As soon he read his status window, a wave of memories came crashing down almost making him puke, he remembered everything he went through before awakening his Asura's bloodline and inheriting another unique ability, the scene of massacres and what he did.

Alex immediately breathed in and out to regulate his breathing and calm down. As soon he did this a couple of times he felt a little bit relieved but not completely, so he decided to get drunk but not inside this room, he went over to the balcony.

After going to the balcony, he opened a bottle of alcohol. A whiskey he had been keeping in his item box.

Leaning onto the wall, he started drinking it without any snacks. The sweet savory smell unique to whiskey floated up. His body was normally unable to easily get drunk, but he went as far as to deliberately lower his body's metabolism speed to that of a normal human.

Moonlight shone from above illuminating his lonely figure as he continued drinking. Soon he had already emptied one bottle and was halfway through the second one.

It was at that moment Silveria appeared, sitting close to him she asked.

"Can I?"

Alex nodded before passing her the bottle of whiskey and began drinking like a man, like Alex she had inhibited her ability not get drunk.

In the span of half an hour, the two had finished two bottles and the alcohol began to kick in.

"Burp! You Sil I was being arrogant thinking that I have seen and experienced many things, I have killed monsters and humans alike, I've been betrayed, I died once, got reincarnated into a fantasy world."

Silveria acted like a good listener not interrupting Alex, at least not yet. The reason why she joined him was to support him, to share what burdened him and alcohol was a good way to make a human's mouth loose. Most people once drunk would be open to sharing what burdening them, what they were keeping bottled might pop out.

It was exactly what was happening right now.

"My parents died before my eyes, from a pampered kid to an independent young billionaire, I have experienced many things, and naturally having experienced so many things I came to believe that in terms of emotion I have matured and nothing could affect me any longer, not heavily at least but after going through a battle on the other side, even though it was in dreams, I've seen I never thought I would experience, so much that my emotions are in shambles, I became filled with anxiety and fear. I'm not in the control anymore." He said as he started his fifth bottle.

Silveria watched the man whom she acknowledged as her master and the one was sharing life with and heaved a sigh, she sobered up a bit.

"Alex, you know emotions are vital to good health and good choices, without them the moral compass cannot function, yet without logic, without creative perspective taking, they can be as wild horses in need of a soul whisperer. So whisper to them, ask them what they are saying, then listen and learn."

Not giving Alex any time to say something she continued.

"Life is long, you will see and will experience many things. Nobody has perfect control over their emotions. Don't be afraid of sharing your thoughts, and your fear with us. We are all here with you. Don't keep everything bottled as this might cause problems later. Although I don't know what you have seen during your awakening the only I have to say is don't be afraid, no matter what will happen later you have us, and you are not alone. Many will die in the incoming war against Bahamut, just make sure that none of those closest to you ever lose their lives. I'm glad you didn't have the Hero's complex and are selfish, only care about you and those closest to you, only like this will you survive."

Alex nodded by now he had sobered up a little and was in control of his emotions, the fear and the mixed feeling he had seemed to have lessened to some degree.

Seeing this Silveria smiled and brought up something she wanted to discuss for a while.

"Talking about Hero's complex, what are you gonna do about him?"

Alex's face hardened and his eyes became ruthless.

"Of course, I will have to kill him. The soonest the better."

He didn't even blink when he said those words as if it was something he had planned to do for a long time.

Silveria nodded pleased that Alex was not going to be soft on Leonardo, the man was a variable, a dangerous.

"Do you think I would have let him live after sending him to the other side in infiltration?" Alex asked while looking at Silveria wondering why she brings this matter up.

"No, I asked because I wanted to remind you that you should act soon and get rid of him and the others." Silveria who understand his gaze explained.

"I see, but is it necessary to kill others, I mean Camilla and Dodolus? They can be used-"

Alex hadn't even finished his sentence when he was forced to shut it. His heart tightened and a chill went down his back as cold sweat covered his hands and feet; a feeling of unease clawed at his heart, he felt like he would be making a big mistake if he were to continue with his words, never before he had felt so much emotion coming from Silveria which in turn scared him, he just asked because he didn't want to be too ruthless.

He had his reasons. Some might complain saying why he sent Leonardo on a such dangerous mission while knowing that in the end, he was going to kill him, he should have done that from the start, in that prison's cell. He gave him false hope. Not that Alex cared about that, he did what he did because he needed a valuable reason to get rid of Leonardo, he might have become a star in the eyes of the world, but Leonardo's status as an otherworlder and the Hero above everything else still stands, Mysthians would still choose to believe in him because of his class, it was a class that would shine during the incoming war, even if not necessarily, people need something to believe in, someone with the hero's class could be that.

So, in order to break this image, he came up with that solution, confiscate his gift and send him to the dark side where it was sure he would turn coat as the other party wouldn't want to let such juicy meat go. Later once he killed him as a traitor, the Hero who had turned coat, his back on humanity, no one would have anything to say. It was his plan, he had thought about it for a long time before deciding to do that, since his visit that night before Leonardo escaped, it was all part of his plan.

"You will kill all four, kill them all, there is no turning back. You can let others kill the girl and the giant but they must be uprooted cleanly and swiftly." Silveria sternly declared and she seemed that she would not take no for answer.

"Sigh! I understand." Alex finally give in, he didn't really have a choice, he must do that to avoid future troubles.

1062 Chapter 1062

After promising to get rid of Leonardo and his group for good Alex and Silveria continued drinking until they were both satisfied. Neither knew when they went to sleep.

The following morning.

As the first ray of sunlight cracked through the night sky, Alex was still sleeping. He was intoxicated and now sleeping without any care in the world.

A minute later, the chirping of the birds entered his ears. The brilliant beams of sunlight passed through the open windows and fell on his face. He unconsciously placed a hand over his eyes to shield their eyes but more sunlight basked his face as if trying to tell him not to try hiding those beautiful pair of eyes.

Having no choice, he rose up. He stretched his hands while feeling the effects of a slight hangover. His powers wouldn't stop him from getting drunk if it was his own choice and will. This was why he felt such effects otherwise for someone of his strength, alcohol would be no better than water.

He left the bed and walked towards the window. A gentle gust of cool breeze greeted his face as he looked out.

The chunk of lights in the sky expanded in size and sparkle. The beams were cool and rather soothing to the eyes.

He lowered his head to see the plants and trees outside the inn. The dew drops were glistening on the leaves and they sparkled under the sunlight.

He looked ahead and noticed many groups of people on the streets. Stalls were being set and shops opened for work. There were peace and tranquility in this land.

"It's the time to wake up the sleeping princess." Alex mumbled with a smile.

He brought his eyes to the bed where Artemia was sleeping soundlessly, he approached the bed, lowering his body he was trying to plant a kiss on her forehead, she sneaked her arms around his neck and lock her lips with his. They kissed.

In that kiss was the sweetness of passion, a million loving thoughts condensed into a moment. The silent promise to see the end together.

Alex smiled at the princess's attack, the two kissed for a moment before separating, and a string of saliva connected their lips.

"Good morning my princess."

"Good morning my other half. You reek of alcohol, what happened last night?"

Alex scratched his head, he had expected her to find out when they kissed.

"I was emotional after experiencing sometimes, I'll tell you later. Somehow, you changed, something about you seems to be different." Alex said while seizing Artemia up, she chuckled, crossing her arms she haughtily declared.

"Fufufu! If we fight I can win, I can win the fight in one shot."

"Oh?" Alex became curious and he decided to appraise the princess.

"Wow! Already lvl 170 and on top of that you have acquired a Unique ability, not many have them. Congratulations but don't you think you are looking down too much on your super strong husband?" Alex said while playfully pinching the princess's nose, the latter pouted while proposing.

"Of course, I'll win, let's make a bet, the loser will listen to whatever the winner has to say for one week. How is it?"

"Sure, I'm in." Alex accepted because he also wanted to test a few things after his bloodline awakening but first he had to use his second unique ability but he would do this once they leave this city and head back to the Foxia capital.

Alex carried Artemia to the bathroom where they did more than simply clean their bodies.

Two hours later, the couple was ready to leave. After handing the keys to the mansion they rented.

They didn't immediately head back, they decided to tour the stalls and buy some souvenirs for the others, it was what they were doing when a group of men approached them, leading them was a man with an above-average face.

People started frowning when they saw the young man approaching, they must know what he had come to do, without a doubt, the man was a troublemaker.

Despite their disguise, Artemia's beauty still stands out, this youngster must have come to make trouble, Artemia's mood instantly hit rock bottom even before the man arrived while Alex was frowning, he felt something was not right, there was a black smoke above the incoming man's head.

'Let's watch!' He said and finally, the young man arrived before them.

"Beauty, I'm Raul, I appreciate your face come spend the day with me and I promise you to send you to heaven. I'm -"

The man hadn't even finished his sentence when it happened.

Slap!

Time seemed to come to a standstill for Raul. He saw in slow motion as the slap made contact with his face.

A slap that sounded more like a thunderclap! It rang so loudly that even those in the distance auditorium heard it.

Raul let out a miserable shriek. Intense vibrations rampaged through his entire body. He concentrated on protecting his vitals but in the process, left his cheek exposed and he instantly regretted his decision.

With loud cracking noise, his jawbone fractured and a few teeth fell from his mouth like dry weeds. He flew outward like a kite with a broken string while spitting out a mouthful of blood. He ultimately slammed into a broken wall and collapsed into debris.

Those accompanying the poor man stood rooted on the spot unable to process what had just happened but one thing was sure, they would die if they do anything to piss off this dangerous woman.

"Let's go." Artemia not in the mood any longer said and Alex nodded but looked above Raul's twitching body, the black smoke which was previously above the latter head disappeared heading somewhere in the crowd and before Alex could locate it, it disappeared.

'I see, someone was controlling him to test something. Interesting! Next time better properly introduce yourself.' Alex mumbled before following Artemia.

In the crowd somewhere was a white-haired girl, a black smoke was dancing above her hand as she mumbled.

"As I thought she was not simple. Maybe I've found some nice samples. I'll observe them, especially the lady later." Lilith Ex said before vanishing. She had no idea that it was the famous princess and the Black Prince she had just met, for her they were simply an interesting couple she had decided to play with once she carried out her mission in this city.

A few hours after the little episode, Alex and Artemia were back in the capital where they shared the souvenirs with the others, Artemia was talking to the others, Luna was playing with her pet, the wyvern Alex gifted her after Sera refused to take it saying that it suited Luna more and indeed it was the case, she trained the beast to be obedient, it had now become their mascot.

Meanwhile, Alex was fiddling with his skills, he was trying to find the compatible skills to convert into ESP, out of the skills he had, he could only try this unique ability on his movement skill. He would sacrifice a couple of skills for one movement skill, the Illusionary Steps.

"Let's test it," Alex said and got up and was heading to one of the training rooms when suddenly his sister come running.

"Alex, I want to ask you something. Can I?" She said with those puppy eyes.

"Sigh! What does my Japanese princess want me to do?"

"I want to go on a date with you." She said to Alex's surprise. He wondered why women loved shopping so much. He knew they would be going on shopping during their date.

"Okay, I accept but let me test something first. Come with me." Alex said and dragged her along until their reached the training room.

Now facing each other, Alex ordered.

"Attack!"

Swoosh! Swoosh!!!!

Dozen of Wind arrows were created in an instant and were sent toward Alex but he had already disappeared.

"Ehh?" She shrieked because there were ten Alex behind her, and she was unable to locate which one was the real one. So she was forced to ask her brother how did he do this.

"It's my new skill, go prepare, we will leave as soon as you are done."

.....

Located a few streets from their mansion was the Cuckoo's Shopping Mall.

The sun in the sky has already become hotter and hotter.

Alex and Sakuya were holding a parasol.

They walked leisurely towards the Cuckoo's Hui Shopping Mall.

For women, shopping is like an innate talent.

After entering the square, she immediately occupied the dominant role and hurriedly dragged Alex around the shops with interest.

Walking out of a clothing store, Sakuya asked, "I heard that your mother-in-law wanted to see you. Do you know what she wants to ask?"

Alex shakes his head. "I will know once I visit her."

"I see, I will have you for myself until this evening then," Sakuya said and Alex only smiled.

The couple continued their shopping for hours while Alex spent money like there was no tomorrow. Most of the girls present were jealous of Sakuya, she had such a handsome and perfect boyfriend.

Sakuya proudly displayed her ownership, seeing those envious stares coming from all the over the place brought some kind of joy to the Japanese princess.

Alex could only sigh in defeat and let her do as she wished. After spending hours fooling around they decided to quit.

When they walked out of the Cuckoo's Shopping Mall, the sky had already begun to darken.

Alex raised his hand, looked at the dark sky, and asked, "What do you want to eat tonight?"

"It's okay. You can decide!" Sakuya pursed her mouth and her eyes were full of happiness.

Alex smiled, he had already decided what restaurant they would visit.

The Fox's Pavilion, a revolving restaurant. This restaurant has a very good reputation in the empire for its considerate service, and delicious dishes, and has the best chefs gathered from all over the continent.

Finally, they arrived at the Fox's Pavilion, its height The height of the building is about 150 meters. It is not the tallest in the whole of the capital, but it is enough to enjoy the night view.

Walking out of the elevator, a waiter immediately greeted them. "Good evening to the both of you."

"Is there still a place near the window?" He asked.

"Yes, there is. Please follow me."

The waiter led them to a table by the window and the two sat down.

Alex opened the menu and asked, "What do you want to eat?"

For a foodie, choosing food is undoubtedly an extremely serious thing.

Sakuya hesitated for a moment and said, "For the appetizer, two slices of scallops, pan-seared foie gras, and porcini cappuccino soup. By the way, I want a chocolate mousse for dessert."

After all that, Sakuya closed the menu and continued, "You can choose the main course."

"For the main course, we'd like Tasmanian Angus Fillet Steak and Pan-fried Salmon!" Alex decided.

The waiter nodded and asked, "Do you want some wine?"

"Is there a Spirit of Wine?" Alex asked for the wine he often drank.

"Of course, which one would you want?" the waiter asked.

"The gold version!"

Alex already drank the black version and wanted to try the other versions.

"Okay. Wait a minute!"

Alex and Sakuya were watching everything while waiting for the waiter to come back.

The restaurant is very distinctive. The kitchen walls are transparent floor-to-ceiling glasses where you can see through the chefs making the food.

Turning your head to the other side, one can enjoy the night view.

The restaurant actually rotates very slowly, that is every seventy minutes.

The speed is just right and allows the diners to enjoy the night view at 360 degrees without much discomfort.

Soon, the waiter served the wine. He opened it and poured in a glass for each of them.

Alex picked up the wine glass and took a sip as he gently touched Sakuya. The two appeared to be the only ones in the world right now. They enjoyed their wine when Sakuya suddenly said.

"I would have loved visiting the famous restaurants on Earth, I want to go to Ibiza."

Holding her hand in his, he comforted her.

"Don't worry it might be possible once we became stronger enough."

"You are right, it's possible. I hope our parents will still be alive at that time." She secretly prayed for this small wish to be realized.

After waiting for a few minutes, the appetizer was served.

The scallops are cut as thin as the cicada's wings topped with clear salmon bits and a green sauce at the bottom which resembles luscious green water...

After tasting the appetizer, Alex nodded in satisfaction. It has a crisp, sweet, and sour taste, with a unique fragrance of seafood which was very suitable for an appetizer.

"What do you think?" Alex asked.

The foodie did not answer, but the satisfaction in her eyes says everything.

The waiter on the side is also very attentive and poured some more wine and changed the dish plates at the right time.

After eating, both of them were satisfied.

Especially the pan-seared salmon, the Black Prince liked it very much.

As for the steak, it tasted above average. Like Sakuya had said, he also wanted to taste Earth's cuisine again, while foods here do share a resemblance with earthen foods, they are still some differences.

"I want to see my grandmother again, I want to taste her cooking again. I missed her."

Now that they ate foods that resembled the ones from Earth, both were filled with feelings of longing, they missed their home world.

"Don't worry we will one day go back and spend time with our loved ones. It's a world of magic where the impossible is possible, even if it is hard we just have to try harder." It was her turn to comfort him and so she did.

1064 Chapter 1064

Now that they ate foods that resembled the ones from Earth, both were filled with feelings of longing, they missed their home world.

"Don't worry we will one day go back and spend time with our loved ones. It's a world of magic where the impossible is possible, even if it is hard we just have to try harder." It was her turn to comfort him and so she did.

"Thank you." Alex declared as he smiled at Sakuya.

"Bill out please!"

After receiving the bill, Alex glanced at it and ticked the highest possible percentage of the tip. Facing Alex's generous tip, the waitress smiled.

Alex changed his plan for tonight, he postponed his meeting with his mother-in-law, she said to meet him as soon as he would be free and previously he had planned on visiting her tonight but changed his decision during his date with Sakuya, he would be using this opportunity to spend some quality time with Sakuya.

Outside of the restaurant, Sakuya was shocked to see black magic that looks like a black sedan. Alex gentlemanly opened the passenger seat for her, inviting her to sit. Sakuya followed him with a smile, she was curious about what he was trying to achieve, as soon as she sat she fastened the seat belt and Alex started the magic carriage engine, trying toward a crowded place. A marketplace and soon they arrived. He stopped the engine and actioned a button. Advanced magic cars are built to represent Earth's sports cars, so naturally, some of their functions are included because Alex and the others were busy in their dear life they did not have many opportunities to showcase those things but this doesn't mean he didn't collection them just that he rarely uses them, he couldn't be blamed as he relied too much on teleportation scroll, teleportation portal and his Void Steps for long distance. However, tonight he had decided to use one of those magic carriages (A/N: Magic cars for short) he had collected to give joy to his woman.

Because advanced-level magic cars do share similarities with Earth's sports cars, as soon as Alex pressed a specific button it triggered a certain reaction. With a press of the button, the magic car's roof slowly reclined, and folded into the trunk.

Immediately, the sounds from outside the car were heard. There was shouting, music, traffic sounds, and it all entered their ears.

Alex and the Japanese Princess who sat in the magic car naturally gained attention from their surroundings. However, as people knew that this magic car was probably incredibly expensive, most people kept their distance and looked.

They wondered what this rich couple wanted to do.

Sakuya's beauty attracted many passionate gazes, which made the princess to feel shy.

Alex turned à head, and looked at the bashful and somewhat helpless Sakuya with a smile.

"Alex, why are you doing this..." Sakuya mumbled with a blush. The many faces which stared at her made her incredibly nervous.

"Because I want to give you a perfect date..."

As he said that, the Black Prince leaned over, and held Rose's exquisite waist. And right in front of her wide eyes, he kissed her lips.

For a moment, everybody in their surroundings stopped in their tracks, even the shouting peddlers became quiet, and watched this brazen couple.

It was only when she felt his warm breath did Sakuya come to realize that she and the man she loved was kissing in front of countless strangers!

She moved away her lips with difficulty. With deep blush and delicate panting, she said, "My love, don't be like this, everyone's looking."

Although she might appear sometimes thick skinned it was not to Alex's extent and she could also feel shame easily unlike a certain someone and currently it was what was happening.

"You don't like it when I kiss you?" Alex probed with a mysterious smile.

"No... that's not it, could we please have the roof back up?" Rose pleaded.

Sakuya shook his head, "If we put it back up, then why to buy a car like this?"

"But we didn't have to put it down to kiss either..." Sakuya was so embarrassed that slid her body down the seat.

Alex spotted an amusing grin seeing Sakuya's reaction, he was somewhat happy seeing her behaving like this, he stroked Sakuya's smooth and fragrant hair, then warmly said.

"I just want everybody to see that Sakuya Mio Hishinomiya belongs to me, Alexander Kael Touch."

"She is someone is have chosen to be one of my family's members, she's a happy lady who makes other ladies jealous. She's more beautiful and outstanding than anyone. I love her, and I'm not afraid that others will mock us."

After he said that, Alex once again kissed her.

Their lips interlocked, creating a beautiful sight in the bustling night market.

This time, Sakuya didn't dodge. Her beautiful eyes were tightly closed, and sparkling tears flowed out. It was a complex feeling of happiness and sourness.

At that moment countless thoughts ran across her overly excited brain. Many quotes describe what she was feeling at the moment.

'His kiss is not at all the same as those movie stars, but one steeped in a passion that ignites. It is the promise of realness, of the primal desire that lives in us all. And with it, he tells me that he is awake, connected within, that he embraces himself rather than hide as a copy of those romantic idols.'

Countless eyes focused on this couple, and it seemed like everyone in the surrounding had stopped conversing. All that could be heard was the music that some stores played.

After some time, some youngsters began to clap, and gradually, the sporadic claps became groups of people who clapped, and then just about everybody clapped.

Everyone present clapped to cheer them on, and several young couples couldn't help but kiss as well. The couple in the car was already in their world and had forgotten where they were.

Amongst the crowd, these two people seemed so insignificant.

But after tonight, some people would continue to remember that passionate kiss in that magic car, on that night.

1065 Chapter 1065

Alex and Sakuya didn't go back home that night, sleeping outside and the next day he brought him to a magnificent building, an eight-story (?) building mostly made of glass.

"It is yours?" This was the question Sakuya asked upon laying eyes on the most beautiful building in the surrounding, she couldn't help herself to ask such a question as she found no other explanation for why Alex would bring her here, to this building if it wasn't his.

"Yes! It's mine I have acquired it from Kuina, and I'm planning on turning this into five stars hotel. Let's go for a quick visit." Alex said before dragging her upstairs, she was curious about how he acquired this magnificent building but she didn't get the opportunity because they started their visit, Alex called this a post-inauguration, it should have been the case, but everything changed when they arrived on the highest floor, the secret ninth floor built solely for Alex's use, it could be called a family booth, it was shaped like a CEO's office and currently Alex who hadn't touched Sakuya's last night she was in the last day of that period but today it was different, he touched the girl until her body went limp.

Currently, Sakuya was at a complete loss. Her body went limp, letting Alex do as he pleased. She did not expect he would be this bold and start something here even if they were just the two of them, the staff members hadn't left even a few minutes ago, and yet here he was, he had already rendered her body weak to pleasure, he was too skillful at this, so much that Sakuya pouted, having lost so easily.

Alex looked at her pouting face. She was looking at him with a resentful gaze. It was obvious she was dissatisfied with how quickly her body surrendered to his masterful touching.

Alex couldn't help but grin widely. She was naturally seductive, and one could only experience this level of pleasure by penetrating her!

She was inexperienced but she could still send him up to cloud nine. It only took him less than two thrusts to fall deeper than he ever had in some time!

Even though Alex was highly experienced at sexual intercourse, he had never felt anything like this! The situation brought him to a new height, experiencing something beyond anything he had ever experienced.

He continued gyrating his hips quicker and quicker!

Sakuya was barely able to catch her breath. It was as if her soul was being thrown out and reeled back in with every thrust!

"Babe! Hmm...hmm please go...softer....it hurts..."

But Alex was oblivious to her cries. Every time he moved into her, it was a new world of pleasure!

It wrapped his sensitive spots and massaged them gently. The sensation was driving him crazy!

Eventually, he started to pick up speed.

Just when she gave up on stopping him and started to let herself float in the waves of pleasure, he was no longer satisfied in the normal position.

Sakuya's soft and curvy body was turned around by Alex. He made him lie on the desk with her chest down while he gripped onto her legs tightly and started with another round of thrusting!

She felt the pain at first since she hadn't had intercourse for a long time, but she wasn't a virgin anymore, so once she had gotten used to his size, she started to feel the pleasure coarse through her body.

Sakuya felt a little bit shy at the fact that Alex's cock was rubbing against her butt cheeks but at the same time, she couldn't stop herself from looking at Alex's facial expression.

Her heart softened when she realized the Black Prince was looking at her with an enticing expression.

Somehow they had moved from the office desk to the front of the tall window.

Although they were in the highest building in the vicinity and no one could see what they were doing unless they are high-level rankers and solely focused their attention here, Alex still checked his surroundings just to be on the safe side using his divine sense, he couldn't be having someone spying on them.

After making sure that no one could watch them, he pushed her onto the tempered glass windows!

She held on to his neck tightly with her slender legs wrapped around his waist.

Because the tall windows were designed to be curved around this secret floor, she could see the sky and the skyscrapers outside her.

It looked like she was doing something so absurd in the broad daylight while facing the city.

Cold air caressed her butt cheeks which were exposed to the frigid magic air conditioning, making her shiver in the process.

Sakuya struggled to keep conscious as waves of pleasure crashed over her helpless self.

Alex's cock kept penetrating her causing her body to bounce up continuously and she shuddered every single time.

No couple could experience this kind of endless lovemaking.

It was her first time experiencing it while she was still conscious, only then did she realize that any woman would have a love-hate relationship with this kind of sexual intercourse. It was quite addictive if you are not careful with it.

The Black Prince was like a ferocious bull who only knew how to charge forward as if he had an unlimited supply of energy, especially today Sakuya reached her orgasm countless times but Alex had no plans to stop! He seemed unstoppable.

During the first few orgasms, she enjoyed it so much that she wanted to melt into his arms.

But when she realized that he was still penetrating her, fear started to creep up her face.

Sakuya could feel her lower limbs go numb and she wondered if her private parts had swollen up.

"Hmm.... Alex....stop....let me rest." Sakuya panted as she pleaded for him to stop.

The excitement was written all over his face. He had so much adrenaline piled up that the last half of an hour felt like a minute to him.

"It's only been half of an hour. Let's make it two. Hehe, Mio my love, I didn't know your pussy was this good, depending on the environment it can bring different effects, but this one is by far the best, I'm in heaven, good thing we came here today, if not I would have missed such great opportunity and wouldn't have experienced something so mind-blowing."

Sakuya was about to faint. She couldn't feel anything down there, but it gave Alex more pleasure probably because she was already swollen even tighter down there.

"Please.... Babe, I can't go on anymore..." Sakuya sobbed. Her hair was a mess and because of sweat, it stuck to her face.

Her face was so flushed that she looked nothing like a president now.

Alex looked at her submissive attitude with a pleased expression and he spanked her butt cheeks hard!

Her jiggly buttocks bounced under the impact.

Blood colored her face into a darker shade of red, and Sakuya's face was dyed in embarrassment. She looked even more mesmerizing to him like an angel had descended to the mortal world.

Seeing this Alex was proud of his accomplishment, he was the only one capable of making her like this, he firmly believed, he had conquered her, successfully tamed her, turning the Sadist Queen into someone capable of submitting to him, he was proud.

Alex slapped her other butt cheek and she gasped.

"Girl, it's just the beginning. I haven't cum yet, so let's resume shall we?"

Alex chuckled and placed her down on the desk.

She wanted to cry!

"You're a tyrant!"

She gave herself to Alex completely and she had no plans to resist him.

Alex continued until he deposited his first load inside her and only by then he decided to stop, but only for a moment.

"Take a short rest, my love. Let's continue for another hour, maybe. At least let me cum twice." Alex blinked.

Sakuya had no more strength to resist him. She pouted and said, "I can't feel anything down there, I bet it's swollen so please let me rest for a while..."

She sounded so pitiful, obviously asking him to let her go.

But Alex wouldn't do as she wished. He chuckled nonchalantly and said,

"That's fine. I can heal you with my magic fingers. Come let me in and I will show you my power..."

She widened her eyes and before she could stop him, his fingers moved and massaged her whole body including her inside.

"Anhhhh!"

She shuddered and she went limp, lying on top of Alex. Her legs started to tremble, and she curled her toes out of pleasure.

Sakuya' lost all sense of consciousness once again as Alex fondled her with his bare hands.

After he had healed her, they went at it for another round.

The whole office was filled with an erotic scent.

An hour later, he finally released his semen into her and by that time, Sakuya's eyes were already half-closed. Her body trembled, feeling his hot load inside her.

Seconds later, she fell into a deep slumber, and a gentle smile formed on Alex's lips. He pulled her into his arms and landed a kiss on her forehead.

1066 Chapter 1066

A few hours after this battle, the two were heading home when Sakuya suggested that they would someone quiet and talk. They searched and finally chose a deserted park.

"What do you want to talk about?" He asked her as soon as they sat.

Sakuya sighed. "It did not occur to you that things are going smoothly, way too smoothly in your harem?"

"Eh?" Alex was bewildered by the sudden question at first but soon he regained his composure.

"Is there any problem with things to be going on smoothly?" He asked but was meet Sakuya's stern glare.

Alex blurted out when he saw her stern expression, "Why are you suddenly raising such a question?"

Sakuya sighed, "I didn't tell you previously because I was busy catching up to you and the others, also I thought you might be able to figure it out on your own but it seems like I was simply overestimating you."

Her words hit Alex hard still he motioned her to continue.

"Because on the outside everything seemed to be going extremely well you think it's a good thing? You don't really understand women. While it's true that Maria, Luna, and I have come to a consensus to share with you it doesn't mean we are really happy. But let's put that aside and talk about the others, even though we are there before them you think everything is fine because they smile and we get along?"

Alex was lost for words, not knowing what to say at all. To him indeed everything was going well in his harem, so much so that he wondered if those protagonists in a story having headaches about how to handle their harem weren't exaggerating.

However, it seemed now that he had been complacent, arrogantly thinking that everything was going fine, it would be okay, and this discussion would serve as a waking call for him. He thought he had a perfect understanding of them but guess he was wrong, he might have won their hearts, and he might be extremely good in bed but this doesn't mean it was enough for women to peacefully live together, accepting to share the same man with a smile all time. Humans are jealous creatures, especially women and because of this, they could create problems for others. For Alex not encountering any setback in his harem at first it could have been a blessing but from an outsider's perspective, it current harem was like a ticking bomb, ready to explode at any moment because there was no real management. He might have instructed them not to fight each other but this alone would not be enough, in the long run, more things needed to be done.

'I guess Sakuya is trying to tell me that more rules and a hierarchy needed to be established.' Alex arrived at this conclusion after a moment of thinking.

"The current peace is fragile and will not last long at the first sign of something unexpected so you had to better create more rules. Every society needs rules and hierarchy to function." Sakuya exactly what he had concluded thus Alex nodded.

"I get it, I will deeply think about it. Thank you for waking me up before it was too late." He was grateful for this waking-up call.

Sakuya smiled before continuing.

"You should be aware that it would be impossible to treat everyone equally as you can't never all of us the same way, the same level. While I'm happy that in this world polygamous relationship is legal meaning you can as many as woman you desire if you're capable, meaning all of them will be called your wives, you must know that they should exist a hierarchy. I'm not saying this with a wicked purpose in a mind but I'm just telling things are they should be, this reality."

Alex stayed silent for a moment, contemplating Sakuya's words when Silveria suddenly chimed in.

【What this girl said is not wrong. You should carefully consider them and think about what will be appropriate to fit your household needs. The previous attitude of wanting the girls to do everything as you believed in them might sound good but it was a little bit irresponsible of you to do that. You are the man of the house, your house your rules. I'm not saying to control everything but there should be some degree of control. This girl is assigned to this, that girl to this, and so on. By doing so, you are showing them your love and care. They will understand that you are not trying to control them as they are not some puppets and if they are things they were not okay they will tell you and together you will find a solution, to build a harmonious harem that will survive many storms in the future.】

Unexpectedly Silveria had also thought of the same thing and Alex was pretty if Sakuya hadn't brought this up, the silver goddess would have done it soon.

"Okay, I understand what you girls want to say and I promise to seriously think about your suggestions before acting," Alex promised them Sakuya who heard his promise frowned that someone else was thinking of the same thing as her, and after analyzing she found out that it must be Silveria and she smiled.

After promising to seriously think about what she told him, Alex and Sakuya chatted about trivial stuff until his face changed as if he was struggling with something.

Having noticed this, Sakuya's heart ached and she wondered what was troubling her man so much, she would know the answer once she probed thus she asked.

"What's up? You can tell me anything, I will listen and support you."

Alex felt relieved by her words but at the same guilty, wondering what she would think of him upon hearing what he had to say, still, he quickly shook his head and in a firm tone, he announced.

"I will kill Leonardo and his crew."

He had expected to see her shocked expression but never would he have expected what followed.

"Wow! When are you starting?" Sakuya shouted, happily questioning upon hearing his announcement.

Alex was gobsmacked and was unable to form a word until Sakuya said.

"What did you think I will be shocked and ask you why you want to kill them?"

Alex timidly nodded which prompted Sakuya to burst out of laughter.

"Hahahaha! Silly hubby, not at all, I was waiting for you to come to your senses and finally decide to get rid of them. Those that harm our family should be killed."

She said the word kill so resolutely that Alex did not doubt that she was serious since Leonardo had potted against Gracier, almost getting her killed, he had signed his death warrant since that moment. It was pretty ironic when he got rid indirectly of Damien, the Holy son back then, and would leave Leonardo alive, it was a foolish thing to do.

As for Camilla and the others, because they were together with Leonardo, guilty or not, the moment they were doing their utmost to reunite with him was a problem, they would become an obstacle and somehow Sakuya had the feeling that those siblings were beyond saving, especially Camilla because of her blind love, she would not forgive Alex for killing her man so she must be killed to get rid of any future trouble, the other two were just extras that needs to be taken care as well. Sakuya went on and explained to Alex before adding.

"Don't worry I'm not the only one thinking like this, we are all thinking the same thing."

"I see, that is good then. I will send my shadow league to try to locate the Asmar's siblings and use them to lure him out if it's possible and kill them all."

Alex told her his plan which made her happy, she had nothing to say as she was not against this idea, it might seem ruthless to use the siblings as hostages to lure Leonardo out but Sakuya couldn't care less because it was their survival Vs their survival.

(A/N: Touch Vs Leonardo's crew).

Using everything means necessary to get rid of your enemy is a must. It doesn't matter if it is morally upright or not, what mattered when the survival of your loved ones, and their well-being is at stake it's how far you can go to protect them to later not have any regrets as nobody would give shit about how to win at the end as strong dictate the rules.

"That's good, let's talk with others once we get back. I believe that together we can perfect this plan. I hope you were not thinking that you should do this alone, you alone would dirty your hands?" Sakuya asked this with her eyes narrowed trying to read him and as expected he didn't dare to look her in the eyes prompting the girl to heave a sigh.

"I knew it but you better stop this crooked mindset that you should do dirty things alone, we are family for better and worse, so naturally, we ought to share everything equally. There is no dirty group or bright group, we should stick together, and only like this, we will be a real family. Did you understand my point?" She asked with a serious face and he could not help but nod vigorously.

"Clearly!"

"That's good, let's talk with others once we get back. I believe that together we can perfect this plan. I hope you were not thinking that you should do this alone, you alone would dirty your hands?" Sakuya asked this with her eyes narrowed trying to read him and as expected he didn't dare to look her in the eyes prompting the girl to heave a sigh.

"I knew it but you better stop this crooked mindset that you should do dirty things alone, we are family for better and worse, so naturally, we ought to share everything equally. There is no dirty group or bright group, we should stick together, and only like this, we will be a real family. Did you understand my point?" She asked with a serious face and he could not help but nod vigorously.

"Clearly!" He voiced his acknowledgment, he knew he had misspoken, so naturally, he accepted and vowed to correct this mindset in the future. He couldn't be blamed he was trying to protect them as he thought that dirty things should be left to him to carry not to have them regret later, however, now that Sakuya had harshly rebuked him and told him that there was no need to think like that, it had opened his eyes.

"It is good that you understand, never forget this," Sakuya said with a smile, she was happy that Alex truly accepted and didn't argue with her, it shows that he would consider their opinion which was a good thing.

"Let's head back." She said and Alex nodded. The couple disappeared shortly later, joining Maria and the others waiting for them at home.

That night the atmosphere was joyous as they talked and played all together, Alex vowed to make everything possible to protect this peace and this joy.

Everyone was there except for Incursio who excused herself during the evening saying she had something to take care of, she would join them later. Maria and the others were not against Alex's idea to get rid of Leonardo and his crew, together they started planning how to carry this mission.

Artemia even proposed to call her sister and inform her about what they wanted to do, at first the others were vehemently against this idea fearing that Katherine might refuse or else leak their plan but Alex and Artemia reassured them, the former because he had noticed that the second princess was not fond of Leonardo, she even planned to deal with him using her methods, meanwhile, for Artemia, she proposed this idea because she understood her sister better than anybody present here, getting rid of

Leonardo and his group would be in fact helping her sister as it would mean getting rid of the stain on her side and most importantly by informing her, they would be implicating her and as future empress (probably) they could use her to clean up any mess that might pop out once people know it was Alex's group doing.

Finally, after explaining the logic behind her proposal, Maria and the others nodded, they even sucked mouthfuls of air because they hadn't thought that far.

Alex was impressed as it never occurred to him to do that.

'As expected they are exceptional each one of them, capable of filling the gap I can't. It's a blessing to be surrounded by talented people.' He thought with a smile and as if she could read through his thoughts at the moment Silveria's voice rang inside his head.

『Each one of them is unique, it's a blessing that you crossed paths with them and you become connected in some way another. Please cherish this, we will do our best to protect this.』

Alex was shocked by this but soon he recovered and corrected her.

'Thank you but you're also included as well, you and Nyx, you're my important person, I'll protect you all.'

It was Silveria's turn to be stunned she even mumbled one word as if trying to etch it deeper into her soul.

『Family? Huh! I guess we are one. Thank you as well for considering us as one of you Alexander.』

Alex nodded as if it was a matter of fact.

The rest of the night was uneventful as they casually chatted until late in the night, Alex slept alone, and Kuina wanted to sleep with him but got dragged away by Sera and Artemia. The trio slept together, Gracier slept together with Saeko as usual while Maria, Luna, and Sakuya shared one bed.

The night quickly passed.

The curtains add an orange glow to the morning light, every morning a perfect sunrise. It reminds Alex of the times he slept in a beach hut, watching the ocean emerge under the golden shimmer. For a moment his mind conjures the rhythmic waves, soft on the sandy shore, and feels his heartbeat to the same slow pace. He breathed in deeply. A new day had begun. He reached his hand out to the fabric, noticing how up close the light pours through every open space between fibers, no different from how it once came through the beach-hut walls, illuminating like brilliant fireflies each dawn. The material is warm beneath his fingers, and when the sun floods the room, painting the colors anew, he felt a little of those golden rays soak into his skin. For some reason, he felt like today would be filled with fun, probably because the empress, his mother-in-law had asked to meet him.

After freshening up Alex joined the others where they took breakfast together and after spending two hours with them, it was time for him to leave.

"I'm leaving." He said after kissing them, his lovers were kissed on the lips whereas he kissed Gracier received a kiss on her cheek, she pouted but quickly hide it so nobody noticed except for Silveria, she thought Gracier was pouting because her brother was heading out to have fun, she would have loved to tag along.

Soon Alex disappeared and Kuina suggested.

"Let's have an only-girl barbecue party near the pool.

Maria and Luna exchanged a look before the Ice empress stepped forward as the other's representative.

"Sure why not but let's add a ping pong table there."

Kuina nodded.

Meanwhile, Alex arrived at the palace thinking that the empress would want to talk there but instead she instead on him accompanying her out to play, naturally she could not go out in her real appearance so she had to disguise herself. It was how their journey began.

Alex and the disguised empress visited many places before stopping in a park they talked about trivial things.

"Alright!,"

Finally, Alex stood up and stretched his body, "I know you want to come out to relax so let's continue to shop."

Kuina's mother smiled. She linked arms with Alex which made Alex freeze.

"What are you thinking you're doing?" He asked with a frown but the empress chuckled and offered an explanation.

"We look like a couple trying to have fun, besides I'm disguised so there's no problem."

'Of course, there is, you're my fucking mother-in-law, so behave.' Alex almost shouted but he felt like he would be handing her the knife to finish him.

"Or are perhaps shy? Or harboring any wild thoughts? It's just a play for the sake of fun."

"Whatever." Alex said, too lazy to rebuke the fox, she was doing this on purpose and he didn't want to stay here and have an argument he was sure not to win.

Seeing Alex obediently playing around she smiled, she smiled, and the duo excitedly visited multiple shops.

Half a day passed by as they shopped.

Night time arrived and they went to a restaurant near the shopping mall. It was a perfect time for them to have dinner together.

Right after they ordered a few dishes, she suddenly suggested, "Let's have some drinks. It's cold outside so it's perfect to have some alcohol."

Alex wondered what trick this fox was trying to pull, but decided not to refuse her invitation, she seemed genuinely happy during their day, spending time like this must have done her good. So, he decided to let her have some fun.

He ordered the strongest alcohol the restaurant have.

Unexpectedly the empress wasn't used to drinking such strong alcohol but she didn't want to change it. She kept eating a few bites of food with every sip, like a cat who is eating hot food.

Alex smiled, "Stop drinking if you aren't used to it. Your face is flushed."

The empress knew Alex was using this opportunity to get back at her, still, she smiled and licked her lips and furrowed her brows, "I usually only drink wine and light alcohol, it's quite interesting to drink something strong occasionally. It's fine, you can send me home if I get drunk anyways. I don't need to be afraid of bad guys."

Alex shook his head, feeling speechless. He almost shouted that nobody would dare to do anything to her considering her strength and even if she wished she could remove all the alcohol in her blood in an instant.

After some time, Alex was about to stop her from drinking when a lady walked into the restaurant him looked over with a puzzled expression at first before a smile appeared on her ordinary face

"Eleanor?"

Alex was bewildered to see her. He hadn't seen her in a long time and had never expected would see her in this form.

Meanwhile, the empress glanced over but she didn't know this ordinary-looking girl so she kept drinking quietly.

Finally, she arrived before them and with a smile she said.

"Long time no see Team leader, you wouldn't blame me for interrupting your meal with this beauty right?"

1068 Chapter 1068

After some time, Alex was about to stop her from drinking when a lady walked into the restaurant he looked over with a puzzled expression at first before a smile appeared on her ordinary face.

"Eleanora?"

Alex was bewildered to see her. He hadn't seen her in a long time and had never expected would see her in this form.

Meanwhile, the empress glanced over but she didn't know this ordinary-looking girl so she kept drinking quietly.

Finally, she arrived before them and with a smile she said.

"Long time no see Team leader, you wouldn't blame me for interrupting your meal with this beauty right?"

For some reason, the empress became annoyed, although this woman's face was plain as far as the word plain means there was something different about her, unconsciously the empress felt pressured, and as someone who has a high status, revered whenever she goes she couldn't tolerate it even though currently she was disguised and was not the empress, still her ego could not allow it.

"We are discussing something so scram." The empress violently interjected and Eleonora who thought she would be joining them froze on the spot immediately not knowing what to do it was only when Alex winked at her she regained her cool and smiled.

"I see. Too bad. I'll see you later team leader but I remind you that fiery women are harder to deal with so you better watch out." She said before disappearing and the empress's almost blasted the table in front of her into powder. How could she not understand that Eleonora was getting back at her? However, the way she got back at her was vicious and almost made the empress reveal her identity and had her banned from her empire.

Alex could feel the smell of gunpowder in the air and he sighed thinking that women are indeed troublesome bunches. Even so, he had to diffuse the situation before it blew up and swallow him whole.

"Calm down, she is my former party member, we took a rank-up test together. You don't have to be concerned with someone like her with your humble status."

Upon hearing Alex trying to flatter her, she was pleased and said with her mouth curled up.

"It is good that you know that and now I'm in a good mood I'll tell you a bit about our current society came to be." She said and Alex's interest was immediately picked up.

"Tell me." He said and the empress became pleased, her eyes became clear in an instant and she began to recount the Foxia tribe's history. It was not a complex story and it was exactly like he had imagined.

"The beastsmen race territories are a place where the weak are prey for the strong. Our Fox race's women are well known for our feminine charms and aren't good at the battle, so it's only natural that others would drool over us. That's why our ancestors can only rely on the strong to protect us. Back then the strongest clan was the Tiger clan followed by the Lion clan. Naturally, at that time we chose the Tiger clan, although we could not become the main wife, we gained enough status and using the resources that came with this we built our society, from a village slowly to a small kingdom, to a normal Kingdom then to the big kingdom. The latter generation because we mixed with different clans became powerful and slowly but surely our bloodline became purer, tracing back to its source in my time because I was the one with the purest bloodline I became the queen and with my wit, I brought us to a higher level, from kingdom to an empire. Since five hundred years ago the tiger clan lost its hegemony to the Lion clan whose later generation became proficient with the Lightning element, a more destructive form." She explained and from this explanation Alex understood that Leon's clan hadn't been the strongest it was only recently they became the strongest clan, probably in Leon's grandfather's era and previously the beastsmen weren't divided into empires, and kingdoms but clans, however, something must have happened, maybe they have evolved. Still, it was interesting to see a clan previously not suitable for a battle to climb up until they reached the same height as the strongest clans

(empires). To do this, you'll need more than wits and determination, they searched until they found who to stand shoulder with shoulder with the other strongest clans, and for Kuina's mother to be able to rise from kingdom rank to an empire must have not been easy and must have required a lot of efforts and Alex was in awe, the way he previously looks at his mother-in-law changed because such woman deserves respect, a lot of respect. It is like women on Earth that starts from nothing to become billionaire almost rivaling men, those women deserved respect as much as this woman in front of them.

However, Alex was not an idiot he understood that the empress must have an idea in mind for today's date, even more so after telling him about the Nine tails Fox history, and indeed it was the case.

"The reason I'm telling you this is that originally I had other plans, my daughter is even more talented than me. I was planning on handing her the throne, she would have performed more than me, maybe one day in the future becoming the strongest empire on this continent. However, she meet you and everything changed I'm grateful but I got one thing I must warn you about."

'Here it comes.' Alex thought inwardly while outwardly putting on a serious face as he declared.

"I'm listening."

"If you ever made her cry or have her become useless I will kill her no matter how talented or powerful you'll become. Don't doubt my words." She warned and Alex didn't doubt her in the slightest, he knew she could do what she said and he had no intention of antagonizing her to begin, nor he would make Kuina regret her choice, as for never making her cry it was impossible because women are emotional creatures capable of crying over something insignificant, so all he could promise was to never make Kuina regret the choice she made.

Kuina's mother smiled, pleased by this, if Alex had promised to never make Kuina cry then she would have smashed his face onto the table and harshly rebuked him, fortunately, he was sensible and didn't.

"Good, then let's continue and finally talk about why I've invited you out today." Kuina's mother declared and Alex nodded while thinking.

'Finally, I was getting tired of waiting.'

However, he didn't show it on his face.

"I'm listening."

By now the two were fully focused as if they had not drunk any alcohol at all.

Kuina's mother nodded with a smile but started with a question.

"What is the strongest fox?"

Alex didn't hesitate and immediately answered.

"A fox with Nine tails." He gave this response because he recalled that the nine-tailed fox is hailed as the strongest fox on earth, so naturally, it should be the same thing in this world, a fantasy world.

Alex was sure that he had given the right answer when he saw her nodding with a smile but what she said following caught him completely off guard.

"Your answer is not completely wrong but only if we take this world's standard into an account."

"Please elaborate." Alex said already formulating an idea of what she would say next, he was sure that like Artemia and Lilith's ancestors, they weren't originally from this world, probably from the Higher World, and indeed Kuina's mother's following sentence confirmed this assumption.

"Our Nine tails celestial fox isn't native to this world but came from the upper world. Nobody knows how but it happened, from the records left behind by our ancestors we are from the Higher world and Nine tails isn't the limit."

Alex's eyes widened at this ridiculous claim as he didn't remember that there was something beyond nine tails in Earth's folklore; still, it was to be expected, nine tails would never be the end as it wouldn't be a fantasy world otherwise.

"The reason I easily accepted your union is that well aware that your ambition never lay here and goes beyond Mysthia's World, that if she were to follow you she will experience many things and one day reaches our ancestral land and one day reach the ultimate form, the beyond ninth tail, the tenth tail, turning into an original fox. Original Fox's status is compared to High humans, Ancestral dragons, and High elves, they are part of the original ancestral beasts such as phoenixes and other beasts on the other side, the Higher world." She explained.

Alex was pleasantly surprised because from this conversation he had learned a lot of new things.

"Don't worry now that I've learned about it I'll do anything in my power to help her she is my woman after all. The more powerful she became the happier I'll become." He declared and Kuina's believed in this more than if he had declared that he was doing this in the name of love, she was not a fool, she was happy with this answer for now because she was sure that her daughter would once manage to win this man's heart.

"Good, I'm liking you more and more. Please take care of my daughter as she is currently the one with the purest bloodline among us nine tails celestial fox."

"Don't worry I will." Alex didn't even bat an eye before promising.

"Good but be sure to be careful, because of her purest bloodline I don't know what might have you have to manage your harem well." Kuina's mother added to Alex's confusion, still he answered despite the confusion.

"Don't worry I'll manage somehow."

"That's good then." She said with a mysterious smile, her warning seemed to be hinting at something but Alex was unable to see what she was hinting so he decided not to think about it anymore, maybe he was simply overthinking.

1069 Chapter 1069

Late in the night.

Alex returned home after being separated from Kuina's mother, he ate dinner with the girls, and he explained what happened without completely going into the detail.

Finally, it was time to go to sleep, and like yesterday he slept alone while the girls followed the same arrangements as yesterday night.

The moonlight in the sky gradually shone dazzlingly on the capital, bathing it in its shine.

Her Majesty Empress stood on the balcony, leaning on the railing with both hands. Her beautiful eyes looked down at the little sparks down the mountain as she seemed to be in deep thought.

The cool breeze blew, and gently flicked her golden hair and large robe backward, revealing the perfect outline of her body; moving with calm serenity while her tails danced behind her, seemingly in chorus with the cool breeze.

"Lily, are you here?" The empress' voice sounded, and her tone was extremely pleasant-sounding, revealing the tranquility of ancient wells.

"Yes, Your Majesty." The black-robed woman under the steps bowed and responded. Just now she saw the empress immersed in her thoughts, so she didn't interrupt her.

"Has the intel about what I ordered you to search come?"

"There is no new intel yet. It's impossible to track the Hero's whereabouts, almost as if he had completely disappeared from this world which I doubt. Not even our hounds can do anything."

Lily thought for a while and added another sentence, "As for his former group, we succeeded in tracking them to the princess's hometown, Saeko's hometown but they vanished soon. Before they vanished their strengths seemed to have improved drastically, they were in the Demigod realm, the entry-level." (A/N: At the beginning of Demigod's realm.)

"I see, their personal strength is nothing to be feared if we manage to locate them quickly, what I'm more worried about is that boy Leonardo, I have the feeling that he is cooking up something and his strength would not be weaker than my son-in-law strength." The empress said with a sigh and Lily stayed silent upon hearing but how could she not know what was in the latter's mind, she had been her shadow even before Kuina was born, in a sense, she was like her sister, her confident so the empress could easily see through her and knew that right now Lily was curious about her reasoning behind what she was doing.

"Going ask anyway." The empress authorized Lily to ask the question which had been bothering her.

Lily bowed before asking the question that had been on her mind since she received the order to search for Leonardo and his group.

"What goal are you trying to achieve here?" Lily raised this question.

No matter hard she thought about Lily didn't arrive at a conclusive reason that could satisfy her.

"Ah!" The empress first heaved a sigh before proceeding to answer.

"The reason I'm doing this inadvertently is to help myself, my daughter, and lastly my son-in-law. They will feel grateful if I give them the whereabouts of Leonardo or his group. I will not touch them, this information alone can reduce the damage on what is to come."

"Huh? Are you talking about the final war?" Lily asked perplexed but the empress shook her head and simply told her.

"It is not that, you'll find out soon. Please continue to search for them. I'll be leaving I'm tired, today has been fun, I guess I'll have a good sleep in while." The empress said before vanishing, leaving Lily standing in a daze until finally, she came back to her senses as she fumbled.

"Sigh! I wonder what kind of calamity is coming but whatever it is I have the feeling that my empress is not against it."

Lily vanished in turn.

Meanwhile, in Alex's room upon closing his eyes, he soon drifted into the Dreamland and was sleeping soundlessly but this was short-lived because something happened that changed this.

Alex's consciousness was transferred somewhere, in some place where he faced some strange animal he had read about.

This amazing, but often-seen creature is a type of bird. It's about the size of a kiwi and has two enormous wings, four small legs, and a huge tail.

They have thin, rough skin covered in small, narrow feathers, which are usually either purple, dark silver or light silver, or a combination of these colors.

They live in frozen areas and are quite common. They're carnivores and their beaks and long tongue are ideal for eating insects.

They're crepuscular and rely on their taste buds and sight to get around. They do have short, sharp beaks, but their sense of smell is not very reliable.

They have small, beady eyes and tiny, almost hidden ears. Their heads are relatively small in comparison to their bodies.

They make sounds ranging from relatively high-pitched to low-pitched and have a fairly wide range of sounds they make to indicate discoveries, and dangers and otherwise communicate with each other.

These creatures are quite frenzied, but they minimize conflict and thus aren't very territorial. They mate once every three years and they mate and bond with a select few partners for life. Which, with their fairly long lifespans, is only normal.

Just as Alex was reminiscing about the information about this animal he had read on the internet, his surrounding changed, turning pitch black and he became light as a feather.

No gravity; just floating in the void.

This was how Alex felt now after he opened his eyes in this strange place after leaving his previous place.

He himself couldn't tell what kind of state it was, as if his soul was out of the body, drifting in what seemed to be the universe.

The body did not need to breathe, but it felt very relaxed and peaceful.

That's right, the surrounding scenery was just the space of the universe, not the in either sister's world. There was an ethereal feeling surrounding him almost as if he has died.

This is... the feeling of being dead?

Chen Rui remembered that he had seen feelings about death on the Internet. These were not obtained from the real dead people but summarized by the information that the experts told about the death and the suicide attempters. He vaguely remembered that there was extreme peace and calm as well as... unity with the universe?

Now this feeling of peace, coupled with 'traveling' in the universe. Am I dead?

Alex wondered, he could not be blamed as it was how he felt at the moment.

However, as soon as this thought entered his mind, Alex was frightened to death and soon regrets filled with.

'Seriously? I can't die like this, I've my loved ones waiting, I haven't tasted a High Elf yet, and there are still a lot of things I've yet to accomplish, so I refuse to believe that I've died for real.'

The speed of drifting felt very slow, but the process of universe time was completely opposite.

It was as if Alex was assisting in the birth of worlds, the truth of the universe.

For example, just a few seconds ago Alex witnessed the process of a sun turning from 'young' to 'twilight'. The explosion of death made the Black Prince think about the Big bang theory, how the universe was formed, and more precisely how the sun comes to be.

The electromagnetic radiation illuminated the entire solar system, forming a splendid and dazzling nebula. Many planets close by were devoured, and some of them were turned into debris.

Another planet turned into debris and universe dust after being struck by another comet. A powerful destructive crimson energy seemed to be devouring everything.

Alex felt like this crimson energy was familiar, he wished to be bathed in this crimson energy, maybe he could achieve some kind of state, something that could increase his overall strength. For some reason his forehead was itching since the apparition of this crimson energy, almost as if his third eye was threatening to forcibly come out, Alex ground his teeth and endured the pain inside his head as he continued to observe.

He saw what seemed to have been primal chaos but it was only a fleeting feeling, soon he felt mana's existence, then space, and time...

In the face of time, destruction was so simple.

Destruction was the end of everything. There was no immortality from the beginning, including the eternal beings in the legend.

The flow of time and destruction had accelerated while the explosion or annihilation in the vision had gradually become a feeling. This feeling was not fear, but a kind of faint affection as if it was some kind of innate law. Perhaps as a saying goes, life starts from creation and is the process of pursuing destruction.

Alex closed his eyes to feel the original power of destruction from his heart. He only felt that his soul was pulsing synchronously as if he was nurturing some corresponding law. He felt like this was something that must be done.

The law of destruction was in his life, the crimson energy in his hands. It started filling his soul, invigorating it.

He soon opened his eyes and looked at his hands as if he grasped some key.

1070 Chapter 1070

Alex closed his eyes to feel the original power of destruction from his heart. He only felt that his soul was pulsing synchronously as if he was nurturing some corresponding law. He felt like this was something that must be done.

The law of destruction was in his life, the crimson energy in his hands. It started filling his soul, invigorating it.

He soon opened his eyes and looked at his hands as if he grasped some key. Something important that would certainly help him in the future, he had this gut feeling, he could not completely explain, call it intuition if you will but one thing was certain he was sure of this intuition.

Although it was still impossible to fully understand for a while, the seeds had been successfully planted, and it was only a matter of time before he could comprehend.

Hands? Alex suddenly realized something. The surrounding scenes changed. It was no longer in the space of the universe, but in another large room with darker lighting. It had a strange layout and atmosphere. There were also many people wearing a crimson cloaks and a mask around him.

He was looking at his own hands. On these palms, a strange mark was drawn on each. This mark revealed the ancient and vicissitudes breath which was somewhat similar to the crimson energy he encountered earlier, but it was not the same. It should represent a certain kind of serious meaning, Alex had this kind of unshakable belief.

"Now, concentrate and put your hands on top of this crystal ball." The person in the crimson cloak who spoke up in front of him looked like a leader whose voice was a bit hoarse; she was a woman. The color of the mask on her face was different from the normal bronze color, showing a faint golden color.

Crystal ball? Alex fixed his gaze on the translucent crystal ball in front which was about the size of a volleyball.

For some unknown reason, Alex felt like he had seen this type of ball somewhere.

It exuded a strange vibe. Not only that, but he also felt the hostility and even killing intent of the people in the cloaks around him. They seemed to be ready to kill him at any time. By the way, what about the appraisal skill? Where are the girls? Silveria and Nyx? Does it seem that these are gone?

Alex was puzzled. He had already walked up as if he was not under his own control, then he subconsciously stretched his hands toward the crystal ball. The original colorless crystal ball gradually brightened, emitting a pale red light.

The killing intent of the people in the crimson cloaks around seemed to fade a lot as the light became stronger and stronger before it finally turned into a rich crimson color. Alex clearly sensed that his hands deliberately suppressed a certain kind of breath. So much so that it had already surprised the people in the cloak around him.

Alex didn't smile, but he felt a smile on his face. He had already faintly understood- This is not my body! He was experiencing this weird from another person's perspective like that time when he first awakened and saw experienced his predecessor's memories for the first time.

(I see w it's probably the same thing.)

(I wonder whose memories it is this time?) The Black Prince wondered while outside in the dream, a voice reached his ears.

"It's amazing, you actually have this level of bloodline." The woman leader in a cloak said, "May the Asura's Goddess bless you. Starting today, you will be our Holy son and later on, you will have The Slaughter King's title. Long live the Asura's Goddess."

Alex was completely dumbfounded by this unexpected discovery, he immediately connected the dots and knew whose memories he was experiencing, however, normally it should have been impossible as the other's party should have died, deader than dead already. But now he was experiencing his memories through this weird dream, so the only explanation plausible would be he left something in his body during the inheritance of the Slaughter King's Unique ability.

Suddenly, Alex felt a scorching pain in the depth of his soul and the weird dream was forcibly canceled he woke up in the real life, he was completely drenched in sweat but he cared not for this little detail. Alex immediately summoned his status window to check something.

"Huh?" Alex was confused, meanwhile, among the girls he knew, two were also having a weird dream, one should be called a premonition of sorts.

It was a battlefield.

Several rays of coalesced radiance erupted, aiming at the enemy from all directions. A woman wielded her twin swords, expanding her golden wings and emanating the matchless, dazzling brilliance of the sun that enveloped her like a circular, protective screen. The archangel held the swords high, releasing two golden blade rays that flitted across the air alongside blustering winds, and headed straight into the dark clouds. Upon hitting the dense layer of cloud, it shrunk as though it were pricked by needles, before rolling away and letting out roaring thunder in its retreat. Meanwhile, it erupted dark lightning bolts struck the woman's defensive shield. However, the dark flashes of lightning were deflected quickly, and at the same time, another extended and swung her arm to the side with a sword in hand.

Along with this movement, the horizon had as though been split into half. The formidable strength of the moon coalesced into an indestructible blade ray that swept across the entire sky into the thick layer of cloud. This attack was so powerful that the massive cloud almost split open in two. The crack in its middle was forcibly pulled apart by external forces. Whistling blade airflows penetrated the opening and ripped apart the tumbling cloud. At a glance, there was now an obvious crack on its surface.

"———!"

A deafening roar like a raging billow echoed in the clouds. Just the soundwaves alone were enough to shake the land. The clouds shrunk once again, merging into an enormous tornado from the human-shaped giant. Tremendous cold winds rose from the ground and formed a strong, sturdy barrier.

The new woman seemed to be capable of controlling many elements, lighting included, the fight raged on until suddenly she woke up in the outside world.

"Ah! Ah! What the hell was that?" A woman with a plain face wondered, this person was none other than Lilith, the reincarnated demon's goddess and the current ruler of the demon's race, she was currently disguised as Eleanora, one of her personas.

"A dream?" She wondered unable to get back to sleep.
