

Death Guns 661

Chapter 661 - 637: Their Union* 2

"Huh... huh..." Maria panted after her second climax. Her body was twitching due to the intense stimulation it felt, and her expression was dazed.

But at that moment, she felt something huge and hard pressing against her pussy.

The ice empress opened her eyes in surprise. She looked down and saw Alex's penis standing proudly before her entrance, ready to invade her holy land at any time.

"It's so big," Maria exclaimed. She then touched it with her hand to feel; the stimulation made Alex's cock shiver in delight.

Alex smiled and let Maria do what she wanted; after one minute, he couldn't take anymore, he rubbed her slit with his cock. Maria let out a gasp of surprise.

She then looked into his eyes timidly.

"I heard that it hurts the first time...."

Those words sent shivers of pleasure down Alex's body, making him tremble.

Alex was surprised; saying he wasn't surprised would be an understatement because he thought she must have some experiences, not in Mysthia but from their old world, but from those words he heard earlier, it meant that she didn't have any experience even back on Earth. Although they were seventeen years old, on Earth a lot of children at that age have plenty of experience when it comes to sex, as proof he had a ton of experiences, so he believed that Maria would also have some, especially girls as pretty as her must have had a ton of pursuers, but she remained a virgin until she reincarnated into Mysthia.

"Are you serious?" Even though his heart said she was inexperienced, Alex's mouth still blurted out such a question.

"Yeah, I was a virgin. It might be too shocking, but although I go out a few times with some guys, we never went all the way down, some caresses, kiss, but that's all. I played with them. Most of them wanted to be dominated because my personality backs them that of dominator." Maria explained although she had seen cocks, Alex's cock should be at the top; he had a top holy weapon.

Meanwhile, Alex gulped not because of anticipation at the word dominator because of shiver; he felt pity for those men who got played; well, they must have wanted it.

Shaking his head, Alex decided to focus on the matter before him, time to satisfy his partner. Seeing the dignified Maria acting so timidly made Alex's heart race; he wanted to jump on her and devour her like a beast. Still, by doing something like that, it would be irresponsible, at least not immediately; he must be gentle at first. The rest should naturally come out on its own.

To reassure Maria a little bit, Alex smiled before lifting her chin with his hand, kissing her soft lips lovingly, he whispered gently

"Don't worry; I will be gentle."

Maria nodded and closed her eyes. That was the signal.

In the next second, Alex moved his waist forward slowly.

Alex's dick slides slowly inside Maria's vagina. Her tight walls clenched around his dick, pressing it tightly.

"Uhhh...~" She let out a deep moan. Her body quivered when she felt Alex's dick invading her pussy.

Alex stopped for a moment and observed Maria's reactions before he continued pushing his waist forward. Her pussy was opening gradually to accept his shaft in.

To cope with the incoming pain, Maria grabbed the blankets tightly, but it didn't help too much, so she wrinkled her brows, trying to cope with the pain and pleasure she was feeling.

Finally, Alex felt something obstructing him. Truth be told, he thought he wouldn't feel an obstruction because of how hard Maria used to train compared to the others, something woman lost their hymen during training, but Alex guessed that this didn't happen to his ice empress.

"Ugh..." Maria moaned and looked at Alex with pitiful eyes. He kissed her lips tenderly to reassure her.

"Are you alright?" Alex asked.

Maria gave him a small nod. She tried to put on a calm smile, but the brief signs of pain on her face did not escape Alex's eyes.

He smiled and moved slowly inside her pussy without breaking her hymen.

Suddenly, Alex had an idea; he remembered that he still kept some ice cubes inside his item box; he would often use them in his drinks, but who would have thought it would come in handy now. With just a thought, Alex summoned an ice cube and caught it before it fell, then he lowered his head and kissed Maria's mouth, inserting the ice cube in it. She was surprised, but soon her body shivered because Alex summoned another ice cube, using his teeth he caressed her breasts with it, making Maria's body shiver.

Slowly, Maria's expression of pain faded, and her face turned hot again because of the unexpected stimulus. She began to pant softly and twist her body below Alex's body.

When Alex was sure she was ready, he thrust his holy spear forward.

"Ugh! It hurts."

Immediately, Maria's face distorted. She hugged Alex's body tightly and bit his shoulder to cope with the pain. Finally, the virginity she had saved for two lifetimes was gone; she didn't regret it because she lost it to the one she loved; what could be more awesome than this? She was happy.

In the meantime, Alex was slowly savoring the feeling of taking her virginity; he thrust his dick all the way in. This made Maria react, her toes curled down, and her body twitched due to the pain and pleasure she was feeling at the same time.

To help alleviate the pain she must be feeling, Alex decided to do what he did earlier; he brought out another ice cube and began to caress her body using it; he ran the ice cube on her erected nipples.

"Ugh! Anhhh~" Maria's body shivered, the cold energy-sipping through her nipples aroused her, making her let out a loud moan.

At the same time, Alex's fingers magically caressed her ears; she was sensitive there; the simultaneous attacks almost made her mind go blank, she shivered nonstop, she began to loosen up.

Chapter 662 - 638: Their Union 3*

Once Alex felt the pain of losing her virginity begin to fade out, he started moving his waist.

Because of the stimulus she received, Maria's pussy became wetter, making Alex's penis slide inside easier and smoother than before. He then began to thrust in and out in a slow rhythm.

Soon, the ice empress began to pant. Her eyes became moist, and her expression turned hazy. She started to feel it.

To increase her pleasure, Alex kissed her neck and moved his hands to her breasts, caressing them while his pelvis repeatedly thrust inside her sacred land, bringing them an incredible pleasure.

"Ahh...~ Anhh~" Maria was foreign to such pleasure, he hugged Alex's back. Her legs wrapped around his waist, and she began to move her waist to cooperate with his movements; it was an instinctive reaction.

"Alexia," Alex exhaled in her ear and bit her earlobe. Maria twitched and moaned while kissing his neck, trying to leave a hickey there.

Their bodies were entangled on the king-size bed, caressing each other and trying to get as much pleasure as possible. Maria had long forgotten about the pain of her virginity and was concerned only about the heat of their bodies.

Her bare skin had turned red. Her nipples perked up under the constant teasing of his hands, and her legs pressed his waist tightly against her pussy.

After Maria became used to the pleasure, she began to fight Alex for the lead. Unfortunately, her inexperienced body was unable to face his constant movements. As a veteran, he couldn't lose, so he moved skillfully and thrust his dick inside her pussy once and again, pleasuring every single inch of her vagina and causing her love juices to fill her cave.

Alex moved up and down, attacking fiercely without stopping. Before long, the virgin body of Maria was unable to endure the constant bursts of pleasure and shivered.

"Oooh! Cumming again...~" Maria let out a long cry and hugged Alex's neck with all her strength. He enjoyed her reaction and paused briefly to give her room to breathe. When he ensured that her orgasm ended, he grinned and immediately thrust his hips forward.

"Wait...!" Maria, who understood what Alex was trying to do, said while panting; she tried to stop him, she was too sensitive after her orgasm more would make her lose her mind. Unfortunately, Alex would not listen to her plea; he ignored her pleas to stop and resumed moving.

Her tight and wet cave brought him an incomparable feeling. Moreover, he had finally conquered her after a long while, so naturally, he wanted to enjoy their first time as much as he could.

Maria's body trembled under Alex's fierce attacks. She bit her lips to suppress her moans, but the continuous waves of pleasure defeated her quickly. Before long, she was again cooperating with him. She was losing her mind; the pleasure was too much.

"Ooh! Oooh! Ahhh!~"

She moaned again and again. To stifle her moans, her mouth moved through Alex's neck and chest, sucking and biting it repeatedly to cope with the pleasure. Alex was sure, most likely, his neck would be filled with hickeys tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Maria's skin quivered under the touch of Alex's Flash fingers. He sucked her neck and accelerated his movements as his dick slid in and out easily, breaking through her layers of flesh and touching the entrance of her womb.

The Ice Empress cried and exclaimed with each thrust, gripping his arms strongly.

Alex could feel Maria's womb clenching around his dick. He was unsure if she was doing it purposefully or instinctively, but the pleasure it brought Alex was intense, almost making loose control.

Originally, Maria was closer to the Saint Realm, she might have lost her power temporarily, but her physics and endurance were much higher than a normal human. Even though she had orgasmed thrice, she did not seem tired.

Moreover, at some point, she had started to take the initiative. Alex suspected that she was trying to make him cum before she cum. Most likely, she did not want to cum again before making Alex cum even once. It was embarrassing to be the one getting constantly pleasured, sex, it about the satisfaction of two people, not only one person, it what her father used to tell her when they talked about sex subjects.

Alex could feel what Maria had in mind, not that he was looking down on her, but he wanted to tease her just this once beside men that last in bed and know how to pleasure their partner are appreciated. So, to tease his ice empress a bit more, Alex smirked and looked straight into her eyes. Maria moved her gaze away shyly and bit her lips. But suddenly, she felt a strong impact below.

"!!!" She trembled. She felt the movements of Alex's hips becoming faster and fiercer, and she began to have trouble suppressing her next orgasm. Alex did notice this; he couldn't help but smile proudly.

Seeing his smug expression, Maria clenched her teeth and put strength on her waist. Her vagina clenched around Alex's penis, trying to make him cum too. She was a novice; if she was a veteran, she might have won.

Upon seeing Maria trying so hard, Alex put on an amused expression but decided to please her. So, he put all his focus on her cave and accelerated his pistons even more.

Soon, something hot began to build up in Alex's abdomen, telling him that he had finally reached his limit. Alex kissed Maria's lips and put her legs over his shoulders, and then began his last sprint.

Maria gasped. Her pussy's walls tightened and clenched his cock, and her womb seemed to suck on his holy sword to get his baby-making seed.

The next second, a tremendous amount of love juice gushed out of her cave.

Maria twitched and shivered as the love fluids drenched the bed.

Meanwhile, Alex's excitement reached its peak; he grunted and thrust his waist forward with all his strength at that moment. Instantly, his semen was released and shot inside Maria's womb after his cock pierced through it.

"Ooohhhh...." Maria gasped and closed her eyes. She could feel something hot filling her cave and entering her deepest part.

Finally, her body shivered violently.

Alex looked at the beautiful body below him and smiled. Although he wished to continue, he decided to stop, for now; they would have all the time in the world as they would be spending the rest of their lives together.

"I love you." Alex declared while lying beside her.

"Ahh! Ahh! I love you too!" Despite her exhaustion, Maria still responded to Alex; she soon closed her eyes and went to sleep.

Chapter 663 - 639: Under The Moonlight 1

Moonlight traveled through the night with graceful ease, lightening the rising path.

Alex leads Maria to the restaurant area of the cruise ship. It was neatly divided into dozens of tables and chairs for families and couples, never blending groups unless both sides willed it. They'd been one of the later arrivals. It was to be expected, as they were busy getting connected after their declaration of love, they'd seen the time passing.

Glancing around the warm atmosphere of light browns and off-shaded ivories, Alex couldn't help but marvel at the sight. The room was like a five-star restaurant, just from the looks of the polished wood flooring, real wood, and the soft red table cloths coloring all the tables. Atop them, cutlery and plates set up professionally, knives to the right, forks to the left, and dessert cutlery horizontal above the plate alongside two glasses just a bit above the forks: red wine glass and a water glass. There was even a jug of water covered in condensation, telling him it was cold water for them to enjoy. Coupled with the sight of the starry night, it was a sight to behold.

Alex settled Maria into a chair before kissing her forehead; Maria smiled at this gesture, her eyes filled with love. Alex took his seat just across from her.

It didn't take long for their waiter to come up to them again. There was a smile on his face, and he fiddled with his vest, gaze inclining to Maria for a moment before finding Alex where his eyes dilated almost desiringly. A sight that caused Alex to cringe away slightly. He might not have anything against men liking men, but it was not something he was going to even consider himself.

"Good evening and welcome to Bels, I am Joakim, and I will be your waiter for this evening," The waiter spoke calmly and clearly. From under his arm, he set pulled two menus, black-rimmed ones with a plastic film to keep the paper withing clean, and set them down silently before the couple.

"Can I get you anything to drink for the moment?"

Joakim questioned, hands crossing for a moment before finding their way to his shirt pocket to pick out his notepad and a pen. Indeed a professional, the service here reminds him of Earth.

Quickly shaking his head, Alex hummed, then glanced to Maria then picked up the menu before looking up the brown-headed boy,

"A wine will do," Alex ordered a wine.

"Do you have a preference?" The waiter, Joakim, asked, but Alex shook his head.

"House is perfectly fine. Oh, and bring the bottle. That'll be perfect."

"Okay, I'll be right back," Joakim said before disappearing. In his absence, a silence promulgated between the two, filled only with the low chatters of their neighboring tables and the soft orchestral music in the background to give some reprieve from the dull chatterings of unknown individuals.

"How are you feeling," Alex flipped closed the menu, having already made his choice of starter, main, and dessert.

"Tired but happy," Maria said while sighing.

"You didn't listen to me." She added with a pout.

Alex chuckled, saying nothing; silence reigned in for a minute or two before Alex asked.

"Are you feeling? I'm talking about the side effect. Did you feel any change?"

Upon hearing Alex's words, she couldn't help but feel a little amused as the corners of her mouth perked up. His words were too funny, and she wasn't going to let it slide without teasing him.

"No, I feel no change. Sorry, your seed is not all almighty as you thought."

"Cough! Cough!" Alex coughed, embarrassed.

[[Why not open a cosmetic shop while you are at it. SP Man.]]

Naturally, as someone who would never miss out on any opportunity to tease him, Silveria butted in. Alex could swear that he heard someone chuckling, the voice resembled Nyx's, but Alex was unsure.

"Well, I was joking anyway. But is there anything you can do to accelerate your recovery because at this rate, a week would pass without you being able to recover. But you know we must ascend fast, gain strength, who knows what is happening back home." Alex said.

As said, he had taken Mysthia as his home, and he would do anything to save it; after all, it was in the world where his memories of love bloomed. In that world, he learned to love; on Earth, he only played never loved the girls with whom he shared a physical relationship with, but in Mysthia, he found love, loved several women at the same time, something he never thought it was possible, so naturally, he wanted to preserve this love nest if possible.

"To tell the truth, I don't know. Maybe this time, the side effect will be two or three weeks, even worse. As for a method to help me alleviate this side effect, it doesn't exist. We searched everywhere but found nothing. Master said that the only thing we can do is to wait for me to recuperate; naturally, no medicine, no healing spells would work on me. Although this side effect looks like a curse at the same time, it is not a curse." Maria explained her situation to Alex, who nodded with a pondering expression.

"I see. It's hard if there's nothing that can be done. You don't know how to activate it, or you don't remember. Either way, we must find a solution."

Looking at Alex with such a serious made Maria happy, despite her saying there was no solution, not even her master, Freya was able to find a solution, Alex still believes that he could find one, all of this because he was concerned about her, seeing her in such weakened state pained him.

"Don't worry, it will be fine. I'm used to this. Soon I'll be back to normal again. So-"

"Stop saying those words. You have to believe in your man." Alex declared, sure that he would find a solution for her problem; in fact, he had an idea after hearing her say that it was like a curse but at the same time not.

Just as Alex wanted to share his idea, he sensed Joakim, their waiter approaching.

Chapter 664 - 640: Under The Moonlight 2

Joakim approached the couple, and he held the wine softly by the neck with one hand under the body and presented the label to Alex to inspect before explaining it and its origin.

Alex and Maria didn't care if this wine was from some famous brand or was too aged because they wouldn't know the brand anyway.

The waiter could see that the couple was not knowledgeable about the wine they offered; he found this too regretful. Still, upon a closer look at Alex and Maria, Joakim immediately understood why they wouldn't know, it was because they are not from here, not from this floor, not from this tower, and not a native of Exodus, so it was normal for them to not unknown as they spent their time climbing.

Shaking his head, the waiter poured Alex's wine glass till the widest part; Alex then told the waiter his order for that evening, with Maria following suit. Her meal was salad while Alex asked for a ravioli. Joakim disappeared as soon as he registered their orders.

When the waiter faded to the background once more, Alex looked up to Maria, focused on her chest where he believed whatever causing her to be in this state must be there, how much he wished to have an x-ray vision right now, it would help him see through her body, knowing where the problem lies, this would be the first step to his plan if it were what he thought it would be then he would have a chance helping his woman.

Unfortunately, he didn't have an x-ray vision, nor his Divine Sense could act as a substitute as he hoped; this left the black prince frustrated, and Maria, who was observing him the whole time, noticed his state.

"Don't worry, it's fine. As I said, I will be back to normal in a few days; you don't have to try too hard for him."

Maria's words made Alex more depressed; he racked his brain to find a solution when suddenly he had an idea.

'Sil, can you help me? Didn't you say you have special eyes like your sister?' Alex asked, hoping that Silveria could help him as he had an idea.

Fortunately, asking for Silveria's help proved the right thing to do.

『Okay, but I will need to borrow your body.』 Silveria accepted to help him.

Unexpectedly Nyx said a few words after a long time.

『Although I'm curious about what you have in mind, you should hurry, as the Ice girl said this time the side effect she is suffering from is different and more vicious if nothing is done this might last more than a month and also if she recuperates her Rank would fall.』

Nyx's words rang like an alarm bell inside Alex's head, now than ever, he must find a solution but first, he must check Maria's body to see whether or not what he had in mind would work.

'Okay, do it.' Alex gave his permission, and immediately Silveria acted.

Just as Maria was about to ask why Alex was not saying anything, she was shocked because his left eye turned silver.

Silveria, who borrowed Alex's body, immediately scanned Maria's body, focusing his left eye on her chest; his eye pierced her body like an x-ray, he saw her heart almost turned into a glass heart which shocked him (her).

『This girl will be a strong weapon, a fearsome Ice user. Not too many have this ice heart, even back in our time. It's good she found love before her heart will turn totally into an ice heart; if not, she would be nothing more than a machine whose sole purpose would be destruction.』 Nyx, who knew what Maria's heart was explained, shocking Alex, he wanted more answers, but now wasn't the time, he must focus on what he was doing.

Beside Maria's glass heart was a small black matter beating like a heart. Upon seeing this thing, Alex understood that it was causing Maria's suffering, and his lips curved upward; now, he would try the second part of his plan.

『You seem happy,; you have a plan. Can you tell me now?』 Silveria asked after giving him back the control of his body.

'Don't worry, you will know soon. I will need your help to do it anyway, but for now, I have a dinner to finish and something important to do after that.' Alex said and smiled at Maria, who seemed worried, probably because his left eye changed when Silveria was in control.

"Don't worry, Alexia, I'm fine, and I have found a solution."

"Okay, let's eat," Maria responded with a smile. She was happy that finally, a solution appeared.

The two ate happily. When they had just finished Maria heard soft music playing in the background, just as she was scanning the whole floor searching for where the music was coming from, a commotion arose.

"Look." Someone pointed at their table while another immediately said.

"I think he is about to do that thing."

Even without turning back, Maria already knew what they were talking about and why this commotion had started. Her heart began beating loudly; still, she turned around, and there on his knees was Alex; his eyes were staring directly into her eyes as he declared what every girl wanted to hear in their life once.

"Alexia, I love you and want to spend the rest of my life with you. Will you marry me?" As he declared those words, he held out a ring, the most beautiful ring she had ever seen. A sparkling snow-white ring with an oval blue diamond that looked like her eyes.

In that instant, Maria seemed to remember everything that happened to them, the first time she encountered him when they were children to the moment she made that ridiculous condition, to when she knew she was in love with him and he loved her back. His voice, the way he looked at her, his touch, everything thing about him sent her heart into a frenzy; she loved him more than anything, and seeing kneeling right now and asking her hand in marriage, the answer had been decided from the beginning.

"Yes, I will." Under the moonlight, she gave her answer, and Alex put the ring on her finger. People started applauding, asking for a kiss, what they did before escaping back to their room.. Finally, the ice empress got owned.

Chapter 665 - 641: Curing Maria

After escaping from the restaurant, Alex and Maria returned to their suite.

"Hahaha! That was fun." Alex commented after laughing.

"Fufufu! You are right. I'm happy that many people have witnessed your proposal. Although I don't know them, their presence made me happy." Maria said before lying beside Alex on the king-size bed.

"I'm happy to have encountered you. If only I could show you and others to my grandma. I'm sure she would be proud of her grandson. Well, I will find a solution to go back in the future. I'll make sure of it." Alex declared, and Maria caressed his face gently while whispering.

"Of course, we will help you as well. We all miss home."

"You are we will go back after completing why we got reincarnated for." Alex's words made Maria recall that indeed they reincarnated for something.

"You are right, but let's not talk about that for now. When we were at the restaurant, you said that you had finally figured out a solution to my problem. Can you tell me what you got?"

Alex didn't immediately answer Maria's question. He used her legs as a pillow; looking into her eyes, he finally began explaining with a question.

"Do you remember that there's a curse put on Mysthia?"

"I do. A powerful being beat all the Gods and put a curse on Mysthia afterward."

"Yes, it was a dragon," Alex added.

"I see, so we will be fighting against a dragon in the final fight?"

Alex nodded, and Maria grinned.

"How interesting!" She said.

"But I don't understand why you brought this up."

"Well, one of those Gods is still alive and cursed."

"What?" Maria exclaimed because Alex's words shocked her, but she immediately calmed down and started thinking; soon, she narrowed down the list to the Elven goddess; only her disappeared while the others died in the war.

"Who is she?" Maria immediately asked as she was sure that her man knew the answer.

"It is Elseria, the guild master of the Adventurer guild." Alex calmly replied.

And to his surprise Maria didn't react as he thought she would, she simply nodded.

"It makes sense. She is too mysterious, and many people are afraid of her. My master respects her a lot, almost as if she was her mentor. If there's someone she was afraid of, it's only that woman, no wonder."

"I see. Okay, the reason why I started this subject was to tell you how the solution I'm about to use was born."

Maria nodded and kept listening.

"It's because I thought of a method of erasing Elseria's curse. You know that my silver gun can cancel any magic, don't you?"

To this question, she nodded.

"So, I thought maybe that unique ability could erase Elseria's curse as curses are undoubtedly magic."

Maria was pleasantly surprised that Alex could think of such a method after learning about Elseria's curse.

"I understand how you want to help me now. If I'm not wrong, you didn't speak of this solution to Elseria yet. Or you have already done that?"

"No, I haven't told her anything yet. What I'm about to do is more like an experiment. Sorry that you will have to become my guinea pig, but I'm confident in curing you. So, the final decision is up to you." Alex told Maria while waiting patiently for her answer.

However, it didn't take even a second before she gave her answer. It was an immediate answer.

"Sure, I will gladly become your guinea pig because I believe in you. You will not harm me as I know how much you love me, so let's begin." Maria declared before making herself comfortable.

Seeing how determined she was, any doubt he had left vanished, Alex chuckled before abruptly kissing Maria. Her body stiffened for a moment before gradually relaxing.

"Thank you." It's all she said, and Alex smiled in response. As she understood him, the same was applied to him, despite putting on a strong front she was a bit scared something Alex noticed and to help her relax, he kissed her, and it worked like a charm.

"You don't need to do anything; just stay still and relax your body. It will be over soon." Alex told Maria not to do anything, and she nodded.

Meanwhile, Alex asked for Silveria's help as she was the most vital part of this treatment. If she messed up, then the worse could happen.

'Sil, please help me. I hope you can make your bullet as harmless as possible; it just needs to erase that curse; no, if possible, I wish to convert it into energy that she might you. Can you do that?'

[[I can, but I want to go on a date as a reward.]]

Silveria's condition surprised Alex; he wondered what had gotten into her but still accepted her condition.

'Okay, deal.'

[[Good, I'm going to eat ice cream so much my belly will hurt. Fufufu! I'm looking forward to our date.]]

Alex, who was worried, felt like an idiot after hearing what Silveria wanted to do during their date.

'Okay, let's begin.' Alex said with Silveria nodding.

"Golden Hour Five Seconds Time!"

Alex immediately activated his time ability freezing Maria; like this, she would not feel anything, aiming the silver gun toward her chest together with Silveria he fired.

"Erase!"

Bang!

The silver bullet penetrated Maria's chest going directly toward the curse; for a moment, Alex could have sworn that the curse that should have been unable to move struggled as though sensing death approaching, but before it could succeed, the silver bullet exploded to form a net that covered the curse.

Boom!

There was an explosion inside Maria's body; fortunately, Silveria had anticipated this; a part of the silver net got converted into a wall protecting Maria's glass heart while the remaining net pushed the explosion out of Maria's body.

Alex was sent flying by this explosion, and when he stood up, Maria was there floating in the air like a goddess.

Chapter 666 - 642: A Scotch

Alex was mesmerized by the scene before him.

Beautiful white hair, a pair of piercing blue eyes that could freeze any weak-willed individual's soul, that cold face that shows that she doesn't care about anything. All of this was simply,

"Beautiful!" Alex complimented before feeling chill; he didn't know since when, but the whole suite had been turned into ice.

"Wow!" Alex mumbled while getting ready to use Erase to cancel the ice when things would go out of control but soon found out that he worried for nothing.

The floating Maria descended and clapped twice, and immediately following this gesture; everything was back to normal.

Without waiting for her to say something, Alex said with a wide smile on his face.

"I guess my method worked then."

"Yeah, you're a genius to have thought of such a method," Maria responded; her hair had turned black again, completely black. She sauntered forward and arrived before Alex in the blink of an eye; this time, she was the one to initiate a kiss.

The two kissed passionately; maybe it was because she gained her strength back, but her body temperature was lower than that of a normal person, not that Alex mind such a minor detail.

After hugging for a while, they got separated while still holding hands. Staring into those ice-blue eyes, Alex remarked.

"Your eyes have become more beautiful."

"Is that true?" Maria asked, and Alex nodded before asking.

"Nothing strange after you have recovered?"

Maria shook her head. "Nothing strange, on the contrary, I feel powerful than beautiful, and my body is perfectly fine, stronger than ever."

Her words made Alex happy, but just to be sure, he asked her to check her status, and she was greatly surprised.

"I see, I understand now. Check for yourself."

Alex immediately used the Eye of Truth on Maria and saw her new status.

"Not bad, it seems that you can use your ability immediately, which is a good thing. I believe that must be a time limit, but this limit can be overcome as you progress."

"You are right. Although I have lost two levels, it's nothing I can increase them again but what I'm happy about is my MP increased. As for my Ice Empress Mode, as you have said, there's a time limit. Currently, I can only use it for three seconds. Some might say that it is too short, but remembering what I can do in this mode, all I have to say is it worth it."

Hearing Maria talks like that made Alex want to fight her to find out how strong this mode was. Unknowingly his lips curved upward to form the same smile he had when he was about to face a strong enemy, and Maria had seen this smile many times already; her glass heart began beating rapidly, and her mouth also formed a smile.

"It seems that you want to spar with me? Shall we head out?" Maria asked while she began preparing for a fight.

"Sure! I would want that, but now isn't the time. Let's enjoy tonight and spend more time doing nothing until we arrive at our destination. What do you say?" Instead of accepting the fight, Alex suggested that they enjoyed their time together as they would have many opportunities to fight later.

"Okay!" Maria reluctantly accepted; she wished to show her man how strong she had become.

That night they slept peacefully, and soon a new day had begun.

Arriving at the bar, Alex leaned onto it, raising one hand and one finger to catch the grey-haired boy in a neat, short-sleeved vest and top.

"A Scotch, please." He ordered; he was pleasantly surprised last night when he found out that they had something that looked like scotch from Earth. Today would be his first time trying.

The bartender nodded and served the scotch in a flash together with a bit of ice mixed in. Alex nodded and took a sip; hell, it was indeed a scotch.

Alex left the bar and turned to the pool, fifteen short steps; he was at the thick bartop railing and settled himself on a stool beneath it. His heterochromia eyes scanned the several men and women and soon fell to Maria, who was half-submerged till her eyes were the only thing on display. Constantly darting around as she pushed herself against the wall, not wanting to get anywhere near the other swimmers ogling at her hourglass figure.

"What a sight," Alex mumbled as he watched Maria's water cloaked body escape the water, her skin now glistening, causing her swimsuit to wrap up tighter around her body than before. She was in a black swimsuit. Arriving by their seats, she grabbed her towel and began drying herself off. When she moved to sit, she then balled herself up and wrapped herself in it like a blanket.

Carrying his drink, Alex went down; he arrived before Maria, who lifted her head and smiled when she saw him.

"A Scotch this early in the morning?" She asked while leaning into her chair. Sitting beside her, Alex took a sip of his scotch and shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, I'm homesick, so I thought to drink something that could calm me down. So, I ordered this drink. Now I'm not homesick anymore."

Upon hearing his reply, the corners of Maria's mouth lifted into a smile. She extended her hands, clapped twice, and soon after, the same bartender boy that served Alex earlier drifted toward them.

"The same drink as this gentleman." She said.

"Certainly." the grey-haired bartender boy nodded before disappearing, and soon he was back again with Maria's drink.

When she tasted it, she nodded.

"It has a smoky flavor, and as you said, I'm not feeling homesick anymore."

It was Alex's turn to be amused.. It was like this the two enjoyed their morning.

Chapter 667 - 643: A Certain Trio

Far East Empire, Zen, the capital of the empire.

The culture here looks like that of Chinese culture, and currently, sitting around a table inside a Chinese restaurant were three people, two males, and one female.

Suddenly, among the males sitting around the table, one raised his fist was about to bash the table but stopped when the woman sitting across from him glared at him, but even if she managed to stop him from bashing his fist again, the table she couldn't stop from cursing.

"Fuck! How many months has it been? But we found nothing until now. Why are we even suffering like this when he disappeared on his own? Fuck! Seriously it pisses me off." Kevin shouted many curses not suitable for human ears to hear.

Neither Dodolus nor Camilla said anything as they could understand his frustration. It had been more than five months since they set off to search for Leonardo, but until now, they found nothing, no clue whatsoever. It was as if Leonardo vanished completely; there was no trace of him anywhere. While Mysthia was not a modern-day where it was easy to find someone, this world does possess its way of finding people, especially if this person was once an adventurer; they roamed the world searching for him. Still, in the end, they found nothing; it was normal that they would become frustrated after repetitive failure.

While enjoying his fried pork Kevin admired the scenery before him; the restaurant was full of customers eating, drinking, and chatting. Waitresses dressed in cheongsam were serving them. Their cheongsam was small with a slit on either side to let men imagination run wild as this let them glimpse at the white thigh underneath.

Kevin gulped, already imagining some hot night with one of those Chinese-looking girls. While most men are a fan of Japanese culture, Kevin think differently; if he were to choose, then he would go for Chinese culture instead; Indian culture comes second before Japanese culture. So, being surrounded by girls that remind him of Chinese culture didn't help but arouse him. To temporarily forget their repetitive failure, Kevin decided to drown himself in lust. He would do anything to spend a night with one of the girls in cheongsam tonight.

Camilla and Dodolus exchanged looks before secretly sighing they could understand their brother. After Camilla, Kevin was most affected by Leonardo's sudden disappearance. He was like a second brother; his world was essentially revolved around him; Leonardo was like his beacon, so his disappearance affected him greatly. Without him, he was not complete.

Just as Camilla was about to offer some words to help his brother, she was stopped by the gossip that began. She was not the only one; her brothers stopped whatever they were doing to listen to this gossip as they felt that whatever the other party was about to say would benefit them greatly.

"Have you heard it?" A man with a crooked nose eating Chinese dumplings initiated the conversation.

Sitting beside him was a man whose features could be extremely ugly; he was fat; not only was he fat, but his face was also covered in scars. His eyes were small also unrecognizable. This ugly man looked at the man with a crooked nose patiently; Kevin felt a shiver race down his spine just by imagining what this gaze meant.

"Stop beating around the bush and tell us, sweetie." The ugly fat man said, trying to act cute; Kevin and Dodolus, who rarely show any, felt like throwing up; they were not the only ones while Camilla was not the one to judge others based on their preference, she couldn't help but think that this fat man together with that thin man was not good, but she knew that her opinion didn't matter, she didn't care she wanted to know kept listening.

"It is said that the Black Prince, you know the Eighth, got engaged to the third princess, the beautiful Artemia Eretria Von Havens."

"What?" The other customers exclaimed at this news; they couldn't believe it; how many had the crown prince tried to ask for Artemia hand in marriage but to be refused at the end? So hearing that an outsider becomes the fiancé of such a perfect girl made them angry.

While the inhabitants of the Far East Empire were mad because their prince was not chosen, Dodolus, Kevin, and Camilla were surprised by the sudden development. At the same time, they didn't know how this relationship came to be, but this spell was nothing good but trouble; it would mean that Alex was getting closer to the throne than them. While they did know he had no desire for the throne, if his woman were to offer him the throne on a silver plate, who knows what he could do.

"Wow! What news. I wonder how our crown would react? Knowing how infuriated he was with her. Maybe he would challenge the Eighth in a duel where the winner would have the girl. I'm fired to know who will win. I wish it would happen immediately because the current world is too peaceful." the fat ugly man said; surprisingly enough, most of the customers seemed to share the same view as him. To them, the current era was too peaceful; maybe it came from the fact that most of them were mercenaries, and mercenaries in times of peace earn almost nothing.

If the crown prince of the Far East Empire were to challenge Alex and won, making Artemia his, there would be some tension between the two empires, and who knows, this may evolve into a full-scale war where mercenaries would shine the most.

"That is not all; it is said that Foxia empire has engaged their crown princess to the same man making the Lionheart Empire wonder what should be done not to fall behind. While it's true that their crown prince is a friend with the Eighth, it was not enough to tie him to their empire. So the emperor, Leon's father, is thinking if he should give his youngest daughter barely fourteen to the black prince to win him over."

When they heard these words, the three had the same thought, 'There is no way Alex would accept this condition.'

Chapter 668 - 644: Hurrying Back Home

Two days later, in the outskirts of the Far East Empire, a magic carriage could be seen racing on the highway at full speed; its destination was the nearest Empire, the Holy Crux empire, where the group would take a teleportation device to teleport back to Avalon.

A few days ago, in that Chinese restaurant, the trio learned many things, for example, Alex's engagement with Artemia, their sudden expedition, Alex's vengeance against the new organization that recently emerged. All this news made the three desire to return to Avalon, where they belong. The trio was sure to find the answer to their questions once they went back. Most importantly, they wanted to know why they were not chosen for this expedition. They were among the best students this new generation has to offer, so they believed that once they went back, they might get the opportunity to go where Alex and the others went; they were sure to find Leonardo, whom they were searching for.

However, halfway through their destination to the next town, a carriage appeared before them, forcing them to stop their carriage. The sudden stop made their carriage produce a screeching sound.

Camilla, who knew the identity of the owner of the carriage, was already fuming, she thought she had escaped the pig's reach, but unfortunately, he still learned about her secretly leaving the country.

"Sigh! Let's take of this. It's my mess. Don't intervene, or else I won't forgive you even if you are my brothers." Camilla warned before jumping out of the carriage.

She stopped by the fancy looking golden magic carriage; the whole carriage was covered by yellow gold, telling people that the owner had a lot of money and was a wastrel because the eagles

The crest on the carriage was made of rose gold.

'What a waste of material. I wish I could kill him and be down with it, but it would spell too much trouble later, something I can't let happen, at least not until I found that asshole and beat some shit out of him; I swear I would knock someone sense into him. Mom had said that I have bad taste in men. I guess she was right. I wish I could have chosen the like of Alex; maybe I will not be suffering as right now.' Camilla quickly ended her little monologue before the carriage owner came out.

Finally, the owner of the lavish carriage walked out, from head to toe his being screamed, I'm rich, dressed in golden dragon robe, both hands full of golden rings, even his ears, his nose weren't spared, this could have been bearable if he was at least handsome, but the gods refused to give the man at least a bit of beauty, he was fat as far the word fat means. At least two hundred kg, his belly would giggle with every step he would take, creating a really funny scene.

"Amy, my sweetie, you are leaving without saying goodbye to your hubby? I'm sad. I will have accompanied you at the end of the world if you want, so why?" The fat man asked with a sad face, but because his eyes couldn't be seen because of his tiny buried under a thick layer of fat, it was funny to behold.

Camilla almost laughed but knew it would affect her if she laughed; this man would not take her seriously. She needs to scar him once for good.

Looking at the two ranks nine guards flanked by the man's side, Camilla made a quick calculation and concluded that she could pull this off.

"Fuck off, pig, I'm not Amy," Camilla shouted.

The fat man froze in his steps; his body wobbled to one side immediately. Camilla's eyes flashed with a crimson glow.

The fat man, together with his two Rank 9 guards, were taken aback as the sky above darkened and the temperature rose to an alarming degree. However, as professionals, they could react quickly because they sensed immense threats coming from the small girl before them.

However, it was already too late. Camilla had unleashed her full power; Rank 10 power was not a joke.

RUUMBLE!

Powerful tremors rippled out of her causing the surrounding space to rumble in turn, increasing the temperature, making it hotter; the ground began melting, alarming the three men, and even inside the carriage, Kevin and Dodolus looked at each other; they could see the immense shock inside their eyes, they were barely Rank 10, but from the power coming from their sister's body she was powerful than them. This left them feeling ashamed as if they had been slacking off doing nothing while she was trying hard to catch up to the one they missed dearly; only if they were strong enough, maybe Leonardo would need to run to somewhere the current them could not reach.

After seeing that their sister was stronger than them, the two vowed to surpass her and bring Leonardo back no matter what it would cost them after true friends must risk their lives when the other party was in danger.

While Kevin and Dodolus were making this oath, Camilla, who had no idea what her brothers had decided to do, moved to take care of this problem once for all.

A giant fireball appeared above the three.

Suddenly, the fat man who goes by the name of Fatty Liu had the fine hair on his neck stood up as he sensed powerful power from above, he might have been a lustful man, but he did possess a brain and knew he was screwed.

Kabooooom!

The giant fireball came crashing down, enveloping the three in crimson flame; at the last moment, the two guards mustered all their strength to form a protective shield around the fatty while they suffered from Camilla's attack.

"I knew you would do that; it was why I have prepared this." Camilla calmly stated before flicking her fingers.

Whoosh!

The crimson flame concentrated into a pillar of fire that struck out, sending the three flying far away, their fates unknown.

"Annoying!" She commented before boarding the carriage, and they left.

Nobody said anything, as the two were still surprised by what that just happened.. The three hurried over to Avalon.

Chapter 669 - 645: Student Vs Teacher

Sky Tower, somewhere on the sixth floor, was a completely white world whose sole ruler was a woman sitting in a chair floating in the sky; this woman seemed bored as she kept sighing again and again.

"Seriously, that was a great fight, but since the day I sent her down, no one else appeared here and it started to get boring. Just one more to beat, and I'll get my rewards." Artemia mumbled while putting a lollipop inside her mouth.

"Hum! In the meantime, I shall enjoy some lollipops, and who knows before I finish this one, someone might appear."

When Artemia said those words, she was not expecting anyone to show up as she had said the same words many times that she lost count of how many it had been. However, things were different; as soon she said those words, there was a flash of golden light on the ground making the princess jump in surprise.

"Wow! I can't believe it someone did come." She said while waiting for the golden light to disappear, she wanted to see who was the new challenger before beating them; however, after the golden light disappeared, it was someone she hadn't imagined who was there.

"Good Morning, teacher. Long time no see." Gracier greeted her master with a courtesy.

Artemia was dumbfounded, having not expected this turn of events, not all. Among those she wished to face, never the little devil came out, but as people love to say, fate is bitch; indeed fate is bitch Artemia thought.

However, while Artemia was surprised because she was not expecting Gracier out of everyone, the latter was happy, so happy she started dancing singing some unknown song.

"♪ Oh, sweet Lord! My prayers have been answered."

"♪ Oh, sweet Lord. You are my other half. You know how much I wished to see her, and you made it happen."

"♪ Oh, thank you, Princess Eretria, for appearing before me. You will be aptly rewarded."

Gracier sang and danced unbothered by Artemia floating in the air.

The princess was dumbstruck. Counting her past life, she could be considered as someone who had lived for long; she could be Gracier's great great grandmother, she had experienced many things, but nothing prepared her for what was happening right now.

Absolutely nothing.

She did know that Gracier was a little devil that loved to play nice before her brother but was a bit rebellious when he was absent, but this side of her was her first time seeing it. While she could understand she was happy to face her but it shouldn't be to the extent that she would begin singing and dancing. Was she possessed?

For a moment, the princess wondered if the current Gracier was not possessed or not but quickly discarded this thought.

"You are a funny one. Do you know that little Gracier?" She asked with a smile.

"Hehehehe! I'm still far from that level. I'm still learning." Gracier said while acting embarrassed.

The corner of Artemia's lips twitched; she couldn't believe that the little devil was trying to tease her Master.

"Sigh! Let's stop joking and talk seriously. So, you wanted to fight me for a long time?" Artemia asked after appearing twenty meters away from Gracier, who happily nodded.

"I see. I understand but as your master, before we begin, let me see how much you have progressed."
Artemia declared before appraising Gracier.

"Wow! You have gotten stronger since the last time we saw each other. I'm proud of you. Shall we begin?" Artemia was pleasantly surprised upon seeing how much Gracier had progressed. As someone, she trained, she was extremely happy to see her progress so fast; if she were lazy, the little devil would catch up soon.

Gracier nodded while immediately readying her weapon; she switched her Gift into the first bow as to say the bow form.

Artemia said nothing; her figure blurred forward immediately after seeing Gracier nodding; she arrived before Gracier and launched her spear with all she got.

The strength behind the spear was so powerful that the space in the spear's path was ripped open, and the void could be seen. Immediately terrifying gravitational force burst out from within the void, trying to crush Gracier; everything happened too fast normally Gracier shouldn't be able to react not too so fast, but as if she had anticipated her Master going all out in the beginning, Gracier smiled before speaking in an obscure language.

"Bend!"

Immediately as if the world had been bent to follow her will, the space before Gracier twisted into mirror form that reflected the incoming attack.

Artemia was surprised, but she could still react quickly; she jumped back before thrusting her spear forward.

"Eighteen Layered Lightning Chain: Fifteen Form: World Piercer!"

From the tip of the spear, a black lightning bolt shot out and destroyed the reflected attack; what was left of Artemia's attack headed straight toward Gracier, who jumped back in turn before knocking an arrow.

The golden arrow cut through the air, increasing the temperature before clashing against Artemia's attack. There was a short stalemate before an explosion occurred.

BOOOOM!

Both Artemia and Gracier were pushed back; they stared at each other before bursting into a burst of laughter simultaneously; while they were laughing, the two had the same thought; they didn't wish to lose.

Chapter 670 - 646: Dragon Mode Vs Lightning Goddess

After their first exchange ended without a winner, both Artemia and Gracier stared at each in silence before they burst into laughter. However, hidden under this smile was the desire to win.

Artemia may be the temporary guardian with limitless stamina and mana, she might be stronger than Gracier, but data could win every fight, then everything would have been more accessible.

Unfortunately, being stronger than your opponent by a few levels doesn't necessarily mean that once you fight, you will win. Many factors must be considered, such as mana capacity, skills, and other things.

For unknown why the princess felt this way, but she was sure that this fight would be more intense than anything she ever faced until now. While the fight against Maria in Ice Empress Mode could be considered problematic, the current fight would be more intense, more violent. Knowing this, Artemia began smiling because of excitement; not many people could make the princess feel the joy of fighting without being sure of the outcome. For such a young girl barely two decades old to be among them could be said that she valued the little devil extremely highly.

"Why not fight with everything we got?" Unexpectedly it was Gracier who made this suggestion.

"Sure, why not," Artemia answered while spinning her spear; Gracier's eyes were momentarily drawn on what Artemia was doing like a dog seeing a frisbee.

Like a puff of smoke, she disappeared and reappeared behind Gracier and immediately sent two attacks forward; her spear attacked while simultaneously from her finger fired a lightning bolt toward Gracier.

The latter did not even turn around before speaking in dragon tongue.

"Blossom!"

Immediately fire lotus bloomed like magic with Gracier at the center; the lotus flowers acted like shields and stopped the two attacks.

Artemia immediately jumped back before launching her spear forward with all her strength; the spear cut through the air like a homing missile and arrived before Gracier, who never expected her master to be able to increase the speed at which she threw her spear.

Knowing that she would not be able to dodge in time, Gracier's mind raced to come up with some crazy idea. Just as the spear tip was about to touch her body, she moved one of her hands forward; from her palm, a small fireball appeared and collided against the spear tip resulting in a small explosion that sent Gracier flying backward while the spear bent downward.

"Not bad, that was a diversion." Artemia's voice echoed behind Gracier, surprising her; before she could react, Artemia caught her face and slammed her onto the ice surface.

Bang!

But she didn't have the time to celebrate before immediately jumping back because as soon as she did that, she escaped a crimson flame pillar that rose behind Gracier; if she were late by a millisecond, she would have been swallowed and suffered greatly.

Lifting her head, Gracier wiped away the blood dripping out of her nose. She grinned, and because she didn't clean all the blood, her grin was bloody, making Artemia's blood boil unexpectedly.

Gracier knew she was at a disadvantage since the beginning, to compensate for this, she thought of using her new ability, the one that let her transform into a dragon form, while she still has human form in this mode, she was extremely powerful, even if it was temporarily, she believed that she could beat her master while being in this form.

"Dragon Mode !"

Boom!

Immediately after Gracier said those words, an immense amount of strength burst out from her body, shaking the surrounding space. Her hair elongated, she became taller, more beautiful, her breasts swelled, two horns appeared above her head while her eyes turned into golden slits like the eyes of the Apex predator, the eyes of a dragon. Dragon tail appeared behind her while her dress changed into a crimson robe that clung tightly onto her body.

Artemia was shocked; she didn't wait before using lighting goddess form as she knew she would lose if fight Gracier with her normal form. After checking Gracier status under the dragon mode, she was shocked; it was completely different from her usual status.

"This is called cheating," Artemia muttered while being on her guard.

The dragonified Gracier opened her mouth and breathed golden flame; the lightning wall Artemia erected was reduced in dust an instant.

Swoosh!

Gracier pierced through Artemia's lightning armor and caught her face before slamming it against her knee.

Crack!

Artemia's nose was broken, and blood flowed out, intense pain coursed through her body, almost making the princess scream, but she didn't; her body turned into lightning escaping Gracier's hands.

Gracier, who was about to pursue Artemia stopped because lightning tentacles were shot toward.

Tap!

Tapping her foot on the ground, the ground cracked, and the lightning tentacles vanished.

"Meteor!"

RUUUUMBLE!

The sky above them darkened, and a gigantic meteor significant as an island appeared.

Artemia immediately attacked the meteor.

Boom!

Before the meteor could fall, it got destroyed, turned into countless pieces, and Artemia appeared before Gracier, whose body had reverted to her original form; she was sure that she had won, but to her surprise, Gracier was smiling.

"World of flame."

Immediately, those meteor's pieces rose, and the whole floor was turned into flame before exploding.

KABOOOOOM!
