Death... and me

Chapter 2321: Down We Go

Rean then looked inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm and quickly found Silia talking to some members of the Freedom Sect. 'To think she would not follow Malo and the others... Oh well, that's her choice.' Rean quickly took his attention away and left the place.

Through the use of several spatial teleportations, Rean moved to another region until he reached another Demon Beast City. Changing his appearance once again, he made use of the Long-Distance Teleport Formation there, going straight to the Humanoid Races' Territory.

Rean then entered the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm somewhere concealed. He had to talk to the others about the next phase of their plans. "So, we are going to enter the cracks of the Continental Barrier, right?"

[Yes,] Sister Orb answered. [Although I don't think the Continental Barriers are connected to any Fragments, it might hold a clue. So far, some of our Fragments have been found in places where huge disturbances happened. What greater disturbance was there than the disappearance of the Continental Barriers?]

Roan nodded. "Indeed. That's why I decided to go down and see what is at the end of the cracks. Are they all connected to the same place? Are they fuelled by different sources? Now that we don't have the power to go after the fragments we know, we might as well investigate other locations."

Rean then looked in the direction where the Freedom Sect's new members, the previous Dalamu and the other Sect Forces, were located. Naturally, Turen and Harmalia were there as well. "What about mother? She came here because she wanted to meet Rana. Are we going to postpone it, or should we go see Rana first before going down?"

Roan pondered a bit. "Theoretically speaking, it doesn't really matter which Crack of the Continental Barrier we use. Even if we go back to where Rana lives, we could use the cracks there."

However, Luan quickly raised a concern. "Father, Fluki told me that the Continental Barriers in the Center of the Realm of Gods are a lot more powerful than the cracks far away. Doesn't that mean we would be traveling really far away from this supposed source?"

"They are?" Rean and the others looked at Luan.

Luan nodded, and he closed his eyes to talk to Fluki. A moment later, Fluki came out of Luan's Sea of Consciousness, appearing in front of everyone. "Indeed, they are," said Fluki. "It isn't that hard to accept, is it? The Continental Barriers far away from the Center are truly nothing much compared to the ones here. I don't know if they all lead to the same location, but if they do, can you imagine just how far your journey will be if you enter them through the faraway cracks?"

Roan had to admit Fluki's words made sense. "I guess we can only ask Mother to see if she minds waiting for a while."

Rean found it weird. "Can't we simply teleport there, leave Mother, and teleport back? We definitely have the Divine Stones to pay for the teleportation."

"I guess the question here is whether your Mother wants to leave your side, no?" Kentucky asked back. "Perhaps she wants you all to stay together. If she asks for it, what will you do?"

Rean and Roan narrowed their eyes. It was quite hard to deny Hamarlia's request. Yet, Rana is the Fairy Queen of her village. She can't simply leave the Fairies behind, either. It was then that Rean had an idea. "Now that I think about it, we have a lot of Demon Beasts, plenty of cultivators, but we don't have a single Spirit living in the Dimensional Realm. Spirits are also a good addition to the Dimensional Realm."

"You mean to bring Rana's Fairies to live in the Dimensional Realm as well?" Roan asked.

[That shouldn't be a problem from my side,] said Sister Orb. [The Dimensional Realm is imitating a real planet. We even have a fake sun, so why not Spirits?]

Rean and Roan nodded in the end. It was worth trying. Nonetheless, they still found it better to go down the crack first. After all, it wasn't guaranteed that Rana would agree to leave her home. "Let's talk to Mother about it."

Everyone dispersed as Rean and Roan went to find Hamarlia. Turen would agree to anything, so they only need her permission. "Hum? Sure, why not?"

"Eh?!" The twins were taken aback. "We didn't expect you to accept this easily."

Hamarlia shook her head. "Didn't you say she is a queen now? For her to have these many responsibilities shows that she can totally live on her own. Sure, I want to meet her. However, I also know you have a lot of important things to do. We can meet her later."

Rean and Roan obviously accepted it. "Thanks."

Hamarlia smiled and then stuffed two small bowls in the twins' hands. "Alright, then go do your things. Here, take these two deserts. I know you love them."

Rean and Roan were surprised to see it. Just how many times had they dreamed about eating Hamarlia's deserts during all these years? They already lost count. Happily, they both cleaned the desert, putting a smile on their faces. Yes, even Roan couldn't help but smile a little.

*Zush, zush, zush, zush...*

Outside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm, four figures appeared in mid-air. They were Rean, Roan, Kentucky, and Luan. They all looked in a specific direction before Kentucky returned to his original form. Rean, Roan, and Luan jumped on his back. Right after, Kentucky shot into the distance.

A few hours later, a gigantic crevice that extended as far as they could see appeared ahead. Using their Divine Sense Bending Skill, they confirmed no one was nearby and descended in front of it.

Kentucky then looked down from its border. "This shit is really deep. Even I can't see the end of it with my eyes."

Rean nodded. "It seems like Divine Sense is pretty useless, too. I can only spread it up to three and a half kilometers down."

Roan wasn't surprised. "Divine Sense never worked well at the Continental Barriers anyway, so that's to be expected."

Luan changed his vision to the elemental world. "Well, it is the same as when the barrier is active. All elements are pretty much a mess inside this place. The only difference is that the energy that creates the Continental Barrier isn't present."

Finally, they looked at each other and nodded. "Down we go."

Death... and me

Chapter 2322: Down the Crack

The place they selected to go down was known to have one of the strongest Continental Barriers. That said, it could have two reasons. One, it is closer to the source of the Continental Barrier Energy, or the channels that connect to that place are far wider. Regardless of the reason, both options were a good choice to select this entrance.

But then again, the twins' group was already prepared for a long journey. First, there was no way to use Spatial Gates here since you couldn't fix a point of exit. And second, considering that the Continental Barriers extended all the way to the end of the Realm of Gods, even if they entered it here, it was bound to be a long distance to the source.

As they went down the crack, they quickly noticed that not only did the elements get more chaotic, but Space itself became very hard to predict. Luan rubbed his eyes, trying to make sense of what he was seeing. "Father, I'm not going to be of much help here. All this chaos is making me pretty much blind when I'm looking at the Elemental World."

Roan didn't mind. "It's fine. We didn't really expect things to go easier here. Just keep a look out and speak if you notice something."

At first, they didn't notice any dangers. Other than the chaotic elemental environment, they didn't find anything that could make them wary. Just like that, they kept descending to this endless path down the earth. However, after four days of going down, the first signs of change began to appear.

"This is..." Rean was surprised to notice the first signs of light. After going this far, the light from the surface had long since disappeared. They were using Rean Light Element to illuminate their path since their Divine Senses were pretty much useless.

Specs of color light began to appear on the walls of the passage. Rean got very close and grabbed one of them. Their Divine Sense might not be able to go very far, but it definitely could reach a few meters. Rean analyzed those specs of light but couldn't make out what it was. "It doesn't look like to be any kind of ore."

Roan took one of those specs of light and felt like he had seen something similar in the past. "Hum... Doesn't this thing remind you of that guy?"

Rean, Kentucky, and Luan looked at Roan, confused. "What guy?"

Roan took a few more of them to check. "The Flash Beast... Or, to be more precise, the Convergence Crystal where it was born."

Rean narrowed his eyes and thought about the past. Back then, they did meet a Flash Beast. No, that's not entirely correct. What they found was the Convergence Crystal, where the Flash Beast was growing inside. They used the Convergence Crystal's natural output of energy to make the Triple Layer Formation.

At that time, only Rean went down the caves to find that Convergence Crystal. Still, as their souls were connected, Rean shared his memories with Roan during the event. That's how Roan was able to feel the familiarity with these specs of light.

"I see..." Rean had to admit that these specks of colored light did remind him of the Convergence Crystal. "The most accepted reason for the appearance of Flash Beasts was the regulation purpose. If that's the case, I don't see why there would be a Convergence Crystal in this place."

Roan shook his head. "I'm not saying that this thing came from a Convergence Crystal, that it reminds of one. I might be completely wrong. Still, each of these colored specs does have all the elements." Roan then looked down. "In any case, we can try to find the answer further down. There is definitely a long way to go still."

Things continued the same way for over a week. To be fair, the twins' group could have reached this distance in a day's worth of time. However, that would also mean not being careful with what they could find here. Roan would never allow that, especially since their Divine Senses were restricted here.

*Bzzz...*

Suddenly, a flash of colored light appeared in their vision. It only lasted a second before it darted further down. "What was that?"

Everyone shook their heads. None of them could make out what it was. "Let's continue."

*Bzzz... Flash... Trumm...*

More and more of those flashes appeared, and every single one of them shot further down the path. It was as if they were fleeing from the twins' group. If Rean and the others used all their speed, they could probably match the flashes of light, but they kept going down slowly. If anything, they reduced their descent speed.

"Kentucky, you go ahead. We will stay on your back," Roan suddenly said.

"What?!" Kentucky obviously didn't like it. "Why me?"

Everyone looked at Kentucky. "Isn't that obvious? You have the highest defense between all of us. If something attacks us, you have the highest chance of survival."

"You are just sacrificing me!" Kentucky retirmed.

"Yeap." Rean, Roan, and Luan didn't hide it.

"Fuck that! I'm not going!" Kentucky immediately went behind the twins and Luan.

"Sigh..." Rean sighed after seeing Kentucky's answer. "And here I thought the Great Kentucky was something. Well, whatever. I'll go ahead since I can heal myself easier."

Roan and Luan nodded. "Such a disappointment of a Regal Bloodline."

Kentucky totally knew they were provoking him. Still, he simply couldn't hold it back. "Fine! Get the fuck out of the way! The Great Kentucky will show you what courage really means."

Kentucky returned to his Minokawa Form and let everyone jump on his back, seeing them all smiling... Well, Roan's smile was cold and more like a sentence of death. "I hate myself..."

Kentucky then hardened his Feather Blades and Scales, descending with everyone on his back. More and more of those lights kept running away as their group approached, and it continued like that for another three days.

However, the situation changed on the fourth.

*Kabrum!*

A thick bolt of colored lightning suddenly came from the darkness below, so fast that Kentucky simply couldn't dodge at all.

*Boom!*

Kentucky, as well as Rean, Roan, and Luan on his back, were sent flying backward.

Death... and me

Chapter 2323: That was Close

*Ouch!*

Several of Kentucky's Blade Feathers, as well as his Dragon Scales, were instantly broken. His blood then came out of the hole caused by the colored lightning as Sparks of colored Lightning still remained on the injury.

'Life Style, Instant Recovery!'

Light Element quickly gathered around Kentucky's injury. However, to his surprise, he wasn't able to heal himself at all. No, it wasn't that he couldn't help, but that the colored lightning power around his injury made it hundreds of times slower than normal.

*Brum!*

Another bolt of Colored Lightning came right after, this one even bigger than the previous. Kentucky, who was still trying to stabilize himself from the first strike, simply had no time to pose any defense.

'Death Style, Death Scythe!'

'Life Fire, Flame Emperor Sword!'

Yet, Rean and Roan definitely wouldn't wait for Kentucky to be heavily injured. Rean, as the one who created the Instant Recovery Skill, could tell better than anyone else just how formidable the chaotic energy in that lightning was to affect his Instant Recovery Skill to that extent.

Rean and Roan's weapons collided with the Colored Lightning. They didn't hold back on the counterattack, using their Sky Energy, Weapon Intent, and all the power of their bodies. If something could breach Kentucky's defenses that easily, then it had to be really powerful.

The twins were forced back several tens of meters as the power of the lightning dispersed. Sure enough, even their combined effort was only enough to match the power of the lightning, not to surpass it. "Retreat!"

Roan didn't think twice and immediately shot back up from where they came. Rean, Roan, and Kentucky followed suit. Fortunately, Kentucky's injury didn't impair his ability to flight, so he didn't fall behind. Luan was holding onto Kentucky's back, so his lower cultivation didn't matter at the moment.

However...*

*Kabrum! Kabrum!*

Another two bolts of Colored Lightning came after them. It wouldn't be a problem at first since they were expecting the attacks to continue. However, what they didn't expect was that the next two bolts of lightning came from above, the same path they took to arrive here!

"Fuck!" Their group quickly realized that the direction they chose didn't matter anymore. These bolts of lightning seemed to be able to come from both directions.

Suddenly, Cellis appeared outside. "You two, stop the lightning from above. I'll take care of the lightning Below with Kentucky!" He then joined forces with Kentucky and attacked the lightning below.

Rean and Roan nodded and once again counterattacked the lightning coming from above.

'Death Scythe!'

'Flame Emperor Sword!'

'Vine Assault!'

'Feather Blade Storm!'

The waves of Light and Dark Elements soared up while a mix of thick vines and countless Blade-like Feathers rushed below.

*Boom, boom!*

Both sides were forced back against each other.

Suddenly, two beasts appeared in their range of vision. Their bodies were made of pure energy, with sparks of colored lightning running all over their bodies.

Sister Orb immediately warned the twins. [Holy shit! Two Flash Beasts!]

"What?!" Rean's group was taken aback. One must remember that in the past, Rean only saw the Convergence Crystal, not the Flash Beast inside it. Naturally, they didn't know what it looked like. Well, now they know.

*Roar!*

Both Flash Beast immediately threw themselves against Rean and Roan's group. Tens of thick Bolts of Colored Lightning came from everywhere in their bodies, crashing down against their group.

One bolt was troublesome, while two were already the limit of what their group could deal with at the same time. However, tens of them? That instantly made their group pale.

"Don't give up!"

Of course, that didn't mean they would just wait to die there.

'Death World Domain!'

'Life World Domain!'

'Kawa Blade Domain!'

'Energy Draining Domain!'

'Spatial Distortion Domain!'

Everyone immediately activated their domains, including Luan. Luan might not have the power to face those bolts of lightning, but his Spatial Distortion Domain could at least reduce their power a bit.

With all those domains working together, the bolts of lightning that entered their range instantly lost a lot of their power. Roan's Dark Element corroded most of the elements inside. Kentucky's Domain Blade Feathers appeared in front of them, forcing those bolts of lightning to destroy them before continuing forward. Cellis Domain drained as much of the Divine Energy present inside them, further reducing their power.

As for Rean's domain, it could be said to be the least useful in this situation. His domain acted mostly against enemy domains, and those beasts were not using any domain whatsoever. Nonetheless, as Rean, Roan, and Kentucky were Light Element users, it could at least increase the Light Element power inside that range.

'Death Style, Three Claws of the Dragon!'

'Kawa Divine Thrust!'

'Leaves Slaughter!'

'Life Fire, White Stellar Explosion!'

*Boom, boom, boom, boom, boom...*

The twins' group's attack and lightning bolts crashed against each other. The explosions of energy created a field of destruction that caused the lightning bolts behind to add fuel to the events. For a moment, an enormous area above and below the twins' group became forbidden lands. Chaotic elements and spatial storms due to broken space made it impossible for anyone to get close, including the Lightning Beasts themselves.

Of course, it quickly disappeared as the energy of the attacks was spent.

*Roar!*

Both Flash Beasts immediately rushed over as even more bolts of Colored Lightning came crashing against the area where the twins' group mounted their defense. Even the five domains could not stop the Flash Beasts. Yet, as soon as the Flash Beasts arrived, all domains disappeared. As for the twins' group... they were nowhere to be seen.

Both Flash beasts roared and kept releasing even more bolts of Colored Lightning, seeming furious to have lost their targets. Nonetheless, the only thing they accomplished was to destroy the walls of dirt and rocks on the sides. They continued like that for several minutes.

Yet, out of nowhere, their roars stopped, and both looked further down the abyss. As if some kind of order was sent, they quickly stopped their rampage and shot down, disappearing from sight in an instant.

Inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm, Sister Orb felt relieved to see the outcome. [Sure enough, Flash Beasts have too little intelligence. Even with the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm entrance right there, they couldn't figure out that you all escaped inside.]

The twins were above the Circuitry Teleport Formation, ready to teleport away if the Flash Beast started attacking the Dimensional Realm. Fortunately, that was not necessary. "That was close..."

Death... and me

Chapter 2324: Flexible

Kentucky and Celis sighed in relief. "No wonder Sister Orb said that only when Divinity Realm experts came out would they be able to stop the Flash Beasts. We were absolutely no match for any of those two. The only advantage is that they don't know how to use their powers correctly. Otherwise..."

Rean quickly looked at Sister Orb. "Sister Orb, those were two Flash Beasts, two! Weren't they supposed to be beasts that sought Divine Energy at all costs? How come they weren't attacking each other? Each of those Flash Beasts had a crazy amount of chaotic energy inside them. They should be trying to devour each other, no?"

Sister Orb couldn't answer. [Why are you asking me? Even a single Flash Beast is already a ridiculously rare occurrence. I have absolutely no information about two Flash Beasts appearing at the same time. How do you expect to answer why they aren't attacking each other? Perhaps they have some sense of kinship that prevents it. Or maybe their instincts are telling them that fighting each other would be too dangerous. I don't know...]

Roan immediately shook his head. "No, those two weren't completely devoid of intelligence. Didn't you see? They were attacking everything around them when they suddenly stopped. They looked deeper into this crack, and as if something was calling them, they immediately left. That was not the kind of action a mindless beast would demonstrate."

Sister Orb was showing the outside world to everyone, so they saw what happened outside. Because those Flash Beasts didn't use any Spatial Type attacks, the entrance of the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm didn't receive any attacks. Those bolts of lightning could cause space itself to break around them. Still, without knowing exactly where to aim, it wasn't of much use.

Kentucky then looked up. "Well, I guess this pretty much decides it, no? Let's go back. There is no way we can go further down with those things right there."

Celis agreed with Kentucky. "He is right. As Sister Orb explained in the past, Flash Beasts can sense Divine Energy. Their own lives depend on Divine Energy, after all. It's a type of tracking ability that we can not hide. If we go out again, the Divine Energy in our Dantians and Demon Cores will be the same as a beacon of light in the middle of Darkness. Even Rean's Light and Divine Sense Bending Skill won't be able to hide it."

They were all curious as to why there were Flash Beasts deep inside the cracks where the Continental barrier originates. Unfortunately, they simply didn't have the strength to investigate further.

However, Roan shook his head. "It doesn't matter anymore. Didn't you see? A Flash Beast appeared on our backs without us even noticing. Regardless if we go up or down, it doesn't seem likely we can escape. We have gone down for three days straight since the fragments of Convergence Crystals appeared."

"We can simply use the Circuitry Teleport Formation... or so I wanted to say," Rean lamented. "Unfortunately, the Continental Barrier remnant energy is keeping all the Elements and energy in a chaotic state, which includes space. If we use it, we will be teleported somewhere randomly in this universe."

Kentucky quickly raised his wing. "I still vote to go up. We can keep hiding in the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm every time they appear. Sooner or later, we will leave the range of their senses."

Roan admitted that it might be their only option. However, he noticed that Luan seemed to be in deep thought on his side. "What is it, Luan?"

"Ah!" Luan was startled by Roan's sudden call. "Sorry, Father. I was just thinking... How come these Flash Beasts never came out before? Is there anything here that prevents them from going out?"

Roan understood what Luan meant. "Are you saying that we might also be trapped down here?"

Luan nodded before continuing. "Indeed. Otherwise, Continental Barrier Spirits like Fluki wouldn't be able to live. They are spirits, and spirits are basically Energy Life Forms. Sister Orb said that the Continental Barriers prevented the Flash Beasts from sensing Divine Energy on the other side. But what if they are inside? Still, they didn't go out."

"We can only give it a try," said Kentucky. "Let's go up and see if we will really be barred." In any case, he truly didn't want to go down anymore.

Roan felt somewhat unwilling. He truly wanted to see what could cause the Continental Barrier's disappearance. However, he wasn't going to just put himself in such great danger for his curiosity. "Alright, let's try to go up first."

Around an hour later, Rean appeared outside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm. He waited this long to make sure the Flash Beasts wouldn't come back. Right after, he flew upwards as fast as he could. Since hiding Divine Energy wasn't possible, he might as well use as much as he could to leave this place quickly.

However, the flashes of colored light that they saw going down were now going up. Just like before, it was as if they were trying to avoid Rean, who was alone this time. Roan and the others observed from inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm as Rean went up. However, it was then that Rean noticed something further up.

All the flashes of colored light he had seen running away from him seemed to gather together. Or, to be more precise, they simply couldn't go up anymore. When Rean approached, they chose another direction, flying sideways instead. Rean tried to grab one of them, but they were too fast, even for his speed at the Elemental Space Realm Peak Stage.

Rean then shook his head and continued to go up. However...

*Ugh...*

Rean felt like his body was trying to fly through some kind of Invisible Flexible Wall. The further ahead he went, the stronger the force was trying to push him down. Finally, he was lost in the struggle, and his body bounced back like a comet. It took him quite a distance to stabilize his body. "What the hell is this shit?"

Death... and me

Chapter 2325: Leave it to Me

Roan appeared outside and tried the same thing. However, he was also pushed back after he reached the limit of his strength. Roan gathered his Dark Element and tried to see if he could destroy that barrier, but it was all for nothing. "Just like Luan said, the Flash Beasts simply can't go out."

Rean nodded. "Where do we go from here? Further down, we have Flash Beasts. As for the sides... could there be an exit?"

"If there was, these flashes of colored light would have found it already," said Roan.

Rean had to admit Roan was right. "Indeed. I'm still curious about what they are, though. However, they are too fast even for me."

Roan understood what Rean wanted. "You think there is something to be gained from those things?"

Rean didn't hide it. "Yes. As to whether it will help us going out or not, that I don't know."

*Roar!*

Suddenly, they heard the roar of one of the Flash Beasts.

*Roar!*

The flash beast appeared in an instant, arriving exactly where Rean and Roan were located a moment ago. However, it couldn't see anything. This time, however, it didn't start to send bolts of colored lightning everywhere like the other two did before.

Seeing that, Roan began to get an idea about how developed their intelligence was. "It seems like they at least understand that if there is no target, there is no need to spend their energy. They are definitely more intelligent than the ones from Sister Orb's information."

The Flash Beasts didn't stay for long before quickly turning around and shooting into the distance. Seeing that, Rean narrowed his eyes. "Weird... how come it only appeared now? I mean, I spent quite some time going up and didn't hold back with my Divine Energy. Yet, it only appeared after you came out as well."

"Could it be that it needs more than one source of Divine Energy to act?" Roan understood where Rean was coming from.

Celis doubted that, though. "I doubt that's the case. If I'm not wrong, the secret is behind those Flashes of Colored Light that keep running away. Haven't you thought about it? What if those things are what gives birth to the Convergence Crystals where the Flash Beasts are born?"

Celis continued. "Roan said the fragments of Convergence Crystals that we find on the walls remind him of the Convergence Crystal from back then. But what if they have never been a Convergence Crystal before?"

Rean understood. "I see... If you gather enough of them, you could possibly create a Convergence Crystal. And by the time the Crystal is created, those Flashes of Colored Light enter it, where they began to grow."

Celis nodded. "It would also explain why the Flash Beasts appear randomly in the continents. There is no way you would ever know where a Convergency Crystal would take form. Chances are that once a Convergency Crystal is created, the power of the Continental Barrier expels it out. How it gets through that barrier that you found, I don't know, but everything else can be explained like this."

"So..." Kentucky was a little confused. "Does that mean those Flashes of Colored Light are very small Flash Beasts? In that case, couldn't they be the reason why the Flash Beasts found us?"

Everyone had to admit Kentucky's words made sense. "That's very likely."

Sister Orb still warned them, though. [However, there is no doubt that Concentrated Divine Energy also attracts Flash Beasts. Even if you avoid being noticed by the small Flash Beasts, if you get close enough to a big one, you will be found. Besides, if those small Flashes of Colored Light are truly Flash Beasts, they might be able to detect Divine Energy just like the big ones, so it might be impossible to hide from them, too.]

Rean pondered a bit and finally decided. "Alright, I haven't tried to use my Light and Divine Sense yet because of the Flash Beasts. If the Small ones don't have this ability to perceive Divine Energy, then it might work. Let's wait for a while, and then I'm going out alone again. If they still run away as soon as I get close, then we know they can detect Concentrated Divine Energy like my Dantian."

No one had any complaints against Rean's plan. After another hour and no signs of Flash Beasts, Rean finally exited the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm again. As soon as he appeared, two flashes of light immediately ran away. Rean didn't mind, though. He still had some time. He immediately activated his Light and Divine Sense Skill and completely disappeared from sight.

Rean looked down and took a deep breath. Just like before, he began to descend. It didn't take long before Rean noticed another one of the small Flashes of Colored Light they thought were small Flash Beasts. However, it didn't run away like before. Instead, it kept floating as if it had no destination in mind.

Rean passed by it, and just as he got around ten meters of distance from it, the small Flash Beast seemed to notice something and immediately darted away. Rean didn't waste time and quickly entered the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm. "Did you see that?"

Roan nodded. "It only noticed your presence when you were very close to it. That action has two meanings. First, it can indeed feel the presence of Divine Energy. However, its sensorial ability is extremely limited. I don't know if all small Flash Beasts have the same sensorial range, but it is safe to guess that as long as you avoid them, they will not find you."

"Second, the reason they flew away as soon as they saw us before is definitely connected to visual senses. It seems like it can see perfectly well in this dark environment. Since it couldn't see you due to your Light Bending Skill, it only fled once it felt your Divine Energy in your Dantian," Roan concluded.

*Roar!*

Suddenly, a vision from the outside appeared for their group as a Flash Beast appeared where Rean was a while ago. "Sure enough, the small Flash Beasts are connected to the Big ones," Rean said.

Rean was alone during this try and definitely quite far away from the Flash Beast. Yet, it still came to this location.

With that information in mind, the next plan was obvious. "Once it goes away, use the Light Bending Skill to go down and avoid the Small Flash Beasts as much as possible."

Rean nodded. "Leave it to me."

Death... and me

Chapter 2326: Less Energy is the Way

Another hour after the Flash Beast left, Rean reappeared outside. His Light Bending Skill immediately activated, not giving any time for anything to see him before his body became invisible. Seeing that no Small Flash Beasts were nearby, Rean quickly dove down the abyss.

As he moved, he eventually found other Small Flash Beasts. However, he made sure to pass by them while staying at least a hundred meters away. Sure enough, none of them reacted, increasing Rean's confidence.

Rean had also followed a different direction than the last big Flash Beasts, hoping to not bump into it anytime soon. Finally, half a day went by, and Rean didn't meet a single big Flash Beast. Inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm, everyone was now confident that as long as they avoided the small Flash Beasts and did not get too close to a big one's sensorial range, they would not be pursued.

With his assurance that his method worked, Rean increased his speed even more. After some time, he was already traveling at the same speed that his group originally arrived.

Several days passed after this discovery. Of course, Rean ended up finding that there were many more big Flash Beasts than everyone initially expected. Whether he wanted it or not, he would eventually get close enough to a real Flash Beasts Divine Energy senses.

However, he also noticed that the small Flash Beasts never moved very fast when they were in a relaxed state. Knowing that Rean understood that any light that moved too fast was bound to be a big Flash Beast. Flash Beasts might be fast, but they didn't use the laws of space. Thanks to that, as soon as he saw any colored light around him moving too fast, he immediately threw himself inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm.

By the time the Flash Beast finally arrived at his location, it wouldn't find any target and look confused. After some time watching around, it would eventually leave, too. So far, there have been no exceptions to these rules.

Another entire month passed just like that...

"Still, even with my speed, we are getting nowhere," Rean said as he watched another Flash Beast he bumped into.

Roan nodded, agreeing with Rean's words. "It's not that we aren't moving. Instead, it's just that we can't move at full speed. If you do, you might not flee into the Dimensional Realm before the Flash Beast sees you, too. If it starts rampaging around and the Spatial Cracks caused by its random attacks hit the Dimensional Realm entrance, it might catch its attention. By then, we would be forced to teleport somewhere random in the Universe."

Roan continued. "After all, it is not because we didn't see them using Spatial Powers that they can't do it. Perhaps, due to their intelligence, they simply haven't thought about this possibility without knowing of the Dimensional Realm."

Rean looked down the endless abyss that was known as the Continental Barrier and couldn't help but narrow his eyes. "If a Spatial Gate was possible, I could have covered the same distance in a single use. But then again, even if I could use a Spatial Gate, I have no idea where I would put its exit. It's not like the outside where we simply aim it higher, and that's about it."

Roan understood that. However, he didn't have an answer for this conundrum. He then looked at Celis, who was the best of them when it came to Divine Energy. "Do you have any way of hiding Divine Energy?"

Celis was taken aback. "Me? I absorb it to accumulate as much as possible. If anything, I'm used to doing the opposite of what we need at the moment. I probably would look like an even bigger beacon to those Flash Beasts."

Well, Roan wasn't expecting a solution anyway. "Can't you make a formation that blocks Divine Energy?"

Rean shook his head. "That's the the issue. Formations to block Divine Energy are easy to make. However, Flash Beasts don't feel my Divine Energy. They sense it. It's more like a signal than my Divine Energy going out of my body for them to follow it."

Celis suddenly had an idea. "Wait! Perhaps it is possible to avoid the Flash Beasts' Perception of Divine Energy."

Everyone looked at Celis. "How?"

"Don't they come after great sources of Divine Energy?" Celis asked before continuing. "What if Rean spends most of his Dantian Divine Energy and Divine Origin Energy? Let's say... you use everything until you only have around 10% of your reserves. However, instead of replenishing it, you travel with these 10% only. Wouldn't that mean you would have a lot less Divine Energy to be sensed?"

Rean's eyes lit up! "That is definitely worth a try!"

Roan, Celis, and Kentucky were here. If there was an emergency that needed combat power, Rean could swap with them instantly. If there was something they couldn't deal with their combined force, the addition of Rean probably wouldn't make much of a difference anyway. Besides, having just 10% of his reserves didn't mean Rean was useless, either.

Everyone looked outside as they waited for the Flash Beast to leave. Meanwhile, Rean began to use all his Divine Energy and Origin Energy nonstop. He wanted to get down to 10% before the Flash Beast even left.

*Roar!*

Finally, the Flash Beast gave up and left the area, allowing Rean to continue his travel. He quickly exited an hour after the Flash Beast disappeared, activating his Light Bending Skill and moving down.

Roan and the others looked from inside the Dimensional Realm, trying to see if another one would appear.

Days passed, and all Rean did find during this time was the same small Flash Beasts. These ones were countless times more plentiful than the normal ones, after all.

However, as Rean went down, he failed to notice one of those small Flash Beasts. It was in a crack in the wall, so its light was almost the same as the fragments of Convergency Crystals. Only when Rean passed by its side did he finally notice that it was one of them. 'Not good!'

Rean was just about to enter the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm when he noticed a peculiarity. Even though he was less than ten meters away from that small Flash Beast, it didn't try to flee...

Death... and me

Chapter 2327: Hold On!

'This...' Rean began to get closer and closer to the point he was less than a meter away from the small flash beast. Still, it acted as if it simply couldn't feel Rean's presence at all. 'Could it be that I don't have enough Divine Energy and Divine Origin Energy in my dantian for it to feel my presence?'

Roan, who was watching from inside the Dimensional Realm, agreed with Rean's opinion. "That's most likely it."

Sister Took the chance to ask. [In that case, how about trying to capture one and bring it to the Dimensional Realm? You could analyze it more and perhaps find some clues.]

Kencutk couldn't help but ask. "But what if the Flash Beasts are capable of feeling these small Flash Beasts even though they are inside our Soul Gem Dimensional Realm?"

Sure enough, those words took everyone's attention.

Roan immediately looked at Sister Orb. "Sister Orb, the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm has always been able to block any type of signal from going out. It should be able to do the same with the connection between these small Flash Beasts and the Big ones, right?"

[In theory, it should. However, the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm had never held such a weird existence before. I can't 100% guarantee it. Still, I would give at least a 99% chance of it being the case. It is a different dimension and a special type one, after all.]

Roan narrowed his eyes. Even if the chance was lower than 1%, he truly didn't want to risk it.

Rean then had an idea outside. 'I don't really need to bring it into the Dimensional Realm. First, let me capture it and give a close look while staying outside. I can simply release it after and hide from the Normal Flash Beasts when they arrive. We can talk about bringing it into the Dimensional Realm later if I don't find anything.'

Seeing no issues with that plan, Roan and the others nodded.

Rean smiled and immediately prepared for action. 'Alright, I'll give it a try.'

He slowly approached his hand, trying to use the smallest amount of Divine Energy possible to keep his Light Bending Skill active around it. Just as his hand got a few centimeters away from the small flash beast, Rean acted.

*Zush!*

Rean's hand moved at lightning speed, instantly grabbing the small Flash Beast! "Haha! Got it!"

However...

"HoooooooooIIIIlyyyyyy ssshhhhiiiiitttttt!!!!!!!" The small and 'weak' Flash Beast immediately darted away. And as the one holding it, Rean was pulled together. As much as Rean tried to stop, he simply couldn't contend against the power being unleashed by that small flash beast in his hand. The speed at which it was trying to flee was even higher than Rean usually saw then using.

"Release it!" Kentucky shouted from inside the Dimensional Realm.

Roan, on the other hand, said the opposite. "Don't let it go! It will get tired sooner or later! Take that chance to check if it has any uses!"

Yet, the small flash beast's speed continued to increase. At some point, Rean couldn't even distinguish his surroundings anymore. The small flash beast had already surpassed the speed that Rean himself could achieve. 'How can this shit be so fast?!'

Fortunately, even if his reserves of Divine Energy were low, his Starlight Body was still at peak condition. It had more than enough strength to hold onto the small flash beast and not let it go.

Celis couldn't help but ask. "Won't he bump into a normal Flash Beast if he continues like that?"

Roan narrowed his eyes, thinking about the same thing. He couldn't understand where that small being was bringing out so much energy to keep such speed. But then again, size had never been a measure of energy quantity in the cultivation world. For example, a cultivator's power would increase as they trained, and they would have breakthroughs into new realms. In every new realm, they would be able to hold even more Divine Energy. Yet, their Dantians continued to be practically the same size. Who could tell if the small flash beast wasn't the same case? Small but with a ridiculous amount of energy.

Suddenly, Rean noticed he passed by a huge concentration of chaotic colored light. As soon as he did, that colored light began to pursue him. 'A Flash Beast! Fuck!'

Thick bolts of colored lightning immediately came striking down against Rean... or so Rean expected that. Yet, the small flash beast's speed had reached such a ridiculous proportion that even the normal flash beast couldn't do anything against it. All its attacks missed Rean as it roared and flew after him.

In less than a minute, that Big Flash Beast was left behind, and Rean couldn't even see its light anymore. 'I overran a Flash Beast?!'

Immediately, everyone understood. Normal Flash Beasts did have unbelievable strength, but their enormous bodies also made them much slower. That was hard to accept since even Big Flash Beasts were supposed to be made of pure energy. Nonetheless, the facts were in front of their eyes.

Yet, it wasn't like Rean could control that small Flash Beast either.

*Bang, bang, bang, bang, bang...*

*Ouch, ouch, argh, ou...*

It tried to shake Rean off, running Rean against the walls as it continued to fly down with all its might. Rean felt like crying ahead as his body crashed against the walls without stopping. Fortunately, simple crashes against the walls didn't affect Rean that much, as he used his remaining energy and his Starlight Body to resist the collision. Well, it still hurt.

Seeing it from inside the Dimensional Realm, Roan nodded in satisfaction. "Great! Now we found a great method of traveling in this place. Hold on!"

Rean immediately complained. 'Do you know how much it hurts?'

Roan heard that and pondered a bit before saying. "Great! Now we found a great method of traveling in this place. Hold on!"

'Fuck you!' Rean immediately shouted in his mind.

Death... and me

Chapter 2328: Reaching the Bottom

Even though Rean cursed Roan, he knew he was right. He was moving tens of times faster than he usually did. Not that he didn't want to move faster, but because it had a great risk of engaging against a normal Flash Beast if he moved too fast. Yet, this small Flash Beast was even faster than the normal Big Flash Beasts themselves.

However, Rean didn't really believe they had all that power stored inside themselves. Sure, it might be something similar to a Dantian, but if that was the case, then these small things were also supposed to be extremely strong. It was then that he perceived something. 'The fragments of Convergency Crystal...'

Rean couldn't make out the surroundings due to the speed, but he could see several specs of colored energy coming from the sides and entering the small Flash Beast. There was only one thing that could have this type of energy, and it was the Fragments of Convergency Crystal all over the place. Well... there were also the big Flash Beasts, but they couldn't even keep up to the speed of this small one, so Rean discarded this possibility.

Roan and the others eventually noticed the same thing and understood where the energy of the small Flash Beast was coming from. It was a type of energy that only these small Flash Beasts and probably the big ones could use.

However, a problem quickly appeared. Rean's Divine Energy began to reach rock bottom. First of all, he was already traveling with just 10% of his Divine Energy and no Divine Origin Energy. Now that he had to use it to protect his body, it was being quickly used. In just an hour, Rean was already at the end of his reserves.

*Grab!*

It was then that another hand grabbed Rean's hand, which was holding the small Flash Beast. He looked to his side and quickly saw Roan there. Roan obviously appeared outside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm on the side of Rean and the small Flash Beast, already extending his hand. His plan was simple: he would exchange places with Rean. Rean would then return to the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm and would recover.

Suddenly, Rean's face looked away from Roan as he spoke in an embarrassed tone. 'To think you would be straightforward. I say... even if you want to betray Calina with me, you should at least ask my permission. Who said I liked you?'

Several veins instantly appeared on Roan's head. He tried to use his other hand to give Rean a punch, but Rean was already gone by the time he reacted. All he could hear was Rean laugh from inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm. 'Hahahaha! That's what you get for ignoring other's pain!'

Roan gritted his teeth and took quite some time to calm down. Indeed, there was only one existence in this world that could make him feel such fury. However, he was now the one who was hitting the walls every time the small Flash Beasts tried to shake away, so he couldn't care about Rean at the moment. He concentrated on his Starlight Body and Divine Energy, creating a protection barrier to reduce just enough damage and not spend too much energy.

Fortunately, Roan began to understand how that small Flash Beast moved. He quickly adapted to its movements, making it miss the walls more and more. At some point, that small Flash Beast completely gave up trying to shake him. It simply used all the energy it gathered from the sides to fly down as fast as it could.

After a single day, Roan believed he had traveled enough to make up for an entire month of travel at their original speed. Yet, they still haven't reached the bottom of the Continental Barrier. Roan had also noticed how he had passed by literally hundreds of normal Flash Beasts! A single one was considered a calamity to a continent without a Divinity Realm expert. Yet, the Continental Barrier had so many!

Not to mention that this is only the place where they are passing by. What about the extension of all continental barriers spread across the Realm of Gods? Perhaps there are tens of millions or even billions of Flash Beasts down here! Of course, Roan also understood that they were all trapped due to that weird flexible barrier above.

Another week passed, and the small Flash Beast continued to travel further down the earth. By now, Roan was certain that he had already crossed a distance big enough to traverse several continents. But then again, the Realm of Gods had countless continents. If one thought about it, the distance he traveled wasn't anything special. Nonetheless... 'this shit sure is deep.'

Inside the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm, everyone has already lost interest in looking outside. They simply told Sister Orb that if anything happened, she should call them.

Just like that, Rean and Roan swapped positions when one of them got tired. For over two months, that small Flash Beast traveled nonstop. However, it was bound to reach an end at some point, and that happened another half a month later.

*Kabrum!*

The sound of thunder suddenly echoed everywhere as a small Flash Beast suddenly stopped in its tracks. Rean, who was the one holding it now, was almost thrown off as it had been a long time since the small Flash Beast tried to shake him off. Yet, he quickly noticed that after the small Flash Beast stopped, it began to grow weak in his hand.

Specs of colored light energy flew through the gaps of his fingers. Not long after, the small Flash Beast completely disappeared. "This..."

However, it didn't take long for Rean to understand why. "I see..." He looked around and noticed there were no more Fragments of Convergency Crystals on the walls. Without them to feed the small Flash Beast, it simply ran out of energy and disappeared.

*Zush, zush, zush!*

Kentucky, Roan, and Luan quickly appeared on Rean's side as they were warned by Sister Orb. They all did the same thing and looked down. For the first time since they started their descent, they were stepping on solid ground.

Death... and me

Chapter 2329: What To Do?

Rean used his Light Element to illuminate the surroundings. "So... we are here. What now?"

At the same time, Luan used his Elemental Eyes to check everything. "There is one piece of good news. The Chaotic Elements and Divine Energy are a lot more calmer now. It is not as good as outside the Continental Barrier, and you could say it is still a little bit messy, but it is much better."

Roan looked at the ground and stomped his foot.

*Bang!***

The ground trembled slightly... but that was all about it. A kick with Roan's Starlight Body full power, and it didn't leave even a mark on the surface of the ground. It was made of some tough material. It was extremely solid and resistant. "Is this some kind of rock?"

Rean got down and knocked it a few times with his hand before shaking his head. "It's definitely not an ore. If it is, then I have never seen it before."

Kentucky looked around apprehensively. "Is it really okay for us to stop here? Won't those Flash Beasts corner us here on the ground?"

Roan looked around and shook his head. "I don't think it will happen. If our guess was correct, the Flash Beasts aren't dissipating because of the Convergency Crystal Fragments on the walls that provided them with energy. This place here doesn't have those fragments, so I don't think they would come here. You saw what happened to the small Flash Beast in Rean's hand."

Roan then brought out his White Star Scythe before summoning his Sky Energy and Scythe Intent Aura. Using all his strength, he immediately slashed down.

*Swish!***

*Clang!***

Sky Energy spread everywhere as the force of the attack dissipated. This time, there was a slight cut mark left behind... but that was about it. It was obvious that trying to dig their way down was out of the question. "Seems like we need to move."

Since they were still inside the Continental Barrier, their path extended endlessly to both sides of that ground. Roan pondered a bit and immediately reached a decision. "Let's go right. That's the direction of the very center of the Realm of Gods. The other side leads outside of the Central Area."

No one complained before they all jumped on Kentucky's back. The continental barrier was several kilometers large, so there was more than enough space for Kentucky to fly. Kentucky quickly set off as Rean kept illuminating the surroundings, shooting into the distance. He made sure to keep his body as close as possible to the ground since the Flash Beasts were up.

As they flew, Luan kept his Elemental Eyes active as he looked to the ground. He seemed very attentive to it. "This is quite weird..."

Rean and Roan looked at him. "What are you seeing?"

Luan then explained. "I have seen many materials that contain elements in them. This ground is no different. Although the amount of elements coming from it is pitifully small, it still happens. It's just that it has all elements, just like the continental barrier."

Rean and Roan saw nothing wrong with it. "Isn't that obvious? This place had been where the Continental Barrier Energy passed all this time. It is normal that the ground would store some of its energy after so long. Most likely, it became this tough exactly for the same reason."

Luan shook his head. "That's not what I meant. What I want to say is that the Continental Barrier Source is this weird ground..."

"The ground?" Everyone looked at it. Sure, it was tough, but it didn't give them a feeling of something that could create the Continental Barrier. The Continental Barrier carried just way too much energy, and the ground definitely wasn't showing such an effect. Of course, they also knew Luan wouldn't lie to them.

"If what Luan said is true, then we came to this place for pretty much no reason," said Rean. "What could we possibly make with this ground? If that is truly the case, it most likely extends through the entire Realm of Gods. It is impossible to acquire it. Well, if Roan and I use our full strength, it is possible to get a few small pieces, but they would be pretty much useless. They aren't suitable for anything I forge."

"For now, let's continue to fly. We are already here, so we might as well travel for a while to see if anything changes," Roan decided. "There doesn't seem to be any danger this deep due to the lack of the Convergency Crystal Fragments. We have nothing to lose at the moment."

Kentucky sighed in relief after hearing that there should be no danger and increased his speed. He was definitely flying much faster than their group was when they were descending to this place.

As they flew, Luan couldn't help but ask. "What if the Continental Barrier suddenly starts again?"

Roan didn't seem that concerned. "We have Fluki. Not to mention that our cultivation level is more than enough to resist the pressure of the continental barrier, too."

Still, that also raised another question in their minds. "How come we haven't found a single Continental Barrier Spirit?"

Unfortunately, no one had an answer to that question.

After what seemed to be an eternity, the twins' group began to get gloomy. There were a few times they encountered intersections. However, none of them was surprised. After all, the Continental Barrier had many intersections, so it had to have down here, too. But other than those intersections, they truly haven't seen anything different.

It was a never-ending and boring journey that didn't seem to reward any prizes for their effort. They even began to discuss how they would return to the surface now that they were trapped down here.

Roan was the most patient, but even he understood that there was nothing to be done if they were to continue like this. "Fine, let's try to get back to the surface."

Rean then looked down. "Since that's the case, help me collect a few fragments of this ground. I don't have any uses for it now, but there might be some in the future."

Roan didn't mind, and the two of them immediately began to attack the ground with all their might. Little by little, they created big enough fissures to detach some of the ground. Finally, a big piece flew off, which Rean quickly caught. "This is good for now. Let's go."

Yet, just as the Big Piece left the ground, the ground began to tremble. Spatial Laws around the twins' group gathered instantly. Before they could do anything, they were immediately teleported away with a flash of silver light!

Death... and me

Chapter 2330: Hyeonmu

When everyone's vision returned to normal, they found themselves in an open space. As far as they could see, there was nothing. There were no stars in sight, so they at least knew they were not in the sea of stars like several times before. Still, it was easy to tell that there was no air around. It was truly just void. "Where is this place?"

Rean, Roan, and Luan held their weapons in their hands while Kentucky hardened his blade feathers and scales. They didn't know what was happening, so they were prepared for anything.

*gruuuuu...*

Yet, even though there was no air to spread sound, they truly heard something moving. There was only one way to make that happen, and it was to use Divine Energy instead of air to make the sound go around. Immediately, they all turned in the direction of the sound, and even Roan's hands on his White Star Scythe became a little loose.

Far, truly, truly far in the distance, there was a gigantic eye. It was so far away that if this space had as much as a thin amount of air separating them and that giant eye, it would be impossible to see it. Yet, as they were in the void, there was nothing to obstruct their vision, regardless of how far something was. The only condition is that this something must be big enough to be perceived at such a distance.

"T-That's... big..." Kentucky couldn't help but comment.

The eye looked at them. However, Rean couldn't tell if it was truly looking at them or not. The reason for that was the light that was being reflected on that eye before reaching them. With Rean's experience with Light Element, he could tell how long it took for the light he was seeing to have reached his eyes. "That thing... is at least ten light hours away from us."

"What?!" Everyone looked at Rean with incredulity. It looked so big to the point of covering their entire vision in the direction it was located! Yet, something that enormous was only the sight of it ten hours in the past! After all, the light had to travel for at least ten hours in the void to reach their group. They were seeing how that thing was ten hours ago!

Besides, if what they were seeing was just the eye... then just how big was its head? Its body?! One must understand that traveling at the speed of light, even the biggest continent of the Realm of Gods, would definitely not take ten light hours to be covered.

Suddenly, a majestic voice began to echo in their ears through the Divine Energy spread around. "Was it you who hurt my shell just now?"

Everyone trembled, their Dantians and Demon Core immediately turning unstable. Just that voice alone was enough to make their control over their Divine Energy to be completely messed up. That was not a kind of existence they could ever hope to contend against!

Rean nervously looked ahead and immediately bowed in the direction of the eye. Even if the light that demonstrated his bow would take ten hours to arrive at the eye, he felt like the owner of that eye would know it instantly! "S-Sir, that was indeed us who broke a part of your... shell..."

He continued. "However, we truly, truly, truly did now know that the place we were standing a moment ago was the back of a living being. We thought we were standing on top of a very solid ground, and we wanted to check later why it was so resistant. That's why we broke a piece of it. We sincerely apologize," said Rean while taking out the piece they broke from that monster's shell.

*Rumble...*

The Divine Energy in the surroundings began to get extremely concentrated around their group. The pressure was so big that the twins' group felt like they were suffocating. They immediately considered the option to flee into the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm and use the Circuitry Teleport Formation. Even if they tried to teleport in a messed space environment and ended up somewhere random in the universe, it was still much better than to continue here.

However, Sister Orb immediately warned. [Don't even think about entering the Dimensional Realm. With that thing's power, as soon as you enter, it will be able to destroy the Dimensional Realm instantly before you even have the chance to activate the Circuitry Teleport Formation.]

Rean and Roan bitterly smiled. That thing was so powerful that even the Divinity Realm experts they saw in the past would be nothing but ants in its vision. No, calling them ants was already overestimating their powers!

"Bastards! How dare you desecrate my Divine Shell! Do you think that being oblivious to the situation is enough to forgive you? Die for me!" The eyes were enraged and immediately locked the twins' group down. Even if they wanted to enter the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm, they wouldn't be able to do so.

However, just as the pressure of the Divine Energy was about to smash them, a Black and White Orb suddenly appeared in the middle of the void. Following that, a dignified voice echoed from it as a miniature person appeared above. "Senior Hyeonmu, on account of this lowly junior's actions from back then, could you please spare their lives?"

A surprising voice followed. "This presence..."

Right after, the Divine Energy pressure disappeared completely as the voice continued. "Soul Gem Brat, is that you?"

Sure enough, the one who came out was none other than Soul Gem. Sister Orb, with most of her memories sealed away, could only think about waking Soul Gem up to see if he had any solution to this situation.

Soul Gem immediately identified the enormous beast the twins' group was dealing with and stepped out of the Soul Gem Dimensional Realm to mediate the conflict. "Indeed, it is me. It is this junior's fortune to be able to see senior Hyeonmu again in this life."
