Compared to the commercial district, the free trade zone and other places where the traffic was higher. This area was relatively calm and quiet. This area belonged to the villas where the special students lived of Freya academy lived.

Nobody would want to live in a noisy area so the tranquility should be a given.

Unknown to most people, in one of the rooms of one of these villas, a battle was currently going on.

If anyone stood outside the door to this room they would hear muffled moans coming from the room. The sound itself was enough to make any person turned on.

An angelic beauty was made to crouch on the bed with her smooth pearly white butt propped high. She tried her very best to restrain her shivering and moaning but failed anyway. Moreover, despite being pressed down against the bed, this did nothing to mar her voluptuous figure from showing through.

Surely, that could be nothing but a heavenly body.

Like an obedient little lamb, she did as she was told while blushing bright red. Her golden gem-like eyes almost concealed by her batting her long and golden eyelashes fit her demure face.

Going down from her smooth neck, those soft and tender looking shoulders could charm anyone. Going further down, even describing her beautiful breasts as snow white and as precious as diamond won't do it any justice. Her slim waist looked as though one could easily lift her up by her waist. Her clear, smooth, rosy, and long legs are currently parted by a man who was smashing her from behind.

Her unblemished foot and lower legs looked like it was made of ivory given how perfect they looked. They were limp because it was currently being stuffed with a meat rod.

If anyone saw this scene, they would most likely have their souls drawn out. This beautiful creation had already found the embrace of a man?

Luna' name had already spread throughout Freya's academy just by her looks. Her actions had only served to further her fame.

Those who laid their eyes on her found themselves instantly bewitched as if they had found a lonely lotus blossoming brightly in a snowy mountain, she had that kind of woefulness about her. Out of 100 people who had laid eyes on her, all of them probably haven't seen so much as a slight expression on that sculpted piece of art one called face on Ikaros.

Those who saw her instantly regarded her as someone who they can admire from far away but never to touch or defile.

If Luna' present appearance was seen by others, they would all surely go mad.

Tightly holding her lips together, she would whimper intermittently as she tried catching her breath. Her skin tinged in red had droplets of sweat on it, accentuating her beauty even more. She moved her waist and hips according to the rhythm set by the one thrusting behind her. Beneath her smooth-skinned abs, her slim legs accommodated her partner's movement.

Alex hugged Luna close to him as he continued conquering her sacred dungeon with his holy sword. Slowly, strength was sapped away from Luna as she started losing the energy to keep up with him.

Alex had been putting her into different positions for more than one hour, he enjoyed every last second of it.

He let out a long groan before he pinned her body to the bed with his toned body. He grasped her waist with his right hand and he started caressing her skin.

It's like her skin was constantly lathered with powder, she was so smooth to the touch his fingers slid easily over her skin, he reckons she was smoother than even the finest silk or satin. The tactile pleasure he felt has left him begging for more if at all possible, Alex wanted to keep touching her like this.

With a teasing tone, he whispered something in Luna's ears.

"Luna dear, will we be making a mini-Luna tonight?..."

"Ahh..."

Upon hearing this question, Luna's yelped, she felt goosebumps all over her body. Her already blushing face became even redder. Emotions started appearing in those golden eyes she has.

Made to orgasm for the nth time by her fiance, Luna felt like her body was floating away with the clouds. She was originally limp on the bed but Alex's words stirred her up as she started quivering and her temperature rose higher and higher.

Luna wasn't aware of how absolutely enchanting she looked in the aftermath of their battle. Alex almost continued designing mini-Luna with her.

He had been tripping down her mine shaft practically every day (and night) since they got together. Yet, even after all the tromboning, she still retained her youthful maiden looks with no signs of a young married woman.

But, he still observed a slight change in her grace since he was been a very keen observer of her body every day. She only showed this side of her to Alex, to everyone else, any emotions she displayed was buried under her Saintess's mask.

Alex was entranced by her expression and he parted her legs before he hoisted her up by the knees in a reverse suspended congress position. He walked towards the mirror close to the bed. He enjoyed the view of the mirror as he praised her.

"Lû, look at you, you look absolutely stunning."

Ikaros exerted an enormous amount of energy to look at their entwined bodies. Reflected by the mirror is the figure of her legs being forced apart by Wu Yan's arms. Her body shiny from the droplets of sweat, the droplets of sweat started flowing down her figure, she looked very lewd and charming.

Her passionate expression was also reflected in the mirror, that and her body which is also blushing red due to their intense exchange.

On top of her twin mountains, two pink buds are about to blossom. As she heaved and panted, her holy mountains moved in tune. Words can only describe so much of her beauty until no words can capture her charms.

Luna was stunned by what she saw. She couldn't believe she's the same person being reflected in the mirror. An expression mixed with slight anger and mostly bashfulness appeared across her face.

"Lex..."

Luna wriggled her body as she blushed even more. She didn't know how to react to Alex teasing her like this. She didn't have the heart to reject him because her master looked like he's enjoying every moment of this.

She didn't continue struggling and she just gave up while shutting her eyes and blushing. She let Alex continue displaying her in the mirror while amusing himself with their reflections.

Failing to resist her looks, he lowered his head and connected his lips with hers. Just by touching their lips and feeling the pleasure coming from his mouth, he became invigorated once more.

He started tickling her tummy from the inside, drawing another session of moaning and sound meat slapping against each other.

Now that the bell had been rung, Alex decided it was time to test the suspension with the power of a storm driven by his horniness. He used his ungodly strength to bounce Luna up and down.

Up and down they went and moans started seeping through the door to this room once more.

A few hours later.

Luna muttered sprawled out on the bed, exhausted after numerous intense sessions of sex battle. Her giant mountains moved up and down as she heaved.

She saw Alex who was already all dressed up and her eyes seemed to convey a message that she would gladly follow him if she could.

Alex approached the bed and he caressed her face with an amused smile.

"Luna, rest up..."

He brushed her bangs aside and he slid his fingers down across her twin ponytails.

Luna struggled to get up and she gave him puppy eyes but Alex hurriedly stopped her.

"Don't do that, listen to me. Just rest I'll go see Maria before going on farming with Gracier."

He told her his schedule and as much as Luna would have wanted to partake in the little adventure, she knew better that in her current state she could not, she was too exhausted and it would take hours for her to recuperate naturally. She could have taken a Recovery potion to quickly shorten the recovery time but that would be weird because she wanted to enjoy this feeling of fatigue and recover naturally.

"Okay I understand Lex, I'll do as you told but be sure to bring me back some souvenir on your way back." Luna who finally accepted Alex's suggestion made such a request and Alex couldn't say no.

"Of course my lady, your wish is my command." Alex did a graceful bow as if he was facing a royalty, he then approached Luna and kissed her on the forehead before leaving full of vigor, today he was going to slaughter more monster as he farm for exp.

Chapter 1322 SS: A Surprise Birthday

Before going on the World tour, it's to say few days after their returns from Exodus.

The Freya's academy, the free trade zone.

This place is where the students can set up stalls and sell their stuff for credits or barter them for their desired items. Due to the sheer number of stalls and items, a lot of people come here every day to buy and sell stuff. There are even those who are hoping to cash in on fools who have got eyes but not the skill to appraise treasures.

Today, there was a couple here who don't look like they are here to trade or sniffing for treasures.

Maria crossed her arms while tapping her arm with her index fingers. Judging by her annoyed expression and furrowed brows, she was not very amused at the moment.

Meanwhile, the guy at her side ignored her expression and kept dragging the girl from one stall to another while throwing jabs at the ridiculous items that were on display. Although the girl didn't reply, he still found ways to keep the monologue going. He has been doing this for the past two hours.

The two of them were just window shopping but when they toured the whole place once and the guy actually suggested turning back and check out the stalls one more time, even a fool would know that the guy had ulterior motives.

Maria was gradually building up her fury as the character appeared at her temples. Watching Alex talk to himself while revisiting stalls made her angrier.

She finally snapped, she stopped and she made sure Alex stopped by blocking off his path. She yelled at him.

"Alex, what are you doing?!"

Alex was caught off guard by Maria's sudden outburst. He smiled at her while shrugging.

"Hey, you are talking like I am trying to pull something here."

Although her eyebrows are still furrowed, at least her anger died down a bit.

"Well yeah, but you can't keep doing this."

"Ha? Do what thing?"

Raising an eyebrow, her lips twitched. She lowered her head before she unleashed her howling skill.

"What do you mean what?! I am talking about you dragging me through the stalls five times without buying anything!"

Alex raised his hands and made some space between the two of them. It was not because he wanted the Ice Empress's face further away from him, he just wanted to avoid getting hit by saliva which had been in the air. If he wanted her saliva, he would much prefer getting it from the source.

"Well, calm down, Maria my dear."

Alex beamed at her.

"Just treat it as me having a psychotic episode. Come on, let's get loose..."

"I am not doing this with you!"

Maria rolled her eyes at him and she turned around.

"I am going home.."

"Please don't!"

Alex grabbed her by the hand. He pulled her back despite her protest.

"It's not like you have anything better to do at home, just relax and kill some time with me."

Maria asked him in a slightly begging tone.

"Alex, can we stop with the mind games? If you got something to say just say it, don't make me jump through all these hoops..."

Alex rubbed his cheek and he clenched his hold on her hand.

"You don't have anything better to do right? Come browse the stalls with me, is it that hard?"

Maria wanted to say something but she couldn't resist Alex's puppy eyes. And so, she got dragged along by Alex like a helpless kid.

They went around the stalls until the sun went down.

On their way back home, Maria was fuming, her footsteps were hastened as well so it didn't take a genius to figure out that she was mad. Alex followed her while trying not to anger her anymore. From an outsider's point of view, it was like they were having a lover's quarrel.

It was only to be expected, he made her follow his meaningless journey around the free trade zone. She was known for her patience but there was a limit, a limit our MC tested repeatedly today, so he was lucky she was only mad at him.

When Maria slammed the villa's door open while fuming, the scene that unfolded in front of her surprised her.

"Happy birthday!"

Luna, Gracier, Sakuya, Artemia and Sera greeted her as pop sounds were being made. Confetti and colored stripes draped a stunned Maria's head. At the same time, Alex subconsciously grinned.

On the brightest lit wall of the hall is a banner with "Happy 18th Birthday, Maria Alexia Rosares!" written on it, there are a bunch of magic lights that made the place looked really festive like they are celebrating Christmas or something.

Luna smiled and she hugged Maria who is still stunned.

"Happy birthday, Maria"

Finally returning to her senses, she gasped at Alex, the others who are all smiling at her.

"Today's my birthday?" She wondered shocked.

Alex laughed out loud.

"It's the 5rd day of the March, don't tell me you forgot your own birthday?"

Maria stopped for a second and she gawked at Alex.

"So you made me be with you all day long so the preparations for my birthday can be made?"

Alex smiled but he didn't say anything. Maria lowered her head, she felt really moved and warm.

She thought that with what awaiting them soon meant that she won't be able to celebrate her birthdays anymore. Alex sure gave her a big surprise today!

Sakuya brought out the cake. She gave Maria boxes of gifts while wishing her a happy birthday as well.

"Happy birthday my sister."

Maria received the gifts with a large smile.

"Thanks!"

"Don't forget me! I've got a gift as well!"

Gracier presented her gift while jumping and yelling, needless to say, it brought a huge smile to Maria's face.

"Thank you very much Alexandra."

"Artemia, your gift from me!"

Artemia gave Maria a gift which she accepted with a smile as well. She was as happy as a penguin being buried under a ton of fish.

The others followed with their gifts as well, even Leon and the others who weren't present also sent their gifts.

Maria felt satisfied with her life in this other world. It's the first time she felt like this since their reincarnation.

Even if her family isn't here with her, she had great friends by her side so she couldn't complain much. Moreover...

Maria looked at Alex who was watching her. Putting a hand on her chest, a hint of passion flashed in her green eyes.

She had an important person by her side.

A series of explosions happened in the air and beautiful fireworks dotted the sky.

Today was a surprise, a pretty nice one.

.....

Night time.

As Alex laid there on his bed, he propped his head up with his arms. Looking at the moon, he can't help smiling in a satisfied manner.

It brings him so much satisfaction to see Maria beaming non-stop. It was all worth it.

He had always been afraid that the girls might not be happy with their current lives, therefore he decided to do his utmost for this, to make them happy. Soon Alex became lost in thoughts.

After a bit of time, somebody knocked on Alex's door, he quickly returned to his senses.

Frowning, he had an intrigued expression. Who could it be at this ungodly hour?

"Who's there?"

A slightly tense voice came from beyond the door.

"I-it's me, Maria..."

"Maria?..."

Alex was a bit confused. It was already deep in the night what business does she have with him? Could it be that she has something to say about the birthday party?

He got up from his bed and he opened the door. Maria in her dark blue pajamas stood in front of his room.

She blushed a bit and she fidgeted, her behavior struck Alex as odd.

'What is she up to?'

"What's the matter, my lady?"

Alex scanned her to see if he could pick something out.

Maria lifted her head and she hesitated for a bit before she voiced her thoughts in a mosquito-like voice.

"About today, thank you..."

Alex shook his head while smiling. He enjoyed the Ice Empress's flustered look but he replied anyway.

"Here I was thinking about what you might be trying to say. Didn't you say thank you at the party?"

Maria pursed her lips. She lowered her head and went silent. He wondered if saying thanks might be asking too much from this tsundere here.

Maria vigorously lifted her head back up and she stood on the tips of her toes to give Alex a peck on the cheek.

Alex couldn't believe what just happened. When he saw how Maria was blushing deep red, he almost laughed out loud at how clumsy the Ice Empress was.

His reaction made Maria blush even more. She tried retreating but was Alex going to let her go just like this?

Hell no.

Chapter 1323 SS: After The Surprise Birthday*

Maria blushed a bit and fidgeted, her behavior struck Alex as odd.

Maria vigorously lifted her head back up and she stood on the tips of her toes to give Alex a peck on the cheek.

Alex couldn't believe what just happened. When he saw how Maria was blushing deep red, he almost laughed out loud at how clumsy the Ice Empress was.

His reaction made Maria blush even more. She tried retreating but was Alex going to let her go just like this?

Hell no.

He grabbed her by her hand and pulled her into an embrace. The next thing the Ice Empress saw was a lewd grinning face gradually growing bigger in her field of vision.

When the soft sensation entered her mind, she flinched. She noticed that while she was stunned, a thick tongue had pried her mouth open and entered her oral cavity to dance with her little tongue.

Maria uttered a muffled sound and her eyes started going blank. She closed her eyes and she reached around his neck with her arms as they let themselves go.

Alex hoisted her up by her thighs and he pressed her into his chest while bringing her into his room. With a deft kick, he closed the door to his room.

About the same time as the door closed, Maria discovered that Alex had already laid her to bed. The next second, something heavy pressed her down against the bed.

"Nnh..."

She bashfully yelped but that didn't stop the brute from stripping her in one fell swoop. Now, Alex had a full view of her ivory-white pristine body.

"Wait... Mgh..."

He plugged her mouth with his mouth. Maria knew there was nothing she could say or do that would prevent this guy from doing what he was going to do. She closed her eyes and just let the big hands fondle her body all over.

After a while, Alex lifted her and sat her down facing him with his dick standing at attention near the entrance to Maria's mysterious dungeon. She panicked a bit before he pressed her down and into his embrace.

"Hau...mgh..."

The Ice Empress felt something invading her from her nether region. It was a familiar sensation that she just couldn't quite describe. Anyway, she couldn't stop the moaning.

Enjoying the view of Maria writhing in front of him while tinged red, he licked his lips and lifted his hip to skewer her. It was evident that it was more than Maria could handle judging by her heavy panting and enchanting moans.

He grabbed her supple butt and he bounced her up and down. He fueled himself on her groaning and muffled moans. He was not escaping this sweet binding of pleasure anytime soon.

After a while, he stopped and demanded,

"Lie on your stomach and raise your butt to me."

Her body flinched as his warm member which was wrapped inside of her, was swiftly pulled out. She hesitated for a moment, looking at his enthusiasm that seemed like it would never end, then she obediently turned around and lay on her stomach.

Her white, plump buttocks were distorted in his clutches. He appreciated her appetizing curves that started from her back to her waist, leading to her butt then swiftly thrust into her from behind. Instantly, her body shook intensely.

Maria writhed in pleasure while the cock pounded into her from behind. His thing felt like a red-hot metal rod to her. She could feel the tip of the head rubbing against her vaginal walls.

She could feel the rock-hard erection spreading her vagina wide. She could feel her sexual lips being spread wide as its full length was pushed inside and his hips slapped against her ass.

She could feel it all so vividly and distinctly. Every stimulation to her body, every bit of pleasure experienced by her pussy, and everything felt by every cell of her body flowed into her mind.

The next thing she knew, she had reached a hand down and started teasing her crotch. She rolled around the small protrusion at the top of the pussy lips that Sol's cock was still thrusting in and out of.

"Ah! Ahh! Ahn!"

"Ohhh!"

Even if she had not moved her finger, his thrusting shook her body enough to automatically stimulate her clit. Every time her finger rubbed against it, a jolt of pleasure ran through her. Wanting to feel that even more, she began pushing her finger against it harder as she rubbed.

And when she did...

"Ahh!?"

A wave of pleasure several times stronger ran through her entire body.

| Alex's dick thrust into her with loud sticky noises. She could not tell if his cock had gotten bigger or if her pussy was squeezing it tighter, but her mind was filled with the pleasure of it having its way with her body.

"Ahh! More, More!"

Her own words served to arouse her further and her stomach began to throb.

His hips sped up and thrust harder in response.

"I...I am going to come."

Alex grunted as he began to speed up his movement even more. Maria meanwhile was too far gone to even listen to what he was saying.

Finally, his dick throbbed within her vagina, shooting semen everywhere and filling every part of her body. He continued to move within her vagina as if to squeeze it all out and with each movement, the semen made sticky sounds and spilled out of her.

Maria's body meanwhile shivered as she silently screamed.

'Ugh! So, hot.'

This is their third time having sex but, she felt like she might become addicted to this feeling.

When he finally pulled out of her, she slumped on the bed, and the semen still in her, slowly began to come out, giving the scene a sultry allure.

Tracing her back with his finger, Alex asked gently,

"So, how was it?"

"It felt amazing, it was the best, it was wonderful."

Those were the only thoughts that floated up in her melted mind.

Maria looked up at him while lying on her side and could see his dick still standing tall and hard. She had thought she was plenty satisfied, but seeing that filled her with fresh lust and as such, she got up and reached for his crotch.

"It was wonderful, so..."

She pushed Alex onto his back, climbed on top of him, and prepared to mount his cock.

"I can't stop now that I'm this excited can I?"

Maria grinned before slowly sitting on Alex's dick, his holy spear impaled here reaching the deepest part in one full smooth.

"Ugh!"

Maria groaned before starting to move her hips. She was rocking her hips back and forth as if playing a sonata. Alex did nothing but let Maria do whatever her heart desires.

She continued until she finally let Alex have his turn and he who was in the beast mode didn't go easy on her.

"Wait..."

She tried pleading but unfortunately, he did not listen and pierced her, starting his restless onslaughts.

His merciless attacks pounded on her cervix, shook her womb, and even rattled her whole body.

The Ice Empress was exposed at length to pure brute force with no technique behind it at all and all she could do was moan in pleasure and delight.

"Ahh, ahh, ahh! Lex, M-my hips can't take much more of this! Ahh! I'm reaching my limit."

Her vagina squeezed like mad as she experienced repeated orgasms.

But he still did not stop. He continued thrusting without end. He ejaculated a few times, but not even that stopped him. He wished to make it a night she would never forget.

Finally, once he was sure that she had reached her limit, He gathered his strength to release one final roar.

His arms grasping her still-youthful skin were lifted as she arched her back. His dick pushed deeper into her, fitting tightly against her cervix. And then he exploded.

"Ohhhhhh~!!"

Maria felt like she was losing her mind. This time, no amount of self-control managed to save her and her vision grew faint before she finally blacked out.

Breathing roughly, Alex pulled his dick out only once it had gone fully flaccid. Her vagina could not close on its own and a milky liquid flowed stickily out of the gaping hole.

Seeing her state, he smiled awkwardly and felt a little guilty about his lack of control toward the end. But well he was trying to make the whole surprise birthday thing to be memorable, guess he did manage to accomplish this feat.

Chapter 1324 A Certain Saintess's Lewd Chronicles 2

Someone once said. "There is something so heavenly about a kiss in the rain, a tender moment that just won't wait. It is that burst of love that is expressed, not caring if the water soaks through to chill the skin. It is a connection that shows the strength of the feeling, the mutual need. It is a rebellion against the elements. Nature can bring the rain but our inner sunshine comes through just the same."

Luna understood this quote today when she went on a date with her fiance and it started raining on their way home.

The rain creates a beat upon the blacktop sidewalk. People pass as if in accelerated motion - all except two people who have let their umbrellas fall to the wet street and be blown by the wind. They were bound in a kiss that was so tender the world should stop on its axis and take note of their love. Then they walk in hand, droplets beading their hair.

Once they returned they immediately went to the master bedroom where Luna give Alex a mind-blowing blowjob.

Watching Luna swipe some of his creams from her breasts with her finger and lick it, Alex feels his cock harden further.

A phenomenon that did not escape Luna's sight. Once she was done, she used a napkin she retrieved from her item box to wipe out the rest of her breasts.

Then, giving him a sultry smile while standing up, she murmured,

"It seems like you are ready for another go."

He smirked, "I can go for as long I wish to."

Taking her by the waist, he turned her around and made her sit on his lap, back to him.

Putting his nose in her neck, he inhaled deeply, filling his nose with her scent.

At the same time, he couldn't help but release a deep growl, as he fought back the urge to simply ravage her as violently as possible.

Groping her breast from behind, Alex gently weighed them before pinching her slowly hardening nubs through the thin blouse.

"You can be rougher if you want~!"

Alex didn't need a second invitation. Completely unbuttoning her blouse, he exposed her bra-less breasts to the air and continued to massage them while biting and kissing her neck.

Putting her on the bed, Alex took a long look at the long-haired beauty. It was like he was looking at a work of art.

Raising her legs, he used his finger to make a tear in her stockings. He did not wish for her to take them off since they looked way more erotic like this. Her glistening vagina devoid of pubic hair, a clear liquid dripping from her slit, wetting her inner thighs below spoke volumes of her current arousal.

"Ah, th-that's embarrassing..."

Even though Luna was pretty daring due to their little play, she still felt a little shame at the way he was observing her most secret place.

"Heh, don't be. It's beautiful. Now then..."

For a short moment, she was wondering what Alex wished to do, all thought vanished when he took her clit in his mouth and began sucking on it.

"Anh~!"

A short cry escaped her nose and she reflexively closed her legs, but she was unable to since Alex's head was in the way.

Meanwhile, he was already pretty used to bringing pleasure to women without just using his dick.

While he continued to gently nibble her clitoris, he used two fingers to trace the vulva before slowly exploring its exterior.

Like that, he slowly brought her heat up and kept her panting while she murmured his name again and again.

Finally,

"...!!!"

Letting out a wordless scream, her back arched slightly while her juice flowed endlessly.

When she finally calmed down, her post-climax lethargy and her embarrassment were both so alluring that Alex could not contain his lust anymore. As such, without leaving her time to catch a breath, Alex leaned over her and carefully pressed his gland against her entrance, the tip poking her insides.

"Ohh! If you rub me inside like that...!ll..!!!"

His shallow thrusting added more sensuality to her moans. It seemed that a second climax was underway for her.

How could he stay calm as he watched her beautiful breasts jiggle each time he thrust in and out of her?

Slowing down, he worked his hips and grabbed the two large mounds in his hands before pressing the two swollen nipples together toward the center.

Alex thought that a woman was always at her cutest when in the throes of passion. Fighting against that irresistible urge to let herself go but not willing to show such a shameful sight, before finally being defeated and climaxing.

Stopping his sucking of her breasts, he decided that it was time to accelerate.

"Ah~! Lex Sl-slow...down. Please!"

Ignoring her cute pleas, his hip loudly slapped against hers.

"Ugh! So deep!"

Luna groaned.

Like a boat facing a storm, all she could do was close her eyes and moan louder and louder while hugging him and caressing his hair.

| The sounds of the moans in his ears were like the best aphrodisiac as Alex went wilder. Luna's moans were like a tonic invigorating his muscles, marking his hips faster.

Sweat soaked her body and a veritable shower of love juices poured down her vagina to soak his cock.

Raising his torso, without stopping pounding her, She let out intermittent cries while he fucked her like a wild animal.

After each thrust, he could feel something boiling in him, screaming to be released but he gritted his teeth and continued hammering at her to bring her the maximum amount of pleasure possible. He must endure it a bit longer he hypnotized himself.

Finally, once he reached his limit, he let out a repressed growl and shoved his dick as far as it could go, and then exploded.

Alex's cock trembled inside her while squirting its hot semen against her cervix and letting it spread throughout her vagina.

Feeling the heat and the amount of hot semen flowing inside her Luna at the same time reached her climax, her eyes rolling in their socket while her mouth opened wide.

She raised sensual moans while her vaginal wall tightened as if to squeeze out every last drop. She enjoyed his throbbing cock, and felt satisfied with his thick goo inside her.

The pleasure was so much that Luna felt her consciousness grow faint, thankfully since she was more or less prepared, she managed to barely hang on and did not pass out.

'I managed to hold on.'

At least, that was what she thought before she felt his deflated penis grow hard once more inside of her.

Once it felt hard enough, he resumed thrusting. She lying limp on the bed panicked.

"Ahh...nh!? W-wait, you're doing it again?"

"Hehe! I told you I could go for as long as I wished to."

Despite her complaints, he thrust his hips wildly, leaned over her back, wrapped his arms around her, and began groping her large breasts again.

She moaned as the semen acted as a lubricant and allowed him to move even quicker than before.

The cum and love juices audibly mixed inside her.

"Ah..Ah..ah, th-this is too much for me. I give in. Lex wait...ahh!"

"I'm not done! I'm nowhere near done!"

She hit her limit while on the receiving end of his limitless stamina. Sweat soaked her skin, tears, and drool dripped down her face, and she writhed in pleasure.

Each time he thrust into her, more combined fluids flowed out of her. Each time he pulled back, those combined fluids made a lewd sound.

"Ahh, ahh, I-let me rest for a bit. Please!"

"Just enjoy the pleasure!"

Alex wished to dominate her. To desecrate her. To take ownership of her, making her his forever.

His merciless attacks pounded on her cervix, shook her womb, and even rattled her whole body.

The confident woman was exposed at length to pure brute force with no technique behind it at all and all she could do was moan in pleasure and delight.

"Ahh, ahh, ahh!! Ahh!"

Her vagina squeezed like mad as she experienced repeated orgasms.

But he still did not stop. He continued thrusting without end. He ejaculated a few times, but not even that stopped him. He wished to make it a night she would never forget.

Finally, once he was sure that she had reached her limit, He gathered his strength to release one final roar.

"Ahh~!!"

Seeing her state, he smiled awkwardly and felt a little guilty about his lack of control toward the end.

Laying down next to her, he gently caressed her head and waited for her to wake up.

Once she did, even though she was still tired, she refused to accept such a humiliating defeat and with wobbling legs, entered the bathroom to splash some water on her body.

That night Luna had a sweet dream in her fiance's embrace. The same goes for Alex too. He felt blessed to have such woman in his life and he promised himself to forever cherish her.

Chapter 1325 SS: A Certain Assassin's Queen Record 1*

In a certain house somewhere on the continent were two people.

Sera was completely disheveled at the moment and her breathing was out of control. The fact that she was the queen of the assassins who could fight for days and not even break a sweat seemed irrelevant to her current fatigue.

Her mind was hazy as she continued to bathe in the afterglow of what could perhaps be the most powerful orgasm she probably ever had. And that's just from Alex's hands alone.

As Sera's awareness started to come back to the surface, she slowly realized her state and was embarrassed by it all the more. She looked like a complete and utter harlot; no it was more like an animal in heat, wishing for nothing more than to be bred by her mate.

She wondered what her expression was like at the moment, but she knew for sure that it would only make her more ashamed of herself if she were to try to learn more about it.

"Don't be shy. Show me all of your sides and I'll embrace them wholeheartedly."

Alex declared while caressing Sera's cheek with much love she could feel it.

Her dazed expression slowly vanished. She was slowly starting to get her bearings back and knew that acting shy now wouldn't change her current predicament.

As such she decided on a simple fact.

'Let's be bold.'

"Alex, you became naughty, you know that?"

She grabbed him by the collar and pulled him to a chair on the side before pushing him against it.

Alex simply grinned at her sudden change in behavior.

"Well, please do entertain me, my lady."

Sera smiled softly as she opened the front of Alex's pants and fished out his already-hardened cock. It felt hot and heavy in her hands. The shape of the blood vessels pulsating along the length made her heart pound heavily almost making her go wild but she managed to reign in her burning desire. She began to gently handle the beast and fondled it like it was the greatest treasure in the world.

"How curious, Every time I look at it, I wonder how this thing can go inside me."

It looked like a massive spear that wished to tear her apart from the inside. Her cheeks became flushed again as she leaked out a hot sigh at the thought of feeling this inside of her.

She was quite startled when she felt a hand go around her body and couldn't help but look up at Alex, "Alex, am pretty sure none of us needs any more foreplay at this point."

Alex would usually take all the time in the world necessary to bring pleasure to his partner. But Sera's had gone above and beyond a few moments ago.

Without giving her the chance to argue, he lifted her by the armpit and placed her on his lap face to him. Her large skirt spread open and covered their intimate parts.

"You like this, right?"

Sera grinned as she watched Alex's entranced expression when he felt his hardened cock press against her garden while his vision was being obstructed by her skirt.

"Ahem~ You slander me. I do not understand your insinuations."

"Heh!"

Sera snickered out loud at the shamelessness of her lover.

"Oh?"

Alex's eyebrows rose at seeing such an expression on his lover's gorgeous face.

He was being teased now, was he? A grin formed on his face at that thought.

And Sera immediately understood her lover's intention and tried to intervene.

"Alex wait a..."

She was not able to finish her sentence as Alex placed his hand around her hips and made her plunge down on his massive girth.

She gasped for breath. Her private place was so wet from her earlier orgasm that he penetrated her with no problem whatsoever, even though the considerable girth and length that he packed beneath.

"Wai~ Ah~!"

She could feel her moist and slithery insides clench his unruly shaft wildly as it filled her stomach while leaving no gaps unattended. As she trembled and tried to get used to the sensation she had missed for so long, Sera tried to get her words out but with no success in sight.

All she could do was let herself be swept away by the waves of pleasure as she hugged Alex with a troubled groan. With her so close, the sound of her lustful groans filled his ears like heavenly music, making Alex grind even faster along her depths.

He grabbed the front part of her robe with his teeth and tore the clothes apart like a beast going at the flesh of its prey. Her breasts, now free from their cumbersome restraints, were as impressive as always. The way they bounced proudly seemed to go against all the laws of gravity. No matter how much time had passed, and no matter how many mysteries and sights he witnessed through his journeys, this one, in particular, never ceased to amaze even once.

Moreover, her pale skin covering those gigantic globes and the pink cherry buttons at the top of her breasts made for a beautiful visual contrast with the massive mountains that she packed.

When Sera tried to put a word in again, Alex brought his teeth down with a laser focus and bit down gently on her nipples, but with enough force to make her moan rather than scream in displeasure. He then proceeded with playing around with her other breast, massaging it with all his skills.

The numbing sensation coming from her breasts made Sera distracted enough that she was unable to express herself correctly.

Taking off his mouth, he brought it to her collarbones and nibbled for a bit before muttering,

"You'll be mine forever."

He declared himself full of love and possessiveness.

"Ah~!"

Sera was left speechless but soon, hearts seemed to shine in her eyes as her libido shot through the roof at that statement.

Like a string that had completely snapped for good, her reasoning broke thoroughly. All she wished now was to share this overwhelming and overflowing love in her chest with her most cherished and dearest person in the entirety of existence. She was once again affirmed of the fact that Alex was everything to her who had finally discovered Love.

She wanted to leave no doubt in the fact that all that was hers belonged to him and him alone. From her flesh to her very soul.

The two began to move once again in unison. There was no end to the filthy sound that resonated with the slapping of their flesh.

Alex kissed her collarbones, her chest, and every part of her body, making sure to leave traces of their lovemaking on her whole being.

Sera trembled with her legs outstretched as he pushed his phallus inside her deeply. She could feel his gland swell more inside her very depths, signaling his impending release to the world and her loving partner.

But what made her the happiest was seeing the same man who was named the Black Prince lose himself like a beast as he made love to her. Her and her alone.

At least, at this moment and time. There was no one present except for them. She could have him all for herself, enjoying this sensation to her heart's content and it was exactly what she desired.

Quickly the signs of ejaculation began more and more apparent with each passing moment and finally, as the two shared one last deep kiss full of their lover, passion, and unending longing for each other, they trembled as Alex released his thick, white, and cloudy liquid in the deepest parts of her womb.

"I love you, Alex, and thank you to have come into my life, I'm truly grateful."

Sera widened her eyes and her heart became flustered when she realized the words that had just leaked out of her lips without her knowledge. She had been so entranced that she left quite the embarrassing words that did not take her position as a maid into account.

Alex merely grinned. It was quite funny to receive a love confession just as they finished climaxing. His face was marred with sweat, and his breathing was heavy. He placed his forehead against hers and closed his eyes as he breathed out a raspy tone.

"I love you too. More than you can imagine, I promise to cherish you forever so entrust everything to me and you won't be disappointed my lady assassin's queen."

Her eyes misted slightly, tears of joy threatening to leak out of her enchanting eyes, and not being able to bear this sudden surge of emotions, she buried her face in his shoulder.

Like this, the two hugged tightly in the bedroom.

They were silent. But it was not an awkward silence. It was simply one filled with love and happiness for this moment they shared. In the here and now.

They were truly happy to be in each other's embrace and hearts.

Sometimes simple gesture or declaration like this was enough to make a woman happy and happy Sera was.

Chapter 1326: A Certain Assassin's Queen Record 2*

As their continued Sera felt like her mind was swimming in a complete haze of pleasure.

Alex gulped in front of Sera's enticing figure, as he fought to urge to simply ram in her and began to gently caress her head before leaning and biting her ear, gently, sensually.

His action elicited a moan of pleasure from Sera who was already sensitive because of her earlier climax.

"Ready for another round?"

Sera grinned in response.

"Let's make a mess."

Alex never asked this question twice. One was for respect, two would be a waste of time.

Giving a grin on his own, he aimed his shaft at her moist entrance and slowly pushed in.

"Ugh..."

Sera grunted a little as the foreign object pushed its way into her, but at the same time, she could already feel the growing tingle of pleasure.

Meanwhile, Alex could feel himself sink deeper into her as if she was trying to swallow him whole.

He raised his upper body and centered himself against her, gradually adding his weight onto her.

He lowered himself onto her and locked his lips. He sucked on her small soft lips, taunting her with his tongue. He squeezed and massaged her breasts with his hand.

The beautiful pink cheery seemed to be beckoning him and Alex did not hesitate, latching onto them like a beast while releasing a low growl.

"Ah~!"

Sera arched her back at the sudden pleasure and hugged him tightly, while he continued to sink in her until the root.

Alex stopped before he began moving his hips.

One, two, three. Slowly, increasing the speed, he began to hammer in her with no restraint.

Her soft inner walls continuously stimulated his shaft. He felt a surging sensation that was about to burst at the back of his neck.

With each thrust, her womb twisted, her slender body jumped, and moans escaped her thin lips.

He firmly held onto her hips as he bore deeper into her. As he continued to thrust, the viscous fluids created a constant moist slapping sound.

Beads of sweat appeared on her flushed face and heated breaths escaped her lips thanks to the unknown feeling surging through her entire body.

Her love juices dripped out with an obscenely wet sound while his massive member thrust in and out of her.

Her mind gradually faded away and she had trouble thinking straight, almost like she had a serious fever. A vague white feeling surrounded her and she could focus only on the presence of the giant penis thrusting up into her crotch.

Whenever he rubbed her vaginal wall, a pleased panting voice leaked out from her mouth. Her panting voice was as clear as a bell, hearing it pleased him to no end.

When he changed his angle, her body started trembling. He focused on the same place and rubbed his glans.

He slowly changed the direction of his thrusts as he penetrated deeper. He concentrated on her panting and groaning and stubbornly hammered into her most sensitive spot.

"Ah! Aah..."

Her insides squeezed and started to spasm. He saw that she was about to climax and as such plunged deeper into her.

"Ah...-!!"

She moaned loudly again, all tentative to stifle her sounds useless. Her hot vagina began to pulse, making Sol lose the little amount of control he had left.

The giant object inside her grew even larger and throbbed while she could feel something coursing through it.

Growling deeply, he leaned down and kissed her as he began to release his semen. A white-hot liquid erupted from the tip and filled her to the brim, turning her inside white.

His climax lasted so long. He felt like it was overflowing.

"Ah... Aaah... Ah.."

παῖδας ἦθνε | ·ςθm Once their mutual climax ended, the two were left breathless, gasping for air as if they had fought a long-drawn battle.

Even then, neither of them were satisfied. They wanted more. They needed more and they would do more.

Licking her lips, Sera looked up softly at Alex while proposing, "Let's do another round right?"

His answer was obvious.

"Of course."

After Sera finally came down from the height of pleasure, Alex was about to resume his activity when he felt Kiyohime turning around with him.

By the time he came back to his senses, he was lying down on the bed and looking up at her.

Grinding against him, Sera shivered a little and blocked the moan that threatened to spill out from her mouth before looking down at her lover.

Sera was about to say something but she got interrupted, she felt something twitch in her while Alex's large and warm hands covered her breast before sharply pinching her nipples.

"Ah~!"

Rather than pain, this action prompted Sera to shudder and moan lightly. παῖδας `nove | com

"Focus on me." He reminded her.

Even though she was the one mounting him, Sera couldn't help but feel like he was the one in total control of the situation. This was a rather novel feeling for her.

He was right. She didn't want to think more about the responsibilities that fell on her. She just wanted to have fun.

Slowly adjusting herself, she progressively began to increase her movements. Up and down, left and right, the hot and hard shaft of Alex kept going in and out of her most secret place, eliciting cries and moans of pleasure from her.

For Alex, the sensations were heavenly. Sometimes she would tighten up and sometimes she would simply keep him warm. Like a velvet glove, she encompassed him in her warmth.

The more she moved, the higher the pleasure she felt. She could feel that she was slowly reaching the breaking point.

"Alex...Ahn~!"

Sera uttered his name and kept repeating it again and again, without pause until she felt all the build-up pleasure explode and collapsed on Alex while breathing hard and fast.

Of course, even though she was done, he was far from it. Taking out his dick and moving from underneath her, Alex now stood behind Sera and watched his handiwork.

Sera was completely out of it now and from her entrance, a copious amount of cloudy white liquid was slowly seeping out, giving her an even more erotic appearance.

Raising her ass that was still clad in her black bodysuit, he twirled his finger gently on her back door.

'It has been quite a while.'

He pondered briefly before shaking his head. He understood that this wasn't something that should be used without some preparation.

Licking his lips, he separated her asscheeks and with one swift stroke, plunged directly into her again.

"Ohhh!! Again?"

Alex grinned mercilessly. The continued movement of his hips was an answer on its own.

"Nn~! Please! Ah~ !"

He chuckled, "You are begging me to stop but your body is rather sincere."

Sera felt ashamed but could offer no comeback. Indeed, every time Alex rammed in her, her hole would tighten up, showing how much pleasure he was bringing her.

"Your insides are shaking like crazy my dear assassin's queen."

He firmly held onto her hips as he bore deeper into her. Her juices, mixed with his semen, flowed down from her buttocks. As he continued to thrust, the viscous fluids created a constant moist slapping sound.

Her lips no longer let out words of protest. Instead, she mewled and moaned in pleasure. He slowly changed the direction of his thrusts as he penetrated deeper. He concentrated on her panting and groaning and stubbornly hammered into her most sensitive spot.

"Ah! Aah~!"

Her insides squeezed and started to spasm. He saw that she was about to climax and plunged deeper into her.

"!"

Her body froze and she cried. Her entire body began to tremble. The moment she reached her limits, Alex also let go of all restraint and released himself inside her.

Sera's body gradually grew limp as his seed splashed into her body. She panted and her chest rose up and down.

'Is... it over... ?'

"My dear Sera, this is just the beginning."

Upon hearing Alex's merciless declaration Sera's eyes opened wide when she felt his rode still hard in her move slightly.

"Wai-!"

"I refuse."

Giving a small laugh, Alex lightly slapped her butt and resumed his movements.

Bringing his arms towards her round breasts, Alex continued to piston while pinching and toying with her nipples.

"Anh~! Alexander Sl-slow...down. Please!"

Ignoring her cute pleas, his hip loudly slapped against hers.

"Anhh! So deep!"

She couldn't help but groan.

Like a boat facing a storm, all Sera could do was close her eyes and moan louder and louder while gripping the sheets of the bed.

The sounds of the moans in his ears were like the best aphrodisiac as Alex went wilder.

Sweat soaked the assassin's queen's body and a veritable shower of love juices poured down her vagina to soak his cock.

She let out intermittent cries while he fucked her like a wild animal.

After each thrust, Alex could feel something boiling in him, screaming to be released but he gritted his teeth and continued hammering at her to bring her the maximum amount of pleasure possible.

Finally, once he reached his limit, he let out a repressed growl and shoved his cock as far as it could go, and then exploded for the third time today.

His dick trembled inside her while squirting its hot milk against her cervix and letting it spread throughout her vagina.

"Hah...Hah...Hah."

In the end, only the sound of their heated breaths filled the room. The night was still young after all.

"Sure, you won't act like that Silveria because you are not that honest and gentle."

"Fuck! Master don't provoke me." Silveria declared with her fists clenched, she chased after Alex, the two played around for a while before stopping as they have played around enough, it was time to focus on the more important things.

"So, now you will go to his castle?" Silveria asked while remembering the last part of Alex's story.

He nodded while extending his senses but unfortunately except for animals and ruined buildings, Alex was unable to find any other presence in this ghost town.

"I need to leave this ghost town and explore the other areas. Hopefully, it won't be disappointing as this one." Alex said while tapping his right foot on the ground. He was itching for a fight, he thought he would be surrounded by monsters as soon as he woke up but unfortunately, there was nothing more than ruined buildings and animals.

Silveria nodded before vanishing, returning to Alex's body. Like her master, she wished for some action. She wished to be used like in the old days when her master was letting her loose. She wants a real gunfight, she wants to pierce some skulls, bullets dancing everywhere like fireworks, it was exhilarating, it was beautiful and nothing couldn't compare to the feeling of breaking through the enemy's skull as life slowly leave their eyes. It was truly marvelous, she couldn't wait to feel those feelings again.

Alex left the ghost town toward his final destination, the dragon's castle.

Meanwhile, somewhere deep in the abyss, on an Ice land, there was a castle.

Thirteen slim, square towers are scattered in a seemingly random pattern, but have been built for an ideal defense and are connected by towering, massive walls made of sandstone.

Small windows are scattered here and there around the walls in seemingly perfect symmetry, along with symmetric crenelations for archers and artillery.

A regular gate with great wooden doors, a draw bridge, and archer holes offer a warm haven within these cold, isolated lands.

In the majestic throne hall.

Polished braziers encompassing each of the eight obsidian columns light up the lower levels of the throne hall and bathe it in an orange glow. The thousands of gems on the domed ceiling dance in the flickering light while gargoyles and statues look down upon the maple floor of this ceremonious hall.

A cardinal rug splits the entire room in half from the doors to the throne while burgee banners with emblazoned ornaments swing gently from the walls. Between each banner hangs a lantern, many of them have been lit and in turn illuminate the portraits of folk heroes and legends below them.

Modest windows are contoured by curtains colored the same cardinal as the banners. The curtains have been adorned with fancy tassels and gold leaves.

A magnificent throne of marble sits at the center of a small platform and is adjoined by four similar, but undecorated seats for visiting dignitaries.

The throne was covered in hallowed carvings and fixed on the backside was a sparkling ship. The thin pillows were a light cardinal and these too have been adorned with golden tassels.

Those waiting to see their royal highness could do so on the plethora of modest, yet comfortable iron benches, all of which are facing the center of the hall.

Currently sitting on the magnificent throne of marble was a man whose features were blurred except for the sharp curved horns on his forehead.

"Kukuku! So it started? Hopefully, you'll entertain me before I'll for the outside world the cursed child." The owner of those horns muttered.

In many locations, there was a group of powerful monsters laying in wait.

Back to Alex's location.

Night came.

A cold night, a lucid moon, heaven's eyes shine in the black as a divine watchful mother.

Ask sat around the bonfire emitting cracking sound as he kept tossing dry wood into it.

He was not playing around but thinking deeply and after thinking he acted, converting his movement-related skill to create a new skill more fitting for his need.

Alex nodded in satisfaction as he successfully managed to create two new skills by sacrificing a few skills.

He immediately read the description of his newly created movement's skill.

Hopefully, tomorrow there would be some enemy to test on, Alex prayed as he went to sleep inside his tent.

.....

The following morning in a certain forest.

The forest was tremendous, dense, and thriving. Its canopy was reigned by rhododendron, hazel, and yew, and rays of light bursting through their crowns allowed for a medley of shrubs to dominate the boulder-covered grounds below.

Thin climbing plants suspended from many trees, and a potpourri of flowers, which desperately tried to claim the last remnants of light, adorned the otherwise beige backdrop.

βandasnovel.com A variation of beastly sounds, belonging mostly to insects, filled the air, and formed a chaotic orchestra with the barrage of noise coming from a waterfall in the distance.

It was all he said before vanishing into the depth of the forest where he would go on a rampage for two days.

Two days later Alex who was ready to depart from the forest first stopped to check his status.

After leaving the forest to his next destination Alex appeared in what seems to be a ghost town. Arlington is the city's name.

The road that led to and from Arlington was unrecognizable as nature had begun reclaiming the now unused area. Gardens once looked after and trimmed to perfection were now rough and overgrown, returning to their chaotic natural state.

Most doors were either completely gone or mere remnants of rotten wood and rusty metal. The open doorways looked eerie as only darkness showed within. Broken roof tiles lay in the streets and gardens and crusty, dry paint faded from walls and fences.

Arlington, once a growing town on the rise to a better future was now but an eerie shell of its former self after it got swallowed by the abyss. The many sounds of wild animals who've made their home in this town are carried in the wind and give it a new sense of liveliness and vibrancy.

The future looked bright to the students of this town. The school was part of their every day. Jokes were told and laughs were had, but now there was only silence and forgotten memories.

You could go anywhere in town you wanted, walk into any home, and visit any previously private part of town, assuming it hadn't been destroyed by nature already. But there was an odd sense of harmony as nature reclaimed what was theirs and resettled an old balance.

While Alex was admiring the ghost town he felt something in the distance and hurried over, he found a giant portal from which an army of monsters appeared.

The ground trembles as an army of thousands advances as a whole. A cadence of steps after steps, all aligned with each other, there was not a single creature around for miles who was unaware of this army.

Up close it was the rustling of cloth and the jingling of chainmail that overpowers all other sounds.

pandasnovel.com The army of monsters was a collection of different species, but they all share the same goal: Defeat the enemy and make it out alive.

The front was led by eager charge units of orcs armed with huge maces and axes. They were followed by cavalry armed with spears, shields, and swords, who in turn are followed by elite sword cavalry.

Alex was shocked by the unexpected discovery, so much so that he almost laughed aloud but managed to control himself in the end. He knew going into the final floor room in the abyss wouldn't be easy but not this ridiculous.

Who would have to do that on the third floor if you could consider this place to be one where he'd meet an army of monsters acting like a proper army? It was shocking to the extent of being ridiculous.

If they're capable of doing this inside the abyss in the Infinity Maze then in the real world things would get pretty messy if Alex's group keep underestimating them.

Alex understood that the Bahamut he would be meeting on the final floor wasn't the real Bahamut but a fragment of his power who gained consciousness after he sealed Mysthia's world, creating this abyss in the Infinity Maze in the process.

'I'm glad I've made this trip here quickly as possible because who knows what could happen if I haven't.' Alex heaved a sigh of relief and because he was completely hiding his presence none of the monsters could detect his presence.

While Alex was lost in thoughts considering what he must do, Silveria who had been observing everything through his senses mumbled in disbelief.

[[No way!]]

'Huh!'

Alex who was brought back to his sense was puzzled but he quickly understood.

Night was slowly approaching and the army of monsters was setting a camp which was pretty shocking.

Alex laughed silently.

[[Master, won't you use the night as cover for a perfect ambush?]] Silveria was curious therefore she asked but Alex shook his head explaining.

'There is no need for an ambush for this measly army. I'm not that weak, if I attack it will be openly and most importantly there is something I meant to test for a while and this army will be the perfect test subject for it. We will attack tomorrow, let them get some rest before I send them to meet their maker.'

There was an evil grin on the corner of Alex's lips as he ended his sentence, Silveria almost felt pity for the monsters but she was curious about what her master had in mind, it had become hard to read him for a while.

Unaware of what the one they had been waiting for had in mind, the army of monsters decided to rest here and wait for their target who should be here by tomorrow or the day after as per that man's prediction, Bahamut's right-hand man.

Sun rays come as nature's easel, giving brilliant color to what was hidden even under the passing starlit night. A new day has begun.

Alex woke up and yawned, after using some utility spell on himself (A/N: Spell for daily use such as cleaning, etc.)

"It is time to show them what a magic gunslinger is capable of in front of an army."

He was grinning.

Chapter 1329 Royal Asura

Alex gritted his teeth and let out a short grunt. He was determined to keep going, to simply swallow the pain and deal with it later. For now, the pain was manageable. Annoying, but manageable. He swallowed the pain and continued onward, he couldn't fall here as he had many things on his shoulders, he hadn't achieved his goals yet, longing for his women and his friend that were waiting for him, Alex's eyes turned resolute, he absolutely couldn't fail.

It was at that moment the rumbling in the sky stopped and the black lightning vanished as if content with Alex's survival.

Thud!

Alex fall unconscious shortly after while his body underwent a complete change. If weren't because of the sister's barrier, the birth of a new race would have been felt by those higher beings. Even so, some of them noticed something, their blood churning, they both have an unusual feeling, something must have happened somewhere, the man sitting on the black throne in the abyss was not an exception, he frowned as he couldn't locate where this feeling was coming from but soon he smiled.

"Everything will be mine in the end." He simply stated before closing his eyes, his minions were lowly corrupting the universe. One of them would soon break the barrier of the middle realm (where Alex and Co are) to conquer the lower realm completely.

Meanwhile, Alex who lost consciousness felt like he was in a dream.

His consciousness was slowly sinking into the abyss of his mind. A world full of darkness where not even a speck of light could be seen.

A crimson blood pool appeared and his body slowly moved toward it.

The moment his body has been plunged into the crimson blood pool, it begins to boil as his body is destroyed and reconstructed.

This process had already begun the moment he accepted the change and underwent the lightning baptism.

Like a sword being hammered by a talented smith, Alex's body was undergoing world-shaking change that would make even the sisters open their eyes wide if saw it.

But the changes that were happening weren't only skin deep. His very essence was changing.

Even as he sank deeper into the crimson and seemingly endless sea, Alex who was feeling faint, thought about humans and what was their power.

The only race that could harness power from other races as long as they had enough capacity.

A human who obtained enough power from a contract with a would see his body change and adjust to fit the power better thereby fundamentally changing what he was initially.

In a way, humans were the weakest race but they were also the most absolute race for the simple reason that the body of every human housed an infinite amount of possibility.

For humans, the path they had to follow was clear.

pandasnovel.com It was one of omnipotence.

Alex possessed the purest essence of humanity, a High human, it could be considered as the progenitor of the human race. While taking in the versatility of the race known as humans, he next selected dragon for his sturdy physics, High elf for intelligence and compatibility with mana, and lastly Asura for his blood, Wild, bold and unyielding. He combined them into one.

Slowly, where once only darkness could be found, light began to gather.

Alex did not know this. His mind was busy wandering as he realized all the truth that mattered to him.

Who he was. What were his limits, and where did his goals lay?

Thump

His heart which had become as still as a calm lake begin to beat once again.

Thump Thump

The eternal silence of the deep sea seemed now filled with sounds.

Thump Thump Thump

The inner world of Alex itself seemed to shake as the realization of Who he was and What were his limits finally settled in his mind.

But then, what was his goal?

Why did he fight so much, tooth and nail?

To survive?

It wasn't wrong. You had to live to enjoy life. In this fucked up world, Survival was always the main goal to strive for.

Then did he just want to survive?

This was wrong. Survival alone was not enough.

He didn't just want to survive like a pitiful dog. He wanted something more.

Then, was his goal to protect his loved ones?

Once again this wasn't wrong. Despite his desire to survive, Alex was ready to give away his life to protect those he loved.

But...Was it truly the only reason he wanted power?I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

Then the answer was no.

In the end, it all came to this.

He desired power for himself, to do anything he wants.

Alex wanted to become strong.

Not just for survival.

Not just to protect his loved one.

But first and foremost for himself.

For his happiness. For his joy. For his own goals.

Because he was a Selfish person rather than a hero.

Bang

Alex felt his back hit the bottom of the sea in his mind.

He was honestly surprised since he thought it was a bottomless sea but nothing was infinite in this world.

Looking down at the door, he instinctively knew.

This wasn't just any door.

Thump Thump Thump

His heart keeps beating erratically. His breathing was shallow and his mind was blurry.

As if everything that mattered in existence was that gate. The only obstacle between him and greater power.

This was why...

Gathering all his strength...

Alex pushed the gate and walked in and the moment he did he was assaulted by an intense pain as he could be seen walking toward a crimson palace in the distance.

Every movement sent waves of throbbing pain through his chest and back. It was exhausting and he felt sick, but there seemed to be nothing he could do about it. What if there was no end to this pain? What if it got worse? These thoughts alone were enough to get Alex's heart racing faster, never mind the pain itself. The pain shouldn't be more than a minor nuisance to him considering everything he had gone through since reincarnating into this world, but right now it was far more than that.

Alex tried his hardest to ignore the pain and focus on both continuing with what he was doing while still allowing the injuries to heal. But it was all too much for his fragile body. It was clear nothing could be done and nothing would get done.

He kept walking for what he considered to be an hour while enduring the pain as his body deconstruct and reconstruct. Alex was able to finally see a portal.

Taking this portal he was teleported into what appeared to be a basement with a long corridor and as soon as he appeared he was assaulted by another vague of an intense pain.

A sickening pain shot through his stomach and his arms wrapped tightly around it. It was all Alex could do to not collapse and wither in misery on the floor. The voices in his head that normally contradicted each other now screamed in unison and told him to stop what he was doing and find a way out of this misery.

The road ahead was a tough one and right now he wasn't sure whether he was willing to walk it, let alone whether he would be able.

Alex let out a moaning yelp, part desperation, and part determination. He had two options: fight or give up. But there was no way he could give in to the pain, there was no way he'd ever give up. So, he pressed forward, every movement adding to the barrage of pain, but he kept going no matter what.

Dragging his body along the corridor while enduring a vague of intense pain Alex arrived before a big crimson door, without wasting time he pushed open the door and was momentarily blinded by a crimson light.

And after his eyes got adjusted to the crimson light, he was able to see what was inside the room he had walked into.

It was a spacious throne hall and in the middle of this throne hall stood an altar with four light orbs floating on top of it.

The moment Alex saw them he immediately understood what they are.

The gray orb was his High human essence while the green one is his Half High elf essence, the dark red orb was the dragon's essence, and lastly, the crimson orb was his Asura's essence.

The four combined into one Dark Crimson orb exuding majesty that distorted the surrounding area.

Alex's eyes shone and he mumbled.

"Let's call you the Royal Asura's bloodline."

As if happy with the given name, the dark crimson orb trembled before shooting into the middle of Alex's eyebrows.

BOOM!

A terrifying explosion of power followed suit and the crimson castle was reduced to dust with Alex floating in a Crimson cocoon as he slowly digest his new bloodline.
