or sad, but it was more like a sense of relief for her.

Vivian smiled and was not angry anymore.

Angie, out of the corner of her eye, saw Vivian smile and immediately got angry.

She raised her hands suddenly and was about to slap Vivian.

"Bitch...Oh..." Angie screamed. Her wrist was held tightly by Vivian.

Vivian narrowed her eyes slightly and said, "Do you really think I won't hit you back?" "Let go of me! Bitch!"

Angie was startled by the indifference in Vivian's eyes. She was drunk and stared at Vivian in a daze. She felt somehow a little scared. She shook her body and pushed Vivian away suddenly.

Vivian neatened her sleeves and did not come forward.

The apartment had two rooms and one living room. In addition to a small living room, there were two other rooms.

Now she did not care about she was kidnapped and was not treated well. At least now in this space, she could choose not to see this disgusting woman.

Angie stared at Vivian walking towards the room elegantly. She felt angrier.

It was all Vivian's fault. Vivian robbed her boyfriend and pretended to be innocent. William had fallen in love with Vivian the bastard gradually and would not marry her.

So dying for a thousand times would not do justice for her crime.

Seeing that Vivian was about to enter the room, Angie staggered to Vivian suddenly and grabbed Vivian's arm tightly from behind. Angie was drunk, but her strength seemed to recover suddenly. She said, "Don't go! Don't go! Give William back to me...Give him back to me..."

Vivian frowned and hurriedly grabbed Angie's arms that were waving.

However, Vivian did not know why Angie had so much strength. She should have been drunk and weak, but at the moment, she rushed at Vivian and hit her with all her strength.

She scratched, bit, and did everything she could to hit Vivian.

"Oh... You are crazy!" Vivian screamed and suddenly became extremely angry. She gnashed her teeth and hit Angie back hard.

It was a close match and they struggled together.

"Click." Someone opened the door silently, which was not noticed by Angie and Vivian.

Daniel looked at them coldly and then was surprised. He smiled and clapped his hands, "Clap clap... I envy William who can make two beautiful women fight for him here. It's really wonderful."

Angie was bending over Vivian to hit her. Vivian pushed her away. There were some scars scratched by Angie on Vivian's fair face, which made her messy. The scars were streaked with blood.

"Daniel." Realizing who came here, Vivian felt surprised.

Was he who tied them up? Angie was too drunk and suddenly pushed away by Vivian. Now she was delirious and lying beside the wall.

Daniel glanced at them indifferently and sat on the sofa leisurely, ignoring the beer bottles piled up on the ground.

"Miss Vivian, how are you?" Daniel seemed to smile, but his eyes were indifferent.

Vivian felt somehow scared when she saw Daniel smiling like this.

Thinking about her identity now, Vivian pretended not to be afraid. She toughed it out and said coldly, "What do you want, Mr.

Daniel? I don't understand."

"Humph!" Daniel snorted coolly. He might recognize her pretense and fear. He said confidently, "Miss Vivian, you have been with William for so long, don't you know what William really does?"

"He is a lawyer, and the whole Jin'an City knows it." Vivian forced a smile and said.

She could not help but begin to analyze.

Daniel would not say these words unwittingly.

As for William's job, She recalled that Roe had been kidnapped before, and said seriously, "Mr. Daniel, as a saying goes, families are innocent. I don't know if William offended you in the lawsuit, but, Mr. Daniel, you take us here. Is it alright?"

Jin'an City was a smile city, so she thought it was because William had been employed by Daniel's competitors to defend them.

She had never expected other reasons.

"Aha ha..." Daniel laughed out loud, as if he had heard a joke.

Vivian felt more and more scared.

Daniel said, "Now I understand why they suggested arresting both of you and Angie. I thought you were the beloved of William.

Now you seemed to be only a shield."

Vivian did not understand what he meant.

Daniel blinked and said seductively, "Don't you understand? William has a special status and is destined to offend many people.

Keeping a dubious relationship with you is the best way to protect his beloved. The conclusion is that you, and even your son, are shields he used to protect Angie. See what I mean?"

Vivian looked pale. Her expression indicated that she did not believe it.

She did not want to believe Daniel, but the certainty and ridicule in Daniel's eyes were so real that she had to believe him.

And William...

Their relationship was dubious indeed.

It was quite baffling that he asked her to marry him. At that time Vivian thought it too sudden. Now she realized maybe he had some plans in his mind.

Her throat was dry and she even had a pain in the chest.

It hurt like being burnt, but she felt cold as if she was in an icehouse. She did not know what to say.

Finally, Vivian heard herself in a daze, "What's William's identity exactly?"

Daniel gently told her a name.

Vivian was shocked.

He was one of the founding fathers alive of Country. He was highly respected and held a high position, and his family was one of the top giants in the country.

"William is the grandson of the founding father." Daniel stood up and said, "When William came to Jin'an City, he seemed to be just a little lawyer. In fact, he managed an organization and worked for the government. All of his works are extremely dangerous. He was destined to be indifferent for a lifetime and be good at making use of everything. Although using the love of a woman and a child is somewhat contemptible, it is one of the missions of his organization. He would achieve the goal at all costs!"

The last few words came as a terrible blow to her.

According to Daniel, there were no accidents or potential difficulties that he might have.

She almost believed Daniel.

Chapter 479 Internal strife

For several days in a row, William's men almost searched the whole city of Jin'an, but they didn't find Vivian and Angie.

And all the people who were watching at Daniel lost contact.

They all understood the consequences and implications.

In the manor, Grace sit on the sofa with a dignified face after he appeased the crying Selina and asked her to go upstairs for a rest.

“It seems that Daniel and Alan had already planned the internal strife, so they had both hands ready.” James said when he learned about it.

Joe took a look at William and said in a vague way, “The most likely reason of the internal strife is the uneven distribution of interests. Six-ears was ordered to steal Alan’s vital evidence. Alan used six-ears to track down the evidence in return and put the charges of the goods on six-ears and Daniel in exchange for his political achievements. It’s a never-ending way. In my opinion, what is the external interest of the third one is very important!”

Grace nodded.

“Eric’s clue is clear. There came news that it was basically wiped out. But now Alan’s evidence has not been found. Daniel ran away and took Angie and Vivian, which is equivalent to holding the two sides’ vital evidences. Are we really going to be so passive?” Grace frowned.

Daniel’s action was quick. On the one hand, He kept Allen from doing anything rashly. On the other hand, he caught William with the clear idea that they would die together.

William had a whizzing chill all over his body.

He had been like this for days.

In fact, everyone was waiting for him to make a decision.

There were many ways to force Daniel out, but each one was suspected of ignoring Vivian and Angie’s safety.

So they didn’t dare to make decisions, and they had to wait for William to speak.

After a long time, they heard William saying, “Joe is going to look for another line. You two will continue to look for Daniel’s whereabouts.”

These people looked at each other, and they could not tell whether they were disappointed or happy.

Finally, they obeyed his orders and took actions.

William got up and staggered a little.

Roe ran out of nowhere and hugged his leg.

William bowed his head.

Roe's little face had a kind of low expression and his eyes were red.

There was a sigh in his heart.

Roe looked like him, he was a vivid replica of him, but in these eyes, he often saw Vivian's shadow, soft and stubborn, and sometimes a little sly.

William was touching his head and said, "What's the matter?" "Is there something wrong with mom, dad?" Roy's big eyes were full of tears, and they almost could help falling down.

William's fingers paused and gently wiped away the tears from the corners of his eyes. He did not deny or confirm, "Dear, your mom will be back soon. Then, she will never leave you again."

"Really, daddy?" Roe tried to open his eyes and stubbornly asked for an answer.

He never believed in this father, but this time he was willing to believe him once.

William said firmly, "Really, I will marry your mom this time when she comes back, and the three of us will never separate again." Roe's eyes were surprised, and he quickly and happily nodded, "Great! I believe you."

William chuckled, "Go and play with your grandma. Be good these days."

Roe nodded and ran to tell his grandma about the happy news.

William slightly narrowed his eyes when Roe's figure disappeared.

He was not as sure as he said to Roe.

He rubbed his eyebrows and went to the study.

Jack stood on the top floor of the Shen group building, which was Daniel's exclusive office with a faint smile.

He immediately felt proud in front of the French window, which gave him an overlook of the whole city of Jin'an and made him feel lofty sentiments.

Finally, he stood here!

He was interrupted by the ringing of the telephone.

Jack's brow tightened for a moment and then slowly relaxed when he saw the caller ID.

"William! He spoke with indifference.

William's voice was cold even though they had a friendly cooperation, "How much longer do you need?"

"Those people from the public security and industrial and commercial departments go in and out of the Shen family all day long.

They hold on to the company and have to find some problems. I just want to sit in this position firmly but not strong enough." Jack's mouth seemed to be answering.

William frowned. After a long time, he said, "I'm going to finish it. Tomorrow at the latest, I'll see the news of the change of the leader in the Shen family occupy the headlines of the media."

"Deal!" Jack agreed.

Jack put down the phone and stretched.

The leader of the Shen family was changing!

What sensational news! No matter which corner Daniel was hiding in, he would be very angry.

After all, what he cared most was the true identity of the Shen family leader.

Well, he just enjoyed a leisure life for some days and had to be busy again!

The ferocity flashed in Jack's eyes with a deep hatred.

Daniel, whether you could win depended on your ability!

The next day, the newspapers and media networks in the whole Jin'an city and all over the country began to report the news of the change of power holders of the Shen group.

And Jack's name also set off a national trending topic in an instant.

After all, the life of the rich was always the most discussed topic of gossip enthusiasts in the public. Nowadays, a rich man putted all things in front of the public for ridicule, which the general public naturally would not let it go.

Daniel naturally got the news the first time about what was known to all.

Daniel brutally threw things out of the table in an ordinary but secluded suite.

The glass fell to the ground with a crash, and finally broke into a bunch of slag. The splashing debris frightened the people in front of him. He shook his body but did not dare to move half a step.

“What now, boss?” Kevin opened his mouth with trembles.

Less than a few days after he left the Shen family, Daniel had prepared the lawyer team to refuse to admit the contents of Alan’s report, but he didn’t expect that the stolen goods were found in his room. And half of his cronies who had been supporting him turned against him.

In recent days, Daniel’s action was to secretly look for the person who attacked him behind his back in addition to putting William and Alan aside to make them anxious.

Now, the person appeared himself at last! Daniel’s eyes were bloodshot and he was gnashing his teeth with his fingers clenched, “It’s Jack, I underestimated him!”

“Keep your eyes close on Vivian and Angie and arrange an appointment for me with Alan and William!” Daniel tried to calm himself down.

He was going to delay it for a while, but now it seemed that he can’t! The longer it took, the less likely he would take over the Shen family if Jack was in charge of.

He couldn’t wait anymore!

Chapter 480 Evidence

William was relieved to tick the corner of his lip after getting a call fromm Daniel.

It worked!

“Boss, are you going to Huatian International now?” James loosened his tie and said.

William shook his head. “Take me to meet six-ears first.”

James was stunned.

Then he quickly sent someone to get the car ready.

Six-ears was now in custody. This time William's man was in charge and he wasn't placed in ordinary cells, was quite different from the previous time.

Six-ears used to have a certain dispirited temperament, but he became fierce at the moment he saw William.

Suddenly, he gave a loud laugh, "William, you think of me at last. The whole place is so good. It's much better than the room I stayed in before. Thank you for taking care of it."

William leaned back. "Where's the thing?"

"The thing? Ah, now that I am a prisoner, everything on my body is distributed by your people. What do you still want from me?" Six-ears laughed blatantly as if he didn't understand.

William narrowed his eyes and said, "I didn't keep you alive until now to hear your bullshit. Give me the thing if you are sensible. I don't have time to waste with you here."

Staring at him, Six-ears said with a smile after a long time, "I'm alone and have nothing to worry about. If I don't want to give it to you, what can you do? William, are you so sure I'll work with you?"

William got up, "It seems that we don't need to talk about it any more."

Six-ears didn't say a word, and he couldn't understand William's meaning.

Was he such a quitter?

No, absolutely not!

“Oh, do you still have relatives in Gangcheng city?” William spoke softly when he opened the door with his backhand and wanted to go out.

Six-ears changed his face, “Wait a minute!”

Ten minutes later, William slightly curled the corners of his mouth and left the police station.

A low-key black car tailed all the way behind him.

James looked back. “Boss, the car in the back has been following us for a long time. Guess who is in it?” “Alan!” William closed his eyes and got a rest.

James said with a smile, “This man has a sharp nose. I’m afraid he knows he’s going to fail.”

“Go to the place to get the thing later, and hand it in directly after you get it. Don’t give him any breathing opportunities.” William spoke decisively.

James nodded and looked serious.

Then the car arrived at the manor, and James went out through an unknown back door.

James disappeared all day after that.

In the Jing family, Alan seemed very anxious since the U disk was lost. He asked people to try to find six-ears several times and was blocked back.

William made six-ears’ ward like an iron barrel and nobody could get into it.

Now, Alan was walking back and forth, and he was extremely irritable.

Vanessa whimpered at him, "Didn't you say your daughter would be back in two days? What about Angie? Where is the Angie now?"

Alan rubbed his eyebrows and said, "Can't you shut up? I said Angie was ok. How many times do you have to ask it? Why you are not worried when she was abroad for several years?"

"Was it the same? Angie is being kidnapped now. Do you have a heart? That's your daughter. She's being kidnapped now. Why don't you care for her? Which is more important, Angie or your career?" Vanessa said bitterly.

The only thing he came back every day was to get into his study and get busy with his work.

She heard rumors that he had made many achievements, and was proud of himself recently.

But none of them was more important than the safety of her daughter!

Alan stared, "Enough, you don't know anything, so don't get yourself involved."

Alan was shaking with anger. He had been in a state of anxiety ever since he found that the USB flash drive in Angie's room was missing. Now it was hard to find a clue, but it was in William's hand.

Who was William? He didn't know before. Can he still not know now?

Angie was William's girlfriend to his relief. They had been talking about marriage. What worried him was that the relationship between them was getting worse day by day. In addition, he had already had a son. As a man, he couldn't be sure how much affection William had for Angie.

Could it be deep enough for William to give up his principles and help him in the end?

It gave him a headache, as he couldn't be sure of it.

Vanessa saw his expression as impatience, and her eyes turned red, "Alan, what's your attitude? Did you have a daughter? Was she be kidnapped because of you? You don't care now and you're tired of me, Are you insane?"

She had long known that he was cold and mean, and only his job and future were in his mind. However, he had been nice to her all these years and didn't mess around outside.

Moreover, he was quite indulgent in Angie, their only daughter.

To this end, she kept thinking whether she asked too much, she has been happier than many people.

But now it seemed that she underestimated his cold-bloodedness.

"Did you tell the police to keep a low profile? Are you afraid that it will affect your reputation? So if they don't try their best, you don't care?" Vanessa was suspicious.

Alan said in a cold voice, "I told you to shut up. Don't you understand me? If you keep yelling at me, will you get our daughter back? I'm sure that I'll give you a safe and intact daughter. Don't make a fuss. It's boring every day."

At the end of the speech, Alan stood up and went out with his clothes without looking at Vanessa, whose face was ugly.

Vanessa gritted her teeth with hate.

It didn't matter; she would try to find her daughter herself!

Vivian and Angie are separated into two rooms by Daniel due to the fight.

Of course, they were still in the same apartment. It was just that the living room was not available for them anymore.

Now they can only move in their rooms respectively.

Vivian applied the ointment from Daniel to the scars on her face and arm. It was impossible for her not to be in a hurry.

It was almost certain that Daniel's purpose of bringing them here was just for William.

But it had been several days, and he had been offering them delicious food and drink, but nothing else was mentioned, which made her even more nervous.

Suddenly, there was a slight sound in the living room outside.

Vivian's eyes moved.

Someone would deliver their meals at a fixed time. It was very quiet all the time. There was no movement at all except for Angie's movement in the other room, and she sometimes howled after drinking too much.

Was this the man who came to save them? Or was it Daniel?
