

Death Guns 1041

1041 Chapter 1041

Kuina screamed in pleasure.

Soon sloppy noises filled the room. Thankfully, the room was soundproofed or else God knows what would have happened if those leaving near the mansion were to hear their Holy maiden, their future empress moaning like a slut in heat.

Meanwhile, Alex began softly sucking on the pink tips of Kuina's breasts. She has pair of beautiful breasts and one of the rarest ones.

Inverted nipples were a rare sight, but as an accomplished playboy, he knew exactly how to coax them out from their introverted shells. Now his tongue assaulted the shy tips vigorously, causing Kuina to tighten up in response. The pressure on his dick increased as it rubbed against the tight walls.

Her sweet moans and his intrepid grunts meshed together, intertwining as though they were one and the same. Two bodies fused as one. Limbs entangled and breaths were mixed. The slapping of flesh on flesh reverberated throughout the room as Kuina grew increasingly wilder, shaking her hips and arching her back like a rabbit in heat.

The fox tails swayed and bent with their rhythm, before straightening up at the familiar thrum of a beat. Alex was about to blow his second load. Drunk out of her mind, Kuina bent down and snuck in a kiss of her own volition, giggling like a child in a candy shop.

"My Fox Queen has become bold but I like it." Alex smiled.

The foxy maiden rode his girth while laughing in euphoria, fully giving in to the heat.

"Aaahh~ Only for you, my Master~"

She bent down again to seal his lips once more as the pulsing dragon within her exploded, drowning her womb with a flood of his wonderful semen, while her own juice sprayed crazily onto the slickened carpet.

Pump!

Pump!

A frankly insane amount of white semen was deposited inside Kuina's womb.

It merely flowed without end. She could feel the added weight to her uterus as though she was with child—though she didn't mind really having his child, it would be perfect this way but the contraceptive pill she took would prevent this but it didn't matter one she would have his child, no matter what the gender of this child, she would love her.

However, for now, you better enjoy this beautiful night and what was happening.

Kuina groaned in painful pleasure, feeling bloated and full. Her body shook in bliss, reveling in the high that he gifted her. It was truly an unforgettable night.

Unwilling to leave, she left his dick plugged into her precious cavern and hooked her arms around his strong neck. Her eyes looked as if hearts would form within them. A look of love and fascination that meant she was now his, from here on until forever.

Alex also felt satiated. The stamina of a clan of temptresses is not to be underestimated.

But there was still enough in the tank for one more round.

Alex got a sudden idea, a pretty bold idea, so she leaned in and whispered into Kuina's ear.

She seemed stunned at the suggestion.

"W-what? You want me to— with my— huh?"

The foxy lady looked the most flustered she'd been the whole night. Her rosy mouth was agape, and her tails moved around haphazardly. However, after a period of deliberation, she nodded. Her pretty face said it all; she was ready to do whatever her master wished.

"I'll obey your command, my Master."

"You are still doing this master thing play, not that I dislike this or anything."

Alex declared as he pinched her little nose in response, eliciting a squeal of playful annoyance.

Soon, Kuina frowned in intense focus, as her prison of fur retracted back to eight fluffy golden tails with a white tip.

The pride and joy of every member of the Nine-Tailed Celestial Foxia Family.

Eight tails signified their dignity and identity. To want only touch it was to court death, and yet... their one and only Holy Maiden were controlling her tails to do an act so depraved and vulgar that it would not be a surprise if the ancient ancestors of the Nine-tailed Celestial Foxia Family started rolling around in their graves.

Even Alex herself felt shocked at her actions.

However, Alex was born from an advanced civilization and it was just a simple tail job. This was one of his otaku dreams, to get serviced by a beast girl, a fox maiden to boot, it would be a waste not to give life to his fantasies, it is man's dream after all and as a man of culture, he ought to not disappoint the creed.

Alex simply decided to enjoy this play and the heavenly feeling that would soon be unleashed by the fox maiden to its fullest.

Kuina moved and the fluffy tails wrapped around his body, caressing every part of him. It was a heavenly experience, one that none other than him could hope to feel. Strands of silken fur brushed past his skin and left exciting tingles in their place.

Kuina's brows tightened. Her control over her tails reached the highest point they've ever been at as each tail moved independently to pleasure the man she held special feelings for. One stroked the length of his cock, while another focused solely on the tip of the dragon. And yet another encircled the root of Alex's mighty pillar, securing its girth.

Waves of pleasure washed over Alex as Kuina managed to find ways to pleasure him, stimulating where no other woman had reached, he was not one to easily give in but currently his composure weakened.

"How surprising..." Alex exhaled, trying to calm down his skyrocketing hormone and suppress the incoming orgasm.

"Well, I aim to serve my Master to the best of my ability~" Kuina answered with a beaming smile.

Not long after, the already familiar rumbling announced the arrival of a third load. She originally wanted to come forward to swallow the incoming cum but Alex who had another idea in mind halted her with a finger.

"Use your tails." That was his order.

Blushing heavily, a confused Kuina obeyed her beloved's command.

'Maybe this is what humans like?'

The eight fuzzy white tails all wrapped Alex's dick as it erupted for the third time that night. A torrential downpour of white contained onto Kuina's tails, which very quickly lost their grip on the rampaging beast. This amount was far more than the last two times combined!

At the end of the night, a tired and worn-out Kuina covered with a seemingly endless amount of cum collapsed into Alex's embrace, snuggling cutely like a baby fox.

Her eyes contained traces of tears, but her mouth was upturned as she basked in the afterglow of their sleepless night. Alex smiled softly and patted her unkempt fur.

A satisfied Alex looked pensive for a moment before he stood up and got dressed, placing a warm blanket over the naked Kuina after placing her on the bed.

"Another one added as well. Sigh! I've to work harder to protect them all, it's my duty as their man. I shall acquire enough strength to protect them all while at the same time helping them to be capable enough to protect themselves and others, me as well. The road will be long and arduous but as I know my goal, I will not waver and walk through no matter what with you all." Alex declared while looking at the sleeping Kuina's face, she was beautiful even in her sleep, his words seemed to have struck something in her and slowly fate moved to add her touch.

From now on, something unexpected would happen, something no one had expected, whether this would be a good thing would depend on the fate bearers.

Leaving the room after kissing Kuina on her forehead, Alex decided to watch the stars on the balcony.

The balcony peered upon the dawn-lit street with its two shuttered blue eyes, as if it were a waking lady seeing through long eyelashes.

While observing the peacefully quiet street, Alex became lost in thoughts, as if he recalled what he had just said before leaving, he mumbled as if in trance.

"If I ever cross my heart... if I ever betray my heart and anger it... then I hope to die. For in this life my heart is my pure heaven-ward guide. To those, I love, to the world I love, to my true life mission and path... I must be faithful, protective, and nurturing. I'd rather be dead than do deeds for the evil force. So, you see, I didn't sell my soul because it is already owned by my creator and in that commitment, I feel safest and best."

After a long moment of silence, Alex heaved a sigh and said to the girls.

"I know it might seem shameless to ask for help in order to protect my girls, to protect everyone but I will still ask it, please help me, train me to become stronger, to surpass him."

The 'him' he was talking about was none than the previous owner of the Death guns. As if he could hear him, he gave Alex a thumb before vanishing.

"I will suffer any hardship, I'll do anything that is not against my morals so please teach me how to protect them, how to protect you all while at the same time accomplishing your goal." He declared and this declaration made the two sisters meet and communicate with each other before deciding it would be time soon.

He declared and this declaration made the two sisters meet and communicate with each other before deciding it would be time soon.

〔Don't worry we will help you.〕 Silveria declared after talking with her sister and Alex smiled while looking at the stars in the night sky.

"That's great, I won't disappoint myself, so when do we begin?" He asked after watching the stars for a moment.

〔We will soon but first go check your status, you gained a few boons after copulating after the fox lady.〕 Silveria stated, urging Alex to check his status and it was what he did.

"Status!" He called out.

Ignoring that doubtful title in the end, Alex was happy that he had acquired two new skills, he was sure that he would become powerful if he trained them to a higher level.

"Illusionary Steps"

Too eager to try his new movement skill, Alex activated this skill and in an instant, he seemed to have multiplied into three as he was all over the place but in reality, he had never left where he previously stood.

"Great skill I'm liking it." He didn't hide his admiration.

〔It is a good skill indeed but there's something you should be more concerned about.〕 Silveria said, she seemed to be hinting at something and Alex was not an idiot, he had checked his status many times and had noticed that detail, he hadn't first paid attention but after seeing not changing no matter how many times he checked, he couldn't help but worry when all other statuses were increasing, this means somehow that he had been neglecting her and he had just noticed this now.

He had to remedy this if he didn't want to cause problems later on.

"Okay, I know what to do already," Alex said confidently.

Located northwest of the Far East empire capital was a city.

The city of High front was built amidst the swaying grasses of a windy meadow and is truly an extraordinary urban phenomenon. Its elegance is matched by the backdrop of snowy mountains which have helped shape the city into what it is today.

The resources these mountains brought were of great importance, but they were also influential when it came to architectural designs as the vast majority of buildings were designed with shapes and elements found in the mountains.

The skyline is crowded with soaring skyscrapers and while modern now, their history still shined through. Business is booming in High front and it has attracted a lot of attention. A few new cultures have left their mark not just on education, but also upon the city's identity. What historically was a city of the plain, ordinary people has grown into a multicultural hub and it's this that unites the three hundred thousand people to this day.

It's this multicultural identity that has truly left its mark. Hundreds of ethnic restaurants, gastropubs, and bistros offer a plethora of culinary choices and those who feel hungry for something else can enjoy concerts, clubs, a park, or one of the many other recreational venues.

Walking in the street of this city was a handsome youth, with dark gold hair, his eyes were dark gold as well, this man was dressed in all black, he stopped before a restaurant, after his eyes rested on the restaurant name for a moment, he entered with a smile.

Written above this restaurant was [The Golden Spoon], one of Alex's chain restaurants and that man was none other than Leonardo on a mission.

1043 Chapter 1043

The next morning, Kuina was still asleep because of the previous night's intense session, Alex decided to let her rest, and after having dinner with the girls, he invited the princess on a date, Artemia was shocked by the sudden demand but she still accepted and after their preparation.

Artemia's dress was beautiful and it matched Alex's all-black suit.

The dress covered her shoulders only barely with 2 spaghetti straps and flowed down into a beautifully draped neckline. It's a relaxed fit which makes the dress both enjoyable to wear and look at.

Her arms have been covered all the way down to her wrists. The sleeves are a tight, but comfortable fit from top to bottom, allowing for enough movement while still looking stylish.

The dress' waist is wide, but it's a slim fit. An elastic band within the dress perfectly accentuates her waist and breaks up the dress nicely.

Below the waist, the dress widens every so slightly and has an accordion style. The dress reaches just below her knees and is the same length all around.

She's wearing Mary Janes, they're simple but radiate grace and refinement. To top it all off she's wearing an intricately designed necklace and several elegant bracelets.

"You are beautiful in anything you wear." Alex complimented the third princess before taking her hand and they vanished and arrived above the city they would be having their date in.

The city of Lebanon was built amidst the lush grasses of an evergreen pasture and is truly a true modern metropolis. Its charm is matched by the backdrop of clear blue skies which have helped shape the city into what it is today.

The climate these skies brought was of great importance, but they were also influential when it came to architectural designs as the vast majority of buildings were designed to take full advantage of the climate through large windows and lush gardens.

The skyline is littered with towering skyscrapers and they look astonishingly beautiful all together. Daily life isn't too stressful in Lebanon and it has attracted a lot of attention. Many new cultures have left their mark not just on the city's history, but also upon the city's identity. What historically was a city of monotony has grown into a large melting pot and it's this that unites the 400 thousand million people to this day.

It's this multicultural identity that has truly left its mark. Hundreds of bakeries, gastropubs, and take-outs offer a plethora of culinary choices and those who feel hungry for something else can enjoy dance, musical activities, art galleries, or one of the many other recreational venues.

After touring the normal attractions this city has to offer, Alex and Artemia stopped at a restaurant. The restaurant is the hue of the summer sky, yet here and there are colors of the sweetest of meadow blooms.

The couple ate a simple menu before departing, their next step was an attraction park where they played to their heart's content and when they finished w Alex who had thoroughly prepared for today after asking for advice everywhere, suggested.

"Let's go somewhere I'm sure you will love."

He dragged her to her next destination as soon as he finished, not giving her no time to question and she could only follow. Soon, they arrived at their destination and once she saw the place at which they arrived, she was shocked, she almost screamed, it was a farm.

Everyone has a dream, they wished to accomplish once they settled everything and the third princess's dream was to run a farm, to be closer to mother nature, to produce what others would eat, to produce what she and her loved ones would eat, by accomplishing this she would feel a certain feeling of accomplishment. It was a dream not many knew about, so she wondered how Alex learned about it as she had never informed him about it.

"How do you know?" She asked, curious about how he learned about this dream, however, Alex only chuckled in response while saying. Not giving a straight answer.

"It is because I care about the woman I love, so it's natural to learn everything about her. Don't worry, you can go in."

Artemia stopped for a moment and engraved the image of Alex at the moment into her pupils, she felt an unknown bubble forming in the depth of her being, for him to go to this extent just to please her, to show her that he loved her and had never neglected her, this touched the princess and her blue eyes like the ocean shone, all accumulated fears she had recently and the feeling of being neglected as he gets more women slowly but surely started to vanish, she was grateful for that accident to have happened, it was because of this that she came to learn about love and got this wonderful man in her life.

"Thank you, I love you." She declared with a kiss before vanishing into the farm.

"I love you too." Alex shouted at her and she simply smiled sweetly.

There were fields far and wide, interrupted here and there by patches of forests left for local animals and plants. All around her were cows and horses gently grazed in the luscious pastures, and burrowing their way through and around the many fields ran a mossy, cobblestone road.

The road stopped at a vast farmhouse eclipsed by the flower-covered seating area next to it. The farmhouse was worn by the elements and could do with a new coat of paint. A giant barn housed various animals, piles and piles of logs were stacked against the walls of the farm, and a small shed with all sorts of small projects and inventions stood lost in a corner. The farm had a serene feel to it, which was helped by the gentle breeze carrying the scent of ripe fruits across the fields.

Looking at Artemia in the middle of the farm seems to be enjoying herself, Alex smiled while thinking.

"Having a harem might be hard but not impossible if you know how to handle them."

1044 Chapter 1044

Alex and Artemia enjoyed their date to its fullest until evening arrived when the princess suggested that they should stay outside just for today, she didn't want to go back as she wanted to spend this moment alone without any other presence of the girls beside them.

Alex accepted without much thought because he had decided that today it was her day, he would do anything to please and if staying outside today was what she wished for, why not comply and enjoy this with her?

The result was that they went toward one of the best inns in the city, coincidentally today there happened to be some kind of celebration which made most inns full.

Limitless Inn was located in the central region of the city that formed The Fair. It's the name of today's celebration where merchants coming from all over the world sell their merchandise at a lower price. The Fair was the opportunity for the new merchants to make a profit by buying at a low price during the Fair and reselling them elsewhere at a higher price.

The Limitless Inn was a high-cost inn for rich merchants and strong adventurers.

The inn was a five-storied building with the best facilities that can be available in the region. Luxurious food, crystalline wine, fabulous lodge, and so on.

Alex and Artemia sat across a circular wooden table in the dining area. He checked the menu and ordered the specialty dishes he wanted to try. The princess did the same after which she became silent as if thinking about something.

The tables around them were filled with strong adventurers. They were discussing local news and what happened in the outside world as well.

Alex wasn't really interested in the gossip so he tried to avoid listening. A girl around seventeen brought him the dishes they ordered. He expressed his thanks and the girl smiled in acknowledgment.

Suddenly Artemia took out the money from her storage space and handed it to the girl. The girl was stunned and looked at the money with wide eyes. One gold coin, to this waitress, one gold coin was truly phenomenal.

"Thank you, miss!" The girl made a deep bow in gratitude. She knew this amount was a tip since the two patrons here have a tab.

Alex was left in an awkward position. He only thanked her but Artemia gave a large tip even before they had their meal. He felt embarrassed by his conduct. He felt like his woman was telling him not to be stingy and just as he was thinking about what to do next.

The girl's eyes sparkled and she looked at him with expectations as she said.

"Mister, handsome, you won't be stingy, right?"

Alex almost rolled his eyes at the girl's shamelessness but as someone shameless as well he did nothing. He sighed and scratched the back of his head before letting out a hollow laugh. He obviously didn't care about money so he took money from his item box, three gold coins, and handed them over to the girls.

The girl tumbled down in disbelief. She has been working here for almost a year but rarely has she seen such generous patrons. She quickly pocketed the three coins, thanked the two, and left the table. She was afraid to wake up if this was ever a dream.

Right after the girl disappeared, silence descended between the two but they were staring at each other before the princess suddenly burst into laughter.

"Petty!"

"But you still love me, right?" Alex asked with a smile and Artemia shamelessly admitted this.

"Of course, only someone with a big heart like me and the others can love a shameless man like you."

"Eh! That's some harsh declaration of love, are you perhaps shy openly admitting that you can't live with this handsome man?" Alex asked with a knowing smile and Artemia was left speechless as she could not offer any reply for a moment and in the end, she could shake her head while acknowledging her defeat, she could never beat this shameless man.

The two continued teasing each other ignoring their surroundings and once they were satisfied they leave for their room where tonight would be a sleepiness night for them.

Back in their room, room number 3.

The wood logs in the fireplace burned brightly into red flames, spreading the heat across the room. The fireplace upon wintry nights glowed with radiant gold flame.

At the moment adjacently to a nearby wall, Artemia was pinned against the hard surface but she felt no discomfort.

She wrapped her arms around Alex's neck as they kissed with a fiery passion. They savored the kiss for a long time before he nipped her lower lip with his teeth. She responded by running the tip of her tongue across his upper lip before sucking his lower lip between hers. She felt his tongue touching hers and a tremor of ecstasy ran through her brain.

He devoured her mouth by pushing his tongue as far into her as he could. Their tongues danced in a battle of lust and they tangled with the flavor of each other.

The taste of alcohol in her mouth and the perfume of her body served as the best aphrodisiac he could ever consume. Her breasts were pressing tightly against his chest as he caressed her butt cheeks.

Alex ran his lips across and the princess shuddered with pleasure. Those sweet kisses upon her neck were the key to her heart and soul, for every time he place them there Artemia knew she would adore him for all time.

He cupped them more tightly to push her further into him. He then gave them a firm squeeze before sliding his hands up her smooth back to undress her.

Their kiss finally broke and she removed her tongue from his mouth. A chain of saliva parted from her rosy lips as her mouth parted from his.

They had another intense kiss battle before Alex stayed true to his title as the Swift fingers removed her dress and unhooked her bra, setting free those wonderful titties of natural, light shining upon them as if worshipping their arrival and as their faithful servant, Alex got at work.

His hands were like a bolt of lightning, his hands gripped her breasts to caress the soft flesh. He first kissed her on the neck and continued to kiss down as he arrived on the soft pillows of her cleavage.

The touches of his lips on her flesh were short and gentle like the passing breeze; making the short hairs stand up.

He planted his face between her breasts and enjoyed the gentle caressing. She cupped her tits and pressed them against either side of his face, allowing him to enjoy the sensuous feeling.

His hands were not free for they were fully concentrated on kneading her nipples. His fingers closed around her nipples and his fingernails dug right into the puckered flesh.

A low moan came from her red lips and she gripped his head to play with his hair. A thundering sensation then ran through her spine along with the pain from his rough kneading.

His mouth moved on her right breast to suck and caress. He licked her nipple while she gasped and groaned. He was like a greedy child at the sight of her breasts. He sucked one nipple after another between his lips, sending another chill down her spine.

Her hands ruffled his hair and she leaned to kiss his hair, inhaling his intoxicating scent into her system, this ignited her lust, heightening her senses to their limit, she could now feel the pleasure at its double level.

"Anhhh! Please make a mess out of me!!" The princess wished and as her servant, Alex nodded in silence.

He didn't stop and he fondled her breasts as he wished while sucking on her hard, beautiful dark pink nipples. His caressing was sometimes soft and sometimes rough, making her hard to expect, and in turn, increasing her pleasure from the unexpected nature of his touches.

Artemia's face and neck were flushed red from arousal. The musky scent of her womanhood filled the air, further sending the two in a spiral of intoxicating feeling.

Alex's left hand moved down between her legs. Her pussy was wrapped by a dark blue sexy underwear and he gently tugged it down, exposing the neatly trimmed bush and the slash of crimson, it was pulsating as if too impatient not to be taken care of.

Alex chuckled while seeing this, his lips continued to enjoy the soft flesh of the princess's breasts while he ran his fingers over her moist slit. He massaged the edges of her labia.

Her breathing turned heavy and she moaned loudly in arousal as he pushed a finger inside her warm and moist pussy. His finger moved in and out of her moist vagina like a pistol while his other finger rubbed her clit.

If Silveria and Nyx had not shut down their senses because they did not want to impeach his privacy and because they were afraid of getting corrupted, they would have been shocked by this discovery, not that Alex cared about this, his sole purpose at the moment was to make a mess out of the princess as he wished, to make her feel loved while at the same time to increase their synchronization rate. This might be a little bit calculative but there was no doubt that he loved her and would do anything for her, acquiring the strength to protect her, to protect them was one of those methods and the time was not to hesitate anymore.

After making the princess orgasm Alex stopped and said.

"I have not properly done it before but let me do it for real this time."

"Eh?" The princess was left bewildered not understanding what Alex was trying to do but her confusion got cleared when he said to her via mental transmission.

[Get dressed, I will take you on a midnight date where I will properly do it. You will like it. Sorry, for not having done this before.]

Immediately, Artemia understood and her heart throbbed and a sweet feeling gushed from the depth of her heart, making her chest flushing red. To think he would think of doing something like this right in the middle of their sex, she was overwhelmed by the love and nodded, she wanted the same thing as Luna and Maria, not exactly but closer to their declaration.

"Okay, I will be ready before you come and we will continue what we are doing at the end of the date." She said, not wanting to compromise on this one.

Before Alex could place one she added.

"Don't worry I also have a surprise for you w it will depend on your performance during our date."

[Hoh? That's great, I will see you soon.] Alex said before disappearing to make the preparation, he was sure to be able completely to conquer her heart this time, as he had already decided, he would do anything to get stronger, to acquire strength to protect them. He knew what she wanted and it was exactly what he would do to maximize her feelings.

One and half hours later, their second date had begun and the princess was dressed beautifully.

"As expected of my Lightning Empress, you're more beautiful than a goddess, you're simply gorgeous." Alex declared while kissing the back of her hand.

Artemia felt over the moon hearing his loving and sweet compliment. Her eyebrows which seemed as if they were brushed on a canvas, raised as her eyes smiled in happiness.

She hugged him intimately and felt how warm his chest was. A strange feeling of absolute safety and warmth always filled her body whenever she was in his embrace.

The first time she felt this was when circumstances forced them to copulate and he rescued her.

Starting from that day, she started developing feelings for him and before she knew it they were already in this kind of relationship and for her no matter how short or long the time she spent with him, she felt as if she had been with him for years, and a strange void in her heart would always be filled whenever he was near her. Something she had never experienced in her past life even when she thought she fell in love with that elf.

After meeting Alex that Artemia could say without hesitation that she found true love and wouldn't feel complete without him, and his existence gave meaning to her life.

Alex kissed her forehead and smiled as he pointed towards one of the chairs put out near the table he had prepared,

"Now, let's take a seat and have dinner. I have something special to give you. Otherwise, this dinner wouldn't be special."

Like he did with her back then and the princess heard it, he was also doing the same thing and she felt loved, and important like the others.

Artemia took her time to look around her and could not help other than to be greatly impressed with how warm and beautiful the garden looked now with all the string lights and candles, highlighting the beautiful flowers and plants even more.

She took a seat after Alex pushed the chair for her to sit.

Alex sat opposite her and asked with a charming smile.

"It seems like you love the place I've rented, it costs me a lot but no amount of money can buy you, I gladly spent my entire fortune just to have you smile."

Artemia felt a sweet feeling enveloping her heart, she gave a bright smile as she said, "Yes. It looks so beautiful, especially with the surrounding view. I feel very fresh and happy sitting here and having dinner like this. I'm happy that I've encountered you, let's hope this happiness last forever."

"It will." He affirmed this before they both nodded, already set on their future together.

The two happily ate their food while lovingly gazing at each other's eyes, while at times they would look at the scenic view outside and enjoy it.

After they finished, Alex declared.

"Let's go somewhere."

He stood up as he gestured towards Artemia to take his hand. She slowly got up and placed her hand on his palm while maintaining her gaze with his eyes.

He pulled her towards the garden where they were surrounded by white roses, the flower she liked the most among all other flowers. They just stood there hand in hand, face to face without either of them uttering a word, the moon above their heads shone on them as if giving them her blessings.

As he gazed at the beautiful woman in front of him, he asked her, "You can be considered my fiancée but I haven't properly proposed yet, so I'll do it tonight. I want us to make this promise by marrying each other."

An exquisite ring with two pear-shaped blue diamonds placed on either side of a brilliant cushion-cut adamantite floated from above and hovered before Artemia's eyes against the backdrop of the full moon.

Seeing the artful and glimmering ring which gave off a subtle blue spark like her eyes, Artemia's eyes got transfixed on it.

Her lips partially opened with a dazed expression and held the hovering ring in between her fingers.

She slowly turned her gaze over to Alex with an overwhelmed expression and mumbled as her eyes became moist with happiness, "Are you seriously making a demand? Do you really want to marry me?"

She asked afraid that this was a dream, her heart would be shattered into million pieces if it was true.

"You are already my woman, the world knows that you and I are fiancées but I haven't done what a fiancé should do, for our relationship to be called a proper one, so of course, I will do it because I'm a gentleman that knows what he wants and I couldn't live without so, better listen to my words carefully I, Alexander Kael Touch, ask Artemia Eretria Von Havens if she would be willing to marry me?"

Alex asked with a dazzling smile.

Artemia's lips arched into a beatific smile, her eyes turned misty as she nodded fervidly, "Yes!"

Although she had previously reserved a ring as proof of her engagement, this time it was different because it was preceded by a dinner under the stars, a declaration, and the ring, it was a true demand this time.

So obviously at the moment, she was feeling so euphoric that her heart couldn't stop itself from fluttering nonstop.

He saw her keenly looking at the ring and chuckled as he took it from her fingers.

Alex took her beautiful white left hand onto his palm and inserted the ring onto her ring finger, which perfectly fit her finger.

He continued, "And with this, we already promise to love, to protect, and cherish each other even if only the embers of our soul are left."

Feeling the cold and elegant ring decorated proudly around her finger, she felt a sense of bliss she never felt before, and understanding the meaning of having this ring; she already decided to hold on to it and protect it as if it was her life.

"For now, you will be my fiancée because we can only officially marry after everything is settled." Alex said softly.

Artemia's expression, however, didn't change as this was more than enough for her. So, she simply nodded with a smile while appreciating the ring on her finger.

"Do you like it?" He asked with a dashing smile.

Artemia's gaze moved over to his starry black eyes and nodded with a besotted expression.

"I love it..."

Right after admitting to liking the ring, Artemia cupped Alex's face while intensely gazing into his eyes—"and I love you, Alexander." She declared.

"I love you too, Artemia Eretria Touch!" Alex declared and the princess's body froze on the spot, she had anticipated this, although they hadn't gotten married, his words and what he gave her were more than enough, she didn't care about a wedding as now he had given her the best moment of her life.

"Let's make sure that our love, our love be everlasting." She decreed and even fate nodded, eager to see them accomplish this.

"Of course, our love will be everlasting, I will make sure to protect every one of you. I'm not perfect but with you all, in my life, I can become perfect, even if it's not like the world wants, I will be perfect in the eyes of my loved ones."

Alex declared before the princess carry Artemia, it was time to continue their previous session and he was eager to see what surprise she had for him because he was sure that he went beyond her expectations and indeed he did.

As one would have expected after his declaration, the couple was now continuing where they have left.

Currently, Alex was on top of the pinned princess. He kissed her deeply. Then he bit her lower lip while touching her fully exposed clit. The sensation of pain and unfelt pleasure ran through the princess's body and made her mind explode with emotions.

"Ohhhhhhhh!"

She moaned and opened her legs wide. Alex was adjusted right between her legs. She closed her legs around him to hold him in the same position. It took a toll on his freedom of movement. But he didn't mind because he had a flexible constitution. So that didn't bother him anyway. He had the title of swift fingers anyway and this title enabled him to do many things, being flexible was one of them.

Alex's lips curved upward as he continued working on pleasuring the princess, he excited her clit until it expanded and became even more prominent in size. He then sent his index finger deep down her wet pussy while tracing the moist inner folds of her vaginal lips with his free fingers.

A musky aroma started to linger in the air as Artemia's vaginal juices started to come out in abundance. Her body was working on overdrive— ensuring the princess had a good wonderful night, a night to remember.

Meanwhile, Alex kissed her neck before taking her left nipple in his mouth again. By now he had freed his other hand. He sent his now-freed hand under her butt cheek.

He kept on kneading them for a while. Then he let the hand explore some more of her butt crack before finding the anal opening.

The princess opened her eyes wide when she felt Alex's finger tracing the rim of her anal opening. She gasped when she felt her anal and vaginal openings getting breached at the same time. Moreover, he bit the nipple he was sucking on at the same time— preventing her from registering her shock in words.

Renita felt like her soul would leave the body as she arched her back— as if she was trying to get up— only to crash back on the bed with a sudden motion. It looked like her body had been possessed by the way the pleasure waves inside her were making her move.

"Alex... Anhhh doesn't stop... don't stop... aaaaah... It's exactly what I want."

"I'm cumming..."

The princess's pussy sprayed a bountiful of nectar over Alex's hands and on the bedsheet. The musky aroma intensified when the light breeze coincidentally seeped into the room through barely opened windows. Moonlight shone through the curtains creating a majestic picture of the princess any painter would have killed for.

Alex didn't stop after Artemia had an orgasm, he continued, he kissed her navel before inserting his tongue inside. Since the princess had started sweating, his tongue would register a salty taste from time to time. But he didn't mind, in fact, he loved her scent as it aroused him more.

He continued downward, they were having sex as if it was their first time.

Alex first planted a kiss on the princess's moist pussy mound and gave the puffed clit a simple lick. Immediately, Artemia felt a jolt of lightning pass through her, thanks to how oversensitive it had gotten post her release.

The feelings of getting turned on or her getting fingered were not the only reason the princess felt that jolt. But it was because Alex was carefully using a bit of lightning mana with his touch now and then to excite her.

He did it with his tongue too. The tip of his tongue would produce a micro lightning spark as he started exploring her vaginal folds. This was done while he was still driving the finger of his other hand into her ass.

The princess had just reached her orgasm. That's why she could still hold on. But her senses were getting overloaded thanks to the Black Prince's tricks. He had decided to leave a lasting impression on his girl's mind. Something she can cherish forever after tonight's declaration. She'd also looked forward to their future together, she would never be able to leave him after this not that he would let that happen.

The princess's mind was overwhelmed by pleasure, she could not believe that someone could use mana, the elements for sexual gratification. The creators of this would have fallen onto the ground if they saw this. How good Alex was pleasuring women, almost as if he was born to accomplish this but she knows that he was this good after many trials and errors, he was constantly improving, creating new ideas just to pleasure his women and while she would disturb at first, now she was glad Alex was experienced and full of resources because this enabled to always reach the peak whenever they have sex, not many men could achieve this and be good at the same time, she and the other girls could be said to have been blessed, no wonder none of them wanted to ever let go, he was that good, an expert.

"Ohhh! Yes! Ohhh! Alexxxx!!"

"Lick.... Yes, my king... lick there.... Yeaahhaaaah"

Artemia had taken the charge again after her emotions told her to. She grabbed Alex's head from behind and lifted her pelvis in the air a bit. She pressed his head against her pussy while stretching her legs open some more. In the hope that his tongue would reach even deeper parts of her wet pussy, providing her more pleasure.

Seeing this Alex smirked and stretched his tongue to an abnormal length like that of a snake. It stretched so long that it stopped looking like the tongue of a human. He started lapping up her pussy with exceptional agility because of the stretched length.

"Aaaaah... You are making me go crazy.... More... give me more...."

This move seemed to have worked, Alex's trick was simple, he temporarily switched to another mode, the dragon's mode, but this time he solely focused on his tongue to provide more pleasure to his partner.

And Silveria who had felt a change and tried checking what was going on soon regretted.

〔This guy is crazy.〕

"Aaaaah... You are making me go crazy.... More... give me more...."

This move seemed to have worked, Alex's trick was simple, he temporarily switched to another mode, the dragon's mode, but this time he solely focused on his tongue to provide more pleasure to his partner.

And Silveria who had felt a change and tried checking what was going on soon regretted.

〔This guy is crazy.〕 Silveria was exasperated after seeing what doing with a strength most people would kill. Only someone crazy like him would think of desecrating such noble skill as he was doing, to not be further tainted she quickly shut down the connexion between them, however, for some unknown reason the image of Alex's snake tongue was wreaking havoc inside Artemia's pussy and the silver's goddess was unable to think of anything else and her body for the first time since her birth was hot for some unknown reason.

"Maybe it is because I caught a cold." She tried to justify herself but it was an answer even she didn't believe in.

Meanwhile, in the outside world, Alex stretched his tongue straight next and sent it inside her pussy hole. The vaginal walls contracted on his fleshy tongue— making him taste the nectar straight from the source.

Next Alex started pulling his tongue in and out while exciting the princess's clit and asshole with both his hands. The girl soon couldn't take it anymore. Her vaginal walls contracted some more— enabling the Black Prince to sense that she was reaching another orgasm.

Therefore, Alex increased the speed of his tongue going in and out while giving equal focus to her southern parts. This was all it took for the princess, the reincarnated human goddess to reach the second orgasm in a row which made her scream without any restraint.

"Aaaaaah... Alexander... I'm cumming so soon again. Aanhhh! It's so good!."

Another ample amount of her love's juices was released which felt like a Tsunami-like force to her. She had trapped Alex's head inside her closed legs— his face getting pressed from behind by her vice-like leg grip. It took a while for her to gain normal senses and release his neck from her vice-like leg grip.

"This was... delicious!" Alex said after tasting her love juice to his heart's content.

The couple changed to a 69 position where they pleased each other until he reached an orgasm while she had her third orgasm.

Both were in their sensitive states but still decided to continue as they knew only this way they would feel the best pleasure. He penetrated her in one go. The pleasure was converted into ecstasy before ultimately metamorphosing into pure bliss.

"Aaaaaah. Alex... drive it deeper. Harder..."

Artemia commanded as she straightened her back and completely enjoyed riding on her man's dick. She locked her hands with him and threw her head back as she was being fucked by Alex to oblivion.

Pah! Pah! Pah!

Her ass cheeks made a clapping noise every time Alex's front pelvis collided against them. The third princess was meeting Alex's thrusts with equal enthusiasm as she kept on bringing her hips down hard on his cock.

Unlike the last time, she took her time reaching the point of her orgasm. This time, she was more in control of her body. The seconds turned into minutes, minutes became longer as both lost themselves in pleasure as if it was the only thing that mattered. They fucked without restraint, so much that the princess's strong body had accumulated fatigue. Her skin had turned light pink all over. The entire bed was ruined because it had been drenched by both of their love juices.

She had reached the point of another orgasm. Even Demigod's bodies had their limits. Since the first light of the dawn was going to break soon, Alex had decided this will be their last session.

"Oh, Alex... Aaaaaah! Fuck me harder, deeper than ever. Oh! Yesss!"

"Give it to me, I'm all yours to do as you want, please ram that dick inside. Fill me up."

Alex and Artemia both stood on their knees. He was entering her from behind this time while squeezing her boobs with one hand while stimulating her clit with the other. He didn't slow down even after he felt the princess was about to come again.

He kneaded her right tit with his hand and squeezed it hard. His handprints had appeared on various parts of her body. They were most prominent on her ass cheeks and her tits.

With his left hand, he reached out for the princess's clit and played with it like it was some kind of musical instrument. His dick was ramming as hard as it could into her pussy hole.

By now, she understood that he was not overplaying her pussy's strength to accommodate his dick. She found pleasure in welcoming his big and rock-hard member inside her. She wanted it to stay inside her.

"Aaaaaah... Alex... I'm coming! I'm coming, ohhhhhhhh!"

Artemia's entire body shuddered as she cummed hard on Alex's dick. She felt like she had lost all her strength to even stay on her knees anymore. She had maintained her position thanks to Alex's grip. Otherwise, she would have crashed on the bed flat on her face.

He rammed his dick inside a few times then cummed inside her once again. This was the sixth time he had nutted on her. Each time lasted longer than the last. He would have still signed up for one more session but he could see that Artemia wouldn't be able to handle him anymore.

As for what surprise she had in store for him, he knew it but refused because he had already promised the Ice empress that he would not take another ass's virginity before finishing what he started with her.

"Hah! Hah! I'm so full. Thank you for giving me a wonderful night, a night to remember, I love you forever." Artemia declared before falling asleep and the moment she did a golden light burst out from her body, covering both of them and the black heard a notification in his mind.

Upon hearing these notifications, Alex couldn't help but feel a little amused as the corners of his mouth perked up. It was exactly what he had been waiting for.

After making sure that Artemia was sleeping peacefully, he strode toward the balcony where he summoned his status window.

Alex immediately fell in love with this skill as he saw many applications for this, this skill will be the perfect combo for his throwing knives, he hadn't tested them in the recent time so naturally, with the apparition of this skill he was itching for some action, he would first test this skill to judge it before spending his skill points to upgrade it.

Alex got the wonderful guinea pigs for this test. After checking the princess and seeing that she was in a deep sleep, he smiled before vanishing.

Every city whether they are small or big hides shadows, the underworld was about to become Alex's testing ground. He would relieve some stress while in passage doing some good action, he was such a good Samaritan.

A few minutes later Alex stood before a tavern. From the outside, it looks depressing, uncomfortable, and horrible. Stacked stones and tree trunks make up most of the building's outer structure.

It's difficult to see through the large, curtained windows, but the lack of people from within could be felt outside. It was reasonable as this tavern was one of the gang's bases in this city.

Alex obtained this information after gently speaking to one of the gang's members.

Alex entered through the door, as you enter the tavern through the old, wooden door, you're welcomed by a few groans and a layer of smoke hanging below the ceiling.

The bartender is smoking tobacco and makes no effort to acknowledge your presence.

It's as horrible inside as it is on the outside. Marble pillars support the upper floor and the light fixtures attached to them. The walls are covered in photographs of what were undoubtedly better times for this tavern. They're now more of a painful reminder of what it has turned into.

"Who is this woman's looking man?" One man as soon as Alex walked in, because he didn't disguise himself s they did during their date during the day, his real face was revealed and those thugs were low-level ruffians, so naturally, none of them were aware of Alex's real identity.

As for the man's provocative words, it was comprehensible as he did this because he was feeling jealous.

The others burst into laughter adding joy to the man's face as he felt supported but this joy was short-lived because, in the next moment, the man had fallen into the ground, his eyes widened in horror, and a knife sticking out of his head.

"Wh-"

Swish!

Bang!

Swish!!!

Bang!!!

Alex didn't wait for them to spout crap before eliminating those in view and in an instant the eight men present except for the bartender shivering behind the counter were dead.

"Mo... Monster!" The bartender said before passing out.

Alex glanced at the corner of the room where a man was hiding, even if he did try not to make a sound, he could not totally control his breathing because of fear and Alex was too lazy to call him out, the leader of this gang.

Taking out another throwing knife he activated the lightning degree's skill and swoosh, it disappeared and cut through the marble pillar and pierced through the man's heart.

"What? Ehh? I'm dying?"

It was a question he would have the chance to get an answer for as he was dead before his body reached the ground.

Satisfied with the skill, Alex left, letting the city's guards do the cleaning.

1049 Chapter 1049

"We need to talk."

As soon as Alex returned, Silveria materialized and invited him into her world and he could only comply, he would rest later.

Once in her world, he was surprised to see Nyx present as well. He immediately understood that whatever they wanted to talk about it must have been pretty important for Nyx to be present.

After taking a seat across from Nyx he looked at them and asked.

"What do you want to talk about?"

"It's about a way for you to acquire new strength." Silveria declared while serving them coffee and while tasting his coffee Alex asked her to elaborate, which she did.

"You have three bloodlines hidden inside you, high human bloodline which made you to possess a huge reservoir of mana, and us, your dragon's bloodline inherited from your sister gave you strength and powerful physics while your last bloodline, the Asura's bloodline, the most powerful of all is half awakened. We want you to tap into this bloodline to bring out more power. While it's true that you haven't fully grasped the other two bloodlines, we will take care of that later but we sisters researched and found out that Asura's bloodline is ancestral, thus we ought to prioritize it. Asura's form is just a small part of this extremely powerful bloodline."

Alex silently digested what Silveria had just said and after analyzing them, he suddenly feels like a fool not thinking about it, he neglected this bloodline, postponing everything for later, but fortunately, they got his back, sending him a wake-up call and he would follow their instructions because now that his attention was focused on this bloodline, he wanted to know more about it, he could not wait to unveil its secret and see how powerful this bloodline acknowledged by the two sisters was.

"Okay, what do I need to do?" He asked what to do next as he was clueless about what to do.

It was Nyx who responded to this question, not Silveria.

"Close your eyes and grit your teeth because it will hurt." She didn't sugarcoat her words and Alex felt a shiver run down his spine almost making him renounce but he refused to give in.

"Okay, let's begin." He immediately closed his eyes and ground his teeth as soon as he finished his sentence, then he felt something cold pierce the area below his heart and an intense sensation soon followed.

He felt pain in their chest, he felt pain in their arms and he felt pain in his mind. His mind raced, half panicked half determined. There must be an answer to this pain, there must be a way to make it stop. He tried as best he could to block out the pain, to find some form of meditative trance in order to cope with the agonizing sensations. In an instant, Alex's mind and body experienced many things before finally collapsing onto the ground and twitched a couple of times before he abruptly stood up and glared at the girls with deep red pupils, it was almost as if he would jump at them at any and rip their throats, heavy killing intent oozed from his body but none of the girls were fazed as they looked at him as if looking at a rebellious child and after glaring at them for a moment.

Alex sat in meditation, slowly his hair elongated, gaining a scary red shade while his nails grew, and he was soon covered in a red cocoon that started pulsating like a beating heart.

Silveria and Nyx exchanged a look with the former suggesting.

"Let's wait. Well, it's the only thing we can do since it started."

Nyx said nothing as her eyes were locked onto the red cocoon, she tried to look beyond it but for some reason, even her powerful eyes were unable to see past the red cocoon, this didn't frustrate her but on the contrary confirmed their research that the Asura's bloodline was beyond their understanding, a bloodline which didn't exist in the Original world as far she could remember, she had only heard about this bloodline to be one of the creator's bloodlines, the original beings, one of their bloodlines.

Meanwhile, inside the cocoon, Alex had lost consciousness and his consciousness was drifting through an endless crimson cloud before the scenery changed and he appeared on a field, in the distance stood a castle.

Eight skinny, square towers piercing the sky are the first you'll see of this castle and are connected by giant, thick walls made of obsidian.

Ornate windows are scattered thinly across the walls in an asymmetric pattern, along with holes of various sizes for archers and artillery.

A regular gate with enormous wooden doors, a draw bridge, and large crenelations guard the inhabitants of this island castle, but it's not the only way in, which fortunately only very few know.

A handful of waterfalls flow into various small rivers and provide the precious farm fields outside the castle with needed water. This castle has clearly stood the test of time and its inhabitants are intended on making sure it stays that way for ages to come. It was the feeling you would get from looking at this castle.

Suddenly, the gate was opened as if inviting him in and Alex hesitated for a moment, he checked his abilities but unfortunately, he couldn't use his guns, only his knives and throwing knives seemed to be available.

"This is better than nothing. Let's see what is inside this ghost castle." Alex declared after heaving a sigh and stepping forward. Whatever would happen would happen. He was doing all of this for himself and his loved ones.

1050 Chapter 1050

As soon as he stepped into the castle, Alex was immediately summoned into the throne hall.

Great braziers enclosing each of the six basalt columns light up the entire throne hall and bathe the hall in a dancing glow of orange. The glass of the windows in the embowed ceiling dance in the flickering light while carved images look down upon the wooden floor of this monumental hall.

A coral rug runs from the throne to the doors and is matched by smaller ones on either side of the hall while winged banners with gilded sigils cover parts of the walls. Between each banner stands a tall candle, they've all been lit and in turn illuminate the portraits of legendary creatures below them.

Vast, colored glass windows are enclosed by curtains colored the same coral as the banners. The curtains have been adorned with gold leaves and fine patterns.

An imposing throne of gold sits atop a balcony overlooking the throne hall and is adjoined by three smaller and less elaborate seats for those closest to the royal highness.

The throne is covered in sacred patterns and fixed on the wide backside is a gem-encrusted tree. The dense pillows are a dark coral and these too have been adorned with ornate borders.

Those wishing to listen to their royal highness can do so on the few extravagant and comfortable maple benches, all of which are facing the throne in a V-shape. Those of higher standing can instead take seats in the rather ordinary-looking balconies overlooking the entire hall.

Currently sitting on this throne was a man dressed in old armor, he has long crimson hair, and his eyes were dark as the abyss itself, just being stared at by those abyss-like eyes making it hard for Alex to breathe as he could feel an enormous pressure on his body.

The man seemed to have noticed this and he looked at Alex apologetically, before the pressure Alex was feeling receded.

"Welcome, a visitor from afar, the Lord has instructed me that you would eventually come here one day." The man sitting on the throne said making Alex's mind run faster until he identified the Lord, he was not sure at a hundred percent but this Lord must be referring to the crimson lady in the coffin, the one with who he had a contract with, the one that made him acquire his third bloodline, the Asura's bloodline. That woman must have made some arrangements and his coming here must have been a part of those arrangements, although this leave a bad aftertaste in his mouth, he couldn't do anything against it as he was not strong enough, he could only swallow the bitter feeling of dancing on someone else tune, for now, to acquire enough strength until one he reached their level.

After calming down Alex walked forward and the man on the throne nodded, impressed by the calmness in Alex's eyes, he felt as if it was this man maybe he could achieve what he could not do.

"Come closer." The man ordered and Alex stepped closer after not feeling a murderous intent coming from the man. He knew he wouldn't do any harm to him as it would be going against the reason why he was in charge of the awakening.

Once he felt that Alex was closer enough he said next.

"Show me your status window."

Alex nodded before summoning his status window for all to see.

As a test Alex didn't conceal his unique ability, he was trying to see if the man could see it, he was observing his reaction but he heaved a sigh of relief when he saw that he was unable to see it or maybe the man was simply that good at concealing his emotions.

While Alex was busy thinking of unnecessary things, the man on the throne said some shocking things.

"You are powerful with a lot of skills but some of them need to be erased, rearranged into a few powerful skills."

Although pretty shocked Alex didn't question the man's decision but directly asked.

"What are the skills you're talking about?"
