Chapter 1451: Unexpected Turn of Events

Alex leaped into the air and stepped onto his Heaven Soaring Shuttle. He instantly flew up to an altitude of 100 to 200 meters.

He looked down from above and spread out his Divine Sense while listening closely.

"BOOM!"

A weak sound carried from afar.

"Hm? There's a sound!" Alex's eyes flashed and, with a thought, instantly flew over there.

He drew across an arc as he landed.

At this moment, Lloyd, Connan, and Blood Shadow Ethan were currently surrounding two golden yellow weeds as they swiftly dug the dirt beneath them.

"Hey, what're you guys up to?" A sound rose.

Lloyd and the others' faces changed. They turned their heads Alex, who was standing on his Heaven Soaring Shuttle, slowly descended as he smiled at Lloyd and the others. Lloyd and the others cursed in their hearts, wasn't this Alex supposed to be chasing that muscular man, that idiot Gregory? Even if they made some sounds, they shouldn't have attracted Alex's attention.

They didn't want to make any sounds at all, but how can you not make any sounds when fighting with spirits of nature?

"Go!" Lloyd howled.

The three of them immediately sprinted away.

"Hmph, that Gregory has a Chaos Armor set, so I can't attack a turtle with its head tucked in. Two out of the three of you have Chaos Armor sets, but after all one of you doesn't." Alex's gaze locked onto the savage brute--Connan, and let out a smile.

Whoosh!

He directly chased after the savage brute Connan.

He chased after him intending to crush him but unexpectedly Connan stopped with his arms raised.

"You're not going to run away?"

Connan laughed helplessly as he said. "Mister, my strength, isn't comparable to yours. I, admit defeat! I, am willing to give, all the spirits of mana, to you!"

"Hehe!" Alex smiled out of surprise.

『Don't say you're going to believe him. Be prudent it might be a trap.』 Silveria's voice rang out inside his head making him smile.

'Don't worry, I'm not that dumb.'

done.me

His response reassured Silveria and she decided to just watch.

Connan was laughing bitterly inside. Currently, he wasn't scheming anything, just wanted to live and maybe regroup with powerful fighters and reclaim what had been lost. He could only give in because at the moment alone he wasn't Alex's match.

Six throwing knives can instantly blast him into mush; Connan didn't have a Chaos Armor.

"Good, I know that you must have a spirit of mana, hand them."

"I won't kill you"

"Okay!" Connan nodded.

"Catch!" Connan took out the 3 thousand year willow hearts and directly tossed them towards Alex.

"Good!" Alex smiled as his spiritual force wrapped around the 3 thousand year willow hearts and placed them next to his 10,000-year willow heart in his item box.

"Okay, I'll be going, hopefully, we'll never meet again." Connan feeling bitter declared before trying to go but what Alex said next forced him to halt his steps.

"Don't worry we'll never met again." Alex declared coldly, Connan felt something was not right he spun and tried to look at Alex but all he was was a bullet greeting him before his world went dark.

"The end!"

Alex had used Nyx to eradicate Connan from this world. The reason for Alex's action was simply because he felt chaos energy from Connan which meant he was from the enemy's camp so naturally he had to die. The others have to die as well.

Using his Spiritual Force Alex picked up the space ring on the dead Connan's middle finger.

He stepped across space and quickly got rid of the others when he felt the presence of someone else, a golden-masked man a few kilometers away. This man was strong.

However, he seemed not to have noticed Alex's presence, he immediately headed deeper into the misty island as if going after something and Alex's eyes shone, there must be a treasure there Alex thought and was ready to go on another treasure hunt.

Just as Alex was about to chase after this man something unexpected happened.

BOOM~

In the night, the entire misty island shook, which shocked Alex.

The golden-masked man came back in a rush.

Whoosh!

In the distance, a black purplish vine that had a diameter of 20 cm shot towards him with just a glance, you couldn't tell how long the vine was. From the naked eye, one could see a length of 500 to 600 meters; there was still an unknown length in the distant mist.

As if a vine that stretched across the sky.

This vine was like a tentacle that stretched across hundreds of meters, and was still rapidly extending as it wrapped towards the golden masked man.

[[Better not think confronting this thing, you better escape Alex, did you hear me escape quickly.]] Silveria shouted. She seemed scared but this thing and Alex could feel it.

He immediately escaped using the Heaven Soaring Shuttle, he quickly escaped.

Upon putting a good distance between him and the misty island Alex observed the misty island from afar.

"This vine!"

Alex was absolutely shocked when he saw it. The black purplish vine that extended from the distant mist seemed infinite. It was like a rumbling, gigantic python that chased after the escaping golden-masked man. He was not lucky like Alex nor he has someone named Silveria.

Above the misty island, the vines that pierced through the sky were like the tentacles of the misty island. They crazily danced from every direction as they surrounded the golden-masked man! The golden-masked man was extremely fast. One movement of his body could move him across a distance of a few hundred meters. With this, he should be able to shake off the vines easily.

However, the vines themselves were too peculiar!

They could freely twist and move! They moved so quickly that they left behind tons of afterimages, not allowing the golden-masked man to escape at all.

The golden-masked man had blades that were as thin as a cicada's wing in each hand, as if they were transparent ice blades. They cruelly collided with the approaching black purplish vine.

Under the attack of the two ice blades, the black purplish vine that had a diameter of 20 cm was barely cut open at a depth of 1 cm. However, this wound instantly healed in virtually a blink of an eye.

Immediately, shockwaves visible to the naked eye flew in every direction. The trees below that seemed to touch the sky were all smashed into pieces by these shockwaves.

The golden-masked man was the only person left in the air on the misty island. And he was still being chased by that vine!

The golden-masked man was as fast as lightning as he escaped.

Pah!

This is a sky-shattering sound.

The vine whipped like a whip. That dark purplish vine that was over 1,000 meters long whipped ferociously. When it retracted and then extended, it caused an amazing sonic boom.

RUMBLE~

Looking from afar with his sharp sight Alex could see everything, the entire misty island rumbled. Another black purplish vine that you couldn't see the end of swiftly extended out of the mist. Now there are two black purplish vines, no! The entire misty island rumbled as a third black purplish vine that seemed to stretch across the land extended out of the mist.

A fourth vine then a fifth vine appeared, and shortly later another vine appeared.

Normally from normal people's naked eyes, they couldn't tell how long each vine was, but Alex was different, to him they were over 1,000 meters long. Each vine had a black purplish color and had a diameter of 20 cm. They were all extremely tough. Even existences surpassing the Master level can't do anything against them, maybe only powerful Demigods could hope to achieve something and even this would be extremely difficult Alex thought.

The six vines crazily danced in the air on the misty island. The golden-masked man barely dodged each of their attacks.

Under the attacks of the six black purplish vines, the extremely tiny golden-masked man instantly transformed into a white light. He was extremely fast and virtually instantly escaped the area where the six vines were attacking.

It was what Alex thought and the man as well but just as he was about to completely get out of the range of the misty island another vine appeared, this one was smaller than the other six but fast, it was so fast that it the blink of an eye it caught up with the fleeing man before wrapping around him.

The man found to his horror his inability to muster any strength, he was completely helpless against this vine as he got dragged back onto the misty island, he knew death was the only outcome.

"NOOOOO-----!"

That was the last cry he would emit before getting crushed.

Alex felt a shiver down his spine and immediately stepped across space and vanished.

Chapter 1452: Eterna

A fourth vine then a fifth vine appeared, and shortly later another vine appeared.

Normally from normal people's naked eyes, they couldn't tell how long each vine was, but Alex was different, to him they were over 1,000 meters long. Each vine had a black purplish color and had a diameter of 20 cm. They were all extremely tough. That was the last cry he would emit before getting crushed.

Alex felt a shiver down his spine and immediately stepped across space and vanished.

A few minutes later Alex reappeared two hundred kilometers away from the Misty Island. He was gasping for breath and sweat was dripping from his forehead.

"Damn, what all was that thing?"

Silveria hurriedly turned into her human form. She supported him by patting his back to relieve him from his shock.

"I guess it's a powerful monster, you can call it the original final Boss of the Infinity Maze as well as the final treasure on the Misty Island," Silveria explained through her observation and deduction.

Alex nodded, thinking deeply about what Silveria had just shared.

It was then he heard Nyx's unexpected words.

「It is exactly as my sister said, you'll need to fight this thing later and conquer it, it will make good armor and can be used together with your black chain Eterna.」

done.me

She seemed to have understood more than her sister and from what Alex could infer using these two pieces of information, this thing must be a control type like Eterna, he could even use it as armor. He was looking forward to this.

Talking about Eterna, Alex seemed to have completely forgotten about this second Gift of his, and as if he was waiting for this, Eterna's voice reached him.

[Bad father, you have forgotten about me.]

Feeling guilty to not have used him in a while Alex hung his head and could only apologize.

"I'm sorry, I'll make up for you later I promise."

[I know, I'm just playing with you. I was busy as well, I kept stealing some of Exp to strengthen myself and grow to help you, and as that scary Big sister has said the Cloudy Vine can help you and I can help you subdue it later. It's a growth-type armor, upon acquiring it you won't need any other armor and together we can bring you unexpected surprises.]

"What?" Alex was shocked, his mouth hanging open so wide you could shove a big egg into it.

Silveria and Nyx weren't surprised by Eterna's explanation, no they purposely led the conversation this way, their previous explanation was all to force that lazy child who knows nothing other than stuffing himself and lazing around to finally act. They have been too lenient on him.

Eterna who was previously planning to laze around until he grew to a certain extent received a warning from Silveria, if it was previously he wouldn't have been too scared of her but after undergoing an evolution and becoming complete, Silveria has become scary enough for Eterna not to take her seriously anymore and lastly but not least he received Nyx's warning as well and even if he got ten lives he would never mess with someone of Nyx's caliber, she is too dangerous after, more dangerous than his creator, so finally Eterna was forced out of his slumber, no laziness.

Having no idea of what was happening in the dark Alex was confused about how his second Gift knew so much and his confusion was transmitted to Eterna.

[Well, it is as I've said. You'll understand more later Father. Woah! I'm tired, I'll be leaving I have something else to do, I mean I must rest to finish my evolution.] Eterna leaves those words as if escaping and shutting himself down.

"Wait you little punk!" Alex tried to reach him in order to squeeze out as much information as he could but Eterna didn't reply much to Alex's dissatisfaction.

"Seriously this punk, I swear I'll spank him later." Alex secretly vowed, clenching his fists.

*Giggle!

Suddenly, he heard the sound of someone giggling, and turned out it was Silveria giggling.

"What's so funny?" Alex raised an eyebrow.

Silveria trying to hold back her laughter couldn't, she burst out laughing.

"Pfft hahaha, you look like a father who lost in an argument against his son, you seemed frustrated, hahaha, your expression back then was a sight to behold."

"Tch! Wait till I catch him you'll see. Who lost? I haven't it's just that I have something else to do."

Alex's response sounds like your typical sore loser's reply, this made Silveria laugh even more.

"It feels so great to watch you being played with."

"Fufufu! Seriously it feels so refreshing seeing you lose your composure sometime like this."

Alex ignored Silveria's comment and began to search for a good place to camp for the night. Tomorrow they have to continue, they must reach the final destination, the Bahamut inside the castle.

Silveria followed behind Alex and kept pestering him, although annoyed Alex ignored her and let her have her fun, the revenge would be sweet, and he would make sure to show her later on the bed who was the master, thinking of this Alex smiled, his smile was evil.

Unconsciously Silveria stopped at that moment as if she knew something bad would happen if she were to continue pestering him.

Silence returned until they found a nice spot and deployed their tent, dinner was a barbecue Nyx shared with them much to Alex's joy.

After dinner Nyx left like usual, Silveria didn't leave she decided to share Alex's company, to accompany him a little before going to her inner world. Something Alex greatly appreciated, they shared a sweet and romantic moment.

At the same time in a newly formed world, inside a forest.

The forest was far-reaching, luminous, and primal. Its canopy was contested by holly, hazel, and rhododendron, their crowns allowed for short beams of light to descend for a medley of sprouts to burst from the branch and twig-laden ground below.

Thick branches waved from every tree, and a variety of flowers, which were found in the most quiet places, spruced up the otherwise monotonous lower level.

A clamor of wild sounds, belonging mostly to foraging beasts, echoed in the air and added to the sounds of the splashing of fish in a nearby lake. Still, overall this forest could be considered to be a relatively peaceful forest.

The sky began changing its hue. The eternal scarlet sky over the world transformed and eroded as the colors of hell vanished gradually. The shimmering radiance of the starry sky once again enveloped the sky, connecting to the distant darkness under this place's guidance. The clouds slowly dissipated, exposing the bright, lustrous moon that illuminated the land from above.

The bright, full moon enveloping half the night sky splashed on the pitch-black ground with its illumination. The outlines of the leaves in the forest were visible, but all of a sudden, a series of animal howls broke out throughout the tranquil forest. Countless, startled birds woke up from their slumber, flapped their wings, and soared into the sky fearfully to escape the close-approaching death, as well as the holder of the death aura which was none other than a boy around the age of 10, handsome face coupled with short dark hair and matching black eyes like that of the abyss.

Eterna was chasing after something. He who told Alex he was resting was in fact chasing after something, a prey who had escaped when he received the sister's warning. He had to catch it to fill his hungry belly.

"Tch! Where are you cute little rabbit? Don't be afraid come play with me I promise to be sweet with you, I won't hurt you." Eterna stopped and shouted with his hands around his mouth as if trying to make his voice heard all over the place.

And some twenty meters from his location was a trembling rabbit with mixed black fur.

'Like hell, I'll fall for this? It's what you said to others before swallowing them.'

The rabbit trembled upon recalling the fate that befell the other monster's souls captured and turned into rabbits by this devil with a child's appearance, he wouldn't fall for it.

Suddenly, Eterna brought a carrot and immediately upon seeing this carrot the rabbit's body trembled and he unconsciously began to move.

'Shit, he got me!' Thought the rabbit.

Chapter 1453: A Long Night*

While Eterna, Alex's second Gift was having fun in his newly created world, Alex and Silveria were naturally also having their fun.

ooo

In the cover of the night, an obscene act was taking place in the bedroom of a large tent like a small house in the middle of a forest.

It was also the most primitive act that all species whether they're Humans, Elves demons, or monsters committed be it for simple pleasures or the desire to procreate.

"Alexander~!"

A sweet voice leaked out

Two bodies were entwined on top of the large bed, doing the most primitive act known to mankind.

The woman was kneeling on the bed with her beautiful ass up in the air while the man behind her, gripping her hips with his hands, continued to move back and forth in a hypnotic rhythm.

His only goal was to give her as much pleasure as possible and to make her drown in lust.

"Ugh! Please!"

Her mind filled with the pleasure she was receiving, the woman could not help but whine and groan ceaselessly.

Her voice leaked more and more as time passed until all she could do was call the name of her partner helplessly, overloaded by the myriad forms of ecstasy that were rocking her body with no end in sight.

Answering the plea of the beautiful woman, the young man whose handsomeness was out of this world freed one of his hands and used it to grab her long silver hair and wrap it, before pulling on them roughly from behind.

From the way her wet vagina suddenly clamped around his dick, he knew that she was liking what he was doing and continued to manhandle her while being careful to not go too far, for he had no wish to seriously hurt her.

It was a simple and brutal form of lovemaking. But also a sensual show of pleasure in its most basic form.

Sometimes he would slap her butt with moderate force, while the next moment, he would murmur dirty words in her ear, eliciting more moans and whimpers from her each time this happened.

Feeling her begin to stiffen further inside of her depths, he immediately let go of his control over his build-up of pleasure and ejaculated deep in her.

This was the last straw for the woman as she felt the heat pervading her insides and coloring it in its hue. Her mind was sent into the heavens of decadence as her body convulsed violently.

"!!!!"

Silveria opened her mouth wide, releasing a silent scream, while her hole gushed a sticky blend of liquids all over the sheets.

Once he filled her with his seed, the young man, Alex, slowly pulled out of her.

As for the Silveria, after losing her support, she simply opted to lay down on her stomach, her breathing rough and legs still apart, with a cloudy white liquid slowly seeping out of her and marring the sheets with its gooey texture.

Her body was still shivering in pleasure and she wished for nothing more than to close her eyes and sleep a little more but her companion denied her this wish.

Feeling Alex's hand gripping her ass once again, Silveria yelled out loud.

"Alex?" She couldn't believe he was about to continue again after telling beforehand she did not wish for a long session and she thought she accepted and would have respected it.

"My dear Nemesis, did you think that would be all? I'm not satisfied, not even the minimum. We will be here for a long time. This will be a long night my love."

A wicked grin could be seen plastered on Alex's face as he asked while pointing toward his shaft covered in a mix of various juices and cum and still standing straight despite the previous ejaculation.

Silveria shuddered at the scene. She did not know whether it was out of fear or anticipation, or simply because she was too exhausted to even argue, but she closed her eyes and entrusted her body to him.

Once she felt her inner core slowly being invaded once again, she released a low moan, ready to once again be ravaged by the already vigorous young beast.

"Good girl." Smiling, Alex started moving inside her again. As his weight mounted on her slender body, Silveria's chest contorted vulgarly to the sides.

Every time he dug deep into her depths, she felt as if her insides were choking and burning. When his hard and stiff cock poked her writhing and heated inner walls without showing a hint of mercy, her eyes turned white with pleasure as she slowly but surely was teetering on the brink of sanity and insanity.

With each of his movements, semen, and love juices would flow out from her hole, showing just how much he had put inside her by now. Despite the slickness caused by the mix of the juices, Silveria's convulsing hole continued to tighten around his length as if feeling overwhelmed with ecstasy.

Hot breaths and kisses rained on her slender neck and shoulders. Bodies covered in sweat were joined in unison by the primordial act of propagation.

No matter how tired she was, Silveria was feeling so good that she could not think of doing anything else other than savoring the feelings Alex invoked in her.

The more intense the insertion became, the more her inner walls were rubbed, leaving her screaming and writhing in pleasure every time.

She was also feeling terrified inwardly as she had never realized that her body was so sensual and able to bring her such sensation.

Even when she comforted herself alone in her room, she had never been able to reach such heights. Right now, she was not in a state where she could even moan properly as her body was rocked back and forth like a boat sailing under a tempest

'I am going to get addicted to this.'

She realized that after this, it would be nearly impossible for her to stop thinking about their session and how much she reacted. She thought she could act tough and refuse when Alex would bring matters related to sex but ironically she found herself unable to do it and the result is their current situation. She has been subdued even if she doesn't want to openly admit it.

Ashamed of what she had become Silveria tried to crawl away from Alex but the beast who had already tasted his sweet prey had no intention of letting her go.

He grinned and pressed his hand on her back as if blocking all escape routes.

He pulled her hips closer and began to swing at an even faster pace. Alex groaned in sheer pleasure as Silveria's insides shook once more with the signs of reaching her climax. He clenched his teeth and plunged his dick deeper inside her as he once again sensed the incoming release.

"Ugh!"

Finally, he let out a hot and shaky breath, his manhood swelled up and a thick white fluid gushed out shooting it all in her and unwilling to waste even a single drop outside.

As for Silveria, all she could do was breathe in and out and let the new wave of orgasm wash over her body and corrupt her senses with the sensual overdose.

Her eyelids were heavy and her breath was chaotic.

Finally, unable to take more of the heavy pleasure, she simply passed out.

Looking at Silveria who had passed Alex debated whether or not he should bring her to take a bath. He hesitated for a moment before smiling, he carried her as he stepped into the bathroom to take a bath. Shortly later Silveria was dressed in a pajama Alex helped her to wear, they slept soundlessly after.

The following morning Alex woke up followed by Silveria. As they were eating their breakfast, Silveria suddenly stopped making Alex raise an eyebrow.

"What is the problem?" "Nothing, I suddenly want to eat Mint Chocolate Ice Cream which makes me remember a certain event of the past." "Ugh!" Alex groaned.

"I'm talking about our little date to the casino together with Gracier." Silveria giggled seeing Alex uncomfortable. Memories started flashing through her mind.

ker1

Chapter 1454 SS:: Casino, the Ice Creams and..

Alex licked his lips, looking at the casino next to the auction house in the commercial district.

"Huh? Big brother, are you planning to go to the casino? You can't do that!"

Gracier, who'd been drooling while reading the catalog, shook her head fiercely.

"Why not?"

"That place is full of gambling professionals! It's an infamous place where even the empire's best gamblers lose all their money! We aren't going to have any money left to eat afterward if we go in there. Big sister Maria and the others said I must never let you in such a dangerous place."

"Ah, I see, you're right but that's okay."

Alex tapped his sister's shoulder when she tried stopping him.

'Because it was my bank in my previous life when I went to Vegas.'

〔You should listen to your sister.〕 Silveria barged in, trying to dissuade Alex from walking into the casino but he would not do that.

Alex snickered as he thought of a certain somebody who just talked.

'I also have a secret weapon this time.'

A few moments later they arrived at their destination, the casino. It was a magnificent building shining with multiple colors just like in any casino in Las Vegas.

'Now then.'

Alex looked around the gambling house along with the terrified Gracier. Noticing a familiar game, he went to the table on the right side.

A slender young woman and an old man wearing a clean suit were sitting at the table. The men that were standing behind them looked like bodyguards.

'This looks good.'

Alex silently watched the gamble until the game finished ten times before joining the round. The gamble was about guessing the number on the dice inside a shaking metallic cup.

"Heh! This is why I should've gone downstairs. I guess the casino isn't managing the clients properly anymore." Alex started with a provocation.

The woman wearing a black dress and fox mask frowned after taking a glance at him.

"Gender and age don't matter when it comes to gambling, and kings and beggars are treated the same way. Welcome."

On the other hand, the old gentleman smiled widely and nodded his head slightly.

Alex only greeted the old gentleman, then looked at the round. He could hear the woman clicking her tongue, but he didn't mind it.

"Hmm..."

However, the dealer shuddered at the woman's reaction. It looked like the woman wearing the fox mask was from a rather prestigious house.

"Ugh, this atmosphere..."

"We will be starting, then."

The dealer showed the metallic cup and dice to the three people, then put the dice inside the cup and started shaking it. His hand was so fast, his wrist and shoulder moving at the same time, which made it difficult to even see the cup properly.

He elegantly spun the cup as if he were performing a sword dance before putting it down on the floor. He took his hand off, signaling for them to make their bet.

"Two."

"I'll go with four."

The woman and old man pushed the chips in front of them after observing the cup.

"...Three."

Alex called the number three and bet half of the chips he had.

"I'll go with five."

The dealer slowly raised the cup after confirming everyone's numbers.

"The number on the dice is three. Congratulations."

The dealer smiled widely and returned twice the amount of chips he had bet.

"Tsk, he's just lucky."

The woman glared at him while clicking her tongue.

"I lost twenty gold coins today, yet you are starting with great luck."

The old gentleman nodded his head to congratulate him.

"The next round is about to start."

The dealer put the dice back in the cup and started shaking it. After spinning it even faster and more cheerfully than before, he put it back on the table with a pleasant snapping sound.

"Three."

"Five should be it this time."

"One."

The moment Alex said one, the dealer's fingers trembled slightly.

"I'll go with four."

The dealer slowly lifted the cup. There was only one spot on the die.

"It's one. Congratulations."

The dealer returned double the amount of chips he bet.

"What's that?"

"Wow, you're doing great!"

The woman had turned her head to blatantly glare at him, and the old gentleman's eyes were wide.

"Woah! Two wins in a row?"

Gracier jolted in surprise and came up next to her big brother.

"Big brother, you have to run. I'm a hundred percent sure they've gone easy because you are a novice. They are professionals, the real deal! If you continue like this, they will take everything from you, including your undergarments!" She sent this message to him through their telepathic connection.

"I know, I know. But let me try a little bit more."

Alex smiled and bet all the chips he had just won.

"Oh, no."

Gracier covered her eyes and sighed.

"Hmph, what an idiot."

"Hmm."

The woman wearing a dress sneered, and the old gentleman slowly nodded his head.

All of them believed the dealer had been going easy on Alex and that it was about time for him to reveal his true abilities.

However...

Third round, fourth round, and after the fifth round had passed, there were enough chips in front of Alex to reach his chest.

"Wh-what is that?! What have you done?"

"Wow, how did this...?"

The woman wearing a dress and the old gentleman stared at Alex's chips in shock.

"Big brother!"

Gracier was foaming from her mouth as she tapped Alex's shoulder to urge him to run away.

"I'm pretty lucky today."

Alex swept the chips with his finger and smiled.

「H-how did you do that? What method did you use?」 Silveria couldn't keep her curiosity in check anymore so she asked.

「The sound.」 She was confused.

Alex went on and elaborated.

Sound?

'Each vertex of the dice is worn out to a different extent, which makes a different sound upon hitting the cup. I'm anticipating the number on the dice by noticing the difference between them.'

It was a gambling technique consisting of finding out the number on the dice by using the colliding sound between the dice and the cup.

Most people couldn't use it even if they knew about it, but Alex was easily able to do it thanks to his advanced perception.

「Are you telling me you guessed the number on the dice with something crazy like that?」

Silveria gasped. The fact that he could notice the difference between those sounds and remember them was amazing enough.

「Ah, then the reason that you kept spectating the gamble was...」

'Yes, it was to learn the sounds.' Alex replied with a smile.

「I knew you were a swindler after all! A shameless man.」

'I'm not a swindler since I'm winning with my abilities. Besides a bit of luck is also at work '

Alex snickered and gathered the chips.

"I'm done for now. Have fun."

He waved his hand at the old gentleman and the woman before standing up.

『Are you leaving already?』 Silveria was surprised by Alex's action, she thought he would have stayed to earn more money before leaving.

'It's because they might start picking a fight if I stay in one place for too long.'

Silveria who was about to say Alex does have some conscience left and was not completely shameless stopped because of Alex's following action.

After looking around the gambling tables, he sat at the poker table, Gracier followed obediently behind and just observed, she was thinking about what she would buy with the money earned here, this would be the price to pay for her to keep her lips shut. Unaware of his sister's inner thoughts, Alex was ready for some action, it was then.

『Poker? Are you going to scam them again?』

Silveria's voice was slightly raised as she said those words.

'Tch! No, I never scam them.'

Alex's eyes shone as he watched the cards being distributed.

『What?』 Silveria doubted her ears and just as she was about to ask something Alex struck.

'It's your turn now. Go over there and check their cards for me.'

There was a moment of silence before she understood his intentions.

『What a crazy bastard』

Silveria half materialized and only Alex could see her, she then started spreading terrifying pressure.

『I'm the Nemesis of the magic, a powerful goddess! How dare you to give me orders! And you dare to ask me to peek at their cards.』

Silveria seemed completely furious to be used like this, Alex's order irked her and she was restraining herself from giving him a good beating.

'You are mistaken.'

Alex remained peaceful amid the coldness filling the space. He nonchalantly shook his head as if he had anticipated this to happen and indeed he had.

'It's a trade.'

『Trade?』

'Yes. I'll eat everything you desire here if you help me.'

『You are a crazy bastard! Even though I'm a well-known gourmet, did you truly believe such a suggestion would...』

'I saw a bead ice cream vendor earlier. There was a new product, too.' Alex nonchalantly declared.

Silveria hesitated for a moment.

『It's pointless! Missing some bead ice cream isn't a big deal...』

'Two bead ice creams.' Alex counterattacked.

『S-Shut up! Do you truly believe the nemesis of magic would...』

She didn't finish her sentence before Alex said with a smile.

'Three.'

There was a moment of silence.

'Four, and another food you want to eat.' He added.

Silveria stopped speaking. Alex understood it was time to put an end to it.

『Where shall I check?』

Four bead ice creams and one food of choice.

It was a cheap price to pay to utilize the mighty silver goddess.

Chapter 1455 SS: 2: Casino, the Ice Creams and...

After looking around the gambling tables, he sat at the poker table, Gracier followed obediently behind and just observed, she was thinking about what she would buy with the money earned here, this would be the price to pay for her to keep her lips shut.

Unaware of his sister's inner thoughts, Alex was ready for some action, it was then.

『Poker? Are you going to scam them again?』

Silveria's voice was slightly raised as she said those words.

'Tch! No, I never scam them.'

Alex's eyes shone as he watched the cards being distributed.

『What?』 Silveria doubted her ears and just as she was about to ask something Alex struck.

'It's your turn now. Go over there and check their cards for me.'

There was a moment of silence before she understood his intentions.

『What a crazy bastard』

Silveria half materialized and only Alex could see her, she then started spreading terrifying pressure.

『I'm the Nemesis of the magic, a powerful goddess! How dare you to give me orders! And you dare to ask me to peek at their cards.』

Silveria seemed completely furious to be used like this, Alex's order irked her and she was restraining herself from giving him a good beating.

'You are mistaken.'

Alex remained peaceful amid the coldness filling the space. He nonchalantly shook his head as if he had anticipated this to happen and indeed he had.

'It's a trade.'

[[Trade?]]

'Yes. I'll eat everything you desire here if you help me.'

[[You are a crazy bastard! Even though I'm a well-known gourmet, did you truly believe such a suggestion would...]]

'I saw a bead ice cream vendor earlier. There was a new product, too.' Alex nonchalantly declared.

Silveria hesitated for a moment.

[[It's pointless! Missing some bead ice cream isn't a big deal...]]

'Two bead ice creams.' Alex counterattacked.

[[S-Shut up! Do you truly believe the nemesis of magic would...]]

She didn't finish her sentence before Alex said with a smile.

'Three.'

There was a moment of silence.

'Four, and another food you want to eat.' He added.

Silveria stopped speaking. Alex understood it was time to put an end to it.

[[Where shall I check?]]

Four-bead ice cream and one food of choice.

It was really a cheap price to pay to utilize the mighty silver goddess.

ooo

Poker.

It was a very simple game where players tried to assemble certain combinations using the random cards the dealer gave you, then revealed them after betting chips for the winner to get the pot.

Since there weren't any rules to learn as long as you remember the hands, poker was one of the most popular games in casinos.

Because of its popularity, there were also over twenty poker tables in Avalon's commercial district casino, and all the spectators were mysteriously gathered around the table at the end.

"H-how many times did he win in a row? Four? Five?"

"From what I've counted, he won six times in a row."

"Idiots, the winning streak isn't the important part. He is playing as if he knows everything about the opponent's cards!"

"I know, right? How can he play so well?"

The spectators were amazed by the man in a black robe sitting at the center of the table.

"It's not just about the winning streak, but his winning rate is also crazy. I think he's been winning more than seven out of ten games."

"He is so lucky. I used to be like that once."

"Bullshit, you've always been broke!"

"Wow, look at all those chips. They're piled up like a mountain, I'm jealous."

Just like he said, chips were piled up like a hill in front of the black-robed man, naturally, it was our protagonist Alexander Kael Touch.

"Haa!"

"Hmm..."

"Damn it."

The gamblers at that table broke out in a cold sweat or frowned upon seeing that.

"Isn't he a dishonest gambler? It's also called a swindler."

"You idiot! There's a magic cast inside the Black Hawk's casino, mana can't be used here. And that dealer would've caught him already if he was a swindler since he has over twenty years of experience."

"Ah, now that you mention it, they changed the dealer as well."

Because the robed man kept winning over and over, the other clients complained and the dealer was changed. However, that didn't make him start losing money.

"That means he is lucky."

"Wow, I wish I was that lucky..."

"Well, obviously he's lucky, but his judgment is great too. His gaze is no joke."

"Ahhhh..."

Gracier, who had been listening to the spectators while biting her fingernails, was anxious despite her Big Brother winning. Too much can be toxic she thought, better stop before running out of luck.

"B-big brother, let's stop now. Now is the time that your beginner's luck has been extended like a rubber band! Everyone's saying you were just lucky!"

"How long do you think beginner's luck can last?"

Alex smirked, looking at his sister's anxious eyes.

'Well, it's about time I stop.'

He gathered his mountain of chips and nodded.

'And there might be trouble if I continue.'

He won consecutively because it could cause a problem if he kept winning even more. A good gambler should know when to stop.

"I'll stop for now. Please exchange them for gold."

Alex stood up while pushing the chips towards the dealer.

"Wait! Did you just say you are going to leave now?"

The fox-masked woman, who had followed him from the game of dice to the poker table, stood up after him.

"Well, I've won enough."

"You can't just leave after winning!"

"But don't people come here to win?"

"Let's play one more game. I haven't won a single game!"

"I don't have much time, though."

"Argh!"

The fox-masked woman glared at him furiously, biting her lip. It seemed like she was exploding in anger after losing twenty games in a row between the dice and poker games.

That's why she shouldn't have followed him.

Even though no one told her to follow him, she challenged him on her own and lost. Alex couldn't understand why she was being like that, even though it was her fault.

"Hmm..."

"Ahem."

"I-I'll go somewhere else."

Curiously, the spectators avoided their gazes as soon as the woman stood up in anger. It looked like they were afraid of her.

As expected, she must've been from a famous family.

"You still have lots of money. Please don't mind me, have fun."

"Are you out of your mind just because you are slightly good at gambling? Stop messing with me and stay right there!"

"Ah, okay."

Alex ignored her and turned around. He was going to leave anyway, so it didn't matter what important position she had. He went to the exit, ignoring the grinding sound of her teeth. He didn't have the time to waste on a spoiled child. He had his fun that was all that mattered.

"Let's go."

"Ah, yes!"

Gracier breathed out a sigh of relief and followed him, thinking her advice had worked.

『 Alexander Kael Touch, you'd better remember your deal with this lady or else the consequences will be grave.』 Silveria who acted as spy to facilitate Alex's cheating at the poker interjected.

'Of course.' Alex didn't forget, he had expected her to act immediately after he stopped so he was not surprised, on the contrary, he was amused as a grin formed on his face.

『It is a relief since I was going to kill you if you forgot about it. Let's go to finish the deal.』

It was a heavy and cold voice. However, the fact that the deal's contents were ice cream and food was making him laugh.

'Alright, let's go.'

Alex snickered and left the casino. He didn't forget to tell his sister this.

"Alexandra, I'll buy you whatever you want."

"Great!" Gracier was overjoyed, almost starting to jump around, her eyes were shining.

"Silveria?" She was shocked to see the silver goddess suddenly appearing but the latter was busy with something else, she immediately went towards the vendor of Ice cream.

"What?" Gracier was surprised by her behavior and looked at her brother who simply shrugged his shoulders before following Silveria.

"Four Mint chocolate Ice creams," Silveria ordered as soon as she reached the vendor. Her eyes were sparkling like that of a child.

That day Alex did everything Silveria wanted shocking Gracier, she later found out the reason for her Big Brother's unusual behavior. She understood that it was thanks to Silveria spying on the others could he have easily won at the poker's table. Gracier was shocked, curious she asked if whether she helped him or not since the beginning but she shook her head and said it was only for poker which means her brother has a method to win, she tried getting him teach her this method but Alex refused and glared at Silveria for spilling everything.

The trio had fun for a long time, Silveria ate so much Ice creams the vendor has to temporarily close his shop. It was fun.

Chapter 1457 1304: Second Sin Unlocked: Wrath

Alex smiled after recalling what happened on that date.

He shook his head before finding some nice spot to consume the 10 thousand years old Willow King Tree. The process was smooth like the previous one, one hour later he had finished, his body felt extremely refreshing, and he was full of strength.

"It is the time to unlock another sin." Alex declared after seeing how much his Spiritual Force (SE) had increased, 25000 SE.

Silveria nodded before disappearing into his body.

Alex concentrated and let his will do the rest, soon he was covered in red flame, the surrounding was scorching hot before congesting to form a beautiful Red Longsword.

RUMBLE!

The sky rumbled as if to welcome the arrival of this sword, space twisted, and Alex's eyes were filled with wrath.

"Second Sin unlocked: Wrath!"

As soon as he held the red longsword Alex understood how to use it, countless memories of sword movement flashed through his mind and were engraved into the deepest part, he felt like he had been using the sword since a long time ago.

Alex's lips curved into a nasty grin. Time for some action. He moved to the next floor.

He appeared in a mountain surrounded by heat, Alex didn't waste time and went towards the boss of this floor.

It was a huge monster, big like a mountain. A big red turtle.

"Red Dragon Turtle!" Alex announced the name of the powerful monster before him, he licked his lips in anticipation as they locked eyes.

A King class's monster.

Holding his red longsword Alex charged at the monster.

"Graaaaa!"

The red dragon turtle roared and stomped on the ground. The mountain trembled and the wall of raging fire that was surging up from the ground spread out into the surrounding area.

Alex struck out with his sword in a cross-shaped strike to sever the flames that extended towards him, gaining visibility.

'It's pretty hot.'

The heat was intense enough to affect him despite him being fire-resistant. It wasn't the power of any red dragon turtle that he heard of.

『It's obvious. Why are you so surprised?』

Silveria interjected before explaining.

『It simply because this is a mutated Red Dragon Turtle modified by you know who. This monster simply evolved.』

'I see no wonder.'

Alex nodded and dashed towards the red dragon turtle.

"Graaa!"

The red dragon turtle was probably enraged because Alex seemed not to be taking him seriously. It opened its long snout, a crimson flame bursting from its bottomless pit of a throat. It was Flame Breath.

Whoosh!

Although Alex could've easily endured it if it had been an ordinary red dragon turtle's breath, the heat coming from that monster's breath was so intense that it was difficult to breathe.

"Huff!"

He stomped the ground and thrust his sword. The red longsword covered in flame rotated in a spiral to form a crimson saw blade.

Baaam!

A huge explosion occurred between Alex and the red dragon turtle, creating a whirlwind of heat.

"Tsk."

Alex clicked his tongue. Its tremendous power matched his attack.

'It is not bad but it's sloppy.'

Likely because it had gained power in a short period, it wasn't able to control it properly. Alex bent the red longsword to distort the direction of the breath, then used his movement skill.

Swoosh!

His left foot extended through the flame wall. The red dragon turtle's side could be seen in that short instant.

He used the momentum of his body to slash down immediately. A fierce blow that could even destroy a boulder struck the red dragon turtle's side.

Spurt!

The raging blade slashed, creating a shallow cut through the red dragon turtle's flesh and scattering red blood around the area.

"Graaaa!"

The red dragon turtle screamed in irritation, extending its snout. Alex dodged the flame coming from its mouth, then tried to strike it again.

The red dragon turtle's body turned red, and the injury from the cut a moment ago recovered, as if it had been stitched by a thread.

Alex saw something he had been looking forward

'Hardening.'

Hardening was one of the red dragon turtle's characteristics, a defensive ability that allowed it to create a hardness similar to its shell on its skin.

'I still have to attack.'

If he didn't attack, he wouldn't be able to tell how sturdy it was. Alex filled his sword with flame and attacked.

Clang!

The sword bounced back because of its powerful defense. It felt like he was hitting tempered steel instead of flesh. It wasn't just the power—it also had a defensive ability that had become incomparable from before.

"Graaaaa!"

It was still painful, since the red dragon turtle stomped the ground while glaring fiercely at him. The ground was mercilessly cracked apart, and flame walls surged from the fissure.

Whir!

The red dragon turtle continuously breathed fire, and the grass and trees of the mountain ignited. An inextinguishable forest fire was going to occur if it continued.

Alex immediately used a skill he hadn't used in a while because he was restraining himself. He used his clone, he finally summoned Ego after a long time.

"Ego!"

Ego immediately understood his other half intention and unlike his usual behavior, he obediently carried the main's body order, because Alex could freely use elements, Ego could do the same. He started gathering ice.

Swoosh!

The silver ice poured out like snowflakes, erasing the spreading fire.

『Like I told you this turtle is irregular. You won't be able to defeat it so easily.』 Silveria warned.

'That's even better.'

『Huh?』

'It's a perfect target for practice.'

Alex smiled and charged towards the right side of the red dragon turtle.

"Graaaaa!"

Flame gushed from the red dragon turtle as it roared. Alex deflected it and counterattacked with a fast speed.

Clang!

The fast sword managed to pierce through the red dragon turtle's shell a little bit more, but it was still pushed back before it could finish breaking through its hardening.

"Krrr!"

The red dragon turtle squirmed in anger, its tail swinging. The flame that surrounded the tail became an iron mace, blasting the land.

'Its attacks are too simple.'

Although the heat and strength were powerful enough to block attacks, the trajectory was too simple. It was just chasing after him with its eyes. Alex pushed the exploding wall of flame back and turned to the red dragon turtle's back.

Cring!

He made a new combination of strikes with his quick sword, striking a second time. A smooth line emerging from the sword charged at the red dragon turtle's skin, which was glowing from the heat.

Rip!

A strike that surpassed the red dragon turtle's cognition pierced into its flesh a bit deeper. The wound was extremely small when compared to its huge body, but it didn't agree with that.

"Graaaaa!"

The red dragon turtle raised its heavy body and started to swing its tail like crazy.

It was enraged.

Chapter 1458: Against the Red Turtle Dragon

A strike that surpassed the red dragon turtle's cognition pierced into its flesh a bit deeper. The wound was extremely small when compared to its huge body, but it didn't agree with that.

"Graaa!"

The red dragon turtle raised its heavy body and started to swing its tail like crazy.

The monster was enraged.

Slam! Slam!

Whenever the burning tail reached the land, the mountain trembled like it would collapse. Alex gradually grew cornered, the stable pieces of land disappearing.

"Grrr!"

The red dragon turtle was convinced of its victory. It grinned and used its flame breath once again.

Whoooooosh!

The flame breath seemed capable of melting anything. Right before it reached Alex, he stepped on a piece of ground even smaller than his fist and advanced. His powerful movement skill allowed him to dash through the burning land.

"Graaaa!"

The red dragon turtle hurriedly stopped its breath, trying to swing its tail—but it was already too late. The extremely quick all-out strike had already reached it before it could even move its tail.

Clang!

Since the tail was also affected by hardening, Alex couldn't completely cut it off. However, the injury it created was visibly bigger than before, thanks to the quick sword technique.

Spurt!

Red blood gushed from the wound.

"!!!!"

The red dragon turtle quickly turned around, swinging its front foot. The pressure felt like a boulder was falling on him, and the heat seemed to be able to melt him to the bone.

'This isn't a big deal.'

Although his sword moved a bit slower, it was the first one to connect. Alex deflected the blow before the red dragon turtle's front foot managed to gain power and speed.

"Grrr!"

Its huge body was pushed back. It looked like being blocked by an extremely small human hurt its pride, as an intense killing intent appeared in its eyes.

"Don't tell me this is all you've got."

Alex smiled in excitement, breathing white steam from his mouth.

"I still have lots of things to try out."

Each time he pummeled the solid body with the new quick technique, he could feel his sword getting faster and stronger. He could see infinite ways of making it stronger.

"Grraaaa!"

The red dragon turtle roared, looking at the sky. The flame burst from the land like a sticky volcano and engulfed its body.

Whir!

The heat surging from the ground covered the red dragon turtle's entire body. Its existence itself was raised to another level after absorbing it.

The energy wave coming from it was almost at Emperor level from sucking so much heat from the land.

Ego coldly watched the fight from the sideline, Alex could feel his hot gaze but simply chuckled before snapping his finger and sending Ego back, almost as if he was showing him who was the boss.

Finally, he moved by violently kicking the ground, charging toward the red dragon turtle that had literally turned into a flame.

The final showdown between him and the Red Dragon turtle was about to start.

The red dragon turtle swung its burning front foot. Alex deflected it by slashing it before it reached him. An idea suddenly sprouted in his mind, using Wrath's sin weapon, the Red Sword which should have normally allowed him to be a master of flame to create the nemesis of the Fire element, the Ice, he did not stop there, he used Xerox, his ability to copy things to create a solid blade, a pure white sword, he had trouble at first but thanks to his strong willpower he persevered.

Of course, more Spiritual Force (SE) was consumed almost emptying his little bit of reserve of Spiritual force.

Alex named the white sword, the frost sword:

Glacier.

He began to use this sword instead of the Wrath's Sword.

[[You are insane!]] Silveria exclaimed, shocked by Alex's prowess but now wasn't the time to dwell on these issues, a fight was ongoing.

Alex slashed upward towards the tail, which had an iron mace attached to it. The powerful shock crushed his shoulder, but he kept advancing.

The fire burning on its shell became a rain shower, falling onto him. He poured all of the quick sword techniques that he had remembered when he held the red longsword (Wrath) so far into his attack.

The clash between fire and ice created a huge amount of steam, covering the entire area. He would be too slow if he relied on his vision. He focused on his senses, using his Divine Sense which was like an ocean of perception to control Glacier.

His focus increased to a frightening degree. He could feel the flow of everything, including his and his enemy's breath as if it were touching his skin.

He slashed at the flame, slashed at the iron mace, and slashed at the shell.

The more he swung his sword, the faster it got, and the coldness grew more intense.

"Krrr..."

The red dragon turtle, which was huge enough to cover the sun, kept getting pushed back by the small and thin blade despite its size. Fear and terror appeared in the eyes of the monster that was moving with nothing but instinct.

"Kwaaaaaa!"

The red dragon turtle roared and the entire land burst into flame. It pulled its head back, then pushed forward to breathe out all the flames it had accumulated so far.

Whir!

As if what had happened so far had been nothing but a child's play, Alex's entire vision was filled with raging fire.

Cling!

The rings of fire resonated with each other and slowed down the world.

The principles of the quick sword filling his head meshed with each other like cogs, and his mind was struck by lightning.

A single line severing the world. It was a flash of extreme quickness, faster than anything, capable of reaching its target before anyone else.

Alex's hand moved before he realized it. A silver trajectory surged in front of the raging firestorm.

Alex's Sword Art.

First Form.

Frost World!

The green light glimmering from Alex's blade severed through the crimson world.

Alex's Sword Art, first technique, Frost World, severed the pouring rain of flame. It even advanced one step further.

Spurt!

In his distorted vision, a thin stream of blood gushed from the red dragon turtle's throat. Frost World had transcended the red dragon turtle's cognition and cut through its neck.

"Grraaa!"

The red dragon turtle tried to step back in its panic, trying to hide its wound, but it was pointless. Frost World wasn't a technique that ended in a single strike.

Whaaaam!

A silver spiral dashed forward, following the blue trajectory. Glacier's pure coldness followed the flow of Frost World to pierce the red dragon turtle's neck.

"Grrr..."

The blade of coldness was also attributed could fast as well as if it was furnished with extreme quickness. Its speed didn't lose to the first attack, and the red dragon turtle gave away its neck, unable to react.

Spruu!

The red blood gushing from the red dragon turtle's neck extinguished the flames burning the land.

Rumble!

In the end, the red dragon turtle was unable to keep its balance and collapsed. The waterfall of ice that slashed its neck was the only thing remaining in the air.
