921 Chapter 921

"Huh?"

At the same time that Alex lost consciousness, inside another dungeon, Gracier, who had been fighting against monsters, tilted her head to the side.

Just for a second, she felt connected to her brother, almost as if he was standing beside her. Gracier wondered if she did not imagine things because she had been thinking of her brother; she missed him. She shook her head before continuing her hunt.

Back in Nyx's world, after putting their master on a bed to let him rest before he returns to reality, the sisters were now sitting face to face to chat.

"What happened to master for him to suddenly lost consciousness like that?" Silveria, who didn't know the full story asked. It couldn't be helped as both sisters had decided not to intrude on each other's privacy when their master was with them.

"I helped awaken his last bloodline, and he used the dragon's form right after that. I guess by using it, his synchronization rate with his sister reached the maximum, and he lost consciousness." Nyx calmly explained, and Silveria frowned, wondering what could be the reason for this. What did he see, or did which make him lose consciousness right after that?

While Silveria was lost in thoughts, her sister Nyx recalled what she saw. Before leaving their master on the bed, she took the liberty to check his status and saw a few things that made her speculate.

Previously his XP bar wasn't at that level, and he got a few other skills from his new bloodline. His synchronization rate was back to normal (95%). Maybe it would only increase when he was using the dragon form? They would know in the future. However, one thing was sure, Alex's unique ability was extraordinary. In that short span, when their synchronization rate reached maximum, he was able to earn XP from his sister. Nyx's lips curved upward ever slightly, and she looked forward to the future, wondering how interesting this ability would be.

And to help their master to exhibit this ability and survive in the incoming calamity fully, intensive training was needed.

"Let's talk," Nyx said, and Silveria nodded.

The unconscious Alex felt chill run down his spine for some unknown reason.

In a world where the cold was ever permanent, two small girls were looking down on a girl sitting in a lotus position with her eyes closed. The girl was absorbing the cold energy into her body. Even when her skin turned pale from the amount of frost she absorbed and showed signs of crack, the girl who should be in immense pain didn't stop; on the contrary, she seemed committed and kept absorbing. After all, what she was absorbing wasn't normal energy, but it was Ice phoenix breath. It contains mana and ice essence capable of increasing her stats. To acquire benefit like this, she would gladly bear this level of pain; after all, no pain, no gain.

The girl in the lotus position was none other than Maria. After her blunder resulted in a body possession, she was training here. She felt like she was lacking, not wanting to cause another problem; she must get stronger, and this realm wouldn't be a better place.

Maria was doing a double training; not only was her body fighting against the bitter cold while absorbing the useful mana and Ice essence, but she was also training her mind; she let the cold enter her head to strengthen her consciousness. It was really dangerous, but she didn't hesitate to do this as she wished to get rid of that weakness she had. She didn't have a mental defensive skill like Alex and Artemia. Among Alex's women, she was the one with the weakest mental defensive skill. It was why that monster targeted her.

The Frozen fairies, also the last Ice phoenixes, continued to look down on Maria with an expressionless faces. Although their face was expressionless inwardly, they felt joy seeing their master trying so hard. She was a genius regarding the ice element, like Gracier with the Fire element. She didn't need any other element because this element suited her the best. Once she became really strong, she would be the deadliest warrior. She could literally freeze anything.

Suddenly, Maria's hair turned white, and a huge vortex appeared behind her, sucking everything into her mind and body; her body turned completely white before an explosion occurred.

BOOM!

922 Chapter 922

Suddenly, Maria's hair turned white, and a huge vortex appeared behind her, sucking everything into her mind and body; her body turned completely white before an explosion occurred.

BOOM!

Maria appeared in the sky with a pair of phoenix wings before her eyes shot open, and everything stopped for a second.

"Not bad." She mumbled in an emotionless tone. Her white hair turned black as she slowly descended toward the ground.

She exchanged a look with the Frozen fairies before checking her status.

Maria spent her skill points to increase her movement skill, her Sword Art, Ice domain, and new skill to their maximum. While she put the remaining skill points (4 SP) on her Ice Art skill. She spent her bonus skill on her intelligence stat.

Satisfied with her new status, Maria decided to go back; it was time to go back to the real world and farm XP.

The following morning Alex and the girls left their special tent to resume their raid. Maria apologized to the two and promised to be prudent from now on.

En route, Maria asked Alex, whose face had been shining since this morning, a question.

"Something good must have happened for you to be this happy. What happened?"

Artemia didn't say anything but how her ears moved; she was also curious.

"Indeed, something good happened, and it's related to my unique ability. I think I have figured out some-" Alex, who was about to explain things to the girls, stopped and pointed ahead.

"What is that? A cave?" He asked.

There was something that looked like a cave in the distance. After walking for so long, they finally saw something other than endless snow.

"Let's go check out. We will continue the discussion later." Artemia said as she took the lead, and the others followed.

After walking for a while, the group arrived before what seemed to be a cave, but it had a door, a beautiful white door.

"Maybe this is the end of the dungeon?" Maria said while looking around in search of more clues.

"We will know once we enter it." Alex declared before pushing the door open and walking in; Artemia and Maria followed.

The cave's interior was white all over; it was filled with frost and transparent blocks of ice, and the air within was bitterly cold, colder than the outside.

Creak!

The door suddenly shut, making Alex and the girls look at each other before smiling. They couldn't wait to see what would happen next.

And as if to answer, they wish it happened.

Numerous pale white skeletons slowly rose from the frozen floor. Unlike normal skeletons made of bone, they were made of ice. The Ice Skeletons were much stronger monsters compared to normal undead, and at least 300 of them had risen from the ice-cold floor.

"Oh? Ice skeletons? It is my first time seeing one." Alex commented, ready to test how strong the Ice skeletons were; however, Maria stepped forward and said.

"Leave it to me. I need to exercise."

Alex and Artemia exchanged a look before slowly nodding.

"Sure, have fun," Alex said and crossed his arms to watch. Artemia offered him a chair while she sat next to him.

Maria summoned her gift in the form of a sword and started fighting.

The Ice Skeletons were tricky opponents to deal with. Their bones made of ice did not easily break even if they were hit with strong attacks, and they would breathe out chilling air to slow down their opponents if one got too close to them. At first, she had trouble killing them in one blow, but soon it changed. She eliminated them in less than one hour. The average Ice skeleton was level 50; the strongest was around Level 70. Maria was able to acquire a lot of XP.

After killing the Ice skeletons, the group continued. This cave seemed to be an underground type, almost like a dungeon inside a dungeon. The group soon climbed down and arrived at the second floor, and they encountered a new kind of monster.

Hundreds of Ice Landworms pierced through the frozen ground, charging toward the group in an attempt to swallow them.

The Ice Landworms attacked with their teeth just like the normal Landworms, but they also tended to dive down into the ground and suddenly pop up again at random intervals.

If it were a regular group, it would have been hard to deal with monsters like this; however, Alex's group was not normal. After dodging and observing the Ice Landworms' attack patterns. The group went on the offensive, resulting in a massacre.

Gunshots rang out, lightning rained down, and Ice spikes rose from the ground eliminating the Ice Landworms.

"This not fun," Alex complained. When they entered the cave, he was excited, thinking they would soon be fighting against strong monsters, but the monsters they had encountered until now were weak. They couldn't make him use his full strength and test his new skills, which he was itching to test. He was not the only one disappointed; Artemia was disappointed as well, as she hadn't fought to her heart's content.

The only one happy in the group was Maria, who managed to level up, she was now Level 139, a little bit more, and she would become a Demi-God like the other two.

The group continued to climb down, and soon they arrived at another room; an altar was in the middle of this room with a beautiful monster on top of it.

923 Chapter 923

The happiest of the group was Maria, who managed to level up, she was now Level 139, a little bit more, and she would become a Demi-God like the other two.

The group continued to climb down, and soon they arrived at another room; an altar was in the middle of this room with a beautiful monster on top of it.

It was a four-meter tall ice fox with five tails: white fur and ice-blue eyes like the clear water.

The moment Alex laid his eyes on this fox, he knew they would face a tough opponent. Foxes are master illusionists; the real identity of this thing pretending to be cute was scary. He immediately warned his group members.

"Don't let your guard down."

"Okay."

"Don't worry, we won't."

Maria and Artemia nodded while they readied their weapons and observed the monster atop the altar.

[Welcome, humans. It has been a long time since I last have food.]

Unexpectedly the monster talked. The three exchanged looks and mumbled at the same time.

"As expected of a named dungeon."

The monster was enraged that the trio seemed to be taking him, the Lord of this dungeon, lightly.

[Humans are fools. You're just my food, Tolkien's foods.] The monster, no Tolkien, announced before a huge explosion occurred.

Boom!

An explosion of aura.

Then Tolkien's first turned into a humanoid monster before his body started to tear apart; dense, thick bone grew over his once feeble-looking body, and his skin turned ghastly pale. A pair of wings unfolded from his back as he slowly turned darker and darker. It had turned into something grotesque.

[Frost Devil Tolkien Level 155]

The newly transformed Tolkien let out an ear-splitting howl.

"Gruwwaaaah!"

Immediately following this howl, the surrounding ice condensed to form five meters tall Ice golem with chilling red eyes.

[Ice Golem Level 140]

Two high-level monsters appeared in an instant, confirming Alex's initial assumption that it wouldn't be an easy fight.

The Ice golem raised its thick arms like a bear's waist and suddenly smashed its arms down to the ground.

Booom!

A large boom reverberated through the room, and the frozen ground was split in two.

Meanwhile, Frost Devil took the chance to spread its wings and shout in a commanding voice, "Storm of ice, heed my call! Attack these fools who will serve as my food and blood!"

It cast its wide-area magic, and hundreds of sharp ice shards flew toward the party.

"Artemia raises a lightning wall, and Maria tried to slow down the Ice golem and take care of it if possible." Alex immediately shouted a command.

"Roger!" Maria nodded while Artemia was summoned.

"Lightning Art: Lightning Wall!"

A five meters wide lightning wall appeared, trying to block the incoming icicles. However, it could not fully melt all of the icicles; some of the ice shards managed to pass through.

Maria tried to slow down the Ice Golem using Ice soul, but it attacked at ferocious speeds with its two large arms as soon as the icicles rained down from above.

"Storm of ice, heed my call and seal my foods."

The Frost Devil on top of the altar called out, casting another wide-area spell.

"Lightning Arrows!"

"Ice Arrows!"

Whoosh!

Bang! Bang!

Elemental arrows and bullets flew toward the monster, casting spells, trying to stop him from casting its spell.

A raging blizzard started to build up around the Frost Devil, seemingly threatening to rip anyone who dared come close to it to pieces. The arrows and the bullets were all swept away by the blizzard and swallowed by the blizzard. The latter started to grow larger and larger, inching closer toward the

They might be high level, but Alex and Artemia knew instantly that they would suffer if the blizzard were to touch them.

It was a bitterly cold blizzard that threatened to freeze anything in its path; the rough winds blew snow all over the place, hampering the clan members' vision.

Using the Thousand Ice steps, Maria appeared above the Ice golem, trying to cut its head through the gap in the middle of its neck. However, faster than the sword could reach it, the Ice golem swung its arm, forcing Maria to twist her body in midair to dodge.

Whoosh!

The thick arm passed above her, and she kicked it to push her body from the next attack trajectory.

The Ice golem had breathed an Ice breath. Before landing, she took control of this ice breath using the Ice soul ability. She condensed the enemy's attack into a giant Ice arrow which she sent to attack the Ice golem. Everything happened in less than a minute.

Even so, the Ice golem showed it wasn't a low-level monster. The Ice golem punched the air; its punch flew like a hurricane and clashed against the two meters long super condensed Ice arrow.

BOOM!

A terrific ice explosion occurred, pushing the Ice golem back while Maria was sent flying; she twisted her body not to crash into the wall behind her. Her feet touched the wall, propelling forward.

For a moment, the battlefield seemed to be focusing on the two.

In a counterattack, the Ice golem created two short Ice spears and threw them toward Maria. The latter, who had just used the wall as a foothold to propel her body forward, knew she couldn't dodge in her current position. She immediately summoned her phoenix wings and wrapped them around her body, pushing her arms forward before spinning her body.

It happened instantly; it was as if time had slowed down, and Maria managed to pass between the gap between the two Ice spears; it was such a godly move that if it were a movie the scene would have been replayed.

BOOM!

Like a Supergirl, Maria slammed into the Ice golem, sending its large body stumbling a couple of steps back.

"Ice Spikes!" Maria cast a spell as soon as her feet touched the ground.

Before the Ice spikes could reach the Ice golem, it raised its arms and smashed it into the ground.

Kabooooom!

It was as if the ground had been split, raising a white cloud in the air, a bone-chilling cloud; however, it was not what shocked Maria; in the middle of this white cloud, two small Ice golems appeared. The Ice golem had used its special ability.

924 Chapter 924

Before the Ice spikes could reach the Ice golem, it raised its arms and smashed it into the ground.

Kabooooom!

It was as if the ground had been split, raising a white cloud in the air, a bone-chilling cloud; however, it was not what shocked Maria; in the middle of this white cloud, two small Ice golems appeared. The Ice golem had used its special ability.

"Tch! It has become troublesome." Maria complained, yet a smile was on the corner of her lips. This fight was exciting. She temporarily glanced in Alex and Artemia's direction. The two were facing the most dangerous monster.

A blizzard surrounded the Frost Devil.

"Well, let's take care of this first." Although she wished to go there to fight because over there would be more exciting, she knew she couldn't do that as she had her own enemy to take care of. She wished to gobble the Ice golem XP; with it she might be lucky enough to get really closer, if not step into the Demigod Realm.

Meanwhile, on the other side, the blizzard was making it impossible to touch Tolkien, the Frost Devil; none of their attacks landed as it would be immediately swallowed and make the blizzard grow larger.

Alex knew he must make the Frost Devil leave the altar. The latter might have thought he had them cornered.

"Too naïve !" Alex mumbled before throwing a knife high into the sky, just above the blizzard. Tolkien, who was about to ask if Alex had finally given up to despair and would obediently accept to become its food, stopped when Alex shadow shifted with the knife.

[What?] The Frost Devil was shocked.

Tolkien's surprise didn't end up there, above its head, and as if the two had communicated beforehand, Artemia threw a five meters long lightning spear at him. Alex caught it without trouble and threw it toward Tolkien above the altar with all his might.

Whoosh!

The lightning spear cut through the air like a rocket. The Frost Devil didn't have any other choice other than compressing the blizzard above its head to defend against the lightning spear, and by doing this, he could be attacked from all sides because there was no blizzard surrounding his body.

BOOM!

Lightning and Ice clashed, resulting in a terrible shockwave that shook the air.

Alex stepped across the void and appeared behind Tolkien, and fired a bullet.

"Ethereal bullet."

Tolkien was shocked when a bullet appeared above his head, smashing it against the altar.

Boom!

Artemia threw another spear made of lightning at the Frost Devil, who was injured by the Ethereal bullet.

The injured Tolkien let out another ear-splitting howl.

"Gruwwaaaah!"

Tolkien's ear-splitting howl knocked the lightning spear and another bullet aiming at him to the side. When Alex and Artemia were about to unleash another round of attacks, the furious Tolkien glared at them and used one of his special abilities.

"Forest of Curses," The Frost Demon called out.

A creeping black fog covered the ground and turned it dark. Alex and Artemia felt weakened.

『This curse weakens you physically.』 Silveria explained, and Alex nodded as he could feel the curse weakening him physically.

Artemia was the one that suffered the most as she hadn't expected to encounter a monster with such ability.

It was at that moment that Artemia suddenly heard an eerie, chilling sound from behind.

"I shall feast on your blood first!" The Frost Demon exclaimed as it spread its wings and flew toward her.

"Ice Touch,"

The demon called out as it swung its black arm, sending a wave of cold air. Artemia instinctively jumped into the sky; a pair of lightning wings appeared on her back.

It was then her face darkened because she could feel another attack coming from above. She had been played; she fell into Tolkien's trap like a fool, a blizzard summoned by the Frost Devil was about to smash into her.

Fortunately, she was not alone. Alex saved her in the blink of an eye before reappearing before Tolkien and attacking with a knife.

Tolkien, who thought Alex only used a weird-looking weapon, was shocked and couldn't react in time.

Alex swung his knife imbued in both Wind and Lightning elements.

Siii!

Alex's strike cut across the Frost Devil's chest, dealing considerable damage. The Frost Devil didn't get the opportunity to scream before Alex using his free hand, summoned Silveria and fired a special bullet.

"Fire bullet!"

Bang!

The hot burning bullet tore through Tolkien's left wing burning its flesh before it burst into flame and turned into a cinder. From now onward, the Frost Devil couldn't fly.

"Graw-"

Bang!

Alex didn't even let him express the pain he was feeling before violently kicking him in the chest. Tolkien felt like a mountain was slammed into his chest.

"Bofuh!"

His mouth felt open, and blood flowed out dark blue blood.

The Frost Devil temporarily stopped thinking because Alex used his dragon's form. He felt primal fear.

Artemia was shocked, and even Maria, who had finished the small Ice golems and was now fighting the Ice golem, was left speechless, mouth agape. She had seen this form before; she was not the only one. Only Gracier could use her contract with Ignia, the dragon goddess. But currently, Alex is using it.

The two women wondered where his limit was? How overpowered can he get?

Even though she was surprised, Artemia knew this was a battlefield, and she must not miss out on this opportunity to weaken the frozen monster. Immediately, she transformed into her lightning goddess mode; she wouldn't be the one to be left out when the other two were using it.

Moving at a fast speed, she cut off the remaining wing before Tolkien managed to come to his sense.

Back to his senses, the Frost Devil ground its teeth not to cry. The Frost Devil took a deep breath before letting out a loud shout that rang throughout the room and shook the walls.

"Absolute Zero."

Then a blue stream of magic spread around the Frost Devil, at least it tried. However, it was canceled by a timely silver bullet.

"!!!"

The Frost Devil couldn't even cry anymore; his mouth was wide open due to the continuous shock. He didn't deserve the monster title as it suited this young man more.

Alex appeared in front of him with his gun penetrating the Frost Devil's mouth.

"Checkmate!"

BANG!

925 Chapter 925

Back to his senses, the Frost Devil ground its teeth not to cry. The Frost Devil took a deep breath before letting out a loud shout that rang throughout the room and shook the walls.

"Absolute Zero."

Then a blue stream of magic spread around the Frost Devil, at least it tried. However, it was canceled by a timely silver bullet.

"!!!"

The Frost Devil couldn't even cry anymore; his mouth was wide open due to the continuous shock. He didn't deserve the monster title as it suited this young man more.

Alex appeared in front of him with his gun penetrating the Frost Devil's mouth.

"Checkmate!"

BANG!

The Frost Devil's head was blown up into a gory mist. The monster didn't die of unwillingness but felt unlucky to have faced two monsters, especially Alex.

"That was fun," Alex said before looking in Maria's direction; the latter happened to have successfully killed the Ice golem. The golem became weak as soon as its master lost his life.

"It was fun, but Maria had the most fun," Artemia said to the approaching Maria, who smiled in return. Although she was focused on their fight against the Frost Devil, from time to time, Artemia would sneak peek at Maria fighting the Ice golem and saw most of the fight. One scene particularly impressed her; was the one Maria passed through two ice spears. It was damn cool; Artemia wished that she could reproduce it; it was like what Alex did during the competition in the academy; he caught a sword between his fingers.

While Artemia was reminiscing about the past, Maria, who was walking toward them, stopped as if someone was talking to her before hurrying over; she stopped right in front of Alex, startling him, and just as he was about to ask her what's going on. She tiptoed and sealed his lips.

Alex's eyes widened in shock, and his eyes seemed to be saying what the hell.

Meanwhile, Artemia, who returned to her senses, was shocked by Maria's boldness.

"Wow! Since when did you become so bold, Alexia ?" She asked, but she was outright ignored, and just as she was about to ask again, but this time with a more serious tone, Artemia witnessed something shocking.

Alex's eyes turned white, followed by his body stiffening; he seemed to have lost consciousness.

「Fuck those little bitches, how dare they snatch my master without our consent?」 A furious Silveria's voice rang out, sending shockwaves through the room.

Artemia immediately understood that whatever Maria did, she did under someone else order, probably by the spirits inside her Gift.

Despite the curiosity threatening to spill out from her mouth, Artemia managed to stop it and helped Maria put Alex inside the special tent.

"Thank you," Maria mumbled, and Artemia nodded, not saying anything. She knew that thank you wasn't only for helping her, but more importantly, it was for not asking anything after what happened to their man.

'How can I still ask you questions when you seem that worried?' Artemia thought while praying that nothing happened to their man.

Meanwhile, Alex, who lost consciousness under Maria's unexpected action, reappeared in a white world, a world made entirely of snow. The temperature around here was colder than the dungeon they had been raiding.

However, Alex felt the chilling sensation threatening to infiltrate his skin, disappearing, and he knew it must be the two girls floating before him doing.

The twins wore simple white robes; however, they still looked good because they were extremely beautiful. If there were one thing, he didn't appreciate; it would how cold their faces were. It was even more, colder than Nyx's face. The two were born like this.

Alex knew their identity, the Frost fairies; he had never thought he would meet them like that. He tried to look at them in the eyes, but he lowered his eyes as soon as he raised them. He couldn't look at those chilling blue eyes for two seconds because he felt like his soul would freeze forever if he were to try. Maybe it would have been a different outcome if he could completely use his right eye, the death's eye. He was sure it wouldn't lose to anyone if he could perfectly control it.

'Now isn't the time for that. Let's hear them out.'

Alex quickly shakes his head to focus on the reason for his presence here.

"Greetings, fairies. It's nice to meet you finally."

The Frozen fairies slowly nodded their heads, not offering any response, and Alex was not disappointed as he had never expected them to answer him anyway as it would be strange because they seemed like someone who didn't like to talk.

Alex continued with his head lowered.

"I guess there must be a reason for you to call me here? Tell me what it is, and I will see if I can help you."

He raised his head at the end of his sentence and observed the Frozen fairies; he did his best not to look into their eyes.

At first, the frozen fairies didn't say anything, one of them flicked her fingers, and a status window popped up right before Alex's eyes startling him. However, he soon calmed down as he checked the status before him; it was his fiancée's status.

'Huh! She is getting closer to the next realm. At this rate, it won't be long before she becomes another Demigod.

"Help her step into the Demigod realm."

Unexpectedly, one of the fairies talked. Contrary to expectation, she had a nice voice. However, Alex knew now wasn't the time to enjoy such a nice voice.

"I understand your point, but how can I help her? I believe there isn't any other floor besides our current one. So, what do you want me to do?" He asked them. He was asking them to go to the point.

The second fairy was the one to speak next.

"Your current room is really special. It's located in the heart of the Ice land. There is plenty of Ice essence there."

She didn't explain much, but Alex understood what the Frozen fairies wanted him to do.

"You want me to help her absorb the Ice essence inside the room, right?" He asked while observing their reactions, and as expected, they slowly nodded their heads.

"You will use your second Gift, the Eternal chain, to absorb the Ice essence in the ground and transfer them to her body, her heart to be more exact." The first Fairy explained to Alex how he should accomplish the task they were giving him.

"Ok, I'll help her. I'll do anything for my loved ones." Alex didn't hesitate to announce this. The fairies nodded, they knew him, not completely, but they knew he wouldn't refuse their help.

To help him accomplish this task easily, one of them approached him and put her small hand on his right hand where the Eternal chain tattoo was. A blue light escaped from the first fairy's hand and got absorbed into the tattoo.

Alex felt a chilling sensation for a moment before the first fairy leaned forward. To compensate for the height difference between them, she floated and whispered into his ear.

"It's to prevent her fate."

When Alex heard this word, it was as if his body had been struck by lightning, and he recalled some unpleasant memory, a nightmare.

[Alex was standing somewhere, on a battlefield, he scanned his surrounding; everywhere he looked at, it was destruction, only destruction. He could hear the sound of an intense fight; he saw a blue-haired girl fighting, this girl was injured, suddenly she got blasted away by what seemed to be a tail, she stabilized herself after one kilometer, suddenly something tried to attack, however, a purple-haired girl with black wings like that of a fallen angel rescued the blue-haired girl from certain death.

Alex said someone dressed in golden armor was desperately fighting; another one dressed in red armor was helping him. A golden-haired woman dressed in white seemed to be casting a large-scale spell.

Someone was shouting in Alex's direction; it was a wonderful woman with white hair and golden eyes. Behind her was a big tree that seemed like it could pierce the sky. This woman was shouting at Alex; more importantly, her finger was directed at Alex's arms.

It was at that moment Alex became aware of something cold in his arms; lowering his head like a broken robot, he saw that he was holding beauty in his arms, beautiful lustrous black hair and blue eyes; however, currently, there was no light inside her eyes no more, she was dead, even so, she was looking at him with a smile as if to say 'Don't worry, I do not regret it. It's worth it, and I believe in you. Live well.'

Alex felt like his world had been broken apart; everything disappeared, no cries, no sound, no battlefield, only endless darkness, and he said,

"I won't accept it. I will kill you all."

His current voice was so low, so cold that it could freeze one soul; he couldn't believe it was him that uttered such words; there were no emotions behind his words, no hatred, only the will to destroy.]

It was a premonition; he wished to forget, and recently, he thought he had changed the future and wouldn't have to see this future any longer.

As if the first fairy could read his mind, she continued.

"I know the future is changing, but it isn't always for the best. You might have thought you had changed her fate, but I can tell you that you're far from that. You altered the future because of what you said, but by doing that, you created some variable, the Excalibur's contractor being one of them."

"!"

Alex felt chill at the mention of Leonardo's name; for some reason, he had a bad feeling, that something ominous would happen.

"To completely erase the future, you saw it's imperative for the concerned party also to act, to take part in the fight against her fate. She needs strength, and here is something that would help her awaken one of the first things that will help to go against her fate."

"I see. Don't worry; I will do everything never to let that future happen. I can live without her, without any of them." Alex promised, hiding his anxiety.

"Send me back," Alex suggested; he wished to return and help his woman as soon as possible before farming some more. In the end, Fate or whatever, as long you're strong enough, you can do anything. Now, he lacks overwhelming strength, the strength to bend the world, not the universe, to his will. He was still far from that level, but he believed that one he would.

The first fairy nodded before flicking her fingers; immediately, Alex's body started fading, and before his body could completely disappear, he heard one last sentence from the two.

"Don't worry, believe in yourself as we believe in you. You're different from Primus; you're more unique. We are certain you will succeed where he failed."

'So, Primus is his name? It doesn't sound amazing as I thought it would be.' Alex, who had heard the name of the previous owner of the death guns, mumbled. He didn't forget to nod at the fairies before his body completely vanished.

927 Chapter 927

'So, Primus is his name? It doesn't sound amazing as I thought it would be.' Alex, who had heard the name of the previous owner of the death guns, mumbled. He didn't forget to nod at the fairies before his body completely vanished.

Outside, Alex finally woke up; looking around, he saw the girls who had fallen asleep probably after watching over him. He silently left the bed before putting them side by side on it and covering their bodies with the blanket before leaving the room and going outside.

Once outside, he leaned against what was left of the altar while heaving a long sigh.

Suddenly, there was a silver flash followed by the appearance of a silver-haired goddess. It was Silveria; she had appeared. She sat next to him with her silver eyes looking at the ceiling she asked.

"What did they say?"

Alex stayed silent for a moment before telling her what the Frozen fairies asked him to do.

p "I see. They're not wrong; there is a lot of Ice essence inside this room."

"I don't know if it was because of what one of them did when she touched my arm, but I can now also feel it. Well, I'm glad that I can help my woman. With this, hopefully, she can avert that fate." Alex said in a calm voice, but Silveria knew at the moment he was nothing but calm.

"Don't worry, I know you can do it. We will help you. You are exceptional, after all; there is nothing you can not do if you put your mind and enough effort into it. So, cheer up."

Alex's mood became lighter, and he asked.

"So Primus is the name of my predecessor?"

Silveria's body stiffened when that name appeared; for a moment, she was sent to the past where she traveled with that black-haired young man with red eyes; he had that smile even when things weren't looking good, it was as if to show those around him always to stay positive no matter what situation they are in.

"Silveria! Silveria!" Alex called out for her several times before she was brought out of her stupor.

"Sorry, I have been lost in thoughts for a moment, and yes, Primus is my previous master name. He was an exceptional man full of talent but an idiot." Silveria said, and Alex almost asked her between them who was the most exceptional? But in the end, he stopped himself from asking, it would seem too childish, and it would have appeared that he was comparing himself to his predecessor.

As if she could read her master's thoughts, Silveria said.

"My current master is also an idiot but a smart idiot." She ran after saying those words.

"What that doesn't even mean? Do you wish to be spanked?" Alex asked while chasing after her with a smile. He felt relieved playing like this; he could temporarily forget his worries while having fun.

Meanwhile, in another location, Sakuya was fighting against a strong opponent. Currently, she was lying in a crater while repeatedly vomiting blood.

"Shit! It hurts like hell." She mumbled while enduring the pain. She had never expected the fight to be complicated; she had underestimated the enemy.

"Shit! Let's do this." She mumbled while staggering to her feet. She wiped away the blood on the corner of her mouth before shouting.

"Bring it, you fucking werewolf."

As if to respond to her provocation, a monster two meters tall covered in gray fur appeared in the air, ready to pounce on her. It had a human appearance with a wolf head and tail: a Level 140 werewolf, the boss of this floor.

"So human, you're still alive? You are tough for a cockroach. Well, you won't be a cockroach otherwise." The werewolf mocked.

"And you wouldn't have been your mother's son if you didn't talk so much," Sakuya said while giving the monster the middle finger.

"You, you!" The monster became furious and was about to pounce on Sakuya when the latter calmly declared.

"Spirit possession."

BOOM!

Dark green wings appeared on her back when Sakuya and her gift's spirit became one, and her stats shot up.

Sakuya floated in the air, and her dark green wings opened and started expanding, soon overshadowing the skies of the core region.

The werewolf was startled. Sakuya hasn't undergone any transformation except for a few minor changes, yet he felt she was entirely different.

Her eyes now shined with an amber-blue color while her glistening lips lustered with deep darkness.

The werewolf felt something amiss. His instinct was screaming at him to flee. But it was too late to stop what was about to happen. Not wanting to lose the initiative the werewolf attacked; two beams shot out from his eyes and slammed into Sakuya's body. It seemed as if she couldn't dodge.

Blood violently sprayed out of her mouth, and her body jerked back.

"Haha!" The werewolf was pleased. He thought he was being cautious for nothing; he immediately attacked full strength.

Destructive power shot toward Sakuya, floating in the air, blood still dripping from her mouth. The werewolf could see the future where Sakuya's body was torn apart as he believed she couldn't dodge; however, what happened next shocked him beyond words.

Sakuya's lips curled up, and just as the destructive power was about to touch her, she mumbled.

"Mugen!"

928 Chapter 928

Destructive power shot toward Sakuya, floating in the air, blood still dripping from her mouth. The werewolf could see the future where Sakuya's body was torn apart as he believed she couldn't dodge; however, what happened next shocked him beyond words.

Sakuya's lips curled up, and just as the destructive power was about to touch her, she mumbled.

"Dimensional Art: Mugen!"

A black portal appeared before her, and the werewolf's attack was swallowed by it.

"What?" The werewolf's eyes became round at the absurd scene happening right before him.

However, he didn't have the time to wonder what was happening before another portal appeared above his head, and his own attack was smashed onto him. He couldn't do anything; everything happened in a second.

BOOM!

The werewolf was smashed onto the ground, created a twenty meters wide crater. The monster was in a terrible state after eating his own attack; he lost both legs and one arm, and his eyes were both destroyed. His attack was so destructive that Sakuya would have probably died if she had taken the attacked-on without any preparation.

The pale-looking Sakuya stumbled to the ground after using almost all her mana. She dragged her tired body toward the werewolf at the death door.

The werewolf knew it was his defeat, but one question was bothering him, so he had to ask.

"Tell me, stronger human."

"I'm listening," Sakuya said while resting her hand on her second katana.

"Why did you let the first attack touch you?" He was talking about the laser beams he shot out from his eyes which slammed into Sakuya's body, injuring her. He couldn't understand; with that godly ability, she couldn't have been injured.

"That?" Sakuya asked, embarrassed before explaining the reason why she got hit.

"Well, it was because I hadn't created the skill that moment."

"Is that so?" The dying werewolf was shocked. He had never expected that the technique that left him in his current situation was created on the spur of the moment. This girl was really a monster; the monster had no regrets dying under someone so exceptional.

"Goodbye," Sakuya said before unsheathing her katana; her attack speed was godly, almost unnoticeable.

Thud!

The werewolf's head touched the ground before rolling on the ground. The werewolf had a smile on his face until the end; it was a worthy death.

Sakuya sighed. "I half lied. While it was true I hadn't completely created that skill; I let myself get attacked because I wanted you to let your guard down and, next time uses your full strength. Like this, I might survive."

She explained to nobody in particular before summoning her status, and she couldn't help but smile after seeing her new status.

"Fufufu! Slowly I'm getting closer to my goal. Reaching level 140 before leaving this dungeon is the final goal." Sakuya declared while preparing to continue the adventure.

Her dimensional art level had increased surely because of her new skill Mugen (Infinite); she chose this name because it fits the skill more; space is infinite. She could use this infinity to defend herself, swallowing and transferring her enemy's attack. It was an absurd skill, but Sakuya had no intention of stopping there. Instead of creating one portal, she would create many portals, and who knows, maybe one she could teleport her enemy or people to another world.

Sakuya felt goosebumps rising all over her body, and unconsciously the corners of her lips couldn't help but tilt upward.

"Fantasy world is fun. I'm glad I've reincarnated into such a world. I couldn't have so much fun on Earth." She said before disappearing into the depth of the forest, searching for the exit, the door to the next floor.

Back to Alex's location. After playing with Silveria until dawn, a new day had begun.

"So, I just need to stand here and let you do everything?" Maria asked Alex while standing in the middle of the room where the altar used to be. Alex had destroyed it because it was where the most Ice essence was concentrated. It could be said the altar was the node in the middle of the room.

Alex nodded while Artemia just stood at the side, watching everything. As soon as they woke up, Alex brought them here while explaining it was for Maria. She must trust him completely, something Maria didn't hesitate to do. She trusted him without a doubt; the same goes for Artemia.

After everything was ready, Alex took a deep breath to erase his anxiety; after all, it was his first time doing something like this. He couldn't help but be nervous; nevertheless, he could do it. If he couldn't, the fairies would have given him the mission in the first place.

Taking another deep breath, Alex summoned the Eternal chain; the tip of the chain pierced through the air like a bullet before piercing Maria's heart and penetrating the ground behind her.

Artemia's eyes widened while Maria didn't get the opportunity to scream before she was overwhelmed by intense sensation. The Eternal chain swallowed the Ice essences through the dungeon and fed them to her body, to her heart, to be exact. It was such a pleasant sensation that Maria wished this never ended.

Her expression brightened when multiple notifications rang out inside her mind. She knew even without checking that she had stepped into that realm.

The Eternal chain continued to swallow the Ice essences, distributing them to both Maria and its master while not forgetting to keep some for its use.

929 Chapter 929

In a dungeon where the king of dragons, Bahamut, was trapped, someone was visiting him. Naturally, it was Lord Thanos who came to give his report.

[So you didn't manage to find the one I asked you to find?] Bahamut asked Lord Thanos, kneeling on the ground, and the latter lowered his head.

"Unfortunately, we couldn't find anything. I'm ashamed of my incompetence." Lord Thanos explained while waiting for punishment.

However, Bahamut only snorted and did nothing else.

[It seems like that foolish child Lucifer died like predicted. What did that former goddess do?] He switched the subject.

Lord Thanos, who was expecting a punishment, was disappointed, but he quickly concealed this before answering.

"She is probably preparing to become the next ruler. It's hard to infiltrate the empire right now; all our spies have been killed."

[I see. Don't do anything for now. Focus on throwing more baits for humans to jump on while we will use this opportunity to complete our goal. I hope the 'Demon's project' is going smoothly?]

Lord Thanos, even with his overwhelming strength, shuddered when the name Demon was brought.

People from this world think they are fairly well informed, but what they know is a drop of a bucket in the middle of the ocean.

"Yes, it is going according to the plan." Lord Thanos responded while trying to push down the goosebumps threatening to overwhelm his body.

[Good, don't you think it will be fun if the new ruler of Demons signed a peace treaty with the other races when suddenly Demon will attack?]

A chill crawled up Lord Thanos's spine as he realized what the king of dragons Bahamut meant.

"Certainly, it will be awesome." Lord Thanos replied while thinking his Lord was scarier when he used his brain. Most of their plans were devised by him; not only was he strong, strong to the point of absurdity, but he was also smart.

Lord Thanos was glad to be on his side. Serving someone like this was an honor, and a bright future awaited him once Mysthia was conquered, opening the road to the other worlds.

[Continue with the plan. Create new Numbers, and don't hesitate to sacrifice more.] Bahamut ordered before asking Lord Thanos to leave.

Everything would soon fall in place. Bahamut wondered what Alex would do. Who sweats his despair would be.

Bahamut had noticed that some people had their curse removed, probably Alex's doing, but it doesn't matter. It wouldn't change the overall situation. The world is still cursed. Even if by some miracle the curse was lifted, he doubted it. It wouldn't change anything because he had half conquered this world. He wouldn't fail in his mission. He would succeed, and this would become his kingdom after swallowing the other worlds.

Suddenly, Bahamut's giant body shuddered because he felt a dragon's power somewhere. However, he couldn't pinpoint the exact location. It came from a girl. This girl would do a better vessel. However, for an unknown reason, his instinct warned him not to do anything. Bahamut chuckled and ignored it. He sent the order to search for this girl.

Back to Alex's location.

The Eternal chain continued to swallow the Ice essences, distributing them to both Maria and its master while not forgetting to keep some for its use.

This continued for a long moment until the dungeon started shaking.

Rumble!

It was as if there was an earthquake. Artemia frowned; she could feel the dungeon's vitality being drained at fast speed. If this continued, it wouldn't be long before this dungeon would crumble. She must prevent this. Although, Alex had warned the emperor and the council at their last meeting. They wouldn't take it kindly if another dungeon were to get destroyed soon; therefore, she had to prevent the worse-case situation.

Alex knew this; he was trying to stop the greedy Eternal chain from sucking like a starving kid. Maria's body had undergone subtle change, she became more beautiful, and her hair had turned completely white.

Crack! Crack!

Alex felt the sound of something breaking apart, he didn't know what was breaking, but he felt like it was a good thing.

A chilling aura was emanating from Maria's body right now, the same aura Alex felt from the Frozen fairies, it was not to the same extent, but it was a scary aura.

The Eternal chain kept sucking the ice essence inside the dungeon, but it was not enough; it started sucking the vitality of monsters inside the dungeon, distributing this between the three.

Alex noticed the change and was about to ask the Eternal chain to stop when Artemia's furious voice reached his ears.

"Alex, stop it. You'll destroy the dungeon at this rate. I know you have warned them beforehand, but they won't stay still if you destroy a named dungeon, especially this one. So please stop before it's too late."

Alex tried to stop the chain, but it was not listening.

Rumble! Rumble!

The dungeon kept rumbling, the room they were in began to lose its lusters like a dying candle, and Artemia was sure that by now, people might have started noticing the change outside.

She panicked.

"Alex, stop it!!!" Artemia shouted with all her might, but Alex didn't stop; the latter felt like crying but had no tears. If it were up to him, he would have stopped already, but this damned greedy chain didn't stop; it was not listening to him, and he couldn't cancel the summon. In fact, right now, Alex couldn't move; his body was in a state of euphoria he couldn't move.

Artemia was angry beyond words, but she took a deep breath and analyzed the situation. Alex, the man she knew, wasn't someone reckless when it comes to things like this. Surely, he didn't stop because of the chain refused to listen to him.

Thinking this, the princess and former goddess snorted and stepped forward.

"What a naughty kid." She said before grabbing the chain with her hand coated in lightning; she was trying to yank the chain from the ground forcibly. However, as soon as Artemia's hand touched the chain, the lightning was sucked, and a tiny chain sprouted and pierced her palm.

The princess's eyes turned round.

"Oh! No, it's not a naughty kid but a smart child."

930 Chapter 930

Thinking this, the princess and former goddess snorted and stepped forward.

"What a naughty kid." She said before grabbing the chain with her hand coated in lightning; she was trying to yank the chain from the ground forcibly. However, as soon as Artemia's hand touched the chain, the lightning was sucked, and a tiny chain sprouted and pierced her palm.

The princess's eyes turned round.

"Oh! No, it is not a naughty child but a smart child."

'Indeed. Stop making a fuss and enjoy.' Artemia felt like the Eternal chain just talked into her head. The princess could only sigh and enjoy. She became an accomplice.

Outside of the dungeon, people were fleeing because the dungeon kept rumbling. It was as if the dungeon was dying. There was a dark cloud above the dungeon.

Inside the palace, Leo Zaiden Lionheart sat on his throne. He looked utterly spent, as if he had not slept for days.

"Seriously, this kid is more troublesome than Leon when he was a child." Leo lamented. He had to deal with the angry Elders who noticed the change so much that he was tired.

"Aye! Another dungeon destroyed -" Leo hadn't finished talking when the rumble sounds subsided, and the dark cloud above the Ice land vanished, leaving place to a burst of beautiful sunshine.

"Or maybe not." Leo was delighted; he immediately spread his sense to check the dungeon, but what he felt when he did this made the emperor fall from his throne.

The Ice land, a named dungeon, one of the high-level dungeons, was no more. Currently, it was nothing more than an average dungeon. Leo almost vomited blood, and he decided he must chase the calamity known as Alexander Kael Touch and his group; if not, he might die from acute myocardial infarction.

Competition between his people and Alex's group in the coliseum? Screw that. Who knows what damage Alex's group would cause if he let them have fun there.

"Hell no. I better send them to deal some damage to the other two. I won't be the only one to suffer." Leo declared with a smile.

Leo, who was happy when Alex's group arrived, was now feeling knowing but a headache; he started thinking of plans to send them away quietly.

Finally, the Eternal chain stopped sucking the Ice essence and the monster's vitality.

Burp!

After letting out a satisfied burp, it retreated into Alex's arm, and the tattoo vanished.

Alex was not in the mood to wonder why this happened because he could feel the dungeon's status had fallen extremely low. He knew he would probably need to cancel his plans because of what had just happened. Still, he didn't regret it because he helped his women while also gaining in the process.

"Girls are alright?" He asked.

Artemia and Maria nodded while examining their bodies. They felt strength coursing through their bodies.

Maria's hair was still white, beautiful white without any impurities. The current Maria gives off the feeling of an unapproachable goddess.

Alex was mesmerized; the white hair suits Maria the most.

"Let's check our status to see how much we have improved." He suggested, and the girls nodded. They were too eager to know how many levels they had gained thanks to the greedy but smart child.

Maria was the first one to check her status.
