

Death Guns 1381

Chapter 1381 SS: A Certain Fox Love's Story 3

Her tail moved below Alex's cock and wrapped around his jewels. That tail then slowly started massaging his jewels while she sucked his cock.

"Ohhhh! Damn..." He muttered as he realized why she had made her earlier statements. He could feel his pre-cum dripping inside her mouth as the Holy daughter girl slowed down.

She pushed her hand forward and his cock touched the base of her throat. She stayed in this position without gagging and Alex could feel that he was about to come soon.

Kuina also realized this and as quick as a viper, she removed his cock from her mouth and touched the tip with her tongue while her tail whipped back and touched his asshole. The two things combined made Alex release his white cum directly inside Kuina's mouth as she greedily swallowed the hot white liquid.

"Tasty if I'm being honest." She finished while licking her lips.

Shortly later.

"So you managed to get a head up. Let's move towards the main course now."

Alex said with a smile as Kuina turned around and took the support of the tree.

She then started twerking her ass while he positioned his shaft in front of her pussy. He slowly pushed his cock inside her wet pussy as it parted apart to immediately let him enter her.

"Do it faster," She muttered as she wiggled her body on top of his cock.

"I will do it after you do it." He replied with a small smile as Kuina started wiggling her lower half with eagerness.

She lifted her body a little before dropping down on Alex's cock as her ass hit on his body. This was a very weird position for Kuina since she had to stand on her tiptoes to do this but she didn't mind.

Alex on the other enjoyed the view of Kuina's ass hitting on his body and staying there. But after a few minutes, he suddenly grabbed her waist and pushed her against the tree.

He started pounding her cave with cock as the latter shook because of the intensity of his pounds.

Her mouth was open wide as moans were slowly escaping her throat. Her erect nipples were hitting the rough tree while her body was pushed against it.

"Shall I do it even faster?" He asked with a smile as she nodded.

He then grabbed her ass and pulled her body down on his cock. His hands went to the front of her body as he slowly started groping her breasts.

"Annnhh~" He suddenly felt Kuina's pussy wall break loose as her cum started traveling down his cock. But he didn't mind it much and continued to do what he had been doing.

"I wonder why our lady is so silent." He suddenly whispered in her right ear before pinching her nipples. Kuina's body shuddered a little before she gained control.

"Let me show you what this lady can do." She replied and lifted herself off Alex's cock.

She pushed him down on the ground and climbed on top of his legs. Her tail then near his cock and jerked it a few times before she positioned her pussy above his cock.

She slowly dropped downwards as her cave was spread apart once again by Alex's cock. Her wet insides were proving to be slippery enough for her to do what she wanted.

"Enjoy the ride," Kuina said with a grin before turning her body in the other direction.

Now with her ass facing his face, she started riding his cock like a wild cowgirl. I think you should take a look at

The thumps made by her landing could be heard by anyone standing in the distance.

"Give me everything, I want everything." She said with a grin as she continued to ride his dick. The latter didn't say anything and quietly enjoyed what he was getting.

"You said you want everything and you shall get it," Alex replied a few minutes later as Kuina smiled. She then settled down on top of his cock and started wiggling her ass.

His cock then suddenly released a wave of white cum and the fox lady felt the hot liquid inside her cave. She released a moan with her eyes closed as Alex's semen filled up her cave.

"Ohhhhh!"

A few minutes later.

"Kuina, what are you doing," Alex asked while raising his eyebrows as Kuina was sitting on the ground on all four of her limbs.

"What do you think I am doing? Go ahead and put it inside my asshole." Her fingers then went towards her asshole as she slowly spread it apart using her hands.

Alex just shook his head as he walked forward and stood above her. The latter had already opened the entrance of her rosebud up by a lot so he just had to position his cock in front of the hole and push the tip inside.

She then did the rest of the work herself as she slowly started pushing her body backward and her asshole covered Alex's entire cock.

"You thrust or I do it?" She then asked as Alex raised his right hand and spanked her ass.

"I think you got your response." He replied as the fox lady grinned and started pushing her ass back and forward.

Having anal sex was much different than normal one since her rear end was completely being stretched by Alex's cock.

But the feeling of pleasure she was receiving was next level. Her tail swung wildly in the air as clapping sounds started to echo around the entire place again.

Alex was fucking the literal shit out of her with his still-hard cock but both of them were enjoying it. Kuina's tight asshole was sucking every drop of pre-cum out of his cock.

But after a few minutes, he decided to change the pace a little.

"Kuina, I will thrust forward once. You also come back at the same time." He suddenly said as the latter nodded.

Her breasts had been rubbing against the ground and that had made her body even more excited. Her arousal juices had also been falling out of her pussy but Alex's statement brought Kuina out of her pleasure.

"On the count of three. Once, two, three." He finished and moved forward and Kuina pushed back at the same time.

"Ahh!~"

Kuina's entire body was suddenly overloaded with pleasure as her love juice broke loose. Alex also came inside her asshole as he pulled his dick out and shot the second wave of white cum on top of Kuina's body.

He then shot the third wave as his woman was drenched in cum. She licked the semen that had fallen on her hands before looking at Alex's cock.

"There is a pond nearby. We can clean ourselves there." He said with a wink as he teleported the two of them to the nearby pond alongside their clothes.

1382 Chapter 1382

A slow smile worked its way across her face and into her eyes.

"I'm glad that you are back my sweetheart." Her mother said before adding.

"I miss you too much my sweetheart."

"I miss you too mother," Kuina responded and a smile of joy and satisfaction lit up her eager face.

Indeed she missed her mother she couldn't deny this truth but the two weren't the type to go too emotional, therefore she moved toward the topic she wished to discuss with her mother, it was why she sought her as soon as she woke up.

Immediately after the smile on Kuina's face faded and her expression became ardent.

Staring straight into her mother's golden eyes which were like the blazing sun, Kuina hesitated for a while before finally opening those scarlet lips and dropping a bomb.

"Mother you know I'm pregnant."

Time seemed to have stopped at those words. Silence descended upon them and after what seemed to have been an eternity, her mother finally opened her mouth and said only two words.

"I know."

Kuina raised an eyebrow, visibly shocked that her mother was aware of this pregnancy. It was something only she was aware of she thought. She was certain that her mother would be shocked upon hearing this announcement and like this she would win for once however things did go as planned leaving her shocked.

A smile plucked at the side of Kuina's mother's mouth and her eyes twinkled with humor. She was amused that her daughter thought she wouldn't have noticed her pregnancy. Truth be told it was difficult to notice if not impossible, only the two were probably aware of this. Normally it should have been impossible for Alex and Kuina to easily conceive a child as the more high one realm and bloodline is, the harder is for one to conceive.

However, somehow Kuina became pregnant after a few nights with him which was a miracle, probably only she could easily conceive like this. Maybe it was because the two bloodlines were compatible and in perfect symphony.

"So you knew," Kuina said after a moment of silence.

"Of course." She replied. The smile of pleasure never left Kuina's mother's face.

For some reason seeing that smile on her mother's face, Kuina was irritated, she wanted to say something to annoy her mother but found nothing, she could only sigh at the end.

"So what you I do?" Kuina asked while looking directly into her mother's eyes.

"Well, what do you think you should do?" Instead of replying to her daughter's question, she fired another question at her. She was smiling, meaning she was having fun. I think you should take a look at Kuina was annoyed as she replied.

"I should announce to the whole world my pregnancy and hold a grand ceremony. A baby shower." Kuina's eyes twinkled as she said those words.

Clap! Clap!

Upon hearing his reply, the corners of Kuina's mother's mouth lifted into a smile. She extended her hands, clapped twice, and soon after, a figure in a maid's outfit drifted toward them and served them tea before disappearing. She said nothing for a while, she simply enjoyed her until before finally saying.

"If you wish to cause an internal conflict feel free to do so." Her mother's eyes weren't smiling as she said those words and Kuina gulped. Some part of her wanted to be playful, she desired to see jealousy in the other women's eyes, the look of defeat in their eyes as they realize she would be the first to give birth to Alex's first child.

However thinking deeply it wouldn't be a wise thing to do, not only it would cause a fight between the harem member, she was sure she would be hated by Alex if she were to handle things like this.

"You are, I shouldn't behave like a spoiled child. I should wait for a while." Kuina finally understood what she should do and shared it with her mother, the latter nodded before explaining something even Kuina hadn't foreseen.

"That's a good way of thinking, besides you should know that unlike humans we have a pregnancy period that lasts longer. On top of this, you're a special fox, meaning yours will last even longer."

At this revelation, Kuina's eyes widened and she couldn't help but ask this.

"How long my pregnancy will last?" She hoped it wouldn't last long.

"Five years minimum, maybe even more."

"Say what?" Kuina unconsciously blurted unable to believe her ears.

Her mother smiled seeing her shocked face, it was fun.

"It is real. Don't forget that you're a special fox while your man, well he got a weird powerful bloodline I can't identify. The mix of them will be your child, meaning an extremely slow growth in your womb. It is why I said 5 years minimum and more depending on how powerful your child's bloodline will be. Nobody will notice this until the latter years of your pregnancy."

"I see." Kuina massaged her forehead after hearing her mother's lengthy explanation. If previously she was happy to be pregnant, thinking soon she would hold their child between her arms and whispers sweetly how she met her father, then now she was frustrated it would take such a long time. Well, considering their future fight it was best this way Kuina arrived at this conclusion.

While Kuina was deep in thoughts her mother was observing her and could guess what she was thinking. She remembered when she got pregnant with Kuina she was happy back then but this happiness dwindled when she learned that her pregnancy would last 3 years. So naturally she understood how her daughter felt as she can relate to this but it was a good thing their pregnancy lasted this long, especially when there was a war looming over the horizon. She couldn't participate if she would have a normal pregnancy like the humans does.

"Okay, Mother I understand. You should give that Royal armament, that dress to protect your future granddaughter." Kuina declared with a playful smile forcing her mother to roll her eyes at her. She had seen her coming.

1383 Chapter 1383

A few days passed in a flash after Kuina's awakening. Maria and the others learned about her awakening and were happy but they couldn't meet up as they got a different mission assigned to them.

Most of the group got a new mission to head onto the elven continent, the dark region most precisely. The Dark region is under the dark elves, a pretty hostile race, several weird things keep happening so the group was sent to investigate. Maria, Luna, Sakuya, Gracier, Saeko, and Pandora were sent on this investigation mission. Alice and the remaining members of Alex's family were on another mission.

At the border of the elven continent, the group stopped for a while before heading northwest. The whole elven continent was a giant forest in itself. Countless forests grouped together to form a bigger green forest.

In the forest located in the northwestern part of the elven continent.

The forest was far-reaching, thick, and diverse. Its canopy was competed for by cottonwood, fir, and alder, and twinkling lights bursting through their crowns allowed for a mishmash of ferns to monopolize the brittle leaves on the ground below.

Bundled branches waved from a couple of trees, and an array of flowers, which were common to this area only, added playful elements to the otherwise green view.

A variation of sounds, which were caused by insects, echoed in the air, and were in harmony with the swaying of tree tops in the wind.

Maria's group entered this normal forest but they did not progress too far as they got surrounded by a sudden black mist at the entrance of a cave. The enemy has surrounded them using the mist as cover.

As the leader of the group, Maria was the first to notice this followed by Sakuya and the others.

The Ice Empress' icy blue eyes turned ruthless as she could feel killing intent from the enemy surrounding them, the will to slaughter them was so strong that it makes one skill crawl.

There was no hesitation in Maria's following order.

"Show them no mercy."

Upon hearing Maria's command, Pandora lunged forward immediately. She flipped her right hand around and a white, green longbow appeared in her hand.

"Light show me your brilliance."

She pulled the bowstring and aimed ahead. She released her finger and a dazzling brilliance erupted from the bowstring, penetrating the gap between the foliages and tree, flitting across in a trail of afterimages.

"Woah——!"

The instant the brilliance vanished, the group heard a blood-curdling scream. A dozen black figures sprung up from the surrounding shadows. They held specially-modified and non-reflective bows, pouncing on the group like poisonous scorpions.

The moment the dark elves jumped out of the shadows, they released the arrows, specially-modified and smeared with lethal poison, on their bows. They glided toward the group swiftly and silently. The arrows were as slim as needles.

Without taking a closer look, one wouldn't be able to spot them. If Maria's party were a group of ordinary people, perhaps they would have crumbled entirely in this wave of attacks. Even if they survived, they could never resist the next, wild ambush. I think you should take a look at

But it was a pity that the dark elves weren't taking on a bunch of naive adventurers or dazed, ignorant idiots who were caught in their trap. Since Maria's group was here to investigate this dangerous region, it went without saying that they were powerful enough for that.

Before the poisonous arrows unveiled their effects, they were deflected by an invisible barrier, before getting burnt to a crisp by holy flames, erupting in sparks, and vanishing into dust. At the same time, Luna raised her hand and shortly after, a glaring, sacred brilliance exploded and proliferated with her in the middle, dispersing the black mist released by the dark elves and blinding their eyes. The dazzling radiance enfolded the dark elves' sight instantly, robbing them of their vision.

In an instant, the situation turned around. Before the dark elves leaped out of the darkness and struck their prey, they were hit by glaring, holy rays and had no choice but to close their eyes and retreat in panic. Strong rays of light were the fatal weakness of underground creatures. Moreover, the rays of light were holy flashes of brilliance from Luna that would cause additional harm to evil creatures. The dark elves were caught off guard. Their eyes hurt as though they were splashed with sulphuric acid. Even though they had been through strict training, they couldn't tolerate the agony. They let out horrific screams and hid in the darkness one by one. The dazzling arrows of light that were almost indiscernible to the naked eye punctured their skulls, ending their pain instantly.

"Stop making that hand gesture, Gracier. It's unsightly for a woman to make that gesture."

Pandora pulled back the bowstring while staring in displeasure at Gracier, who lifted her middle finger. Upon hearing Pandora's lecture, Gracier rolled her eyes at her before she sighed.

"Tch! It's my mistake, I shouldn't have told you the meaning of this gesture. You're no fun big sister Pandora."

She crossed her arms afterward, but around her many small fireballs levitated, but she didn't attack yet.

Upon hearing Gracier's sarcastic remarks, it was Pandora's turn to roll her eyes.

"I'm not a performer, of course, you'll say I'm no fun."

Her attempt to joke back was met with the remaining members of the group rolling their eyes. There was no tension in the air despite them being surrounded and attacked by the dark elves.

Gracier not wanting to be outdone said.

"Let's see if you understand this one."

After saying those words, Gracier gave a taunting thumbs-down to Pandora. Then, she sandwiched her thumb between the index and middle fingers, swaying it before her. Looking at this hand gesture, Pandora was taken aback. She revealed a dubious expression. Sakuya and Luna were holding their laughter back.

"What does that mean?" Pandora questioned.

"Hahaha, you don't know, right? I won't tell you this one. Hehehehehe!"

"Alright, both of you shut up. Now isn't the time for a quarrel. Pandora, come here."

"Okay, leader."

1384 Chapter 1384

"Stop making that hand gesture, Gracier. It's unsightly for a woman to make that gesture."

Pandora pulled back the bowstring, while staring in displeasure at Gracier, who lifted her middle finger. Upon hearing Pandora's lecture, Gracier rolled her eyes at her before she sighed.

"Tch! It's my mistake, I shouldn't have told you the meaning of this gesture. You're no fun big sister Pandora."

She crossed her arms afterward, but around her many small fireballs levitated, she didn't attack yet.

Upon hearing Gracier's sarcastic remarks, it was Pandora's turn to roll her eyes.

"I'm not a performer, of course, you'll say I'm no fun."

Her attempt to joke back was met with the remaining members of the group rolling their eyes at her. There was no tension in the air despite them being surrounded and attacked by the dark elves.

Gracier not wanting to be outdone said.

"Let's see if you understand this one."

After saying those words, Gracier gave a taunting thumbs-down to Pandora. Then, she sandwiched her thumb between the index and middle fingers, swaying it before her. Looking at this hand gesture, Pandora was taken aback. She revealed a dubious expression. Sakuya and Luna were holding their laughter back.

"What does that mean?" Pandora questioned.

"Hahaha, you don't know, right? I won't tell you this one. Hehehehehe!"

"Alright, both of you shut up. Now isn't the time for a quarrel. Pandora, come here."

"Okay, leader."

Upon hearing Maria's words, Pandora nodded obediently and glared fiercely at Gracier. Even though she didn't know what that hand gesture meant, based on Gracier's behavior, she knew it definitely wasn't anything kind. But Pandora (Meera) turned away from Gracier immediately and went to Maria's side to continue attacking the dark elves. Looking at this scene, Maria let out a deep, inward sigh of relief. This little girl is sure a little devil.

'Hopefully, our children won't take after her.' Maria silently prayed.

Meanwhile, the interaction between Pandora and Gracier lasted for only a few seconds and in the meantime, the battle had ended. Even though the dark elves had a clear division of labor among them, they attacked Maria's group simultaneously to ensure that they didn't need to face the dangers alone.

However, that was pointless. The blinded dark elves who encircled Gracier and Pandora had their skulls penetrated by the light arrows. Before the dark elves pouncing on Pandora managed to land an attack, the blood inside their bodies exploded and caused their death. On the other hand, Sakuya didn't move an inch. She stood on the spot lazily, staring at the four idiotic dark elves who leaped and flourished their blades at her neck. If nothing stopped them, Sakuya's head would have fallen at the next moment. But as a matter of fact, the instant the blades were swung, it was the dark elves' skulls that flew up into the air. The dark elves gave their all to kill the enemy, only to send themselves to death. They used their lives to prove that all foolish actions before the Japanese goddess would call forth the arrival of death. I think you should take a look at

The battle came to an end abruptly. Standing above the boulder and concealing themselves in the dark mist, before the dark elf mages released a second wave of magical spells, the shield in Zwei's hands whistled toward them, crashing onto them like a fly swatter. In a loud bang, the bloody female mage died, smashing onto the wall and squashing her bones into bits.

Only the dark elves who surrounded Maria and Saeko survived. It wasn't that the two were incapable of defeating them, but that after Maria unleashed her strength, the dark elves froze to the spot immediately. She merely released half of her strength and it was enough to paralyze the dark elves. The dark elves turned ashen and tossed their weapons aside in a frenzy. Perhaps if Maria were to go up and torture them to death, they wouldn't have any response.

"W-Who exactly are y-you people! W-What are you trying t-to do!"

Even though the dark elves lived with the pride of their years-long arrogance, under Maria's group's overwhelming strength and Maria's overwhelming presence, they couldn't even speak properly now.

"We're travelers who are passing by."

Facing the dark elves' question, Maria responded. However, her answer made them reveal strange expressions. Even though she was literally stating the truth, just like how the Earth was circulating the sun, based on the current situation, why did it feel so weird to them? However, Maria ignored the suspicious gazes shot at her and continued to speak with a humble and gentle voice.

"We're heading to Gandor. If I'm not mistaken, you guys are the patrolling guards of Gandor, right?"

"..."

Facing Maria's question, the remaining four dark elves gnashed their teeth, exchanged looks with one another, and nodded grudgingly. These dark elves weren't fools either. Judging from the exceptional power that Maria's group displayed, it was obvious to the dark elves that these adventurers weren't fools who came to this place just to commit suicide. Perhaps not even the matriarch of the number one family of Gandor City possessed such strength. Facing their silent response, Maria revealed a gentle smile.

"Alright then, please inform your people that the Saint adventurer's group composed of only SS rank adventurers intends to pass through Gandor City. I hope you guys can open up the city gates and allow us through. If not, be prepared to suffer the consequences."

Gazing at the ashen dark elves, Maria spoke in a soft tone, unlike her previous cold face.

The dark elves started pondering in silence.

In the meantime.

"Big sister Maria, you said the dark elves will open the city gates for us?"

Gracier sauntered, turning around to ask Maria curiously. Facing her question, Maria shrugged and didn't answer immediately. Dark elves weren't a race that would die for their pride. At that moment, the dark elves were hesitant about whether to believe her words. If wasn't because of this group's strength, there would be nothing to consider.

1385 Chapter 1385

"We're heading to Gandor. If I'm not mistaken, you guys are the patrolling guards of Gandor, right?"

"..."

Facing Maria's question, the remaining four dark elves gnashed their teeth, exchanged looks with one another, and nodded grudgingly. These dark elves weren't fools either. Judging from the exceptional power that Maria's group displayed, it was obvious to the dark elves that these adventurers weren't fools who came to this place just to commit suicide. Perhaps not even the matriarch of the number one family of Gandor City possessed such strength. Facing their silent response, Maria revealed a gentle smile.

"Alright then, please inform your people that the Saint adventurer's group composed of only SS rank adventurers intends to pass through Gandor City. I hope you guys can open up the city gates and allow us through. If not, be prepared to suffer the consequences."

Gazing at the ashen dark elves, Maria spoke in a soft tone, unlike her previous cold face.

The dark elves started pondering in silence.

In the meantime.

"Big sister Maria, you said the dark elves will open the city gates for us?"

Gracier sauntered, turning around to ask Maria curiously. Facing her question, Maria shrugged and didn't answer immediately. Dark elves weren't a race that would die for their pride. At that moment, the dark elves were hesitant about whether to believe her words. If wasn't because of this group's strength, there would be nothing to consider.

"I think we can enter the city without any issue. But we may face some problems when heading out."

Maria responded as she extended her hand to pat Gracier's head.

Upon hearing Maria's words, the group didn't reveal any huge reactions. It was apparent that most of them thought the same. Even if the dark elves did not let them pass they could force their way through. If not because they needed to enter the city to check a certain dungeon for their investigation they wouldn't want to stop by this city known for their hate of other races.

Previously, there were a total of five dark elves who escaped death from Maria. She sent three of them to report the situation to Gandor, while commanding the other two to lead the way. As for their background, she had checked with them.

They were members of the fifth family in Gandor. This time, they were responsible for patrolling the outer region. Just as Elseria's investigation team said, Gandor was indeed in lockdown, but the dark elves in front of her didn't know the reason behind it. Well, they couldn't be blamed because they were males. I think you should take a look at

In the dark elves' society, male status was always low because only females were equipped with the powerful ability. That was why the rulers and higher-ups of every family were always females. On the other hand, males were mostly guards and subordinates. In this city, only magicians were respected, while warriors weren't worthy of a mention.

Under the lead of the two dark elves, Maria's group didn't face any obstacles along the way. They passed straight through the cave's entrance before finding a trail and when they turned the corner, a huge and majestic city presented itself before them all of a sudden.

Gandor, city of the dark elves.

This city consisted of fifty of thousands of stalactites, varying from place to place. Of course, dark elves in the deep underground couldn't possibly build their homes with trees and vines like on the surface. But this didn't mean that the dark elves were at their wits' end. They used huge stalactites as a base for their homes. The stalactites that connected the dome and ground ranged from a few meters to a dozen meters. The dark elves used their skills to carve these products of nature into elegant, beautiful artwork. At a glance, one could see purple, ghostly fire spreading between the stalactites as though it were a sea of purple stars. The sharp peaks of stalagmites were engraved with various sculptures of demons. They linked up, forming a wall that was a dozen meters thick and resisted any ambushes from outsiders. The pitch-black opening at the top of the stalagmites seemed like corroded holes. But from the information Maria's group clearly knew that lethal weapons and crossbows were hidden in them.

Just like in the rumors, Gandor City was entirely sealed off. When Maria's group arrived at the entrance, the heavy, enormous steel door constructed among the stalagmites was lifted high, seemingly to stop any outsiders from entering.

Gazing at the giant metal door, Maria knitted her brows, lowered her head, and observed the lava moat that was seven to nine meters wide in front of her. This was the city's biggest reliance. Any intruders who targeted the city would be devoured by the scorching lava without having a chance to attack. But it was a pity that no one dared to risk one's life by trying.

"We've brought honorable guests! We're requesting to enter Gandor immediately!"

Staring at the steel door, the dark elves who led the way yelled loudly for attention. One of them extended his arm and reached for a steel plate from his waist pouch. Then, he roasted it in the heat above the lava moat and tossed it high. This was the dark elves' emergency signal to request for the opening of the gate.

Rumble!

After a few moments, the steel door was lowered as a heavy, sturdy bridge appeared over the moat. Shortly after, sharp, enormous iron fences expanded in piercing creaks. The city of dark elves, Gandor, finally revealed its true identity to everyone.

Sweeping a glance at the surroundings, Maria confirmed her doubt. It seemed like the dark elves had no intention of stopping them from entering the city. After all, Gandor was a large city, populated with hundred dark elf families. Every family consisted of thousands of well-equipped dark elf soldiers and also tens of thousands of goblins and slaves of other races. If Maria's group didn't reveal her strength to terrify the dark elves into yielding, perhaps her and her group would have to pay the price.

At that moment, Maria's group witnessed seven, well-armored dark elf soldiers scuttling toward them. Then, the dark elf who seemed to be their leader saluted.

"Welcome to Gandor City."

1386 Chapter 1386

Staring at the giant metal door, the dark elves who led the way yelled loudly for attention. One of them extended his arm and reached for a steel plate from his waist pouch. Then, he roasted it in the heat above the lava moat and tossed it high. This was the dark elves' emergency signal to request the opening of the gate.

Rumble!

After a few moments, the steel door was lowered as a heavy, sturdy bridge appeared over the moat. Shortly after, sharp, enormous iron fences expanded in piercing creaks. The city of dark elves, Gandor, finally revealed its true identity to everyone.

Sweeping a glance at the surroundings, Maria confirmed her doubt. It seemed like the dark elves had no intention of stopping them from entering the city. After all, Gandor was a large city, populated with hundred dark elf families. Every family consisted of thousands of well-equipped dark elf soldiers and also tens of thousands of goblins and slaves of other races. If Maria's group didn't reveal her strength to terrify the dark elves into yielding, perhaps she and her group would have to pay the price.

At that moment, Maria's group witnessed seven, well-armored dark elf soldiers scuttling toward them. Then, the dark elf who seemed to be their leader saluted.

"Welcome to Gandor City."

The dark elf spoke emotionlessly like someone forced to do something he doesn't want.

"We received notice of your arrival, but we have to apologize in advance. I suppose you're aware of the current lockdown in Gandor City. Not only here, but the paths to other regions are also blocked off. As there were some accidents, we are unable to open up the paths temporarily. If you were to pass through the City and head to other areas, I need to warn you that it may take a long time."

"Thanks for the reminder."

Upon hearing his words, Maria simply twitched her brows. It was apparent that this was a delaying tactic by the dark elves. If she displayed enough strength to terrorize the dark elves, they would open up the path for them in no time. But if she failed, they wouldn't be able to leave this underground city ever again.

'Hoh! How amusing.'

Stretching Maria's arm and caressing the hilt on her waist, she narrowed her eyes at the dark elf. Facing Maria's subtle provocation, the dark elf didn't seem frightened at all. He nodded to Maria's group, before turning around and entering the city.

Maria waved her hand, beckoning her group to follow the man. The moment they entered the city, she turned around and glanced at the surrounding shadows casually. Then, she looked away and continued sauntering ahead.

It seemed like Maria didn't realize the three young ladies clad in black clothes were hidden in the shadows of the stalagmite wall in the distance. The three young ladies gripped the whips in their hands. A black spider was sewn on their pitch-black robes. That was the emblem of advanced guards under the powerful family, they're mostly mages. They stared at Maria's group until they disappeared into the city.

"I don't think these people are threatening. They seem just like a group of surface bugs, that's all."

One of the dark elf mages said in disdain. Then, she gazed provocatively at the silent companion standing beside her. I think you should take a look at

"Seems like the guards of the seven families need improvement. I can't figure out how those people managed to wipe out the entire patrol team. Frankly, I think the Lorr Family needs to watch their men. It isn't anything honorable for dark elves to hide their failure and exaggerate the enemies' threat."

"Shut up. Let's just observe quietly and report." Another one said shutting the others down. Afterward, they followed Maria's group in the darkness but not going too close as they didn't want to alert the enemy. Unbeknownst to them they have been discovered already just the group was playing pretend with them.

•••

Under the lead of the dark elf guard, Maria's group arrived at the inner city on the left side. This was the gathering place for visitors. But despite that, there weren't many humans around. Unless they were slaves, if not humans couldn't possibly arrive in this city of dark elves.

The arrival of Maria's group attracted the attention of almost everyone. Without mentioning the rarity of humans in the dark underground world, just the shining gems in these beautiful and mesmerizing young ladies in the group were enough to be the center of attention.

"You people can stay here for the time being and wait for further news."

The dark elf guard said to Maria, before signaling with a hand gesture and turning around to leave.

Maria wasn't bothered by the indifferent attitude of the dark elf guard. She merely scanned the surroundings and spotted her target—the inn. However, unlike other places, this inn was built entirely from wooden logs, which was extremely rare to see in the underground. It could also be said that it was as extravagant as a building constructed with platinum on the surface.

"Let's go."

She beckoned and led the group into the wooden inn.

The inn was spacious and brightly lit by lantern grasses found only in the underground. The flames burning in the fireplace piled up with stones eliminated the chilliness, bringing them a comfortable warmth. An old man, who seemed to be the boss of the inn, took a nap over the counter. Due to the years of being unexposed to the sun, his skin appeared sickly pale, like a funny-looking wooden barrel. But what was most eye-catching about him was his legs. The areas below his knees were completely severed and the balance of his upper body was supported by prosthetics made from black iron. Maria admired it for a moment before her eyes scanned the surrounding.

In the meantime gazing at the arrival of Maria's group, the old man widened his eyes and showed a bewildered expression. He opened his mouth and revealed an excited smile.

"Oh, welcome everyone. I haven't met any human customers in a long time. May I have your orders please?"

"We want a quiet place to stay." Maria declared while slipping one platinum coin under the old man's hand which shocked him.

1387 Chapter 1387

The inn was spacious and brightly lit by lantern grasses found only in the underground. The flames burning in the fireplace piled up with stones eliminated the chilliness, bringing them a comfortable warmth. An old man, who seemed to be the boss of the inn, took a nap over the counter. Due to the years of being unexposed to the sun, his skin appeared sickly pale, like a funny-looking wooden barrel. But what was most eye-catching about him was his legs. The areas below his knees were completely severed and the balance of his upper body was supported by prosthetics made from black iron. Maria admired it for a moment before her eyes scanned the surrounding.

In the meantime gazing at the arrival of Maria's group, the old man widened his eyes and showed a bewildered expression. He opened his mouth and revealed an excited smile.

"Oh, welcome everyone. I haven't met any human customers in a long time. May I have your orders please?"

"We want a quiet place to stay." Maria declared while slipping one platinum coin under the old man's hand which shocked him.

"I mean I'm renting the whole place," Maria added with an expressionless face.

The old man behind the counter seemed troubled for a moment but in front of money he could only give in, especially currency from the continent which is worth a lot, he couldn't say no as it would be shooting himself in the foot.

The happy old man tried to hide his shining eyes as he pocketed the money while giving Maria a bit of kind advice.

"Miss, as we are all humans, I think I have to remind you that Gandor isn't a safe place to be. Since you made your way here, it proves that you are strong enough to deal with the dangers. But I still need to remind you that the dark elves are hard to deal with. Besides, recently they have sealed off the city. The atmosphere is tense. If it isn't necessary, I advise you to avoid any trouble as much as possible. If you are targeted by dark elves, you will be in big trouble."

"Thanks for the warning," Maria responded with a smile.

The old man frowned before opening his mouth to continue.

"Miss, it may be rude of me to say this, but..."

Bang!

Before the old man finished his sentence, a loud bang on the second floor captured everyone's attention. Shortly after, the a petite human girl who went upstairs earlier rolled down the flight of steps with a bruised, swollen face. Seconds later, several burly, heavily-equipped dark elves descended the stairs. They swept a glance at the lobby and after spotting the beautiful young ladies, their eyes glinted in passionate lights. They exchanged filthy looks with one another. One of them who seemed to be their leader strode forward and snarled at the group. I think you should take a look at

"Are you the ones who booked the entire inn and forced us to leave?! Some weakling humans?!"

Upon hearing the snarls of the big dark elves, Maria couldn't be bothered to turn around. Those people were naive, sinister, and crude. As for these idiots who would step into a minefield for the sake of following that dangling carrot in front of them, they were the most unworthy of cannon fodders in the eyes of the true decider of the dark elves. Therefore, facing the interrogations of these idiots, Maria remained silent, extended her hand, and snapped her fingers.

"Scram!"

Witnessing her gesture, Gracier chuckled. The petite dragon's lady swept an ice-cold glance at the idiots not knowing the immensity of Earth before she strode toward them and let out a grunt. Along with her bellow, the air around them instantly turned cold. The idiot dark elves who heard her voice revealed furious expressions. They stretched out their thick arms to reach for the weapons on their waist, apparently to teach this young lady a lesson and let her experience what true agony and nightmare were.

"Dragon's Might!" Gracier silently mumbled as a formless pressure spread out from her small body.

But just as they clutched the hilts of their weapons, their faces instantly became that of beached fish—gasping for air, staring with wide-open eyes, and rooted to the spot. Not only that, but their complexions also became increasingly red as though invisible hands were choking their throats. Even though the muscles on their bodies trembled, they couldn't move an inch. This peculiar behavior seemed odd to everyone, an intense fear took hold of them.

At the next moment, Gracier extended and swung her right arm as though she were driving away flies.

Boom!

Along with this action, those who were frozen to the spot flew out of the exit as though their legs were equipped with rockets. They crashed heavily onto the ground outside like a big pile of mud.

No, it wasn't 'like'—they turned into a big pile of mud under the effects of the vampire's magical spell. Their skeletons and muscles were crushed into bits by an unknown force, turning into worthless residue. They lay on the ground like flat, deflated balloons. The bewildered crowd stepped forward in uncertainty, sizing up the revolting corpses on the ground. No one dared to say a word. Their eyes were filled with terror. In this city, they had witnessed many more terrifying things, but they were usually committed by dark elves. Due to that reason, as the crowd saw a non-dark elf disintegrating an enemy using a crueler method than the dark elves, they were immediately petrified of Maria's group. The crowd initially decided to stir trouble with Maria's group and pry their intention. But now, it seemed like everything would be in vain if they couldn't even protect themselves.

Hearing the clamors outside the inn, Maria nodded in satisfaction. Her sister-in-law and maybe future sister were truly suitable for the task secretly given to her.

As a dragon, she was born to look down upon most of the other species. This kind of heartfelt contempt and the formidable strength of hers were the best weapons to strike a blow at the dark elves' confidence. Those hidden in the darkness should be aware of this, it was Maria's goal.

1388 Chapter 1388

Boom!

Along with this action, those who were frozen to the spot flew out of the exit as though their legs were equipped with rockets. They crashed heavily onto the ground outside like a big pile of mud.

No, it wasn't 'like'—they turned into a big pile of mud under the effects of the vampire's magical spell. Their skeletons and muscles were crushed into bits by an unknown force, turning into worthless residue. They lay on the ground like flat, deflated balloons. The bewildered crowd stepped forward in uncertainty, sizing up the revolting corpses on the ground. No one dared to say a word. Their eyes were filled with terror. In this city, they had witnessed many more terrifying things, but they were usually committed by dark elves. Due to that reason, as the crowd saw a non-dark elf disintegrating an enemy using a crueler method than the dark elves, they were immediately petrified of Maria's group. The crowd initially decided to stir trouble with Maria's group and pry their intention. But now, it seemed like everything would be in vain if they couldn't even protect themselves.

Hearing the clamors outside the inn, Maria nodded in satisfaction. Her sister-in-law and maybe future sister were truly suitable for the task secretly given to her.

As a dragon, she was born to look down upon most of the other species. This kind of heartfelt contempt and the formidable strength of hers were the best weapons to strike a blow at the dark elves' confidence. Those hidden in the darkness should be aware of this, it was Maria's goal. There was also another factor in play outwardly Gracier looks like a beautiful elf, no the vibe of a High elf could be detected from a mile away. Naturally, Dark elves don't like Elves that much, High elves even more so.

Maria, Luna, and Saeko went upstairs to check the rooms while leaving the others behind for drinks. Maria wasn't worried in the slightest as she knew Gracier's and the other's strengths. Gracier had the full authority to do as she wished after seeing humans slaves, she was angry with the disgusting Dark elves, this is one of the reasons Maria was letting her go wild.

Thinking about what those prideful dark elves would do upon learning that it was a petite high elf that beat the shit out of them, would infuriate them.

'No good!'

The inn boss shivered, curling up behind the counter. He understood why this group dared to come here. They weren't as foolish as he had imagined. But even so, the inn boss revealed a worrisome expression because he felt like they came with ill intentions. They magnified their strength wantonly with the identity of a non-dark elf. This would deter the attention of the proud dark elves. As soon as the dark elves' patrol team arrived, huge troubles would surely follow.

As the saying 'the more one was afraid of something happening, the bigger the chance it would happen' went, the moment the shivering inn boss prayed that nothing would happen, metallic clangs echoed from the outside. A few seconds later, five well-equipped dark elves strode into the inn in large strides. Judging from their equipment, they were the patrol team of this city. Despite that, Gracier couldn't recognize them. It seemed like they weren't the same batch of patrols that led their group here. What surprised everyone was that behind the five dark elf warriors stood a female dark elf in a mage's robe, which was rarely seen in patrol teams, as advanced mages were important characters and seldom showed up on such occasions.

"We received a report—is someone causing trouble here?"

After entering the inn, the five dark elves blocked the entrance. The dark elf mage asked and sauntered forward, staring at the patrons with arrogance. Upon detecting her ice-cold stare, the inn boss couldn't help but tremble in fear. Despite that, the others were unmoved.

Meanwhile, Sakuya knitted her brows. She didn't even lift her head to look at the dark elves. Gracier placed the wineglass back on the table, widening her heterochromia eyes at the dark elves and revealing a proud smile, underneath this smile was a boiling anger. She saw the looks in their eyes when staring at the humans, it was as if they were looking at some ants. As someone with a human bloodline, it was infuriating to the extreme.

An angry Gracier looked at the female mage.

Upon realizing Gracier's gaze, the female mage couldn't help but suck in a deep breath of cold air. She sensed pain as though the blood in her body were flowing in reverse. She sensed overwhelming fear and pressure from Gracier's gaze. Despite that, she stifled the uncertainty with her strong willpower and felt utterly insulted by that instance of fear.

This emotion should be her enemy's, not hers. I think you should take a look at

"Stand up! Answer my question!"

The infuriated female mage snarled, she summoned a five-headed snake whip from her, and pointed at Gracier, using this method to conceal that moment of timidity and withdrawal. But Gracier apparently wasn't having any of it. The corners of her lips perked up into a smile and she stared at the female mage as though she was a bug. Then, she spoke.

"Seems like you lowly, dark-skinned creatures that treat others as bugs are indeed ignorant. How dare you speak to me in this manner? Are you ready to accept your punishment for offending me?"

"What did you say!?"

The dark elves were stunned. They didn't expect to be defied in their lifetime. Besides, this was the city of dark elves. To be mocked and humiliated in public like this was intolerable for any dark elf!

"You bastard white-skinned elf, how dare you...!"

Upon hearing Gracier's words, the female mage bellowed and raised her whip while at the same time calling the spirits of Earth and Wind to turn her whip faster and more deadly. She was about to unleash her full strength on Gracier.

But despite that, Gracier was quicker.

The female mage witnessed a red flash in front of her. At the next moment, the magical torrent within her control erupted. Gracier flitted across in a red burst of flame, aiming straight at the five dark elves behind the female mage. A dazzling, eye-catching brilliance erupted. In the blink of an eye, blood splattered from the bodies of the five dark elves like fountains spraying into midair.

The air turned hot, the heat coalesced into the shape of flame blades that swooped down and slashed at them. Along with deep, thunderous rumbles, the five heavily-armored dark elves followed in the others' footsteps. Before they let out a shriek, they were pierced in the chest by the flame swords and flew out of the inn.

The abrupt change in situation baffled the female mage. She felt the magical powers coalescing in her hand completely losing control as they flowed in reverse inside her body. Her vision swayed and turned indistinct as though the world were spinning. The moment she gasped for air and shuddered, she realized that she was already screaming.

"Listen up, you lowly beings"

Gracier stood by the entrance of the inn, grabbed the female mage's neck with her right hand, and dragged her outside the inn. Her red and gold eyes glinted in a mysterious, yet mesmerizing flash.

"You better behave or else I don't mind turning this city into hell."

Chapter 1389 Mistake

The golden-laced panties and socks on her body prevented him from doing so.

Things were slowly starting to become interesting.

"Why are you looking at me like that?" Kuina asked in a confused tone before she walked a little forward and bent down in front of him.

Her boobs juggled in front of his face as she looked at his face with a confused expression.

"I am just wondering how you honed your skills to this level?"

"Well, I have to if I wish to keep my man not to forget me."

She put her hands on the side of her panties and slowly started pulling them down. After reaching down to her thighs, Sahara bent down even more as she finally slid the panties down her body.

Except for her shoes and socks, Kuina had no clothes on her body but the challenge was still on.

"Looks like I am starting to feel the cold now." She said with a grin and cupped her breasts with her hands. The nipples had turned erect as she slowly started playing with them.

Her right hand then went down to her completely shaved pussy as she slowly pulled her labia apart. She then moved forward to give her man a better look before putting her middle finger inside her pussy.

While slowly fingering her pussy with her middle finger, she looked at Alex's face. The latter looked extremely calm so she turned her gaze to his cock.

There was no rising tent and she felt a little disappointed by that.

"Anyways, what are we going to do now?" She asked while keeping her voice stable. "I guess I should proceed with the real thing now."

She then bent down on her knees and with some quick movement, Kuina undid her shoelaces and kicked them off her feet.

Before that day, Alex had never thought that he would see someone removing their socks so slowly. But she speed could be compared to the movement speed of a snail.

"Done." After a few minutes, she dropped the last remaining piece of cloth on her body down on the ground.

"So I passed the challenge." He grinned as he stood up and shook off his clothes. He then looked at the few drops of arousal juices dripping down Sahara's thighs before he decided to take things up a notch.

"Then shall we proceed," She said as she hit her ass once with her right hand.

But Alex didn't say anything and walked forward. He grabbed her body and pulled her against his body. While maintaining a steady grip on her waist, he kissed her lips and invaded her mouth.

His tongue entwined with her tongue before he pushed her against a tree. While keeping their tongues intertwined, he hands slowly traveled down her body and grabbed her breasts.

While groping the big melons with his hands. Kuina's hands went near his cock while her tail slowly went behind him.

'She is going to do that again.' He thought with a smile as he felt her tail slowly poking around his asshole. I think you should take a look at

But he was no longer affected by that as his right hand let go of her breasts and went down to her sacred cave.

But her legs closed around his hand in an attempt to stop him from entering her cave. He then broke their kiss to see her smiling.

"Not so quick," Kuina said as she released the grip on Alex's hands and controlled her tail to move forward and surround his cock.

The warm tail slowly started rubbing his cock and he could feel his precum oozing out his hardened shaft. Kuina then started increasing the speed of her tail job as always cock grew even harder in her embrace.

"Kuh!" Alex grunted, trying to hold in.

Kuina giggled a little when she realized what Alex was doing.

"Such unique position," She muttered as her breasts were now in front of Alex mouth.

He slowly started licking the erect nipples with his tongue before he put them in his mouth. He then started sucking on them like a hungry baby koala.

"Ahhh~" After that, Kuina finally released a moan as he continued to suck on her erect red nipples.

Her tail also continued to rub his cock but she soon realized that there was no way that he was going to cum in this way.

"Alex, please put me down," Kuina said and Alex obliged. He could tell that she had something in her mind and he decided to let her do that.

"Let's see how long you can hold now." She said with a grin before she opened her mouth and swallowed his entire cock in a matter of seconds.

Yet her sharp teeth were chipping at Alex's cock just like when she had given him her first blow job.

'Could it be that she is trying to...!' He immediately realized what Kuina meant.

The fox lady slowly started moving back and forward like she was giving him a blowjob for the first time.

But slowly, her skills started to rise. It was like an MC who had been hiding his real powers the entire time.

Her tail moved below Alex's cock and wrapped around his jewels. That tail then slowly started massaging his jewels while she sucked his cock.

"Ohhhh! Damn..." He muttered as he realized why she had made her earlier statements. He could feel his pre-cum dripping inside her mouth as the Holy daughter girl slowed down.

She pushed her hand forward and his cock touched the base of her throat. She stayed in this position without gagging and Alex could feel that he was about to come soon.

Kuina also realized this and as quick as a viper, she removed his cock from her mouth and touched the tip with her tongue while her tail whipped back and touched his asshole. The two things combined made Alex release his white cum directly inside Kuina's mouth as she greedily swallowed the hot white liquid.

"Tasty if I'm being honest." She finished while licking her lips.