Death... and me

Chapter 1041: Visit

For a moment, the twins felt like there were two of themselves. However, they quickly noticed that it was just an illusion of themselves. The copies had neither consciousness nor life in them.

Following that, the Soul Binding Contract attached itself to the copies. Something like a seal appeared on the Soul Dummies before disappearing completely. The dummies themselves then seemed to disappear as fast as they appeared.

Seeing that the binding contract 'worked,' Fabio nodded at the two with a satisfied expression. "Very well. Now then, the assembly is already over, so I'll take my leave. If you need something, just use the token I gave you. The cities will give you everything you want as long as it isn't anything too ridiculous."

"Thank you, Senior Fabio. We will make conscious use of the token," Rean said in response with a grateful expression.

Just as Fabio was about to leave, he remembered something else, telling the two, "Oh, right! You don't need to worry about the other powers of Cosec City. None of them will try anything against you." With those parting words, Fabio finally left the room.

Sometime later, Rean and Roan made their way out of the City Lord's mansion. Rean then looked at Roan and asked him, "What do you think?"

"Nothing much," Roan replied. "We need to see how things will play out in the future."

Rean nodded in response. "Alright. In that case, I'm heading to the Vistrue Clan to talk with Ludio. Wanna come?"

Roan shook his head in response. "I'm heading back to the Lukimira Sect. Since we can get more information with Fabio's token, I don't want to waste time here anymore."

[That's Roan's way of telling you that he's worried about Calina, Rean. He wants to find a way to head to the Demon Beasts' territory as fast as possible.]

Rean nodded in agreement, telling Sister Orb, "Of course! What else could it be?"

Roan's mouth twitched in response. However, he didn't say anything as he did have some concerns about her. With that being said, he ignored the clown duo and left.

Seeing that, Rean smiled before sighing. "Well, it's not like I'm not worried about Qia as well. If he didn't say that, I definitely would."

[They should be fine. Since Frin ascended as well, he should be able to give them some protection.]

Rean looked at the sky before saying, "Let's hope so."

In the Vistrue Clan, Ludio had been received by quite a few elders. "Ludio, you did well!"

"Indeed! The fact you reached so far in the competitions proves our Yote Race's and especially our Vistrue Clan's strength."

"Then again, how were you able to bring so much luck to yourself? Our race can manipulate a little bit of it, but definitely not to that extent."

Ludio shook his head in response, telling them, "I don't know. I didn't feel anything different with my ability to control the strings of karma to generate luck."

Suddenly, the Clan Leader, an old man called Difal, touched Ludio's shoulder and said to him, "Go ahead, try to use it."

Ludio understood what the Clan Leader meant and began to focus his Divine Energy. Soon after, something that looked like golden strings started to appear in Ludio's mind. The Yote Race's special ability allowed them to see and touch those strings. However, they couldn't move them too much.

Those strings, obviously, were the strings of karma. Ludio was trying to control his own strings at the moment.

Unfortunately, Ludio couldn't do much more than barely move a single one. That's what Sister Orb meant by a limit to this ability.

The Clan Leader narrowed his eyes after seeing that. "There's nothing different. His ability to control his own karma strings isn't too bad, but it's definitely not enough to change his luck the way it did."

Ludio then looked at the Clan Leader before asking, "I think I was just too lucky. We, Yotes, already have a good amount of luck due to our abilities. With that said, once we get to a day where we are lucky and use our power on top of that, it might bring huge results. Wasn't that what happened to me?"

The Clan Leader pondered over it for a bit before nodding. "Indeed, that's probably the only explanation. Unless someone else was manipulating your karma string to give you even more luck, your explanation is the only one that makes sense.

Suddenly, a subordinate of the clan entered the room in a hurry. "Cl-Clan Leader, it's urgent."

Difal narrowed his eyes in response as he asked, "What is it? Is there a need to be this worried?"

The subordinate then tried to calm down as he replied, "Sorry, Clan Leader. It's just that we got a visitor."

"A visitor?" The elders were confused by the subordinate's reaction just because of a visitor. "Who is it?"

"It's the white-haired twin. The one called Rean from Lukimira Sect!" the subordinate replied in a hurry.

"What?!" The Clan Leader and the elders were taken aback. Why would Rean come here? They did see Rean talking with Ludio in the assembly, but they didn't think it to be anything important.

Only then did Ludio remember their conversation. "Oh, right! He did say he would come to pay a visit later. It seems like he had something to talk about with me."

Difal was surprised to hear that. "What is it that he wants to talk about?"

Ludio shrugged his shoulders in response. "I don't know. Until the competition started, I didn't even know he existed."

Difal nodded after hearing that. "Alright. Even though the twins performed like that in the assembly, they're still part of the Lukimira Sect. There's no reason to worry about it too much. Of course, we don't need to be impolite either. Let's treat him as we would any normal visitor."

Everyone nodded before Rean was called inside.

"Hey, Ludio. Finally found you." Rean entered the room with a smile. Of course, he also noticed the elders there. "Errr... hello to you guys too!"

Well, he wasn't exactly very polite.

Ludio wanted to end that quickly, so he asked straight away.

"What did you want to talk with me?"

Rean scratched the back of his head as he looked at the others before telling Ludio, "Ahem...it's more of a personal request of mine. Would you mind if we talked alone?"

Death... and me

Chapter 1042: Now, Here We Are

Ludio looked at the Clan Leader, who nodded at him. 'If there is any problem, just call us back.'

With that, he then called Rean over to a private room, where they could talk to each other. Of course, Rean used his Divine Sense bending skill to make sure that no one was watching them.

With all of those preparations done, Ludio asked Rean, "So, what is it that you want to talk to me?"

Rean shook his head in response, telling him, "I don't want to talk to you, to be honest."

"What?!" Ludio was taken aback. "You aren't making any sense, you know?"

Rean laughed in response as he approached a corner of the room. There, he could see the faint flickers of light due to the fairy that always followed Ludio. "I want to talk with her... or him. Oh well, I can't tell whether it's female or male." Rean then extended his hand over. "Hello there, fairy. As you probably know, I'm Rean. I would like to talk with you a bit."

Ludio's expression went pale after hearing that. He had never expected that Rean could see his fairy.

Of course, Ludio's fairy was as shocked as Ludio himself. However, seeing Rean looking directly at it and even extending his hand over to it, it was obvious that Rean could see it. Though, just to make sure, it took off and headed to another corner of the room. Of course, Rean's eyes followed the fairy. With that, the fairy confirmed that it wasn't a coincidence and began to talk. "You...you can really see me! How's that possible? I can't detect any treasure on you that can detect our race, nor are you even close to the cultivation level necessary to do it on your own."

Rean nodded in response as he told the fairy, "I indeed don't have the cultivation necessary to see you. This is also the reason why I can't tell whether you're male or female. Well, after hearing your voice, it's obvious that you're a female, though. Anyways, I don't have the cultivation to see you normally, but I can tell where you are with my power alone."

The fairy understood that Rean couldn't see its form perfectly, so it eventually appeared on its own. "What kind of power could allow you to see me, even if partially?"

Rean then raised his hand and gathered Light Element in his hand, explaining to her, "You should have noticed my odd element in the competitions, right? I'm sensitive to the Light Element. For some reason, every time you move, Light Element kind of reacts to you, showing your form a little. I wonder if fairies have some affinity with the Light Element as well."

"I see..." The fairy finally understood the issue. "Well, you're the first human I've ever seen with Light Element Affinity. I guess it makes sense since fairies really do have some affinity with the Light Element."

The fairy then looked at Rean before saying, "Alright, since you can see us, there's no pointing in dragging it further. I'm Sienna Crystalhill, a member of the fairy race, obviously. I say, Rean, you should keep quiet about the fact that I'm here, understood?"

Rean nodded, telling her, "I have no intention of starting a feud with you or the fairy race. I just wanted to confirm if what I was seeing was really a fairy or not. After all, your race shouldn't be easily seen."

Sienna was happy to hear that. "Good! Now then, what did you come here to talk with me for? You said that you wanted to confirm whether I was really a fairy or not. Why?"

Rean shook his head in response after that. "That was more or less it. I just wanted to make sure that what I was seeing was a fairy or not. However, since you mentioned it, I might as well ask something else out of curiosity. Is it true that the fairy queen gave Ludio her blessing? Otherwise, I don't see why you would be following him since the Yotes already have some luck of their own. Of course, if this is some important secret, you don't need to answer."

Sienna then looked at Ludio, who nodded his head. He then began to explain, "To be honest, I obtained the fairy queen's blessing by chance. Sienna was then sent to me later as part of the blessing."

"Is it fine with you, Sienna?" Rean asked, looking at the fairy.

Sienna nodded. "Of course. For us fairies, our queens' orders are absolute. Since she gave her blessing to Ludio, it is my duty to follow him and help out with his karma. Besides, it's not like I don't gain anything from it. Because of the blessing, Ludio has a karma connection to our fairy queen. I can use this connection for my own benefit. In fact, there was quite an argument to see who would take this opportunity. Many of my race members wanted to come, but I was chosen."

"Oh..." Rean was surprised to hear that. "Then, how did Ludio get this blessing? Of course, once again, you don't need to tell me if you don't want to."

Ludio shrugged his shoulders in response. "Don't worry. Since Sienna already told you so much, it shouldn't be a problem to tell the rest. It's not like you can do anything with this information either." Ludio then continued, "I kind of saved the fairy queen, I guess? The fairy queen had been seriously hurt for some reason she didn't want to discuss. When I was traveling outside on my own to train, I bumped into her in the Tuk Forest on the west. She was so weak that she couldn't even keep her natural concealment ability active."

Ludio then sighed, continuing to narrate. "I had never seen a fairy before, so I was quite surprised, thinking it was a demon beast. Obviously, she wasn't. Some things happened, but I ended up spending a few days healing her until she could at least move on her own again. In the end, she gave me her blessing and told me she would send someone to help me with my luck in the future. And now, here we are."

Death... and me

Chapter 1043: White Karma Thread

"I see...so everything is just coincidences stacked on top of more coincidences," Rean could not help but say.

Sienna nodded in agreement. "Pretty much."

Rean then turned around, preparing to leave. "Oh well, that resolves this issue. Now I know when to recognize a fairy in the future. Thanks for receiving me."

"Wait!" However, Sienna stopped Rean on his path as she told him, "You should head to the fairy territory in Erqs Forest north from here."

"Erqs Forest?" Rean was confused to hear that. "Why should I?"

"You karma threads," Sienna replied. "Since you could see me, I took the liberty to check your karma a little. It seems like you have some connection with a fairy over there. The threads of karma between fairies and other races are completely different from normal ones, so it was easy to identify."

Rean then asked back, "Threads of karma? Isn't that the thing that Yotes can manipulate to give themselves a little bit more luck?"

Sienna nodded as she replied, "That's exactly it. You can't see karma threads with your cultivation yet, so I'll simplify the explanation. Normal karma threads are golden in color. The intensity varies depending on what they're connected to, but they're golden nonetheless. However, karma threads related to fairies are white. For example, now that you and I know each other, we have some karma together. Your karma thread to me is slightly white."

Sienna then looked at thin air before continuing, "However, you do have a very white karma thread with you. It's almost blindingly bright. I wonder what kind of thing you have with that fairy."

Rean was obviously oblivious to such a thing. "That's weird. I'm certain you're the first fairy I have ever seen in my life. If not because I researched about it, I wouldn't even know that you were a fairy to start with." Rean's research was basically his knowledge regarding fairies from Earth, though...

Sienna shook her head, telling Rean, "I have no idea either. Still, your connection to them is definitely extremely strong. You should truly check it out as it probably means you know each other."

Rean's interest was immediately piqued. He wanted nothing more than to find Qia and the others. Since the fairy said they know each other, perhaps this fairy had something to do with Qia, Calina, Red, or someone else. "Alright, I'll head there and take a look."

Sienna then extended her tiny hands, gathering Light Element as well. Sure enough, fairies really did have Light Element Affinity. Sometime later, something that looked like a pearl appeared on Sienna's hand. Well, it was much bigger than her hand, though. "Phew...creating these things for other races is really tiresome. Why do most of the races have to be so much bigger than us?"

Rean shrugged his shoulders as he told her, "Even if you ask me that, it's not like I have an answer. Instead, I could ask the same thing. Why are fairies this tiny? Haha!"

Sienna then shook her head. "Whatever, take this Fairy Essence Pearl with you."

"What can I do with this thing?" Rean asked as he held the weird pearl.

"Anyone can enter Erqs Forest if they want to. It's basically a forest like any other." Sienna continued, "However, it's also the territory of our fairy race of the Yukirrom Region. Once you reach our dwelling area, an illusion barrier will make sure that you can't enter it. At your level, you won't even notice when you enter it."

[Hmph! Rean might not notice, but I definitely would.] Sister Orb said in the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm.

Of course, Sienna couldn't hear her, so she continued, "It won't do any harm to you, but it won't let you get close either. However, if you have my Fairy Essence Pearl, it will let you pass through. Besides, the other fairies there will know that you have been sent by me."

Rean then put the pearl inside the Dimensional Realm and nodded. "Great! We will depart straight away, then. Thanks for the help, Sienna."

"Help? But I didn't help you with anything. This karma thread might be both a good or a bad thing, you know?" Sienna could not help but say.

"Hahaha!" Rean laughed in response. "It might be true, but it's the first clue I've got about my friends that I got separated from. The Realm of Gods is just too big, after all. I can't let this chance pass, so it's an immensely great help."

Sienna shrugged her shoulders after hearing that. "Well, if you say so. Good luck on your trip there."

Rean then left the Vistrue Clan. Of course, Ludio was bombarded with questions from his elders right after and had to come up with excuses or whatever.

'You heard everything as well, right?' Rean asked through his Soul Connection with Roan.

'Yes. Someone you know about...this is indeed the only clue we have so far,' Roan said in response. 'Now, here's the question. Should we head to a bigger city to ask for information or head straight to this fairy territory?'

Rean pondered over it for a bit. They had Fabio's token, which they could use to acquire a lot more information about the area they were in. 'Hmm...to be honest, I would head to the fairy territory first. The information we can get with Fabio's token will always be there. However, we don't know if this fairy that 'I know' would suddenly leave or whatever.'

Roan agreed with Rean on that point. 'Very well. I'm already in the sect, so I'll go talk with Kentucky and Celis. Try to come back as fast as possible so that we can leave straight away.'

Rean nodded. 'On it!'

Around an hour later, Rean's group was reunited in the Beast Taming Hall of Lukimira Sect. However, Celis didn't seem very happy with what the twins told him. 'You just got that many Divine Veins. If we stayed here and used my ability to concentrate energy, we would cultivate much, much faster. However, you guys want to leave already.'

Kentucky agreed with Celis. 'Indeed. Besides, I have a lot of female fans in this sect already. How can we leave this early?' Well, that was the pervert bird's real thoughts.

Roan pondered over their words for a bit before saying, 'Now that you mention that, it would be better for Celis to stay.'

Death... and me

Chapter 1044: Separation

'How come,' Rean asked.

Roan didn't answer. Instead, he asked Sister Orb something else first. 'Sister Orb, our cultivations are connected to each other, right? Is it limited by distance?'

[No. Unless you leave the Realm of Gods completely, you will still be connected.] Sister Orb replied.

Rean couldn't help but ask in response, 'Just how the hell can Divine Energy travel between us through such distances this easily?'

[You are wrong to think of it that way, Rean.] Sister Orb responded. [It doesn't need to travel at all. Think of it as a ring. It's just that this ring is made of space and time laws and exists in another plane. It doesn't matter how far you are from each other. This ring will stay the same size.]

'Space and time laws?' Roan felt that Sister Orb was up to something there.

[There's no point in me talking about it right now. Once you reach the necessary cultivation level, you will understand.]

Roan nodded in response. 'Alright, you already answered my question anyway.'

With that, Roan explained why he said that Celis didn't need to come. 'As you know, our cultivations can be pulled by a single member. That means, if Celis stays here and keeps cultivating, he will pull our cultivations with him. Because of the Divine Veins, it's probably faster for Celis to cultivate here alone than if the four of us cultivated together outside.'

Everyone had to admit it made sense. However, Celis somewhat didn't like the idea. 'Hey, if you do that, wouldn't I be the only one cultivating for the four of us at the same time?'

Roan shrugged his shoulders as he replied, 'Would you rather leave the Divine Veins behind and cultivate slower somewhere else with us?'

Rean also added, 'Roan and I have always cultivated regularly. It's not because we're leaving you here that we would stop completely.'

Even with that, Kentucky saw a problem. 'Hey, but what about my nest on Celis. One of the reasons Celis and I can cultivate faster is because of our pact. It's all thanks to that that we can match Rean and Roan even though they have the system on their side. Would it be slower if Celis and I separated?'

Rean, Roan, and Kentucky then looked at Celis. In the end, it depended on whether he thought the Divine Veins would be more worthwhile than staying with Kentucky. 'Hmm...I don't know how good all those Divine Veins would be without testing them first. The best thing would be if you could leave Kentucky as well. If that happens, then the two of us can greatly push our cultivations.'

The problem was the size of the Realm of Gods, so Rean explained, 'That would make things complicated. Without a Demon Bird just like Kentucky to take us flying, our journey might take several months. I've checked where Erqs Forest is located. If Roan and I don't find any hindrances all the way to Erqs Forest and move as fast as we can, we'll take around eight months to get there.'

One must remember how long the caravan took to bring the twins to Cosec, and they were already over halfway there from Huvol City when they joined. That...was just the distance between a city and another. This also explained why the assemblies took one hundred years to take place each time. That's because traveling was a pain!

'To think eight months of travel still wouldn't bring you two out of the Kamos Kingdom, just some forest north from here...' Celis couldn't help but find it astounding how gigantic the Realm of Gods was.

Rean and Roan nodded in agreement. 'Anyway, if Kentucky brings us there flying, this time would be cut to somewhere around a month and a half. Of course, that would mean three months if it's a round trip.'

Kentucky then raised his wing, telling all of them, 'I vote for staying. I have a lot of girls as my fans here too. I don't want to leave now.'

The twins didn't even bother to complain about the pervert bird anymore. 'Celis, would you make sure that Kentucky also trains while staying here? Otherwise, he'll just stay in the nest and play with the girls for the rest of his life.'

Kentucky felt excluded from the conversation even though he was the topic. 'Fuck you! I don't need anyone to check on me. The great Kentucky is very diligent.'

'I doubt so,' Rean, Roan, and Celis replied at the same time.

Of course, that only made the bird angrier. 'Hmph! Then just watch me! When you two are back, I'll challenge you to a battle. Look how I'll wipe the ground with your faces.'

Rean sighed as he shook his head and shrugged his shoulders. 'Alright, alright.' After that, he looked at Roan and asked him, 'What do you think? I wanted to get there as fast as possible to prevent losing contact with this fairy. However, having Celis and Kentucky cultivating here with the Divine Veins will really boost our cultivation speed by a lot.'

Roan pondered over the issue. The point was how big the chances were that this fairy had anything to do with Calina and Qia at all. Roan wasn't delusional. They had never met a fairy before, so the chances were so low that they might call it zero. 'Considering our chances, I would rather take the longer trip. At least, it will serve as training for us both. We will have a bigger chance of reaching the Demon Beasts' side of the Realm of Gods with higher cultivation than through this fairy, after all.'

Rean nodded after that. 'Very well. We will travel alone this time.' Rean then looked at Celis and Kentucky, telling them, 'We will also cultivate every time possible. However, our advancement will mostly rely on the two of you since you can use Celis's ability and your pact while staying close to the Divine Veins.'

Celis and Kentucky nodded in response. 'Leave it to us. We will drag you up to the Late or maybe even the Peak Stage of the Soul Transformation Realm before you make your way back.'

Death... and me

Chapter 1045: Tame

Later that day, Rean and Roan went to see Kayla, who was setting up the new Divine Veins with Cynthia and the other elders. "How is it, sect master? Are these veins good?"

Kayla looked at the two without being able to conceal her excitement. "Hahaha! Of course! I set up the Golden Initial-level Divine Vein in the center, the Silver ones around it, and the Bronze ones on the outside. They're already starting to generate Divine Energy for my sect. I can't help but think about the recruitment period in a few months. Now that my sect has this many Divine Veins, there will be no lack of disciples asking to join us."

Rean and Roan nodded in response. This was also a good thing for Celis. After all, the sect would think that the sudden increase of Divine Energy was due to the Divine Veins. It's not wrong, of course. It's just that with Celis in the sect, the concentration of Divine Energy would become higher. "That's good to hear."

Rean then entered the main topic as he told her, "Anyway, we came to bid you farewell. Roan and I will be leaving for the time being as we have a few things to work on. However, we will leave Kentucky and Celis here if you don't mind."

Kurt's eyes lit up when he heard that. "Great! They can stay in my Beast Taming Hall. Thanks to them, I was finally able to tame the Stage Five Demon Eagle. If they stay for longer, I might be able to tame some others."

Kayla couldn't possibly mind that either. "No problem at all. Their presence would mean that we have two Stage Six Demon Beasts as part of our sect. How could that be a bad thing? If anything, I should thank you for letting them stay."

Cynthia couldn't help but ask after that, "Wait! If they're staying, does that mean you two are coming back later?"

Sure enough, Cynthia's question caught everyone's attention.

Rean nodded in response as he replied, "Yes, we will be back at some point. However, I can't say if we're coming back to stay or just to fetch Kentucky and Celis. In any case, we will stay out for more than a year, maybe even two."

"I see..." Cynthia understood as she nodded in response. "That's okay. If you decide to stay, we obviously welcome you once you're back."

Wuxan then asked something else. "Does it have something to do with what Fabio talked to you in private?"

The twins pondered over it for a bit and decided to nod. "You could say so. Unfortunately, we can't talk much about it as it was part of the agreement to stay silent."

Wuxan and the others nodded in response. "That's fine. The good thing was that you now have a connection with Fabio, so no one will try anything against you two, at least not in Cosec City and the surrounding places."

The twins then spoke a little more with Kayla and the others before finally leaving the sect. With that, they first went to Cosec City as they wanted to inquire about something in the Formation Guild's branch.

"A teleport formation that sends you straight to Kilas City in the north?" The attendant was surprised by that request.

Rean and Roan knew that their travel would take a long time. Back in the Realm of Mortals, neither Sunkan Planet nor the Zasfin Planet had teleport formations that could send someone more than a hundred or so kilometers away. However, this was the Realm of Gods, so perhaps they have such formations. If they could use teleport formations, it would be obviously much better. "Exactly. If the problem is payment, we do have some Divine Stones that we got from the assembly."

Kilas City was the next city if one went north from Cosec. Judging from the distance, Rean and Roan would take around a week to reach there at full speed.

Rean and Roan had also inquired Sister Orb about the Soul Gem Circuitry Teleport Formation. However, it seems like it only worked with Spiritual Energy. It can't resist the power of Divine Energy. With that being said, it was useless until an upgrade for it appeared in the reward system.

The attendant then nodded, telling them, "We do have a formation that can bring you that far. However, it's very expensive."

"Expensive to what degree?" Rean asked straight away.

The attendant then explained, "Teleport formations that use the environment Divine Energy can bring you as far as 300 or so kilometers away. Once that distance is surpassed, you need to fuel the teleport formation with Divine Stones. Also, the teleport formation's level has to be much higher to resist that greater influx of Divine Energy."

He continued, "With that said, the teleport to Kilas City would cost you 3000 Rank One Divine Stones."

The twins were taken aback. They didn't obtain so many Divine Stones in the assembly at all. "Isn't that way too expensive?"

The attendant nodded in response as he replied, "It is, but that's how much energy the formation needs to send you over. Of course, part of this payment is the formation's usage fee. After all, such long-distance teleports are very burdensome on the formation itself. The price has to compensate for the materials that might break once the teleport is over, as well as its maintenance. Last but not least, the payment for our guild as the ones who built that formation here and in Kilas City."

The twins immediately gave up on the idea. There was no way they could pay that much, and it was to teleport just to the next city. 3000 Divine Stones to save only a single week of travel was just too much for them.

"Forget it. There's no way we can pay all of that."

The attendant nodded in agreement. "If you have Divine Stones, it would be a lot more worthwhile to pay the Demon Beast Guild for a ride there with their Demon Birds. They often have groups of cultivators flying to other cities like that."

Rean and Roan had to admit it was a good idea. It wouldn't be Kentucky, but that was still better than walking. However, it was then that Rean had an idea. "Wait! Why don't we tame a Flying Demon Bird for ourselves instead?"

Death... and me

Chapter 1046: Demon Bird

Roan had to admit it wasn't a bad idea. Kentucky was better at staying close to Celis, but other Demon Birds wouldn't have this issue. "That's true. Let's pay a visit to the Beast Taming Guild."

Rean and Roan had the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm, so carrying a lot of things wasn't a problem for them while flying with a Demon Bird. There wasn't even a need for the two of them to be on the bird's back.

The attendant of the guild couldn't help but feel surprised, asking them, "Do you even know how to tame demon beasts?"

"Nope," Rean answered straight away. "But everything can be learned." Without even waiting for the attendant to answer, Rean and Roan left the Formation Guild's branch.

Most side occupations had branches in Cosec City, so it wasn't hard to find the one for the Beast Taming Guild. To prevent attracting everyone's attention, Rean and Roan changed their appearances. After all, they did create quite the commotion in the assembly.

The attendant there immediately asked when he saw the duo, "Welcome to the Beast Taming Guild. Are you here looking for a ride? The next departures are almost leaving."

Rean replied to the attendant's question, saying, "Not really. We would like to know how to tame a demon beast. A Stage Five flying one would be of great help. No, wait! If you have a tamed one to sell already, that would be even better!"

Hearing that, the attendant couldn't help but laugh out loud. "Hahaha! Do you think it's easy to tame that level of demon beast? Besides, their owners wouldn't sell them as they give them quite the profit with the travels."

"Then, how can we tame one?" Roan asked this time around.

The attendant couldn't help but ask, "Are you serious?" The twins nodded and waited for the attendant to continue. "Sigh...listen, taming demon beasts is extremely hard. It's not about simply being stronger than them. Instead, it's about gaining their trust. Flying ones are especially difficult as, obviously, they fly."

"Does that mean we don't need to beat them?" Rean asked back.

The attendant shook his head in response. "Not exactly. You still need to show that you're stronger. Anyway, if you want to know more, it would be better for you two to enter the guild as members first. Just tell me your names and cultivation."

Rean pondered over it for a bit before asking something else. "Would our identities be revealed? We're a little bit famous at the moment, so we would rather have others not know we're here."

The attendant narrowed his eyes as he tried to identify Ran and Roan. However, due to the change in appearance, they didn't look like their real selves at all. With that, the attendant nodded. "We will keep your names hidden. However, the guild won't cover you if you have broken some law. Keep that in mind."

"Great!" Rean and Roan then used their Divine Senses to tell the attendant their names.

'I'm Rean Larks.'

'I'm Roan Larks.'

Immediately, the attendant's eyes opened wide in shock. "What?! You aremmhmmhmmmm-"

Too bad for him that Rean closed his mouth. "Are you trying to fuck us up?" It was a good thing as the attendant's reaction caught some of the people's attention there. However, they quickly lost interest as it had nothing to do with them.

Eventually, he calmed down and nodded at Rean, meaning that he could take his hand off. After that, he talked with Divine Sense. 'So-sorry. I didn't expect to attend to the assembly's greatest winners like this.'

Rean sighed in relief after hearing that. 'As long as you understand. Anyway, will you let us become part of the guild?'

'Sure!' The attendant didn't have a reason to refuse, especially considering who the twins were. 'However, you better not expect special treatment. The guild only cares about those who have taming abilities. Even if you are this famous, you won't get anything here if you lack this ability.'

Neither Rean nor Roan had a problem with that. 'That's good enough for us.'

The attendant registered the twins, not taking too long before delivering them two badges. From there onward, he began to talk normally again. "These are your proofs of membership. Your level is defined by the stars on the badge. As you can see, there aren't any stars on your badges, which means you aren't recognized as real beast tamers yet."

Roan then looked at the demon beasts that fly out of the guild before asking, "Do you perhaps have a Stage Five Flying Demon Beast we can try to tame here?"

"You will have to check in the demon beasts' dwelling area. However, those at Stage Five and above are very hard to tame, which means it's also hard to keep them confined. If you don't find any, you will need to head to the demon beasts' territories and look for one by yourselves," the attendant explained.

The twins nodded and made their way there. It was good as they could also watch how the Beast Tamers worked on their demon beasts. Sure enough, they saw some of them taking care of lower-level demon beasts. Some had already been tamed. Others had only been captured and were in the middle of the process.

Suddenly, a man called the twins' attention. "Are you looking for something? This area is restricted to Demon Beast Tamers only."

Rean then brought his badge without any star out, responding, "We just joined the guild. Is there a demon beast we can try to tame?"

The man shook his head as he replied, "Members of your level won't find any demon beasts here. You will have to start with Stage One Demon Beasts in the nearby demon beast territories. Here, Stage Two and Three Demon Beasts are the lowest levels."

"Do you have any Stage Five Flying Demon Beasts?" Roan asked in response."

"Stage...Five?" The man looked at the twins with a weird expression. "Oh, I see. Two more idiots who think their higher cultivation can resolve everything."

Rean and Roan didn't complain about the guy's words. "So, do you have it?"

The man snorted in response. "Hmph! We do have one. However, one of our members has been working on it for quite some time. He's a Four Star Demon Beast Tamer trying to get his fifth star with this Stage Five Demon Beast. Even if you start now, the Demon Bird has mostly accepted him already. You should really not try to jump the steps and start with Stage One Demon Beasts first."

"I see..." Rean nodded. "Then that means he hasn't completely tamed it yet. Could it be that we can try to tame the Demon Bird as well?"

The man felt helpless as he heard that. "If you pay the fee, sure. Capturing these demon beasts and making sure they don't go berserk costs money, a lot of it at that. If you want to try and tame this Demon Bird, you will have to pay 500 Divine Stones, and there's no refund if you fail. I truly recommend you to go out and start from scratch like everyone else. Otherwise, you will basically throw your money away."

Rean and Roan didn't really care about Divine Stones, though. "Alright, here you go." Soon after, they passed 500 Rank One Divine Stones to the man, much to his surprise. "Sigh...since you want to waste your Divine Stones, I won't be the one stopping you. Come with me."

Death... and me

Chapter 1047: Beating Down

It was then that Rean asked the man. "Oh, right! How impolite of me. Brother, what's your name?"

"You can call me Litian. I'm one of the elders here in the Demon Beast Taming Guild branch," the man indifferently replied.

A few minutes and many demon beasts later, they finally arrived at a room protected by a formation. Inside, it was possible to see a Demon Bird that was about three-fourths of Kentucky's size. It had yellow and white feathers and a crest. At the moment, it looked quite angry.

Other than that, there was a cultivator in front of it, holding a giant black fruit as he looked at the Demon Bird, telling it, "There's no point in you looking at me like that. You know I can beat you down easily. But look, I brought your Golden Rascol's favorite fruit, a Lunar Peach."

The Golden Rascol was a type of Demon Bird that looked a lot like a falcon from Rean's world. Of course, this one was much bigger.

It looked at the Lunar Peach on that cultivator's hand, and it was obvious that it was conflicted as to whether it should take it or not. It wasn't as if it could understand the cultivator's words, but it could tell that using force wasn't an option to get the Lunar Peach. Normally, it would have attacked a long time ago to get the fruit by force, but it had been beaten by that same cultivator multiple times already.

Rean couldn't help but ask as they watched, "What is he doing?"

"He's trying to gain the Golden Rascol's trust. This is the Demon Bird I talked about. Because it has been locked down here for a long time, it has become quite restless. However, can you see that cultivator there?" Rean and Roan nodded and waited for Litian to continue. "He was the cultivator I talked about. His name is Fylson Yelnan, the Four Star Demon Beast Tamer. As you can see, the Rascol doesn't even dare to attack anymore as it understands it isn't a match to Fylson. It probably won't take long before it starts to take the food from his hand."

Roan couldn't help but ask after that, "Why do I feel like it isn't that simple? I can feel that Fylson is using his Divine Energy in a strange manner? In fact, it's slightly covering the Rascol."

Litian nodded as he explained, "That's correct. Other than simply showing that you're stronger or that you can treat it well, you can also use your Divine Energy to make the Demon Beast slowly become aware of you. This is a taming technique quite complicated to master as any mistake will only make the beast angrier instead. Fylson seems to have become quite experienced with it. Without that, I doubt that he would be able to tame this Rascol at all."

Rean and Roan continued to watch as the Rascol seemed to reach a decision. It then slowly approached Fylson's hand, ready to take the Lunar Peach. Fylson, of course, was delighted to see that. For the Rascol to accept his Lunar Peach without trying to attack was proof that it was beginning to really trust him. Once that step was taken, taming the Demon Beast wouldn't be that hard anymore.

However, just as the Rascol was about to take the Lunar Peach, its eyes changed direction and looked at the man holding the peach. Soon after, it burst with Divine Energy and used its wings to try and chop Fylson's hand!

"You dare!"

Bang!

Too bad that Fylson was much stronger than it. With a single movement, he dodged the Demon Bird's attack before launching one of his own. The Rascol was sent to the ground, making the surrounding area tremble due to the impact.

Creeeee!

It then began to struggle and flap its wings everywhere. It was obvious that it had become berserk now that it felt the danger of being killed. One must remember that demon beasts didn't have sentience before the Transition Realm, so it was a normal reaction to that situation.

"Fuck!" Fylson cursed out loud before he left the protection formation. He knew that it would be useless to try and gain the Rascol's trust while it didn't calm down. However, he quickly calmed himself down as well. "It's fine. It won't be long before it takes my offer with my Divine Energy working on it."

Fylson then turned around and saw Litian there. "Oh, elder Litian. Is there something you need?"

Litian shook his head as he told Fylson, "It's not me. These two new members of the Demon Beast Taming Guild want to try and tame the Golden Rascol. They even paid the 500 Divine Stones already."

"New members?" Fylson looked at Rean and Roan and could tell that they were in the Middle Stage of the Soul Transformation Realm. "Are you Beast Tamers from some other branch?"

Rean and Roan shook their heads as Rean said in response, "It's the first time we enter a Demon Beast Taming Guild. We have never tried to tame a demon beast either."

"Hahaha!" Fylson couldn't help but laugh out loud after hearing that. "And you want to tame that Rascol? Sure, go ahead. I very much want to see how you'll do it." He worked so hard to get to this stage. Even if they did have a chance of taming the Rascol, it would definitely accept him as its master before Rean and Roan could do anything. Besides, he didn't think that they could tame it at all.

It was then that Litian and Fylson were taken aback. Rean and Roan didn't even wait for the demon beast to calm down. They simply entered the protection formation while it was still raging around. The twins didn't care too much, though.

The Golden Rascol obviously noticed Rean and Roan's arrival, so it immediately attacked.

Creeeeee!

However...

Bang!

Roan immediately pummeled it to the ground, breaking many of its bones in the process. Roan could fight head-on against Saint Realm and Stage Seven Demon Beasts. A simple Stage Five Demon Beast couldn't possibly show him any resistance.

"What?!" Litian and Fylson were shocked by that. "What are you doing?! If you kill it, then there's no point in trying to tame it at all!"

Death... and me

Chapter 1048: Investment

The Rascol tried to get up, but Roan pinned it to the ground with his feet. At the same time, Dark Element entered the bird's body, making it feel extreme pain. He then looked at the bird's eyes before telling it, "See if I don't take your life if you cause more chaos."

The bird didn't have sentience, but its most primitive instincts told the Demon Bird that it should absolutely not anger that foe. Once Roan took his feet off the Demon Bird, it didn't even dare to move. Not because it was seriously injured, but because it was too afraid to do so.

Rean sighed as he moved forward and told Roan, "You could have been a little more gentle, you know?"

"Hmph!" Roan snorted in response. "I don't want to create another perverted bird."

Somewhere in Lukimira Sect, a certain Minokawa sniffed.

Rean then touched the bird's body with a smile before a burst of Light Element began to enter its body.

'Life Style, Second Form, Instant Recovery!'

The bird couldn't help but cry in delight. Light Element just felt way too good, especially after it had experienced what Dark Element could do. The bird's bones quickly mended as the injuries closed. Roan's Dark Element was also purged from there. Once Rean was finally done, the Rascol looked at him as if it was its savior.

Creee, creee!

It then rubbed its enormous head against Rean, showing quite the passion. At the same time, it tried to not look at Roan.

"Hahaha!" Rean laughed out loud after seeing how the Rascol moved. "Alright, alright. He won't beat you up anymore. However, you have to do as we say, okay?"

Fylson and Litian both had their mouths agape, especially Fylson. He had been trying to get the bird's trust for so, so long. Out of nowhere, two guys who had never tried to tame a demon beast did it in just a few minutes. How could he not be shocked? "Impossible! They must be cheating! No, perhaps the bird is pretending! Yes, it must be one of the two!"

Rean heard it from inside the protection formation, so he told Fylson, "That's not it. I just saw you using your Divine Energy to envelope the Golden Rascol gently. So, while I was healing it, I did the same thing. The difference is that I made it feel so good that all doubts disappeared from its mind."

Roan glanced at Rean, telling him, "You do know that it was its fear for me that made this method work quickly, right?"

Rean nodded in response. "I know. Extreme fear and salvation. At the same time, enveloping it with my Divine Energy and Light Element while healing its injuries. The combination of the three processes was what made me get its trust so easily."

Rean then looked at Litian and Fylson and continued, "Well, there are two more big reasons."

"What is it?" Fylson and Litian obviously became curious.

"First, the cultivation difference. If this Demon Bird was at the same level as us, Stage Six, then it wouldn't be this easy. That was the part where Litian told us to show that we are far stronger. Well, Roan was mostly responsible for that."

Rean added, "The second reason is its lack of sentience. It's just following its instincts, which is saying that it can be safe as long as it stays with me. My brother's Dark Element definitely made it experience the greatest fear of its life. I'm its last bastion...or something like that?"

There was another reason Rean didn't say. The fact that one had to have an affinity to Light Element. Simply using Yang Energy to control Light Element wouldn't get even close to the result he got.

It was then that Litian noticed something. "Wait! Light and Dark Element?! Are you perhaps..."

Rean then raised his hands as he told Litian, "Stop right there. We don't want to catch too much attention."

Litian and Fylson's mouths twitched in response. Not catch much attention? You just tamed an extremely annoying Demon Bird at Stage Five in a single try! Is there any other way to get more attention in the Demon Beast Taming Guild than that?!

Sure enough, Litian and Fylson weren't the only ones watching. This was the Demon Beast Taming Guild. Naturally, it had a lot of them walking around. Now that Rean and Roan tamed the Golden Rascal in a single try, it naturally raised an uproar in the surroundings as the word spread. It didn't take long for everyone to understand who those two guys were due to their Dark and Light Element, either.

"They look very different..."

"But it's the Dark and Light Element. It has to be them, right?"

"Considering what they did in the assembly, I'm not surprised they can do such a thing here either."

"Does that mean Dark and Light Elements can be used to tame demon beasts straight away?"

"Does it matter? It's not like any of us can use those elements."

"We can still try to use Yin and Yang Energy to do what they did."

Seeing that it was useless to hide much longer, Rean and Roan decided to leave straight away. They already got the Demon Bird, so that was enough. However, they were barred from doing so.

"Wait right there!"

Suddenly, another elder of the guild appeared there.

The twins looked at him with confusion as Rean asked him, "Is there a problem?"

The elder nodded. "Of course, there is! You can't leave like that after what you've done. Come with me."

Rean and Roan looked at each other before doing as the elder said. After all, this was the Demon Beast Taming Guild. They couldn't just do as they pleased. As for the Golden Rascol, Rean left it there as he knew it wouldn't try to escape anywhere.

A few minutes later, Rean and Roan returned. However, there was a difference now. Their badges...had five stars on them! "So that's what it was all about. Since they tamed a Stage Five Demon Beast, they became Five Star Demon Beast Tamers."

The elder who upgraded their badges also added, "You can use this badge in all Demon Beast Taming Guilds. It also has some good perks, like borrowing demon beasts, getting better deals, no fees for entering cities, and so on. Make sure you don't lose them."

The twins nodded before they jumped on the Golden Rascol's back. With that, they took off under the eyes of all the tamers there, most of them looking at the two with envy.

Fylson, especially, felt quite distraught. "So much work and 500 Divine Stones, gone, just like that."

Litian patted his shoulder in consolation. "Don't forget who those two brothers are. They're not simple."

Fylson nodded. "I guess you're right." Soon after, he changed his mind. "Forget it. I'll try to tame a Stage Five Demon Beast in their territory. That will serve much more than trying to tame confined ones."

Fylson then left as the crowd dispersed. Litian, on the other hand, couldn't help but ask the elder, "They had to use both their abilities to tame that demon beast. Is it really okay to promote them to Five Star Beast Tamers?"

The elder nodded as he told Litian, "Think about the future. If they can do that already, how much better will they fare in the future as their cultivation rises? For the Beast Taming Guild, this is an investment."

Hearing that, Litian didn't say anything else.

Death... and me

Chapter 1049: Newcomers

The Demon Birds that came from the Beast Taming Guild were considered part of the guild as well. Because of that, they could fly in and out of the city as the guards knew that Beast Tamers that could get such demon beasts had a free pass because of the guild.

Rean and Roan, obviously, exited through the north side on their Golden Rascol, disappearing off into the distance after some time. As they flew ahead, Roan couldn't help but say, "This Golden Rascol is so slow."

Rean shrugged his shoulders in response. "There's no helping it. We got used to flying with Kentucky every time we needed him. Kentucky is a Divine Demon Beast, not to mention he has some connection with the system as well. His flight speed is always an entire realm above his cultivation level. On the other hand, this Golden Rascol is only a common Stage Five Demon Beast. It can't possibly be as good as Kentucky. It would need to go up two stages for it to match Kentucky's speed."

Roan knew that Rean was right. "Anyway, with Kentucky, we would take somewhere around a month to arrive. By foot, it would be eight months. As for this Rascol..."

Rean pondered over it for a bit before saying, "Probably three to four months. It's still much faster than we would be by foot, after all. There are no obstacles to care about."

Roan nodded in agreement. "Kilas City should be just two or so days away by flight then."

"Are we stopping there or passing through?" Rean asked.

Roan then looked at the Rascol under his feet. "We better stop since this Rascol wouldn't be able to fly for much longer without rest. We can make a quick stop on each city along the way to do the same thing."

To make sure nothing would stop their travel, Rean activated his Light and Divine Sense bending skill, turning the Golden Rascol invisible from the skies. Thanks to that, their travel to Kilas City was quite smooth.

Kilas City wasn't much different from Cosec, also being considered a 'small' city. When the guards of the south gate saw the Golden Rascol approaching, they didn't even try to intervene as they knew it could only be done by the Demon Beast Taming Guild.

Rean and Roan then landed by the guild's branch, where they let the Golden Rascol rest while they went out to get some extra information. Because they didn't expect to take another Demon Bird, they also took the chance to resupply food for their Rascol.

Everything went smoothly in Kilas City until a few hours later. When the twins came back to take the Rascol again, there seemed to be two cultivators waiting for them. Roan kept quiet as always, letting Rean do the talk. "Errr...do you need something from our Golden Rascol?"

The two cultivators were a female and a male. Naturally, their attention was taken when Rean called them. "Oh, hi! We've been waiting for you. The worker responsible for your Golden Rascol told us that you're planning to travel straight to Giliga City north from here. Is that true?"

Rean nodded in response. They told the worker that so that he could prepare the Golden Rascol for the long ride. That's because Giliga City was much further away than Cosec was from Kilas. They didn't want to stop if not necessary. "That's true."

The male there then made a request. "Would you mind giving us a ride? We can pay, of course."

Rean couldn't help but ask in response, "Why would you ask us? Couldn't you take one of the guild's transports to Giliga? "

The man shook his head in response. "They can't. Giliga is too far away, so we would need to make a few stops in other smaller cities. Simply put, we would have to travel in an arc instead of heading straight there. Considering your demon beast's level, we would take one week and a half to get to Giliga. If we took the other route, it would take us a full month. We don't want to wait this long if possible."

Roan glanced at the two of them for a moment. Although most people wouldn't notice it, he could tell that those two seemed concerned about something. He then used Rean's Divine Sense bending skill on those two as they were very close.

Of course, this was the Demon Beast Taming Guild. Many cultivators were walking around and using their Divine Senses. However, the moment Roan did that, he felt that one of those Divine Senses began to approach quickly until its owner stopped somewhere further away, trying not to be seen. Roan didn't need to look in the onlooker's direction to know that he was watching these two. 'Oh-ho...'

Rean was just about to refuse them when suddenly, Roan raised his hand. "Fine. However, that will depend on how much you pay. As you know, we will pass through the demon beasts' territory if we do that. It's also because of this that the other Beast Tamers aren't willing to travel straight to Giliga. That should show you the risks of this journey."

Rean was surprised to hear that. Since when did Roan like to help strangers? He would rather pretend they don't even exist in a normal situation. 'Could it be that his heart began to change because of Calina?'

[Hmph! As if! The Realm of Gods will be devoid of Gods before that happens.] Sister Orb answered straight away.

Rean nodded in agreement. 'That's true. Ice blocks don't have emotions.'

Roan felt nothing more than giving these two a beating. He was sure that they knew he had a reason for this action. Nevertheless, they didn't let a chance to test his patience pass up as neither one tried to hide their voices at all.

The man and the woman were delighted to hear Roan's words, though. "Sure, sure! How much would it cost?"

Roan then looked at Rean, who was responsible for the financial affairs. "Hmm...such a long journey through the usual path would cost you 30 to 40 Divine Stones. Since we're doing this much more dangerous one...how about a hundred Divine Stones?"

They immediately nodded without even thinking. "Deal!"

Death... and me

Chapter 1050: They are Lying

Rean nodded as he asked Roan through their Soul Connection, 'So, why would you suddenly let them come with us?'

'They're being pursued,' Roan answered.

Rean and Sister Orb were surprised to hear that. 'Just that? That can't be right!'

[Yes! There's no way you would go out of your way just because someone else is having problems!]

Roan confirmed their suspicions as he told them in response, 'Obviously! You know very well that I'm far from being some good samaritan.' Roan then glanced in the direction that this duo's pursuers were watching. 'It seems like the ones pursuing them are part of the City Lord of Kila City. The guy watching them from far away just so happens to be using the uniform of those from the City Lord's mansion.' Rean and Roan had walked through the city during the last few hours, so they had seen the members of the City Lord's mansion wearing the same uniforms.

Rean found it weird. 'That doesn't make sense. If the City Lord's forces have a problem with them, there's no way they would do something like following them from behind.'

Roan nodded in agreement. 'Exactly. They could totally come out in the open and apprehend these two. No one would stop them as few could put up an argument with the City Lord's mansion.'

Rean then smiled as he finally understood what was happening. 'No wonder you want to help. You just find it interesting. What could possibly be happening? Now even I want to know.'

Rean then looked at the duo before asking, "Now then, what're your names?"

The man was the first to answer, introducing himself to the two. "I'm Fatax Puki."

Of course, the young woman introduced herself after. "You can call me Eminia Puki."

Rean didn't find their names a surprise. "I could indeed see some semblance between you two. So, you're siblings, huh? By the way, you can call me Rean. The rock on my side is Roan."

Roan simply nodded in response, not even bothering to answer Rean's comment.

Rean then looked at the Demon Beast Taming Guild's worker before asking, "Hey, friend. Is our Golden Rascol ready to go?"

The guy, who had been waiting for Rean's group to end their conversation, nodded as he replied, "Yes, Senior Rean and Roan." The man showed a decent level of respect as he knew that the twins were Five Star Beast Tamers. "Your Golden Rascol was a little strained from its flight from Cosec City. It seems like it had been confined for quite sometime before that as well. However, I applied a lotion on his body to help with its recovery. It also took a pill to help with its blood circulation during the next flight. It should be able to fly continuously for four or so days before it needs to stop and rest."

The twins were very satisfied with that. "Very good. How much was the service?"

"These kinds of simple services are free for Five Star Beast Tamers and above, sirs," the worker replied. "People like you are the ones who bring most of the guild's incomes, so we keep these services as rewards."

Rean pondered over it for a bit and understood. The Beast Taming Guild was responsible for many travels and other services using high-level demon beasts. When anyone came to ask for these services, they must first pay a fee to the guild before looking for the tamer. No doubt Fatax and Eminia already paid their own. Otherwise, they wouldn't be allowed to be in this place. "Is that so? Then, I'll thank you very much."

Rean and Roan then jumped on the Golden Rascol's back and looked at the brother and sister duo. "Are you coming or not? We have finished everything we had to do in this city already."

"Yes, yes! We don't have anything else to do either." The siblings quickly jumped on the Golden Rascol's back before they passed a bag to Rean. Inside, Rean found the 100 Divine Stones they had agreed upon.

"Very good. This is quite a windfall since Roan and I didn't expect to make any profit during this travel." Rean quickly put the Divine Stones away before patting the Golden Rascol's feathers, telling it, "Little Rascal, let's go."

"Ras...cal?" The siblings couldn't help but find that name slightly hilarious.

Roan narrowed his eyes after hearing Rean's words. "You complain about me naming the pervert bird Kentucky. But here you are, naming it Rascal just because the names are similar."

"Exactly!" Rean didn't deny it at all. "It's at least better than KFC's fried chicken."

Rascal didn't really understand much, but he knew that it was time to fly, so it quickly took off. Once again, the twins made their way through the city's north side, not being stopped as they were high-level members of the Beast Taming Guild.

Once they flew a hundred kilometers away from the city, Rean finally took his time to check Fatax and Eminia. Both of them had slightly greenish features, which extended to their hairs. If one didn't pay close attention, one would definitely think they were humans. Of course, that wasn't the case. "So, what race are you from?" Rean and Roan definitely had seen a lot less than most people, so it was normal for them to be curious.

"Oh, we're part of the Graskin Race," Eminia answered.

"Graskin Race?" Rean had definitely not heard of that race before. Well, he wasn't surprised by that anyway. "Does your race have any specialty?"

Eminia and Fatax nodded before Fatax answered, "We're very good at controlling the Wood Element."

"Oh! The fusion of Earth and Water Element, right?" Rean asked back. He had rarely seen people with this specific element usage. The one that he remembered the most was the guy he and Roan fought back in Sunkan Planet.

Fatax and Eminia nodded in response. "Indeed. However, we don't really need to do the fusion. Wood Element comes as a natural trait for us."

"I see...the Realm of Gods is really full of wonders," Rean could not help but say in response.

Roan narrowed his eyes, though. These siblings could have fooled anyone else. However, it's not easy when it came to Death. 'They are lying.'
