

Death Guns 651

Chapter 651 - 627: La Sainte

While Luna was hurrying over to the fight location, Artemia had difficulty dealing with Maria. No matter what attack she used, Maria would freeze them; even Artemia's body became covered in frost, slowing down her movement.

And because she didn't want to let Maria have the advantage in this fight, she destroyed the snow land, transforming it into a burning land; however, this method didn't stop the Ice Empress from toying with her.

"You know I'm starting to get angry. You should obediently go to sleep." Artemia declared before lifting one of her legs; black lightning gathered under it before she violently stomped on the ground, it was as if a huge hammer had been slammed onto the ground.

Boom!

Black lightning rippled outward, engulfing Maria within; she didn't have the time to do anything before being swallowed by a black lightning storm and naturally, as one could have expected, this attack did no damage to the Ice Empress, like the previous attack she started to freeze the whole storm. It was exactly what Artemia wanted; she disappeared to reappear inside the storm. Her spear cut through the air, but Maria dodged it easily by shifting her body to the side.

Even with this, Artemia's expression didn't change; on the contrary, she smiled; she had an idea she had meant to try out for a long time; this idea was born when she witnessed Alex Shadow Shift. While it was true that creating a skill comparable to the dark prince skill was impossible, creating something similar would not be impossible, and now that she got the opportunity, she must not miss it.

Artemia thought about creating something similar to Shadow Shift; it was instant teleportation. When this word, instant teleportation, appeared inside her mind, Artemia immediately got an idea. Currently, the surrounding was filled with lightning, meaning the air was filled with static electricity; even though Maria was trying to freeze everything, she did not freeze everything, yet she could use this opportunity.

Looking at her spear flying in the opposite direction after Maria dodged it, Artemia understood that this thing could act as the receptacle for her skill; what left was trying out her idea, and because this was a fight, she must act quickly. Artemia left her whole being filled with lightning; it was as if she was transforming her body into lightning itself to the molecular level; Artemia's body turned transparent.

"Blink!"

It was unknown why this name came into her mind when she thought about the name of the skill she had just created. However, that name seemed to make the technique more perfect; the moment she muttered that word, Artemia disappeared, passing through space, Maria, who was preparing to deal with her, furrowed her brows.

Somehow Artemia appeared in place of her spear. However, surprised Maria was able to react when she should not react. She spun her body and pushed her dagger forward to block Artemia's attack; it was what she believed, but Artemia was not going to make things easier for her, especially now that she created a new skill, the chain at the end of the spear wrapped around Maria's ankle before the tip was sent into the opposite direction, everything happened too fast, Maria was not able to react, no she didn't see the need to do anything as she was confused to why Artemia was doing this, the reason was soon explained.

"Blink!"

Artemia activated her new skill; she appeared where her chain's tip was, she caught the rest of the chain and dragged Maria toward her location.

Swoosh!

She slammed Maria head into the ground after catching her, it was what she believed at the last moment, Maria's body was transformed into an ice blizzard that disappeared passing through Artemia's fingers to reappear behind her, she didn't have the time to turn around nor could she put on any defense an ice spike pierced through her stomach, the cold sensation in her stomach told Artemia that this was real, the cold was easily spreading through her body, it wouldn't be a long before her whole body would be turned into frost.

"Eighteen Layered Lightning Chain Sixteenth Form. Lighting cage."

Black lightning burst out from Artemia body, trying to trap the two inside, but like the previous time, Maria body was turned into mist and escaped the ice cage, just as Artemia was thinking about what to do now that the situation had turned more dangerous, she felt a warm hand on her shoulder before she was forcibly dragged out.

She didn't have the time to check the other party's identity, but after hearing the following words, Artemia instantly knew who her mysterious savior was.

"4th Tier Holy Magic Radiant Blessings!"

Artemia felt like an angel was embracing her; she got this feeling, all her injuries and stamina were replenished. Although she possessed limitless stamina and mana, it didn't mean her stamina or Mana would not run out. It was just that compared to normal people, she would recuperate faster; this fast recovery was comparable to her having limitless stamina and mana. If it were the real thing, she would be invincible, letting no challenger pass this level.

"I want you to restrain her even if it's for a second." Luna left those words behind before disappearing.

Artemia didn't have the time to ask what she meant before seeing her punching Maria; the latter tried to slow down the punch but couldn't totally avoid it as Luna used her knee when her punch failed to deal any damage.

Facing this new enemy, Maria jumped back; she knew that this person was different from the other one; fighting her would not be easy. Because she lost most of her memories, she was not herself after entering this mode, the information about this golden-haired beauty was blurry, but she seemed to know her better than anybody, this made the fight harder for her, she must quickly deal with her and destroyed everything by granting them eternal sleep.

Maria, who had decided what to do, opened her mouth and screeched.

Screech!

Maria's screech created a shockwave in the air. This shockwave was going in Luna's direction, but she smiled and didn't do something completely out of everyone's expectation; she punched the air creating her own shockwave; this shockwave clashed against Maria's shockwave, offsetting it.

Boom!

"Blink!"

Artemia blinked to reappear behind Maria after throwing a dagger in that direction.

"Lightning chain."

Using lightning Artemia temporarily restrained Maria's movement while Luna was getting ready.

Beating her lips, Luna kneeled on the ground, her hands in prayer.

"Oh! Mighty Gods, your humble servant, is before you to ask to grant her your blessings. My body is your vessel while my soul follows your guidance. 10th Tier Holy Magic Holy Descent: La Sainte !"

Rumble! Rumble! Rumble!

The sky rumbled three times before Luna's body was bathed in holy light, and once this light disappeared, she was totally transformed. She was dressed entirely in white, above her head was what looked like a golden plasma ring without any star, but with just its presence alone, it gave others the feeling that this person must not be tainted but worshipped instead.

Even Artemia wanted to kneel and worship the current Luna, but she quickly discarded this thought because if she were to do that, she would let Maria free and who knows what would happen if she did that.

The new Luna teleported and appeared before the chained Maria and declared.

"Absolute Zone."

A white domain of two meters appeared with the two inside; in this domain, all forms of magics' mental interferences were prohibited, they would be automatically canceled.

Inside Luna's absolute zone, Maria's white eyes began to regain their usual color, but she still couldn't see anything; there was still a huge amount of frost inside her body that needed to be purged or else she would freeze to death.

To deal with this problem, Luna, in the La Sainte mode, approached Maria, who was slowly regaining her consciousness, and put her hand on her chest.

"6th Tier Holy Magic, Transfer."

Instead of transferring mana into the other party's body like this Tier usually does, Luna transferred the cold energy inside Maria's body to her body. By doing such a thing, she accepted receiving all the damage, some of the aftereffects of Ice Empress Mode.

"Take care of her princess."

Leaving that instruction behind, Luna disappeared to God knows where.

Artemia, who had a lot of questions, couldn't help but sigh and moved to catch Maria's body. She seemed to have lost consciousness after what Luna did.

"Seriously, appearing so suddenly and disappearing shortly after saying I must take care of this troublesome child is a bit too much, don't think too, Alex's favorite woman?"

Artemia didn't expect any answer as she said those words, but it was only to vent some of the frustration she felt. After checking Maria's body she noticed that she was fine, her body was a little bit cold, her black hair had a few white hairs mixed in.

"I will send you back to the lower floor. You have lost."

She said before sending the unconscious Maria into the lower floor. Although she wished to know where she would appear, it was impossible her authority was not that strong to decide where Maria would appear.

"Let's hope you appear somewhere safe.." Artemia prayed.

Chapter 652 - 628: An Unusual City

After taking care of a few things in Sigurd, Alex, together with Eri, left for the upper floors. A golden light enveloped them as they disappeared, going on the next floor.

When Alex and Eri reopened their eyes again, they were inside a temple; two priests waited.

"Welcome players into Z- City. I'm Clayton, a priest serving Goddess Althea." One of the priests walked forward, bowed, and introduced himself; the other priest, a female, just curtsied.

For an unknown reason, Alex felt uncomfortable with the way those two were looking at them; most importantly, that word the one named Clayton said was disturbing him; he called them player, simply player, not immortal otherworlder like others from the lower floors called them. Something was not right, and Alex was not the only one to notice this; Eri also noticed it and became vigilant.

Alex secretly gestured to Eri to not act impulsively as they had just arrived; not knowing anything, it would be too reckless to show hostility openly; they had to pretend until they knew what was happening. Because Alex was the leader, Eri nodded weakly but was ready to go all out when the situation went out of control.

Putting on his best smile, Alex introduced himself.

"Alex Grim, and this is my teammate Riley O'flame." Alex couldn't stop his lips from twitching when he said that name; he was curious about how she came up with such a ridiculous name. Eri noticed that but decided not to bother explaining her reason.

"Great, once again welcome. We shall guide you into the city. Here please." Clayton said with a smile that hid something behind; he guided them until they left the temple and appeared outside.

The city was beautiful, unlike the other cities they had visited; it was a city straight out of a fairytale; everyone was smiling and waving at them; it was so much that Alex and Eri felt uncomfortable.

The weirdest thing was that the two didn't encounter any players; this made them curious, so they asked.

"Are there any other players nearby?" Alex was the one that asked this. The priests stopped, and the male priest put his hand on his chin before answering.

"There are other players, but currently, they are on a mission."

"A mission?" Eri interjected, curious. The male priest looked at her for a moment before shifting his eyes elsewhere, but Eri could have sworn that for a moment, that priest glanced at her lower body, her private part to be more exact. She felt goosebumps rise all over her body so much that she stopped confusing Alex.

"What's up?" He asked her, but because she didn't want to make the other suspicious, Eri shook her head made up a lie.

"I thought I stepped on a bug, but I was mistaken."

"I see. Let's go." Alex nodded as though he understood. Clayton said nothing; he didn't find Eri's behavior unusual; he opened his mouth to explain what he meant by the other players were currently on a mission.

"The other players are on a mission to catch a runaway girl; she is the vessel for our goddess."

"A vessel?" Alex asked, trying not to show his anger, because of the matter with the Holy Crux empire concerning Luna; whenever he heard this word, his blood would boil. So naturally, hearing the same word here made him angry.

"Yeah, an important vessel. You can participate in this mission; if you manage to bring the goddess vessel back, you will receive a reward, and one of those rewards is to let you ascend. So how is it? Will you take this mission?" Clayton asked, and Alex immediately gave his answer.

"Of course, we are in."

"Good." Clayton smiled happily and handed over a map to Alex; on this map, the area where the vessel seemed to be was marked. After exchanging a few words with the priests, Alex and Eri left the priests alone.

"Tch! Looking at them acting all mighty but soon they would learn their place. Let go. I'm tasty. I will devour. I'll enjoy you until it is time for the ritual." Clayton said while violently fondling the female priest breast; he even sneaked in one of his hands to feel it raw; the passing people continued to act as though they saw nothing; no, when one looked closely, you could see that their eyes were blank as though they have lost their souls and were mere puppets on someone's else order.

•••••

On the other side, Alex and Eri, who left the city, kept feeling that something was not right.

"Something about that city disturb me, that priest, Clayton if I remember correctly, gives me a disturbing feeling, he is a pervert."

Listening to Eri complaining, Alex nodded and shared his thoughts.

"I have also felt the same thing, the pervert thing aside. But I noticed something. Tell me, didn't you notice anything unusual about that female priest?"

"No, I don't. Why do you ask that?" Eri asked, confused for her; the female priest didn't talk; maybe she disliked players like most of the residents on this tower. But from Alex's words, it was not the case.

"I'm not too sure, but for me, she looks like a puppet; the same goes for the residents as well."

Alex's declaration hit Eri like a hammer over her head.

"What? Are you sure of your claim?" Eri asked, doubting Alex's words.

"Well, you traveled a lot. Have you ever been to a city where everyone smiles at you? They did not look at you properly, just your presence made them smile, and everyone smiled at the same time? It is not natural." Alex explained his explanation shocked Eri.

The shock was so much that she started to shake, her thoughts were in disarray, but she quickly calmed down and thought about it, and everything became apparent, and only one word came into her mind upon realizing this truth.

"Holy shit."

"If what you said is true, then we are screwed." She added.

"Calm down, there must be a way out," Alex said, trying to calm down Eri; his words seemed to have calmed her down.

"Let's see who this goddess's vessel is and mess up with their plan," Alex said, having no idea that what he would see soon would greatly shake him.

Chapter 653 - 629: Never Anger A Touch 8

One hour passed in a flash, and currently, Alex and Eri were inside a ruin; they searched for the vessel but did not find anything, no vessel, no players. They continued until they left the designated location on the map and entered a forest, the trees in this forest were that tall, but because of the number of trees being too much, it was hard for the sunlight to pass through, making the forest darker.

After walking for two kilometers, Alex stopped forcing Eri to stop; she looked at him in confusion.

"Shh! There something ahead." Thanks to his Divine Sense Alex was able to detect a presence ahead; he asked Eri to keep quiet as they walked forward silently as they could. Still, when Alex stopped again and facepalmed, he created two vanishing bullets, gave one to Eri, and ordered.

"Swallow it."

No other instruction was given; Eri gulped; her body wanted to resist, but her instinct told her not to. In the end, she followed her instinct and swallowed the bullet; she immediately felt the change, it was like she existed in this place, but at the same time not, she finally understood why Alex stopped and why he gave her the bullet to swallow but wondered if there was no other method beside swallowing.

As if he had read her thought Alex chuckled.

"The other method would be to shoot you, but I think you won't do that because it hurts like hell, believe me," Alex explained quietly, making Eri flinch.

Seeing her reaction, Alex smiled before swallowing his bullet in turn; his presence vanished. Then they walked forward until they arrived before the presence Alex felt. It was a man dressed in priest clothes; he was smoking while swearing.

"Fuck this shit. Why I'm the one looking after those bugs while that bastard is in the city probably enjoying that hot chick?"

Alex and Eri stared at each other before they continued to watch that priest talk alone; they could learn a lot from his rambling.

"Shit, I hope they catch that bitch with black hair soon, and I'll go back to enjoy myself."

For an unknown reason, Alex felt some anxiety when he heard that priest saying the goddess's vessel was a black-haired girl.

'It can't be!' This feeling of anxiety kept growing as he tried to push it back; he had the feeling that something bad would happen soon, something that would shake him.

Even Eri standing next to him, noticed something was wrong with him, so she asked.

"Alex, what is the matter?"

She received no response, so she asked again.

"Alex, what is the matter?"

"Eh? Ah! Nothing." Alex finally responded, but he didn't tell her what was on his mind, not until he understood why he was feeling this way.

Just as Eri was about to probe for more as she didn't believe in Alex's lie, that priest said something that made the atmosphere turn chilly.

"Hehehehe, that bitch got some pretty eyes, those blue eyes, that cold face turns me on. I wish I could enjoy her myself. It- huh?"

The priest stopped and made a confused sound because the hand holding the cigarette disappeared, and blood flowed out from the wound. It was that moment the man knew his hand had been cut off.

"Gah? What he-"

Even those words he couldn't finish them before something gripped his throat and lifted him, at first he thought it was bear because the strength behind the grip was not something a human should have, but he was shocked when he saw that it was a young man, those heterochromia eyes scared the shit out of him. In that instant, he knew he would die no matter what he would do, but how he was going to die would depend on him; the man also understood this, so he had no plan on playing the tough guy, nor he would act like a loyal dog refusing to spill everything.

"I...I. will tell everything." He squeezes out with difficulty.

"Good, I have one question. Where is that female you are talking about?" Alex asked; his voice was so cold that it could alter the temperature around; the air chilled after he spoke.

Gulp!

The priest gulped and, with his remaining arm, pointed northeast.

"T...Two kilometers from here. I-"

Crack!

"Thank you."

Alex broke the man's neck as if he was breaking a fragile ruler.

"Follow me." He didn't even look back as he said those words; the current Alex was not the usual one; he was like a male version of Maria in Ice Empress Mode.

Eri sighed and followed Alex, who disappeared; she prayed that it was not Maria if not hell would fall on whoever was responsible, he would hunt those trying to take her away.

"Let's hope it's not her." Eri sincerely prayed.

Those two kilometers were like a walk in the park to the furious Alex; he appeared in the indicated location, he stopped and hid to observe the situation first. He might be furious, but he didn't lose his mind; on the contrary, in this state, his mind works better.

But when he saw what was happening a few meters from him, his mind went blank. Even Eri, who was enemy with Maria, couldn't stand the current scene.

Maria was tied up, most of her clothes were gone showing her underwear, there were many bruises all over her body and a deep cut in her stomach, the current Maria had nothing with the past her, she looked haggard as if she might pass out at any moment.

Players and priests surrounded her and looked at her with lustful eyes; one of them lifted the whip and whipped Maria. The area where the whip touched was ripped with some skin, but Maria didn't even flinch; her eyes didn't waver; she was still glaring at them.

Seeing this scene, Eri felt pity yet couldn't help but respect Maria; she truly deserves respect. If she were in her shoes, she would cry and beg, but Maria refused to do that.

Unconsciously Eri wanted to see how Alex was feeling, he must be extremely angry, and she was not wrong.

As proof of the anger that he was feeling at the moment, his lips curved upward slightly, and a slight smile escaped from his mouth. Just like what happened to many people when their anger reached a certain level, Alex began to laugh softly as he took a step forward.

"I will take of them you will take Maria with you and escape."

Eri nodded fearfully; she didn't dare to look at Alex in the face, not even his back that; she was too scared for that. The only thing she kept mumbling like a mantra was.. 'Never anger a Touch.'

Chapter 654 - 630: Never Anger A Touch 9

After Alex said those words to Eri, he disappeared, he used void steps, he reappeared in the middle of the players and NPCs.

"Wh-"

That priest could not finish his words before his head exploded, a bullet blasted his head apart, blood and brain's matter covered the other, everything happened too fast. Alex and Maria exchanged looks; she seemed relieved.

"Golden Hour Five Seconds Time Stop!" Alex immediately activated his Time ability; everything froze around him. After cutting off the ropes that tied her, Alex gently picked Maria up and handed her over to Eri; he returned and unleashed hell on the men responsible for Maria's current state.

Bang Bang Bang!

Before the five seconds could finish, Alex had already taken care of the forty players and NPCs. For the players, because he noticed that they weren't the ones controlling their bodies, Alex killed them to send them off, the luckiest would resurrect, but the unluckiest would be expelled from Exodus. As for the NPCs, apart from the controlled guards, Alex let the others survive, ten priests whose legs disappeared; they were wriggling on the ground like worms begging for forgiveness.

"Pl...ease let... us go... We promise to-"

Bang!

"Guh!"

To shut the man up, Alex destroyed his lower jaw with a bullet. Upon seeing this scene, the others became frightened; they didn't dare to breathe too heavily. The current Alex did not look different from a demon in their eyes; they forgot about their master, forgot how frightening she was. It was understandable because the current Alex didn't hold back his will to kill; he released his full killing intent, the thousand of monsters he killed, the long years he spent training where he fought many illusionary monsters, those monsters after getting killed, became part of his killing intent. Hence, the mix between the two produced something dreadful that struck fear into the priest's heart; they were shivering.

Alex felt nothing as he stared at the bloody sight he had created.

"When you were beating her, she said nothing, but now you are currently getting beaten, you dare to beg?"

"We..we are sorry." One of the priests lying on the ground limped and said immediately following his words, two bullets flew over and destroyed his remaining hand, the pain was so much that he fainted on the spot. The others felt their soul escaping from their body, especially after hearing Alex's following words.

"Wrong answer. No matter how much pain you are in, you must stay silent like my girl; if not, I'll show you the true meaning of hell."

'Is this already hell?' Thought most of them but they dared not to voice out, they were too afraid, the grim reaper would kill them immediately he would first torture them until he was satisfied, better do what he told them to do maybe this way he could have pity on them and grant them swift death.

"Tell me why you are targeting my girl?" Alex asked; his voice was so cold that just from hearing it, they felt chill down their spines.

"We.. don't know, the supreme priest said it was for the goddess. She is the one that controls all the city and even the surrounding; nobody can go against her if either you follow her orders, or you die in the most gruesome way, and in the worst case, all your family will be killed. She is truly ruthless."

Alex said nothing and processed the information he just got; it was a good thing that he knew the mastermind gender but hearing how ruthless this person was, Alex was sure that he must not let Maria fall into her hands. As for why Maria was reduced to such a space after Alex held him, he noticed some similarities to his past self; he remembered how his body was, how he was unable to use any of his skills before falling unconscious, she must have used a forbidden technique resulting in her current state.

Because Alex felt that he should quickly go after Eri and Maria to make sure that they were both fine, Alex, who had decided to torture the priests until he had enough, decided not to do it in the end as it would mean a waste of time.

Alex said nothing but kicked the ground and shot into the sky like a rocket; after he saw he put a reasonable distance between him and the limping priests on the ground, Alex aimed Silveria at them and fired.

"Crimson Bullet!"

BANG!

The crimson bullet tore through the air like a falling meteor, and before they knew it, the small crimson sun was before them before it engulfed them, erasing them forever from the tower, from Exodus. Strangely in their last moment, they felt gratified, as though they had been liberated.

Alex didn't linger too much in this location, he immediately stepped across the Void using void steps, he shortened the distance in an instant, he followed the direction where Eri and Maria should be but to his dismay they were not present, even they ran this should be the location they should current at, but they were not present.

Unconsciously Alex tightened his gun; his fingers became white because he put too much force in them. He used his Divine Sense to scan two kilometers around him but found nothing; it was as if they had disappeared.

'Maybe Eri used some secret method to escape.' Alex tried to convince himself, but soon this thought was shattered when he heard Eri shouting.

"Alex, help!"

It was coming from three kilometers in front of him, Alex disappeared, he used Accel and void steps to quickly reach the location where the cry was coming from, upon arriving he saw someone taking Maria with him while another one was dragging Eri away.

Alex didn't say a word and immediately went on the offensive. Still, before he could attack, a lightning bolt descended from the sky and struck him; at the last moment, he managed to cancel it with erase, but the shockwave sent him flying twenty meters; when he stood up, they were gone.

"Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh!!!"

Chapter 655 - 631: Wanted

Let's rewind time a few minutes back before The sudden lightning bolt struck Alex.

After taking Maria from Alex, Eri immediately began running; she ran for one kilometer before stopping; she wondered why Maria was in this state. After feeding her a recovery potion, Maria's complexion regained some rosiness.

"So who the queen ended up in this state?" Eri asked, trying to sound sarcastic but failing to achieve it.

"Cough, Cough! I don't remember; I was fighting with my teammates, all of them died, then my head became white, and when I woke up, I found myself in that city where they said I was the perfect vessel. I ran away, but because, as you can see, I can't use my skill, I'm slightly stronger than a regular human, but in the end, I got caught, and you guys came. I'm grateful for your help. Thank you."

Eri had nothing to say, she was too shocked to say anything, the Maria inside her memories was lofty, a queen among queens, she could not probably thank someone, but Maria inside her arms just did that. It was too much that Eri's mind went blank for a short time.

It was exactly what Maria wanted when she said those words; she purposely thanked her, she who always think of her as a rival, someone arrogant. The reason Maria did this was because she didn't want to talk too much about her current situation; although she forgot most of what happened when she went into the Ice Empress Mode, she still had some memories of when she was in that state, and she knew the reason she was in this state was because for the second time she had used that forbidden mode.

Although it was powerful, not being able to control it was a huge downside in having such a powerful card. She did not wish to share this with Eri, who was her rival; who knows what she might do to make her enter this mode and patiently wait until the aftereffect kicked in to take care of her? So better be prudent. She had no idea that Alex had already made Eri his subordinate; she couldn't harm those close to him; this was one of the clauses.

Before the two knew it, they had already been surrounded. It happened too abruptly giving them no time to prepare.

"Shit!" Eri swore.

"Hand over the vessel." One of the men surrounding them shouted and what he got in response was a fireball crashing on his face. It was too fast that he couldn't dodge before the fireball swallowed him.

As if it was some of signal, Eri went on a rampage, she put Maria inside a flame cocoon as she fought the men outside, she brilliantly wielded her sword while unleashing magic, but all of this stopped when she heard the sound of a bell.

Kin!

Somehow all magic vanished, she felt dizzy, and before she knew it Maria had been caught, and she was being dragged, she shouted for help as she was desperate. Fortunately, Alex appeared like a knight with shining armor, however, even the dream knight was blasted away before he could unleash his powerful skills.

•••••

Back to the present.

"Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh!" Alex roared, his roared.

"I will kill you all." Alex declared before kicking the ground and disappearing; his location was Z-city; he was sure that by now he would become a wanted man, but even if he had to go against the entire city for his girl, he would gladly do it, she means a lot for him, he would risk his life to save her and save Eri.

Upon reaching the vicinity of the city's wall, Alex didn't see too many guards, but as he guessed, there was a poster of him everywhere. The black prince chuckled, but he didn't immediately try to enter the city as it was a trap; they purposely let this gate unguarded to lure him in.

Just as Alex was about to turn around and check the other area, he saw that good priest Clayton coming out from one of the tents erected near the city gate; he was holding a woman waist, his hand wantonly roaming on the woman's butt, he was feeling them and judged by the huge grin on his face he liked what he was feeling, his eyes were so lustful that even a child could tell at a glance.

Alex grinned when he saw this.

Night fell, most of the guards began to doze off because of the detection traps installed; they believed it could detect any intruder. Unfortunately for them, Alex was not one of them; he easily passed through those detection traps; he knew as he approached the city gate the traps there would be more advanced, not that he planned to go there in the first place, at least not yet.

After searching for Clayton's tent because he searched to another tent when night arrived, Alex immediately entered the tent through the void, from here he could see Clayton having sex, he was like an animal, Alex couldn't bear to watch anymore as what he was doing could not be called sex, there are all types of sex but what he was doing right now was not one of them.

Clayton's body stiffened when he felt a presence behind him; before he could act, Alex had already knocked the girl unconscious. Finally, Clayton was able to see who was the intruder that dared to stop his fun; he was gobsmacked.

"You- You- you." He couldn't form a coherent sentence as he was too shocked to do that.

"Yeah, I know how you feel, but my name is not you."

"Let me borrow your face for a while." Alex declared with a smile; Clayton could not even open his mouth before he was frozen; Alex walked toward him, his finger touched the priest's head, and he read his memories; they seemed to be some sort of lock over most of his memories not that Alex was concerned about that, he got what he was after. After he was done, he buried Clayton somewhere where he couldn't die, at least not tonight, before using the God mask to change into Clayton.. Everything was ready; time to infiltrate the city.

Chapter 656 - 632: Moon Powder

After Alex used the God mask to change into Clayton, he didn't immediately infiltrate the city; he waited until the sunrise. Following the other priests who had come out for inspection, he successfully infiltrated the city, but a problem arose soon after; it happened when Alex thought of going to the temple.

"Priest Clayton." One of the priests called him, so Alex stopped, following Clayton's usual behavior, Alex arrogantly said.

"Yeah, what is it, Paxton?"

The other priests glared at Alex as if they couldn't wait to swallow him; they were from the same faction as the one called Paxton. Paxton stopped them and came closer to Alex; he then whispered into his ears with an air of superiority.

"You know Clayton, you should behave. I got promoted, and you are forbidden to go back to the temple; you will be working with me until I discharge you."

Because he was pretending Alex must play along and act like Clayton, he put on an angry face and pushed Paxton back, who fell on his butt, shocked by how strong Clayton was (Alex).

"How dare you, who gave the gut to talk to me like that?" The enraged look on Clayton's (Alex) face frightened Paxton and the other priests; they had the same thoughts today. Clayton was fiercer than usual, he was like a beast about to burst, and nobody wanted to be there when this would happen, so naturally, they decided to shift the blame on someone else.

"L.Look, we didn't decide this everything is the supreme priest's will; she was the one that ordered your demotion," Paxton explained while covering his face with his arms.

Still playing the role of Clayton, he staggered back, almost falling but managed to control his body; his face was deathly pale; if actors from Earth were present, they would have acclaimed this performance. Paxton and his men were secretly happy seeing Clayton suffering like this but didn't dare to show it on their faces.

"How? Why is this happening?" While Alex was muttering this like a broken marionette inwardly, he cursed at the supreme priest. After infiltrating the city, everything should have been smooth sailing; he would enter the temple where Eri and Maria were being held hostage and rescue them, but just as he entered, this situation was happening almost as if someone knew he was not the real Clayton, if this was true then the enemy is too frightening.

While Alex was lost in thoughts, wondering what the hell was going on? Paxton and his men looked at each other and thought, 'Isn't it because you were too much of a problem child?'

"Sigh! I understand I will follow the supreme priest order. Let's go."

Unexpectedly Clayton (Alex) accepted his demotion so easily that Paxton rubbed his eyes a couple of times to ensure he was not dreaming. Still, it was not a dream, and because he accepted so easily, the satisfaction Paxton expected feeling upon announcing the news vanished, leaving an empty void behind.

Like a puppet, Paxton guided the group where they should go; it was a basement located southwest of the temple, which was in the middle of the city.

Before they could even enter this basement, they saw a lot of guards and priests outside. Upon seeing so many people, Alex concluded that this basement must be something important to be guarded so heavily. There was nothing about this basement inside Clayton's memories, so Alex was curious, unexpectedly what he might discover would be of great value.

After showing something to the head guards and exchanging a few words with the head priests, Paxton got the authorization to enter the basement. When Alex discovered what they had been keeping in this basement, he almost could not control himself. It was Moon powder, a kind of drug used to control people's mind; it was extremely addictive. No wonder the civilians looked like zombies; the after-effects were terrible; from what he managed to recover from this drug, the one that produced it must be killed. Alex saw what happened to those who failed to ingest the drug after taking it for some time; those people were now bags of bones, neither living nor dead.

"I don't want to end up like them," Paxton mumbled as they passed on the cage keeping the fallen as the priests called them.

The more they went, the more Alex found it impossible to control himself; he was not a saint, but what he was currently seeing made his blood boil to an alarming degree. This world must have been created to be like a game, but people living inside it were real, not some data, so seeing people's life being used so cheaply as someone who respected life, he couldn't bear it.

When Alex was about to blow up, someone came running; it was the head priests they left outside.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!"

The old man was out of breath after running to the other side of the big basement. After catching his breath, he looked directly into Clayton's (Alex) eyes.

"Priest Clayton, the Supreme Priest requests your immediate presence."

"What? Why so suddenly?" Alex asked, still in the role of the lecherous priest hated by everyone.

Shrugging his shoulders, the old man tossed a gray stone at Alex.

"And how should I know? Just take this stone and crush it. It would bring you into the temple. Better not make the supreme priest wait, or else your punishment would be terrible."

"Tch!" Alex clicked his tongue but still caught the stone. He caressed it; because of his sensitivity to mana, he could feel a massive amount of mana stored inside this stone mixed with something sinister. Immediately upon feeling this sinister aura Silveria who had stayed silent until now, advised him strongly not to use this stone.

[[Master, this a trap you shouldn't use the stone let's wait for a while.]]

Alex's answer was immediate.

'I know it is a trap, but I will still use it.. Say no more.'

Chapter 657 - 633: Bullet Time

'I know it's a trap, but I will still use this stone. Say no more.' Alex's words were final, and Silveria could only obey. It was not like she didn't understand why Alex was firm on his decision. He didn't want to waste too much time as nobody knew what the girls were going through while he was taking things slowly. Therefore he must take some risk, and it was not like Alex had not expected this move from the supreme priest, but only the timing was faster than he had anticipated.

Since the moment Alex heard from Paxton that the supreme priest changed the rules demoting Clayton that he knew that the enemy was aware that he was an imposter. Although Alex was sure that Clayton was still alive as he made sure he could still live for another day, then it meant that the supreme priest outside the seal she put on Clayton's memories still possessed a method to know that the current Clayton was not real, it was an imposter, it was which why she purposely demoted Clayton and send him to the basement, to let the imposter learn of the secret of the Moon powder, she was sure whoever it was this person would blow his cover because of what was inside the basement, unexpectedly, it didn't happen as she planned this made the supreme priest use another card, a direct invitation. It was as if she was saying, 'I know you are an imposter, would you dare to take on my challenge and come? Or will you run like a rat?'

Alex chooses the first option. His final objective was to see this so-called supreme priest anyway, so he had no reason to refuse this poisoned wine. Once you know your wine was poisoned but still accepted it, it means that you had a method to counter this poison.

After he made up his mind Alex immediately crushed the yellow stone inside his hand, the mana stored inside the stone burst out in the form of golden light that enveloped Alex's body, and he disappeared.

"Lucky bastard." Paxton and those that knew nothing cursed Clayton (Alex).

Alex, on the other side, appeared in front of a black door; this door was so gigantic that Alex standing before it looked small. Alex didn't waste his time. He immediately pushed the door open; unexpectedly it was easily opened.

The room was large as one should expect it; there was a single throne at the other end of the room, and sitting on this throne was a woman. She had silver hair and beautiful red eyes; the dress she wore could only be called provocative.

Immediately after Alex walked in, the woman observed him as though she was appraising him, and when she was done, she opened her mouth.

"So you came even knowing that it was a trap?" She asked; the woman is known as the supreme priest, the one with the highest authority in this city.

Alex shrugged his shoulders and immediately canceled the God mask; his real face was shown, making the woman raise an eyebrow.

"I didn't have the choice. You have something I want, so we are bound to face each other eventually." Alex declared while secretly on full alert, he could feel two other strong presences beside the woman before him even without using his Divine Sense.

"Oh hohohoho! You are quite an interesting one. A foolish human." the supreme priest said before standing from her throne and began walking forward; every time she took a step forward, the room would darken as if afraid of her.

Facing such a scene, Alex remained utterly unfazed; his eyes never left the woman who decided to stop as her intimidation was not working on Alex.

"Where are they?" Alex asked with a calm voice, but the supreme priest knew that his voice was nothing but calm as he was like a volcano ready to erupt.

"They are here. But I have a proposition for you." the supreme priest declared while directly looking into Alex's eyes.

"I'm listening."

"Join me; I will make you stronger than anything you ever imagined. Together we will climb up to the highest level and usurp God's authority, making this world ours before we will begin worlds conquest using the resources and people of this world. How is it? Are you ready to take my hand?" The supreme priest said as she extended her hand toward Alex.

It didn't take a genius to know that the thing before him was not human; it must be some kind of spirit like on the previous floor, which dreamed of freedom so much that it became twisted. Naturally, Alex had no play following this twisted spirit delusion, nor he would let the girls get possessed, so Alex's answer was decided from the start.

"I refuse."

The supreme priest stayed silent before saying.

"I see it a shame then. I will forcibly take your body." She immediately flicked her fingers, and two guards in black armor appeared; at the same time, Eri and Maria dressed in plain white short robe appeared, crucified on two-pole standing opposite to each other, these poles were behind the supreme priest. She had a smug expression on her face as she looked at the enraged.

Alex's right eye throbbed but ignored and tried to attack the supreme priest; it was when a bell rang out, making Alex dizzy.

"Fufufufu! You can use any magic." the supreme priest declared proudly, but to her surprise, Alex was smiling.

Alex void stepped to reappear in the middle of them.

"You know I'm getting sick of your rambling. Because you are strong, you think I will let you have your way? I'm done being the sandbag. From now on, I'm the one beating others."

Upon hearing those words, the supreme priest felt a chill down her spine; everything she had thought was well planned crumbled; an unknown fear assaulted her; she was not seeing a young man standing before her but a thousand years old monsters.

"Stop him."

"Oops! Too late." Alex declared before unleashing his power, trying to stop magic before him; what a joke.

"Golden Hour Bullet Time!"

Click!

Time was frozen around Alex, faster than his shadow he fired.

"Time Annihilation Bullet!"

BANG!

Normal bullets killed the two guards in black armor while a special bullet only usable in Bullet Time mode was fired, which pierced the supreme priest's head. This bullet was usable once a week, so Alex kept it for occasions like these.

"Wha-"

When time resumed, the supreme priest was shocked to see her strongest guards dead while she aged faster and was soon turned into a mummy. However, at the last moment, the thing controlling the supreme priest body escaped in the form of a black mass that tried to penetrate Maria's body but,

"Erase." Bang!

The silver bullet pierced through this black mass and instantly erased it.

"Nooooooooo!"

"Fuh! My plan worked.." Alex said before walking toward the girl; Silveria was shocked by the unexpected development, only Nyx was smiling in satisfaction; those thousand years were not for nothing; Alex had matured.

Chapter 658 - 634: Her Feelings

Three days had passed since Alex's fight against the supreme priest; after killing the thing controlling the city, the city regained a bit of liveliness, although there was a lot more to do, Z-city would soon regain life. Alex destroyed the moon powder. With the girl's help, they helped the city residents get back on their feet before deciding to leave.

The three were about to use the teleportation room for the next floor.

"What are you thinking about?" Alex asked Maria, who had been silent for a while.

"Ah! No, I'm just thinking about how hard it would be for them to be back to normal again. In the beginning, I used to think that because this world is like a game like an RPG game from Earth, people, cities, and other things were just data that would regenerate after some time. Still, the more time I spent in this world, the more I started to believe that this is just any other world out there, people here, everything here is real." Maria explained how she was feeling.

It was rare, so Maria was so emotional, even Eri, who would usually be poking fun at Maria, did not do it as she also understood this feeling, in the beginning, she was like Maria, worse because she thought of people here as some data, when she went on a rampage she doesn't care about the number of innocent swept in.

Seeing the mood becoming heavy, Alex decided to alleviate it.

"Don't worry, I'm sure they will be able to succeed. Humans have always been like that; stronger after experimenting with a huge setback, they evolve, they advance. You can take an example of Earth's history. Well, we did what we could; the rest is up to them. We have our own goal to accomplish. Let's go."

The girls nodded before the one acting as temporarily mayor channeled mana into the teleportation stone. Immediately the teleportation formation lighted up, covering Alex and the girls in the middle; they disappeared shortly after.

When Alex and the girls opened their eyes again, they were inside a different world, floating islands as far as the eyes could see.

"Beautiful." Unexpectedly it was Maria who said those words, maybe it was because she was suffering from side effects from the Ice Empress Mode but, the fragile Maria right now was too sensitive, too emotive, so emotive that Alex wished to hug her all day long whispering sweet words into her ears.

"Let's eat something before trying those flying ships." Alex proposed, staring at the tall building surrounding them; he could see Eri's eyes shining; she was happy when she heard Alex's proposal. She started jumping like a child whose parents had just bought her a toy.

Alex and Maria exchanged glances before shaking their heads. They walked around and soon saw an inn; after booking rooms, they came down and ate. They decided to act independently the next day, with Alex and Maria going on a date while Eri would enjoy herself.

•••••

The next day, Alex stood there staring at the large airship laid out before him. It was long, maybe twenty meters long. The airship before him was more to the degree of a cruise ship in appearance.

Alex's eyes didn't linger too much on the airship. He turned to look over his shoulder and out over the waiting room beyond. There were dozens upon hundreds of people, elderly, young couples, children, all dressed nicely. Scanning the crowd, he searched for that head of illustrious black hair; Alex ignored the various women who would cast him their leering glances on his body, the eye patch did add a bit of mysteriousness to his handsome face and cold mask he was trying to put, those women looked like hungry hyena trying to swallow it.

However, just as those women thought they could make a move, you get nothing if you don't try; they felt chill run down their spine out of nowhere, and because most of them were ordinary civilians, they ran away without having the courage to check the cause of the chill they just felt.

Naturally, the one that caused this chill was none other than Maria, she might have temporarily lost her strength, but her killing intent still does exist; by releasing a small amount of it, she was able to scare away those ravenous thieves trying to take a bite at her golden pie, at the same time this also acts as a reminder to those men trying to hit on her. Nobody wants to mess up with this cold woman, so they opened the passage, letting her past.

Today, Maria wore a pair of white form-hugging pants that showed the curve of her ass. Upwards she had on a long-sleeved black blouse above which she wore a white and blue buttoned under-bust corset.

She walked calmly until she arrived before her man; Alex said nothing because moments like these, you better not say anything not until you enjoyed what your partner was offering, staring at her in silence with a gaze filled with love was a way to tell her that she counts to you, you loved, that in this crowd you only have eyes for her, she was the center of the world right now, and Alex did exactly that.

Maria felt loved at first, but when Alex continued to stare at her for an extended period, she became embarrassed. Maybe she lost her power, but as Alex thought she became sensible to the surrounding gazes, people were whispering while pointing their fingers at them, which increased her embarrassment.

"Alex, let's go." She said, trying to drag Alex toward the airship.

As soon as Maria spoke, the speakers lit up with noise as a steward's voice blared across the waiting room.

"We will now be opening priority boarding."

A dozen ship farers stood and pushed past the crowds arriving by the ticketing booth, where the steward and stewardess checked their passes and marked them down as arrived.

"Okay, We can talk inside," Alex, who had come back to his senses, turned to Maria and said. Without giving her room to argue, he reached for the handle of her wheeled luggage bag and took it without resistance. His hand scraped hers, sending her reeling back with a start, almost dropping the ticket she was clutching in her other hand. Maybe it was because of the way he was looking at her; Maria butterfly in her stomach coupled with her sensitivity because of the side effects, her heart began to beat loudly, almost like a drum, she quickly tried to calm down her beating heart.

Alex had no idea what her partner was going through; he didn't know that it was because of this reason Maria slept on the second bed in the room they rented; she was afraid that Alex would react abnormally when he would unconsciously. Who knows what he might think when that happened? Maybe he would label her as a horny girl; usually, those kinds of things should not matter, but when you're in love, you tend to want your image to be perfect inside your partner's mind; Maria was not an exception.

Not only does the side effect of the Ice Empress Mode make her sensitive, but it also made her realize how much Alex mean to her; she fell in love with him, she regretted that condition she put forth when he told her his feelings, it was just her not being honest with herself, she was scared at that time. But thinking about it it was not bad, the road was long, but she was now together with the one she loves, her love became stronger with all that happened, she was sure to hundred percent that she loves this man, she wanted to spend the rest of her life with him, together with her sisters and other women. As for ruling them as the head of the harem, Maria had long forgotten about this, who cares about that as long the man she loves loved her back. Wanting to the head harem without the other's consent could only put the whole harem in jeopardy, something she would want to happen.

"Little ice fairy wake up." Alex's voice echoed inside Maria's ears, startling her awake; she became aware that they still did not board the airship, that she was daydreaming, she quickly strengthened herself.

Seeing this scene, Alex chuckled before he moved to the male steward, while Maria took the female stewardess with luminous green hair and many cutesy freckles. It took a second for the woman to scan the barcode atop Maria's ticket, having to straighten out a crease formed by Maria's clamping when Alex touched her. The stewardess said nothing; she did her job; Maria was given a 'thank you for joining us, enjoy your stay,' and the two were allowed onto the ship.

Shortly after, the airship started to levitate, slowly before leaving the airport, and soon, the island they had been on became a dot; they encountered many other airships.

"Nice views," Alex commented while looking outside; Maria nodded before proposing.

"Let's go down."

"Okay, why not," Alex responded while taking the hand offered.. Maria had made up her mind and didn't hesitate anymore, hand in hand they left.

Chapter 659 - 635: I Love You

Descending steps down an enclosed tunnel, Alex and Maria were soon upon the connected doorway of the cruise liner airship. The door was wide, and inside he could smell the most pleasant scents of wood and otherwise clean, cool air. Passing by the doorway where two more stewardesses were stood with their hands cloaked in white gloves bowing and greeting every person who entered.

They entered a lobby, warm and pleasant with colors that pleased the eyes and doorways here and there leading all over.

After asking, Alex and Maria easily found their room; it was a king suite with a king-size bed; the suite was beautifully decorated with a balcony offering a view on the outside; a thick glass protected this balcony from protecting them from the violent wind outside. There was a slick black couch that sat there stoically like a mountain in a plain of flat silver glass; above them was a small crystal chandelier, it wasn't large, and it didn't quite dangle considering the solid shaft connecting it to the roof. And even the many other expensive objects scattered about expertly. Alex was pleased with their lodging.

He helped Maria to sit, her face was flushed red, and her breathing was ragged.

"How are you feeling? A bit better, I hope?" Alex asked, not hiding how worried he was.

Upon seeing him like that, Maria felt loved, and her heart pounded loudly; she tried to calm down her beating heart but failed; she could only smile before tapping the space beside her.

No word needed to be said as Alex immediately understood what she wished to convey; he sat next to her. Immediately, Maria let her head fall onto his lap; in an instant, Alex gave her a lap pillow.

"You know when I first discovered these side effects after I woke up, I resented myself for becoming weak as I couldn't do anything, but you came, although at that time I must have appeared strong in your eyes the truth is I was afraid of you seeing me like that."

Alex said nothing and let Maria continue her story; he simply caressed her hair gently and with love.

"When you think about it funny, but at that moment I didn't know, to me I must always appear strong before you. As far I can remember, I've always been strong when I met you even when we were children, even after you came back after going solo, I was strong, many people respected me, and when you said you love me, you want to date me; obviously I was happy, I thought it was because I'm a strong woman in your eyes. Because of this, and I couldn't be honest with myself, I proposed that condition, me and the girls had indeed decided to marry the same man after coming into this world always to stay together, but I shouldn't have said it like that. Fortunately, you accepted; your acceptance made me believe that you really appreciate a strong woman and because I wanted to remain that strong woman you love, I decided to become the head of the Harem at all cost, to remain that strong woman in your eyes and also because from child to adulthood, I have always stood at the top, so naturally I saw no reason for this to change even inside a Harem."

"But my perfect plan to remain strong before you crumbled during my training days with my master, while I managed to unlock a powerful ability so powerful that even my master praised me for it and was envious, it came with a downside, I couldn't control it, in this mode, I could kill my allies without knowing it, and when this mode is off I will become powerless, the duration for this side effect is unknown, it could be only one day or three, last time it was an entire week, I guess this time it will last longer than that. For me, who wanted to be perfect, I vowed not to use that ability before you because I might kill you or, worse, kill someone you love, either way, the result would be disastrous. It would be best if you didn't see my weak side; unfortunately, one wish was not always granted; you happened to see my weak side. To make matters worse, it was in an unfavorable situation, captured and beaten, so I thought you would be disappointed in me even when you would be furious seeing in that state. To my surprise, what I feared didn't come true; I saw your love; you loved me because not I'm strong, but you love me because I'm me."

Maria took a break and drank the water Alex summoned from his item box before continuing.

"This realization hit me hard, it was at that moment I knew that I shouldn't have been concerned about such petty reason, I should have loved, make you love me as I am, whether I'm strong or weak shouldn't matter, what mattered should be the way you love me, what made you love me." Talking until there Maria paused, putting her palms on Alex face she made him look directly into her ice-blue eyes before declaring.

"I'm sorry it took me so long to realize such a simple truth, and thank you for loving me, for keeping loving me. I promise to make this love everlasting; I want to be by your side now and forever. I love you, Alexander Kael Touch."

It was a beautiful declaration that sent Alex's heart into a frenzy; how long did he wait for those words? To be frank, he loved Luna, maybe it began because of a promise, but he learned to love her, as for Sakuya, she might be an extreme sadist, Alex still loves her not to the same extent as Luna but nonetheless, he loved her, he was still trying to learn more about her for their love to grow. However, in

Maria case, it was different; it was his first love after all, back on Earth, he wanted her but was too busy, this changed after they reincarnated into this world, he vowed to make her his no matter what it would take, so without too much thought he accepted her proposal back then.

And finally, the girl he had his eyes on admitted her true feeling; Alex could not be happier, holding her face in return, he declared.

"I love you too, Maria Alexia Rosares, be mine forever."

"I will be yours forever."

An immediate response, the two sealed this oath with a kiss, a kiss filled with love.

Chapter 660 - 636: Their Union* 1

That kiss was like a fuse that lit up a fire. In the next second, Alex was hugging her head as they searched passionately for the lips of the other.

Maria wrapped her arms around Alex's neck and began kissing him passionately; maybe it was because of her past experience; she was a good kisser, Alex almost lost facing her, but he quickly unleashed his full strength and won the battle.

Soon, Maria's breathing quickly turned heavy, and her face turned red. She tightened her arms around Alex's neck and glued her body into his body, melting in his embrace.

Alex answered by biting her soft lips. Maria moaned and closed her eyes in answer.

Their kiss continued for a long while. When they finished their first kiss, they kissed again, and again, and again. As if they couldn't get enough of each other.

After a few minutes of kissing, Alex separated his mouth from hers and kissed her neck.

Maria lifted her face and let out a moan. He went to lick and bit her neck softly, causing the Ice Empress to shiver in pleasure.

The pleasure she was feeling was so intense that Maria's eyes had turned hazy. She looked at Alex with a passionate expression that ignited his lust, but before he could do anything, Maria made the first move; she hugged his neck and began to kiss his face crazily. Alex responded to each of her kisses and slowly caressed her body, moving his hands down her waist and belly and kissing her ear gently.

"Uhhh..." Maria whispered in joy and moved her hands toward Alex's back.

Seeing her expression, Alex began to unbutton her dress. Maria sat on the bed to make it easier for him to take off her clothes as she took the initiative to undress him too.

In the blink of an eye, the professional Alex had finished unbuttoning her dress; he didn't possess Flash fingers' title for anything. Flashing her a grin, Alex sealed her lips while pulling down the dress slowly.

Soon, the two became naked as their clothes were gone.

Looking at Maria's naked body, Alex couldn't help but sigh in admiration.

Her skin was pale white, and her body had the perfect curves. Her breasts were very big, to the point that he could barely cover them with his hands.

Her long black hair fell to her back like a curtain, and her ice-blue eyes seemed to look directly into his soul. She was so beautiful that Alex wanted to engrave this image in his mind forever.

"You are really beautiful, a true masterpiece." Alex offered an honest opinion, and Maria's face bloomed into a beautiful smile; she was not ashamed of her body, she proudly let Alex check it as much he wanted and was happy that her body enraptured him; she worked hard to have this. While she was born natural, without continuous care, she wouldn't be this beautiful, so naturally, she was proud of her body.

To let her know how much he was captivated, Alex immediately went on the offensive.

"Ahhnn!!!!"

Suddenly, Maria moaned loudly as Alex wrapped his hands around her chest, his flash fingers kicked in. Her body reacted to the feeling of his fast fingers' touch. However, in return, she caressed Alex's chest and searched for his mouth with her tongue as Alex played with her breasts.

Soon their movements became wilder and wilder. Alex gently pushed Maria down on the bed and lay on her. His mouth continued kissing her lips while his hands moved around her body, stimulating her sensitive parts and caressing her soft skin.

Maria's ice-blue eyes were completely moist. Her black hair fell on the bed, creating a beautiful image that captivated me. If there were a painter present, he would use this scene to paint a masterpiece.

On the other hand, Alex's excitement grew nonstop. Feeling her body trembling below him granted Alex a fantastic feeling of dominance. Finally, he was with his first love, he was beyond happy, the road was not easy, but finally he was here, he would make her his forever, engraving his mark into the deepest part of her soul, so would never forget to whom she belongs.

Alex then moved one of his hands between Maria's legs. He slowly stroked her thighs before touching her sacred cave.

When Alex's hand touched her vagina, Maria could not help but shiver.

Instantly, lots of love juice flowed out of her cave, drenching his hands completely.

It was her first orgasm!

Maria closed her eyes and moaned, satisfied. She hugged his back and pressed her body against mine as her body quivered.

Looking at her expression, Alex grinned. Then, he bit her ear and muttered sweet words.

"You are very beautiful, my Ice Empress."

Maria chuckled and looked at Alex with an expression of love. She then brought her mouth towards his ears and whispered something.

"You are also handsome, my Lord."

Maria's words sent shivers down his spine; her words awakened the beast inside Alex, but he managed to tame it; it must take it slow and think about his partner; it was her first time; after all, he must not let his lust overtake him.

Having calmed down, Alex moved his finger and caressed the entrance of her vagina.

"Mmmhhmmm..." Maria moaned softly and looked at Alex with entranced eyes.

The current Maria was very sensitive. Her mouth quickly let out moans and groans of pleasure, and her cave became utterly drenched. Alex could feel her vagina twitching in anticipation.

Alex continued teasing her. His finger stroked her clitoris softly before pinching it, making Maria quiver due to the pleasure.

Then using his other hand, Alex began to rub her breasts while his mouth licked and kissed her shoulders and neck, enjoying her reactions.

Maria's body twitched and twisted below Alex's body. She hugged his back tightly, slowly being drowned by the pleasure.

Eventually, her body spasmed violently.

Maria had climaxed again, and this time faster than last time.. It was her second climax.