

Death Guns 1443

Chapter 1443 -: People On The Island 1

"Can the two of you stop bantering on something so useless? We have to know on how we are going to deal with this matter right now." The man with a head full of grey hair said with a gloomy expression on his face. He was the one that had cursed.

Bang! Bang!

At this moment, they were suddenly shocked to hear the sound of the door into the room that they were currently in being banged. The group called not help but shift their attention back to the screens that were showing the scenes of Jack and his group.

It was only now that they finally understood something. The performance of Jack and his group was way out of their expectations, and this being the first time that they were seeing a person with a special ability in action, they did not even try to think about where Jack and his group were currently at.

For that reason, they did not even realize that Jack and his group had already arrived outside of the room that they were currently in. So, while they were discussing, Jack had gone ahead and knocked onto the door heavily.

The eyes of the people inside the room immediately widened. They knew that from the force that was used to hit that door, had it not been for the fact that the door was made out of special materials that could not be easily taken down, then, it will have already been destroyed by now.

Through the surveillance screens, they could see that Jack was actually looking at the camera, and he was speaking to them. It was just that, they could not hear what he was saying.

Matthias did not hesitate to activate the sound system so that they could hear what Jack was saying. To say the truth, they were not willing to face Jack and his group.

It was not as if Jack and his group had come over to discuss something. And, even if it was true that they had come over to discuss something, that something was definitely not peaceful.

That implied that, whoever it was that wanted to face off against Jack and his group, they would be having a difficult time.

and his group considering that there were two superhumans, amongst which one of them was at the second stage of the superhuman level, and the other one possessed a And currently, they were having suspicions that Jack and his group were the ones that were responsible with the death of the two superhumans that had been sent over from the headquarters.

Not to mention that none of them present inside the room was actually a superhuman, but, even those strong people that had been sent from the Stronghold had been taken care of.

Although it was not yet proved, but, it was still a fact that they were no match for Jack and his group considering that there were two superhumans, amongst which one of them was at the second stage of the superhuman level, and the other one possessed a special ability.

"Are you guys going to come out or not? I still have something to discuss with you." Jack's voice reached them through the speaker that was inside the room.

The group took a deep breath. It was clear that Jack had come over, with a target in mind. And, it just turned out that they themselves were actually the targets that Jack was after.

"What should we do? Should we go out and meet him?" Matthias could not help but ask. It was not as if he was the leader of the organization, but, he was just the second in command.

"What choice do we have? If we continue staying inside here, there's no guarantee that he is going to be capable of destroying this door. Moreover, who said that he would not come over another time? I think it is better if we deal with this problem now." The guy with a slim stature stated.

Although he was not holding a high position as compared to Matthias within the organization, still, due to the fact that he was actually a ten-star ordinary human, his words carried a lot of weight.

Immediately after saying that, both Matthias and the guy with the slim stature looked at the man with gray hair on his head. He was actually the leader of the entire Force organization within Stronghold number 17.

"No. Let us continue staying inside here. We do not have any guarantee that he is not going to kill us just like how he has killed the two superhumans that were sent from the headquarters.

Let me try to contact the headquarters and see if there is something that they can do. At this moment, as long as they are not capable of breaking this door, then, we can stay here for two or three days, waiting for backup." The man said after he thought about it for a while.

Other than that, there is also a fact that we do not even know if it is actually true that Jack and his group are the ones that had killed the two." Matthias said.

"But, it is going to take a very long time for the headquarters to send people over. Additionally, there's no guarantee that this door can actually continue holding Jack and his group out of here.

Other than that, there is also a fact that we do not even know if it is actually true that Jack and his group are the ones that had killed the two." Matthias said.

"What then? Do you want to go out and prove it? If you want to prove that they are the ones that have killed them or not, you can as well go out, but, try to look for a method that you are going to go out using, making sure that they don't enter inside here." The man with the gray hair on his head stated as he stared sternly at Matthias.

Although the both of them were actually ten-star superhumans, but, Matthias was definitely not capable of defeating this man. So, he could only swallow back whatever he was intending to say. I think you should take a look at

Jack and his group waited for a moment at the entrance of the room. Using the surveillance screen that they had found in a room along the way, they had realized where the leaders were staying. Additionally, they saw the two bodies belonging to Smith and Watson.

And after they came over, they realized that there was nobody inside here. But, that was when they saw that there was actually a room whose door was currently shut.

After Jack asked the person or people inside to open the door so that he could enter, and there was no response, he decided to break it to make sure that there was actually nobody inside here.

Anyway, whatever he had previously said he was just to test if there was actually anybody inside there. Since there was no response, there might actually be a probability that there was nobody inside.

Clenching his fist, Jack took a deep breath before aiming at the door. He was trying to make sure that he controlled his strength well enough, just enough to ensure that although he was going to break the door, he was not going to harm the people inside, though it was not as if he cared.

Bang!

The moment that his fist collided with the door, a loud collision sound could be heard. As for the metallic door, it suddenly bent inwards.

"Oops, it seems that I have not used enough strength." Jack stated nonchalantly before he attacked once again.

The strength of a stage 5 superhuman could not be underestimated. After breaking the genetic lock, it was not just the flesh that was going to undergo changes, but, even the bones and other parts of the body were going to undergo several changes.

And currently, Jack's body had undergone several changes after managing to break the fifth genetic lock. And with that, although he was hitting the metallic door with his bare fists, he did not feel any pain at all.

Bang! Boom!

This time, the door could not handle the pressure of the punch. So, just after the punch landed on it, the sliding door was actually destroyed together with the entire system security system.

Instead of opening the door, the inside door was destroyed. And, it flew inside at an incredible speed. It seemed that Jack had failed control his strength well enough again.

The man with the gray hair on his head was about to contact the headquarters when suddenly, he heard the door being hit severely.

His eyes nearly popped out of their sockets when he realized that there was a big dent that had appeared on the door. At that moment, he realized that he had actually made a big mistake by not opening the door.

It seemed that the door was not capable of holding back Jack and his group at all. So, no matter what, they were going to meet Jack and his group, even if he called for backup. As for the backup, that was not something that was going to arrive instantly.

At this moment, the man decided that he was going to open the door before it was broken down. This way, perhaps he might have a chance of negotiating with Jack.

But, he had just arrived in front of the door and suddenly, the entire door suddenly flew out. Since he was not expecting something like this to happen, he was knocked backwards by the door.

Bang!

The entire door together with the frame fell down. He was lucky that he had fallen just a few centimeters from where the end of the door landed. Otherwise, he would have definitely been crushed by the door.

Completely horrified, the man with the gray hair together with Matthias and the guy with a slim stature looked towards the entrance of the door where Jack and his group calmly stepped into the room.
