Death Guns 481

Chapter 481 - [Bonus] 466: Inside The Dark Castle 1

Alex's group that was about to step forward and open the door came to an abrupt stop because from the door, an intense rumbling sound was heard.

Gigigigi!

Then a roar capable of shaking the heaven and earth was heard. Faster than the roar, Sakuya stepped forward, and a green barrier coming from her body exploded outward and blocked some of the shockwaves produced by the sudden roar.

Sakuya turned instantly pale and shouted, ''I can't hold back for too long.''

Lilith moved; majestic black wings appeared behind her back and wrapped her arms around Alex and Sakuya's waist before moving her wings forward.

Voom!

The terrible wind generated by her wings clashed against the incoming shockwave to produce enough force that sent her back. Skillfully flapping her wing,s she dodged the shockwaves as she flew higher, and soon they were a hundred meters above the ground, then the thing that roared finally came out.

It was a gigantic bone warrior, standing over eight meters. What shocked the group was that the moment the giant skeleton covered in black runes appeared, it looked into the sky, his red soul eyes pierced through the sky and landed on the group, a chill ran down their spines when they saw the human-like expression that soon followed this suggested, they had the feeling that the giant skeleton was smirking.

''Let's me down,'' Alex demanded, and Lilith, without asking him what he was going to do, complied.

Fwoosh!

Alex, who had started to free fall, first aimed Silveria at the giant skeleton and fired.

[Crimson Bullet]

BANG!

Like a laser beam, the crimson bullet tore through the air and slammed into the giant arm as he used it at the last moment to block the attack.

Kabooooom!

The tremendous force passed through the giant skeleton's hand as he blocked it, cracks started appearing all over its hand; the giant skeleton with a bit of intelligence was shocked. He was the amalgamation of monsters and humans, demons who had challenged this place; he was like the last guardian that one needs to pass to be able to enter the castle, so naturally, his strength was no joke, so for him to suffer injury from one attack could only shock him.

Just as the skeleton guardian was about to attack the puny human that dared to injure him, another attack came from the sky; a bolt of huge black lightning descended from the sky. The giant skeleton guardian freaked out; he immediately brought out its huge bone spear and sent an attack forward.

Swoosh!

A black beam coming from the bone spear tip clashed with the incoming black lightning.

BOOOOM!

The sky above the Dark castle screamed as if being ripped apart; the giant skeleton was pushed back; however, before he could analyze the situation, the sky turned monochrome, and the world was sliced apart, the giant skeleton instinct roared, and he launched his strongest attack, the bone spear turned black and started wriggling as if alive then it opened its mouth like a dragon trying to swallow its prey, just before it happened, that human he had previously forgotten about flashed next to him and,

[Time Stop]

Alex stopped time just enough for Sakuya Dimensional Slash to leave a huge gash on the skeleton's chest; then, he unleashed his ultimate attack.

The phantom bullet tore through the gap left behind by Sakuya's dimensional slash and broke the source of the giant skeleton life.

Crack!

The green gem of the size of volleyball broke apart after the phantom bullet struck it. The giant skeleton's body stopped moving, his soul's eyes were extinguished before its body crashed against the wall near the entrance.

Bang! Crack!

Alex safely landed on the ground, the other two joined him, they looked at each other for a moment before smiling, their ability to cooperate was perfectly synchronized, no word was needed, they did what was best for this situation, for each and it worked. If someone saw this scene, they would have thought that they trained for years to follow each other to produce such optimal results perfectly; however, it wasn't the case; they just believed in each other while grasping the timing and knew what kills to use.

Glancing at the giant skeleton leaning against the door as if taking a nap, Alex walked forward; the other two followed him tensely, clutching their weapons, and soon they passed through the bone's door. Darkness enveloped them for a moment before the light came back again. When the light appeared again,

'This is...'

Alex and the girls looked around and made expressions of shock.

There were countless bones around them: human bones, monsters' bones, and demons' bones. The group wondered what the hell happened here? How many people have entered before them for this amount of bones to exist?

Just as Alex was about to order to head out, his body turned stiff, no it became slow, suddenly, three lights burst from the ground with the three inside and got intensified.

'Fuck!' Alex could only inwardly swear as he could guess what would happen once the light disappeared, and as expected, his assumption proved to be right.

After the light vanished, Alex was transported somewhere else; remembering the last looks the girls gave him made him sigh; shaking his head, Alex took a step forward.

Everything around him was gray; there was a gray fog in the distance; focusing his sense forward, Alex noticed something running toward him, and soon that thing came out, it abruptly stopped.

A rat, a four meters tall rat, shinning red eyes; the moment the rat saw Alex, it tried to open its mouth, but how Alex could let the Rat accomplish its goal when he knew what would happen if he were to let this Rat emit a cry, a swarm of rats would assault him. Facing one would be fine, but it would be a different story if he faced a hundred at the same time.

A shinning knife tore through the air, the Rat instincts exploded, the monster tried to move its body to the side, but it was already too late.

Crunch!

The knife thrown by Alex made a strange sound as it penetrated the monster's vocal cords near its neck.

''!!''

And the vocal cords got cut while the knife blocked the rat's throat, the scream that was coming up got stopped.

'Gurgle.'

The Rat body slowly slid onto the ground and stopped moving; the monster was dead.. Alex sighed and walked forward.

Chapter 482 - 467: Inside The Dark Castle 2

While Alex advanced after killing the big Rat, in other locations, people appeared; Sakuya appeared inside what seemed to be a forest; looking around, she mumbled.

''A forest, huh! To think that there would be something like this inside a castle. I wonder how dungeons were created. Well, better proceed forward to see where this place leads to.''

Immediately after Sakuya finished talking, there was a rumbling sound; her body tensed up. She thought it was a monster; however, soon, the thing that made the rumbling sound came out, and seeing what it was, Sakuya giggled like a child who had been given a new toy.

''Oh my, how unexpected to cross you here, Leonardo.''

Leonardo froze at the unexpected encounter before he clicked his tongue. She was the worst enemy one could hope to face; he didn't want to face her. Leonardo shook his head as these thoughts were things from the past; the current him had far surpassed her, he could feel, and she knew it, yet she still had that smile, that annoying smile on her face that announced that she still had everything under control. Leonardo, lost in thoughts, felt a sudden chill that ran down his spine; unconsciously, he raised his sword using his right arm.

Sakuya, who was smiling one moment again, eyes full of ridicule and confidence even though she knew the difference in strength, suddenly went on attack mode; the shift was so fast that it he was caught off guard.

[Yami Maho Jigen Giri]

Leonardo's body turned tense even though he had not faced her. He learned how dangerous this move was. Hence, his body tried to come up with a solution, but halfway through the activation of that dangerous ability Sakuya switched to another skill, and a huge Wind tornado was sent instead. Leonardo freaked out as there was no time for him to dodge; the Wind tornado rammed his body as he was sent flying into the sky; the last thing he saw was a smiling Sakuya who ran away automatically after sending him flying.

''Fuck! I swear to kill next time.'' Leonardo shouted while lightning surrounded his body and helped him control his body as he landed on the ground; Sakuya had disappeared from his sight. He could only sigh at the missed opportunity; this was why he didn't wish to fight her; not only was she crazy, she was at the same time unpredictable. Normally, one should think that she wouldn't do this after the amount of confidence she showed; however, everything was to distract her enemy just for the sake of escaping, and she succeeded.

Eyes filled with intense killing intent, Leonardo searched for her; he must catch her to at least vent some of his pent-up frustrations.

Five kilometers away from Leonardo was Sakuya; she crouched down to catch her breath.

''Hah! Hah! Fuck I must have run out of luck to have encountered that fucker. Thankfully I succeeded in escaping. If not, I don't know if I would have come without losing two limbs or three if we fought.''

Rumble!

''Not again!'' Sakuya spat out; her black eyes turned fierce; without looking at what was about to come out, she unleashed a deadly sword slash.

Thud!

Then something rolled out and stopped right before her; it was the boar's head, somehow her attack was able to cut off the boar's head cleanly.

''Fuck!''

Sakuya cussed before disappearing as she could feel Leonardo closing in. She must have done something to the Goddess of Luck for her to curse her and give such an opponent. Usually, it should be Lilith that faced Leonardo, thinking about the demon's princess. Sakuya wondered where she was and more importantly, who was her enemy. Sakuya quickly shook her head. She must think about her survival; anything else was irrelevant until she escaped. Greenlight surrounded her body, and she dashed toward the depth of the forest with Leonardo following her.

In another location, Lilith had just slain a monster, an Earth salamander; unlike normal Salamander, which mainly uses Fire element, this one could only use Earth-related skills.

Shaking the blood of her sword, Lilith stepped on the Earth salamander head to head deeper into the desert-like area; suddenly, there was a blinding light, and after the light died, Third, who had appeared after killing the guardian blocking his way, swore at the scene before him.

''Shit.''

Never would he have imagined stumbling upon Lilith after successfully passing through the door. Third, he immediately tried to activate his ability and escape; his arm still hadn't completely healed; Lilith was an opponent he didn't wish to fight; however, how could Lilith allow him to escape?

Faster than him with the scythe held against Third's neck, she activated her strongest skill: the Silent World, the world turned dark with a bit of black mixed in, most importantly, silence permeated in this world, so Third who needed to chant his skill name for him to be effective failed miserably.

Lilith smirked before pointing her finger toward Third's head; the latter body turned cold, his instinct told him that he must not let Lilith complete; however, his body refused to listen to his command, he felt like he was moving in extremely muddy water, his body was too stiff as if frozen in thousand Ice coffin then he heard Lilith's words.

''Eternal Nightmare!"

Despair filled Third's heart, the reason for him to get chosen as Third among the Numbers wasn't that he was the strongest but because he possessed a particular ability, a mental ability, an extremely rare type, although he had other skills besides this, but the mental ability was his strongest forte, however, now he was facing someone who had stronger mental ability than he him.

'Maybe Lord Thanos knew about this; it's why he asked us to bring him the princess.'

That was Third last thought before a black light coming from Lilith's finger struck his forehead and went in; like a broken marionette, he stopped.

Chapter 483 - 468: Inside The Dark Castle 3

From Lilith's fingertip, a dark beam shot out and clashed against Third's forehead, the beam penetrated his head, and his body slowed down like a broken marionette.

Lilith tried to access Third's memories through her ability the Eternal Nightmare; her goal was simple she wanted to learn about the mysterious organization, The Chaos's Eye, she believed that there were the one behind her brother change, by learning a bit about them would she be able to better prepare for their incoming confrontation, however, just as she was about to penetrate deeper into Third's consciousness something unexpected happened, Lilith hit a huge dark wall, a chill ran down her spine when she saw this wall, she tried to immediately retreat however it was already too late.

The dark wall blocking Lilith's path wriggled as if it was alive before,

Boom!

There was a terrible explosion inside Third's consciousness that swept Lilith before sending her flying outside of Third's consciousness.

''Cough! Cough!"

Outside, Lilith started coughing blood and was sent flying twenty meters because of the unexpected attack; she had expected some kind of resistance, but not so soon. Before she knew, Third, who should have her consciousness destroyed, meaning he should have turned into a retard moved, just one step, and he closed in twenty-five meters in an instant, Third clutched Lilith's neck and lifted her, and with an eerie voice, he said.

''I have expected this one day but not soon and by the fugitive Demon's princess to boot. It's why we must have you. We must corrupt you as we did we, your brother. How sweet this is going to be.''

Chill ran down Lilith's spine when she heard those words, she tried to break free by intensely struggling. Still, unfortunately, she couldn't do anything it was as she was held by an iron's hand, despair slowly colored her face, instantly she knew she was about to disappear from this world, forever erased, she wouldn't be herself anymore, maybe her brother had experienced the same thing, Lilith quickly shakes her head to discard this thought, that bastard If a brother had signed a contract with the devil's all by himself just because of greed, she wouldn't accept, she would fight, she had comrades.

Looking at Lilith who had restarted to violently trash, doing everything she could to break free, Lord Thanos who had momentarily taken control of Third's body chuckled, he was happy to see his prey struggle believing that she still has a chance to make a comeback, how pitiful, how entertaining.

Lord Thanos chuckled; he didn't have much time as his host body couldn't take the burden of him temporarily boring for too long; he must quickly finish things here; he moved his finger who was showing signs of cracking and tried to corrupt Lilith, it was then.

Crackle! Boom!

Lord Thanos immediately gives back the control of Third's body and retreats before the lightning from descending the sky strikes Third's body and blows it apart.

Kaboom!

The explosion rammed into Lilith's chest; she felt like a huge fireball hadn't been rammed into her as her body flew across the air, and she vomited a mouthful of blood and fell on the ground; she rolled for two meters before she stood up and observed her surrounding.

The area where Third was previously standing was erased, leaving place to a huge crater.

Suddenly, Lilith's expression sank because she noticed a presence she couldn't be familiar with; Incursio was approaching this direction fast. Without wasting a second, Lilith dragged her injured body and ran away, she didn't know why Third got suddenly blown apart, but this was a chance; she wouldn't waste it by thinking of confronting Incursio, the current her wasn't her match, she couldn't even last five minutes against so the best solution would be to escape, only an idiot would still choose to fight even when knowing the outcome.

Incursio, who appeared, looked in Lilith's direction and chuckled.

''A wise decision.''

She then looked around her; she approached the crater and looked inside it as if trying to study it, but at the end, she stopped, pointing one finger in the air for a moment. She brought it toward her mouth and licked it.

''Lord Thanos was here. He must have taken possession of Third's body in the hope of catching the princess but failed. I wonder what happened? It's a good thing that weakling died, and I don't like him anything; he was annoyed with his questions and blind devotion.'' Incursio commented before looking in the direction Lilith had fled to; for a moment; she considered whether or not she should chase after but finally decided not to.

''Better search for the Core room where that thing might be. Once I'm done, I can play with every one of them.''

Incursio's body disappeared in the direction she came from.

A few kilometers away from Incursio, Lilith, who was escaping, stopped to catch her breath; most of her injuries had healed by now. Because she was running nonstop without properly checking where she was going, she was now inside a huge hall that looked like a throne hall.

It was then Lilith knew she had stepped in somewhere extremely dangerous; her heart started to beat crazily so hard that it could be heard outside.

Ba-dump! Ba-dump!

Lilith clutched her chest in pain, her vision started to turn dizzy, there was something she had not told Alex and Sakuya, since the moment she entered this dungeon, she felt strange feeling it was as if something was calling her. At first, she thought it was her imagination; however, the more she progressed, the more stronger this feeling became, so much that she couldn't ignore it any longer, especially inside this hall, something was calling her from beyond these walls, she had the feeling that she would get the answer if she smashes the walls apart.

''Ugh!''

Lilith groaned and held her head; she summoned her Gift in scythe form, its original form, as she believed that it wasn't going to be easy. Indeed, the moment she held her scythe, there was a rumbling sound.

Rumble!

Then that monster appeared.

Chapter 484 - [Bonus] 469: The Test 1

Rumble!

Ka ! Ka! Ka!

The giant doors behind Lilith were closed as if someone was pushing them.

Then that thing appeared and swept on its paws.

Boooooooooom!

A tremendous sound created by an explosion rang through the area.

A force that shouldn't have been associated with the simple movement of a monster.

Whoosh!

Amidst this sound, something flew through the smoke toward Lilith. The speed and force behind this thing were godly.

All the hairs on Lilith's body rose

'I have to block!'

That was Lilith first thought as she tried to raise her scythe to block the incoming thing.

Normally with her Gift in the form of a scythe, she should've been able to block the incoming thin. However, Lilith changed her thought at the last moment because her instincts told her so, she performed another action she hadn't intended to.

'N,o I must dodge it.'

Booom!

From the might of the object coming toward her and cutting through the air like a laser, it was the best solution.

Lilith's entire body reacted by shrinking; thanks to her body which had been tempered through all sorts of experience, she had been able to react to it.

Lilith's body moved out the incoming object trajectory.

Boom! Ki! Ki! Ki!

That thing that she dodged struck the giant doors behind her to produce a terrible explosion that made the giant doors emit terrible sounds as if there were about to break.

Suddenly, goosebumps rose all over her body; she tried to jump back but changed her thought; that thing that struck the doors curved back and instantly headed towards her head.

Lilith sent her scythe toward the back; fortunately, it succeeded in blocking the object flying toward her head, then there was the sound of metal clashing against metal, an intense shriek rang through the hall.

Kin!!!!!

Boom!

Lilith's body was flung into the air; she rotated her body and landed on the other side after her figure blurred. She could see what attacked her, and she couldn't help but shout out with a confused expression.

''What the hell is that.''

The body of the Lion.

The Wings of bird.

The head of a wolf.

And to top it, it was huge.

It was easily over 30 meters tall.

Lilith became flustered at the horrendous beast before her; she finally identified what attacked her. It was the beast's tongue; it was so long that one would wonder how this could fit its mouth.

The Demon's princess gulped and stared at the beast in front of her; above this monster were the following words.

[Final Guardian; Triple Fusion Beasts, Level 125]

Even being told, Lilith knew that this thing was the final obstacle she must overcome to get what she came all the way here for and maybe get some answers, the reason for the constant call.

Lilith tightly gripped her scythe and was preparing for her final test when suddenly an explosion occurred outside the closed doors.

Kaboom! Bang!

Both the demon and the beast looked at the door, wondering what had happened.

Outside Alex crashed against the giant doors and rolled on the ground to dodge Priscilla's stomp.

Let's rewind time a few minutes back, Alex who was killing monsters, appeared in a hall. However, he was not the only one, the dragonified Priscilla was there as well, the moment she saw him she attacked, and Alex was almost caught off guard, he tried to defend but the result he was sent flying, the bones inside his arms creaked as if they would break at any moment.

Alex, who rolled on the ground to dodge another attack coming from the enraged Priscilla Accel-ed to reappear fifty meters away.

Looking at the dragonified Priscilla ready to charge at him, Alex activated his Eye of Truth.

Gulp!

Alex gulped; he knew from this result that if he didn't find a solution, he was going to die; his brain worked faster trying to come up with a solution; however, while he was thinking about a solution, the dragonified Priscilla was not going to let him free. Her feet touched the ground, and it instantly cracked as her figure shot forward like a meteor; Alex jumped back. However, a few strands of his hair got burnt in the process; a chill ran down his spine before he could point Silveria at point-blank range but,

Crack!

''Gaha!"

Alex screamed in pain because faster than he could move, Priscilla struck her arm, and it broke.

[Accel]

Alex didn't dare to use Drift because of how faster the dragonified Priscilla had become; he Accel-ed away, just as Priscilla was about to follow after him. Her body froze, and her eyes filled with fear. She looked at the thing in Alex's unharmed hand; a black gun was there.

The moment she saw that thing, her instincts told her that she would die, the thing in the depth of her heart wriggled as if furious and at the same time afraid; these two emotions made her body froze, and Alex wasn't going to miss out this opportunity.

Alex flashed next to the frozen Priscilla and activated his Time ability.

[Time Stop]

Then the silver gun was pushed against the dragonified Priscilla forehead and,

[Time Decay]

Bang!

The gray bullet greedily sucked away all Alex's mana before bursting out of the gun's muzzle and penetrating Priscilla's head. Her head was flung backward before gray light covered her body, and she aged at fast speed.

''Noooooooooooooooooooo!''

Priscilla emitted one last desperate cry before permanently leaving this world as she turned into dust and got washed away by the wind.

Alex crouched down and intense energy spread through his body; he had leveled up.

Chapter 485 - 470: Third Seal 1

It took Alex some time to get used to the strong energy running through his body after killing the dragonified Priscilla.

''Hah!'' Alex spat out and immediately checked his status.

''I have gained two levels, huh! Not bad, but I would have loved acquiring that ability: Ethereal form, but I guess one can get everything you want. It's good that I've won.'' Alex mumbled as he stood up.

〖Well, the universe is huge; you will find more ability more awesome than this one, believe me.〗

Silveria comforted Alex, the latter chuckled. When he recalled what happened, he smiled; at first he hadn't thought it would work because, since that accident in that dungeon, he couldn't talk to her, nor could he feel her. When he was thinking about a method to deal with Priscilla, an idea came to him, why not use Nyx to distract her? As he remembered how everyone reacted every time he summoned her. Alex gambled, but it was a gamble that paid off.

〖It would be good- Master dodge〗 Silveria, who was planning to say something changed and shouted to warn Alex of extreme danger.

All of the hairs on Alex's body rose. He tilted his body to the side, and that object flew past his cheek.

Swoosh! Boom!

The giant doors behind were shaken so violently that you would think it would break.

[Aurora Bullet]

Bang!!

The white bullet tore through the air and headed to where the object came from, and the person on the other side dodged as Alex did before grinning; she just moved her hand without looking back and caught the second bullet. Alex hid under the first one.

Alex clicked his tongue when Incursio easily dealt with his Homing bullet; he had hoped at least this could catch her off guard; however, she seemed to have used her time ability to slow down the bullet and easily catch it.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

No words were spoken; the two moved simultaneously and reappeared midair; they started fighting.

Incursio dodged the punch Alex threw toward her head when suddenly her eyes widened, a silver gun appeared in Alex's hand and fired, even though surprised by this move, Incursio still leisurely smiled, she activated her time ability to dodge the bullet easily then she retaliated. Her speed was deadly under the Time effect. However, Alex also had the same ability; Alex activated his Time Acceleration and saw the incoming attack moving slowly; suddenly, a chill ran down his spine. Without hesitation, he aimed Silveria at his back and fired.

Bang!

Incursio, who appeared behind Alex, bent her body to an impossible angle to dodge the bullet. Even if for her this close, she couldn't perfectly dodge when Alex still had his Time Acceleration on.

''Not bad, you got a sharp instinct.''

Looking at the small white-haired girl praising him didn't make Alex happy; he cursed his luck. This girl was too dangerous, a monster like this. He couldn't face them yet; he was not arrogant to believe that he could beat this girl when she had time ability and who knows even more. Seriously, he didn't wish to fight her yet, maybe after gaining a couple of levels, after becoming a proper Saint (Rank 13).

Alex, who was lost in thoughts, was brought back by Incursio's following words.

''You see, I have run all the way here to complete my objective, and it's only after that, I'll be able to play with you to my heart content.''

Incursio didn't hide the fact that she never considered any of them as a threat; if not, she wouldn't have said that she would play with them, not that Alex was offended, when you reach a certain level and arrogance blinded your thoughts, it's normal to look down on people.

Alex wasn't concerned about such a thing; what was bothering him was her goal; he knew it; they wanted that thing, the thing that contained Lilith's power and probably her memories. And he believed that this thing was beyond the doors behind him and Lilith was probably in; as for Sakuya, he wasn't sure, he couldn't let this girl enter or else everything that had done, everything suffering they have suffered until they got here would be wasted, something he couldn't allow, acquiring this thing, strengthening Lilith was a part of his plans he must not fail or else his future plans would be seriously affected, the thing they were about to face wasn't alone, it has its army so must he has his own.

Alex breathed in and out several times; he gripped his gun and tried to push out as much pressure he could as this wasn't going to be an easy fight; the opponent was a whole level above the dragonified Priscilla he could feel.

The playful smile on Incursio's face disappeared, and she said,

''I guess you won't follow my advice.''

Chapter 486 - 471: Third Seal 2

The playful smile on Incursio's face disappeared, and she said.

''I guess you won't follow my advice then.''

Incursio sighed. She wanted to suggest to Alex to obediently wait for her to get that thing and come back like this they could play, however, when she thought about he couldn't accept because the three didn't appear here by mistake, they came with a goal in mind, the same goal as them so how could he sit obediently and let her have what he was after.

Thinking about it, she should have beat him into pulp, breaking his arms, his legs, and get that thing and come back before he fully recovered. She must worry as, unlike him, she could sense what was happening behind these doors, and she knew that beyond that hall existed the thing they wished to acquire.

''I guess I need to take care of you before going inside.''

Swoosh!

Immediately after she said that, she flashed next to Alex, and a terrific amount of mana burst out from her body; the space around them instantly turned hot; Alex drifted to his left to dodge a flaming fist thrown at him, however, to his utter horror Incursio's arm curved like a snake and followed him, everything happened too fast Alex was forced use one his arm to block, even the green light covering his arm didn't help as his arm was burnt even if Loki partially protecting it.

Alex was flung backward, Incursio followed by raising her small leg. She didn't even care if her white underwear became visible.

Fwoosh!

A flame appeared around that leg, turning it into a flaming torch that descended toward Alex at extreme speed; even Alex could feel the heat coming toward his head; if nothing were done, even if he survived, he would become bald.

Just as the flaming kick was about to reach his head, Alex pushed his head to the side and fired a water bullet, his last water bullet at the flaming kick.

Boom!

Bang!

Alex didn't surprise Incursio the time; immediately after the explosion resulting in the collision of two opposite elements clashing, he fired a Phantom bullet toward her private.

Everything happened too fast, Incursio should have been caught off guard, but the reality is harsh; her body vanished, she teleported above with all her might threw a huge fireball at him.

Kaboom!

The ground shook, and the trace of burn could be seen; however, Alex's figure was nowhere to be seen.

Incursio chuckled and looked behind her.

''Not bad you have escaped, well you almost succeed.''

''Cough! Cough!'' Alex coughed blood and glared at Incursio, who showed no sign of coming closer.

If Alex hadn't used everything, he had he would have been seriously burnt. First, he slowed down the fireball even so the fireball continued to descend at fast speed, he was forced to fire a phantom bullet not too far from him to escape, but even so, he was still caught in the terrible explosion that almost cooked his inside.

Alex was curious about Incursio level, and he tried to use his Eye of Truth on her, but he failed; clutching his left eye, Alex couldn't believe that he failed; he didn't even see anything, not the slightest information.

Incursio, who seemed to have noticed what he did, chuckled, ''Even with a special eye, you can't see some people's status.''

Alex groaned and immediately launched twelve knives toward Incursio, who was about to open her mouth again.

''Boring!'' Incursio said with an annoyed expression; she wouldn't have trouble dealing with this level of attack, and Alex should have known that, yet he still did unless he had another plan in mind.

When Incursio, who was easily dealing with the twelve knives, saw the cold smile on Alex's face, she also smiled; her smile was full of anticipation, she sought exciting things, and she wondered if Alex could make her so excited that the boredom she felt since her birth would disappear.

Alex aimed Silveria at Incursio, busy dealing with the twelve knives and shoot.

[Meteor Bullet]

Bang Bang Bang Bang!

Incursio's expression she hurriedly swirled her arm covered in flame, then something astonishing happened.

Pa! Pa! Pa!

She deflected all the bullets to the sides. The meteor bullets bore through the ground.

Alex appeared above her; he was fifteen meters above Incursio, then he unleashed what he had prepared for her; all other attacks were distractions, the real one was this one.

[Crimson Bullet]

Crimson light sliced through the air heading straight to Incursio's small body; if it worked, her head would have been blown away, if it worked, that is.

Alex froze midair when he saw the leisurely smile on Incursio's face when she lifted her head; her completely white eyes looked at him with ridicule, telling him that he was not the only one to have prepared something.

A white flame appeared first on Incursio's small fist before something that shouldn't have been possible happened; ice covered the white flame to create something deadly then she punched the sky.

Kabooooom!

Alex's crimson bullet could not even last a second before the gray flame erased it; this flame continued and headed straight at Alex. For the second time since her apparition, all the hairs on Alex's body rose up; the attack was too close for Alex to hope to dodge; everything stopped around; the only thing Alex could hear was his heartbeat.

Ba-dump! Ba-dump! Ba-dump!

Alex knew that this state was temporary, that he couldn't stay forever in this state, that time would restart, and he would still face that deadly flame; he must come up with a solution before then.

The gears inside Alex's mind started working faster; he couldn't accel away, the gray flame seemed to possess a strange ability, the ability to temporarily lock space around its target, none of the bullets he used for attack could deal with this flame? Then what to do? Alex pondered; he could feel time running out then,

Crack!

Something broke, and he knew that it was time; at the last moment, Alex thought of the perfect solution; he was a fool having not thought of that solution; with a smile on his face, he shouted as the world around him completely broke apart.

''I shall survive.''

Chapter 487 - 472: Third Seal 3

Immediately after Alex came back to reality, he saw the gray flame almost before him, he mumbled.

[Time Stop]

And the gray flame stopped; he didn't wait, and immediately Accel-ed to reappear on the ground. However, Incursio was waiting for this; she appeared behind him and said.

''I thought you could do it.''

''What?'' Alex freaked out, and before he could dodge, Incursio's small fist connected to his back, his spine cracked,

''Guh!'' Alex groaned in pain as his body was sent flying, his body was almost bent in V shape as it tore through the air and crashed against the other side of the hall.

Kaboom!

He got embedded in the wall; however, Incursio, who should be happy to have dealt terrible damage to Alex frowned, her instincts were warning her, suddenly something exploded behind her, and her small body was flung backward. However, she quickly stabilized her body and chuckled.

''You are interesting; even you was sent flying, you still attacked, your body, your mind is truly strong, you're strong.''

Hearing her praise, Alex responded this time, however only after crawling out of the hole he was in and placing back his broken arm.

Crack!

''Thank you.''

Then he spat blood, the two looked at each other, a distance was forty meters separated the two, Incursio was the first to open her mouth, and she said something unexpected.

''Well, as a reward, I'll you glimpse at my status.''

Alex immediately used his Eye of Truth on her; knowing more about your enemy could you make a better preparation, so he believes.

'This girl is a monster.'

〖She's monster〗

Both Alex and Silveria said the same thing; Incursio chuckled when she saw Alex frown; although he was shocked by her status, no fear could be seen on his face as if he believed that he would win even when she showed her this.

Incursio was not disappointed by this; on the contrary, she was pleased; there wouldn't be any joy breaking a scared Alex, the Alex that believes that he had a chance would be more fun to break; she would break him and turn him into her pet. Incursio laughed evilly when she thought this; however, her expression changed, turning serious.

''Time to put an end to this game.'' She declared, and Alex nodded.

''I guess too.''

[Meteor Bullet]

Incursio snorted, a hammer made of lightning appeared in her hand, and she fiercely smashed the hammer into the exploding circle toward the ground.

BOOOOM

Shockwaves mixed with lightning rippled forward; Alex raised his right leg covered in green light and smashed it down.

Bang! Crack! Boom!

The ground cracked, and an explosion sent shockwaves forward, which clashed against the incoming shockwave.

Boom!

Alex drifted to avoid Incursio's dark spear; she switched to a short sword and raced toward Alex, knives appeared inside Alex's hands, and he swung.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

The two fought at extreme speed while moving around.

After a short exchange, they unleashed their time ability, this time instead of attacking with Silveria, Alex summoned Nyx, the moment the black gun appeared, Incursio, who had a leisurely smile since the beginning feels threatened, she tried to fall back but she couldn't, she grinded her teeth. A bullet struck her stomach, and she was flung away.

Alex was shocked; the situation he had expected after the gray bullet struck Incursio didn't happen; space twisted around her belly before the bullet could reach her.

''No good!'' Alex shouted and tried to accel but froze, a furious Incursio appeared before him, a black sword appeared in her hand and she swung it, Alex's right arm flew in the air.

''Gah!"

Incursio, who seemed to have become another being, swung her sword again; Alex tried to jump back; however, he still couldn't; something seemed to have shackled his body, making him unable to escape.

The black sword pierced Alex's stomach before exploding; a large hole appeared in Alex's stomach as he sent flying.

Blood splattered the ground; Incursio appeared above Alex, slowly losing consciousness, and removed his second arm.

''!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!"

The pain was so intense that Alex couldn't voice it out; he lay on a puddle of blood twitching; Incursio slowly approached him; her eyes had become red like a ruby.

Suddenly, Alex's heartbeat accelerated; it was beating so loudly that even Incursio could hear it.

Ba-dump! Ba-dump! Ba-dump!

Incursio knew that something was about to happen, her expression turned vicious as she decided to kill Alex, it was then it happened.

Crack.

Something broke, and Alex's heartbeat decreased, and an intense blue light escaped from his right eye; a golden clock appeared.

Tik! Tik! Tak!

Something astonishing happened; time got rewind, just before he lost his first arm, a terrible amount of mana got greedily sucked into Alex's body, his body bulged, blue light surrounded his body.

Time resumed, and Incursio frowned; she felt like something wasn't right; she seemed to have experienced a dream, but she could not remember; suddenly, all the hairs on her body rose up because of the thing before her, Alex surrounded in blue light.

Alex, who had mana filled his body, had gotten strong. His current status far surpassed his past status; his current mana capacity had already surpassed the ten thousand mark; it was 120000 at the moment.

Incursio stood rooted on the spot, wondering what happened, and Alex, who had a crack running over his body, wasn't going to miss out on this opportunity; he moved, he appeared before Incursio and clenched his fist.

Crack!

It made a crackling sound, mana gathering around this fist to form a blueish light like a glove.

Bang! Kabooooom!

Incursio's small body was bent in a V shape, and she disappeared from the hall to God knows where.

''Puff!" Alex coughed blood and kneeled; the last thing he heard was Silveria's shocked voice.

〖The Third Seal has been broken.〗

Chapter 488 - 473: The Furious Incursio

On an unknown floor in the Demon's Goddess Dungeon, a rumbling sound followed by something falling heavily on the ground.

''Cough! Cough! Cough! To think that I would lose. What the hell was that ?'' Incursio wondered as she tried to stand up but failed; there was a massive hole in her stomach, the area Alex punched; it was so huge that four adult's hands combined might be able to go through it. Although she suffered such huge injury that should be fatal to even a Saint, Incursio didn't seem worried about it; she spat blood and finally succeeded in lifting her upper body.

Looking at the huge hole in her belly, Incursio chuckled. ''If Zero were to see me right now, he would laugh and smile crazily, saying he must become one with that boy. Sigh! I don't know what happened, but it seems that I can't recall something important, even that seed inside me couldn't help. What happened? How can he suddenly become so strong? I have many unanswered questions, but first, I should check out where I am and find a way out.''

The hole inside her stomach was healing at a visible rate, and soon it was almost closed. Incursio stood up and looked around her, only darkness; she couldn't find any light source. However, she had no trouble seeing in the dark. She frowned because even with her enhanced senses, the only thing she could see was darkness and darkness, nothing else, no tree, no mountain, no floor, nothing, almost as if she was inside a deep fog that had no end.

''Shit, at this rate, I will fail the mission, and it's something that I can never allow to happen.'' Incursio spat, her eyes became resolute, she breathed in and out, then she looked down at her regenerating stomach, finally it was completely healed, and she sighed as she mumbled.

''Activate.''

BOOOM!

A terrific aura exploded from Incursio's petite body and headed straight to the sky.

Booom! Boom! Boom!

Incursio's body transformed into humanoid dragon form, two curved dark horns, a long tail, dragon scale. Incursio, who activated the seed inside her, clenched her fist.

Crack!

She could feel infinite power in her fist; she knew how powerful she had become, she knew the cost for this power as well, what would happen once she canceled it. She was the first one to completely grasp this power, even before her brother Zero, well if you disregard Lord Thanos and the others. It is a power Incursio didn't wish to rely on as the cost was too high; however, considering the situation they were in, she didn't have the choice, did she? She must acquire this thing. If not, if it falls into their enemy's hand, it would cause no small amount of trouble for them; it is why she must get that thing at all cost.

''Hah! I must hurry; the other plan must be underway.'' The transformed Incursio said with a hoarse voice that shook the surrounding space, then she raised her claw and swung.

Boom!

The dark fog surrounding her was split in two, and a mountain two kilometers away was split in two as well; if Alex and others were present, they would have been shocked about the transformed Incursio strength; it was not a strength a Saint Realm expert should have, this strength was close to that of Demi-God level expert.

The transformed Incursio frowned as the dark fog that got split was regenerating at tremendous speed, almost as if nothing had happened. She became annoyed; lightning crackled across the sky and descended like judgment day.

Zii! Zii! Boom! Boom!

Even so, the dark fog still regenerated at fast speed and blocked the surrounding in no time. Incursio was starting to get seriously pissed; she raised her two hands, huge fireballs so huge that you would have mistaken them for a small island descended from the sky toward the dark fog.

Kabooooom! Rumble!

There was a huge explosion, and the dark fog disappeared; the mountain which was previously split in two was destroyed; however, before Incursio could smile, the damned fog was regenerated again, even faster than before. Furious Incursio roared.

''Roarrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrr!''

Then as if to mock her futile efforts, black chains appeared in the sky and wrapped around her limbs; she couldn't even budge; she became powerful, so powerful that only actual Demi-God existence could deal with her. However, she still couldn't do anything against the dungeon's will, it was as if she couldn't do anything even if she were Demigod level existence; she finally understood why her superiors said that this dungeon was unusual and challenging to deal with, not even Lord Thanos, strong as he is could enter or get what he wanted from this dungeon.

Finally aware of her failure as the dungeon seemed to be on Alex's and others' side, Incursio roared; her roar was filled with hatred and resentment. Then she remembered Zero's advice, to never look down on others; she did it; if she had gone all out initially, she might have been able to deal with Alex instead of contributing to his growth. Filled with the feeling of absolute superiority, she looked down at her opponent as he was an ant; however, sometimes ant deserves your full strength to erase it.

Looking at the numerous chains piercing through her body and sucking her mana at tremendous speed, Incursio ground her teeth and refused to give in; she decided to fight till the end. If you can't use your hands nor your feet, then attack with your mouth. Opening her mouth so wide, she tried to fire a cero-like beam from her mouth at the chains binding her; however, just as the cero was almost finished, another black chain thicker than the others came and slammed her mouth shut.

Boom!

The cero exploded inside her mouth, turning her eyes blood red; she coughed blood, eyes filled with immense hatred she shouted.

''Fuck, I'll kill you all.''

That was the last thing she was able to say before disappearing to God knows where.. The dark fog became silent again as of nothing had happened.

Chapter 489 - 474: The Test 2

Back to Alex's location.

Even though he was losing consciousness, he heard Silveria's words; Alex bit his tongue not to fall unconscious; it would be too ridiculous that every time he used some powerful skill, he would soon fall unconscious; one or two times was enough.

The taste of iron succeeds in maintaining Alex's consciousness.

'Ugh! So you mean the third seal was broken?'

〖Yes, indeed. I have never thought that you would gain that ability, the ability to reverse time, the core ability of my sister. Not the previous master managed to acquire it.〗

Silveria's explanation brought some light to Alex's confusion, like Incursio, he thought he had dreamed; however, when he thought about it, it was too realistic for this to be a dream. Therefore he concluded that he had activated some ability; although he hadn't seen the giant golden clock, he still heard the Tik Tak sound.

〖You should check your status just in case you might be able to find out something.〗 Silveria suggested.

Alex nodded at Silveria's suggestion. He immediately summoned his status.

The moment Alex saw his status, he understood what happened; after unlocking his right eye third seal, somehow he gained an extremely amazing ability; however, like usual, he couldn't use it. To better understand the situation, he decided to check his new ability, {Rewind}.

{Rewind: The ability to rewind time.

Current limit: 20 Seconds

Mana Required: 15 000 for a few seconds}

Alex gulped; although this could be considered op ability, the mana needed to activate it was insane. He didn't possess such an amount of mana. He could only speculate about what happened. Somehow, he must have activated his Mana body, a tremendous amount of mana have rushed to his body to enable him to use Rewind temporarily, and with the remaining mana, he punched Incursio and sent her flying.

''Sigh! I have two amazing abilities; however, the current me couldn't use them. I've thought that in terms of mana, I already have enough mana; however, I guess I was wrong. What to do?"

When Alex was lost in thoughts, he heard a whistling sound; something seemed to be coming from the other side as it cut through the air; Alex frowned and readied his weapon, ready to deal with whatever would come out. However, when Alex finally saw the real identity flying toward him, he hastily threw away the thing inside his hands and caught Sakuya by the waist.

Sakuya was in a bloody state; she sighed after seeing that Alex saved her; although she would have loved rewarding him with a sweet bloody kiss, this wasn't the time to fool around, and that bastard was coming for her.

Alex didn't ask anything, he only focused his attention forward, and soon Leonardo appeared; his figure wasn't really different from that of Sakuya, only slightly better. He frowned when he saw Alex standing before Sakuya; he had thought that he could gravely injure her to make Alex suffer; however, Sakuya wasn't easy to deal with, she was a headache, every time he almost succeeded in dealing her a fatal blow she would slip away, this annoyed him to no end, to make matters worse she succeed in dealing him severe damage while practicing the hit and run tactic.

Without looking back, Alex tossed a High-level potion at Sakuya; he did not need something like this because of his high-level regenerative ability. Sakuya caught the healing potion, and before she could ask anything, Alex instructed.

''Drink it and help Lilith; she is behind these doors. As for this man, I will deal with him.''

Sakuya nodded before immediately drowning the healing potion; her injuries were healing at a visible rate; chuckling, she thought, 'Indeed a High-level healing potion.'

Looking at Alex's who seemed broad and at the same time lonely, Sakuya sighed and started to run toward the giant doors, she could hear from here the sound of a clash, and she hoped that Lilith, who was taking the final test, was doing fine, at least not too bad until she arrives.

Leonardo, with the mask on, looked at Sakuya running in the distance without saying a word; his eyes behind the mask glared at the man he hated more than anything.

Alex ignored the vicious glare Leonardo was sending him and asked.

''How have you been since our last meeting?''

Leonardo ground his teeth; hatred filled his whole body when suddenly a chill ran down his spine, Alex who should be standing twenty meters away from him, suddenly vanished; he couldn't sense him at all.

''Let's talk.''

All the hairs on Leonardo's body rose up when Alex's voice came from behind; he slashed behind him; however, he only cut through empty air, then the sound of something cutting through the air whistled behind him. The sound of metal flying at tremendous speed, Leonardo frowned and turned around, he slashed upward; however, the knife unexpectedly curved as if it had consciousness and tried to strike his arm, Leonardo snorted and swirled his sword downard, it was then he heard Alex's voice followed by a strong impact on his back.

''Let's talk, shall we?''

''Fuck!''

Leonardo cursed when he saw the leisurely smile on Alex's face.

Chapter 490 - 475: The Test 3, The Final Guardian

While Alex and others were struck in the dungeon slowly walking closer to their goal, outside, there was someone who was feeling restless, especially since when one of seven dark crystals in his possession broke, it's seven instead of Eight because not every one of the eight dukes had submitted to him, even when that stubborn old said he was with him, Lucifer knew that he was lying, however, he couldn't do anything about it, at least for now.

Lucifer was extremely enraged at the moment because one of his strongest forces had died; he wondered how it was possible, the vampire duchess should have been invisible after she activated her seed, the only being capable of killing her should be that damned freak, Incursio, however, even if she had a few screws looses she wouldn't have killed someone that would help her accomplish her mission, so it was incomprehensible what happened.

The thought that it was his sister or Alex who killed Priscilla never traversed his head; to him, Alex or Lilith couldn't kill a Priscilla who had activated the Chaos's God blessing, that seed capable of doubling her power.

''Damn it. They are all useless. Unable to accomplish a simple thing. Even that freak is unable; she is all-''

''I suggest you stop there. Any more, and I will not stay silent and slap you, got it?''

A voice coming from the stone inside Lucifer's hand, he gulped, although he was strong, there are some beings he could not go against, at least not directly, Lucifer ground his teeth and chose to stay silent.

''Good, it how it should be. Don't worry; I'll contact Incursio; with her inside, there is no way they would fail.'' Zero's voice came from the other side; it disappeared after saying those words; Lucifer clutched the armrest of his throne until it emitted a cracking sound, he spat out a sigh before calling his right-hand man, he needs to prepare just in case things didn't go as they planned.

On the other side, Lilith was fighting against the Triple Fusion Beasts; however, until now, she hasn't succeeded in dealing it the single damage; the monster was too agile; before her lightning could touch it, it would vanish.

Swoosh! Boom!

The Triple Fusion Beasts about attack her stopped and jumped back to miss a huge horizontal Wind blade barely. Lilith's eyes brightened at the newcomer; her arrival couldn't be more welcomed.

Just as she spun around to look at Sakuya that attacked the Triple Fusion Beasts, Lilith frowned not in the bad sense, but because Sakuya had gotten stronger again since the last time they parted ways.

'Almost Level 100, huh! Not bad.' Lilith mumbled inwardly before exchanging glances with Sakuya; both smiled.

''Roarrrrrrr!"

The Triple Fusion Beasts roared, seemingly annoyed by the newcomer; it opened its mouth to fire a dark beam toward Sakuya; Lilith chuckled, she swung her scythe downward, lightning exploded out of the scythe and split the dark beam into two.

The Triple Fusion Beasts jumped back because it felt threatened by the dark-haired young woman, Sakuya, who was about to activate her Dimensional Slash struck fear in the monster's heart.

Lilith got divided into two shadows; using Impel, she appeared behind the retreating beast and unleashed a deadly blow. The Triple Fusion Beasts that were trying to retaliate stopped because the second Lilith made of shadow attacked it as well. Sakura was eying the beast like a hunter.

Fwoosh!

Just as the two attacks were about to reach the beast, huge wings sprouted from its back and were wrapped around its body.

Boom!

The attacks were reflected toward the two Lilith and Sakuya direction; the clone was too close and was shredded into pieces while Lilith succeeded in blocking her own attack before escaping. Greenlight appeared under Sakuya's feet that propelled her into the sky; she shifted her body to pass above Triple Fusion Beasts which had curled its body.

She sheathed her katana as she landed on the other side at the same time her strongest attack had been unleashed.

[Yami Maho Jigen Giri]

A huge gash appeared on the monster's wings before it could scream; Lilith's attack arrived.

Ziiiii! Kabooooom!

Twelve meters long lightning spear struck the area where the monster was injured.

''!!''

An indescribable cry escaped from the monster's mouth; Sakuya attacked by sending many ïai slashes.

During this time, Lilith took out a Mana recovery potion and gulped it; mana filled her body, she immediately activated her strongest skill.

[Angel's Descent]

A giant Angel appeared behind her and swung down its weapon; the Triple Fusion Beasts, who had just recovered from continuing attacks, received the angel's judgment.

''!!!!!!!!!''

The Triple Fusion Beasts' huge body disappeared after getting surrounded by a blinding light.

Lilith gasped for breath; it was thanks to Sakuya's assistance that she succeeded in unleashing this attack; if not, she would be stuck fighting the beast while searching for a method to deal with it. Because she had thought that she killed the beast with Angel's Descent, especially when she could see a shimmering black portal in the distance, Lilith had left her guard down; it was a terrible mistake.

Whooooosh!

Something flew through the air and headed straight to her head.

''What?''

Lilith's body froze as she couldn't believe her eyes; it was then Sakuya flashed next to her and threw her toward the portal; the last thing Lilith saw as she passed through the portal was a small Triple Fusion Beasts of the size of puppy and Sakuya's words.

''Go, I'll take care of this monster.''

Then the portal closed, and she disappeared.
