Alex immediately tried to use the chain art, and many chain-type abilities appeared inside his head. It was the combination between his chain and his elements.

Hell Blaze

Ice wave

Lightning Discharge

"Hahahaha! You are indeed my son. A son must show his love with amazing things." Alex shamelessly declared. He, who was not previously happy being called father by Eterna, was now saying he was indeed his son just because he saw how awesome he was.

If Eterna were still awake, he would have rolled his eyes at his shameless father.

"Now I can use my chain more offensively." Alex declared, that he wished to go out and immediately test Eterna's skills; however, he calmed after seeing Luna holding him as if she was saying, please don't leave.

Smiling, Alex let her use his arm as a pillow and closed his eyes. Soon, he was already sleeping.

Sunlight streams golden through the window in a well-mannered announcement of the risen sun.

Alex woke up with a yawn; Luna could be seen still sleeping soundlessly; the way her chest rose and fell was mesmerizing. He wished he could watch her for a moment but he couldn't as he sensed his sister approaching, it was 10 in the morning, she must be tired of waiting, so she decided to visit him.

Chuckling, Alex got up from the bed and quickly freshened up, and went outside.

"Welcome back, Gracier." He said as he opened his arms to embrace her.

After throwing herself into her brother's arms, she inhaled his scent; she had missed so much.

"I'm back, brother. I missed you so much."

While caressing his sister's beautiful red hair, Alex replied.

"Me too."

"Where are the others?" He asked.

"They are waiting for you in the hall."

"I see. Let's go." Alex linked arms with her as they went toward the hall, and soon they arrived.

"Morning, everyone." He greeted them as soon as they walked in, and they responded, and he even shared a hug with Sakuya, whom he had missed.

"Luna is still sleeping, isn't it?" Maria said as she tapped on the seat next to her. Alex nodded as he sat next to her.

"She is still sleeping, but why are you all here? Someone came?" He asked as he felt the reason why they were all sitting here must have something to do with the presence he felt in the other room when he arrived.

Maria smiled, she knew her man would detect their presence, she had expected this much, however, what she was, no what they were worried about was how he would react once he saw the visitors.

"Well, indeed, they are some visitors. We just hope you won't overreact once you see them." Artemia said while Maria and Sakuya nodded. Gracier seemed unconcerned; she was happily chatting with Saeko, who was stealing a glance in his direction.

Alex ignored her and massaged his forehead; whoever the visitors were, he felt like they would be troublesome to deal with; however, he could only face it. He used his divine sense to check how many people were inside the other room, and he found three; previously, he hadn't checked properly.

Immediately after he detected three presence, he chuckled, and he knew the identity of the three; it could only be them, he had expected them to contact him one day, but he didn't expect them to come all the way here just to talk with him. Truly unexpected visitors.

"Tell me to come in and please leave us," Alex said, and Maria nodded before letting the three visitors in.

Right after, Maria and the girls left. There was an awkward silence for a moment before Alex said.

"Take a seat, it's good to see you, but I'm not happy with the visit." Alex didn't go easy on the Asmar's siblings.

Indeed, the unexpected visitors were Camilla and her brother.

Kevin frowned upon hearing Alex's words, he felt insulted, but just as he was to rebuke Alex, saying he didn't have to act so arrogantly, Dodolus stopped Kevin and shook his head.

"Tsk!" Kevin clicked his tongue in annoyance, but Alex ignored him; his eyes were only on the only female in the group, Camilla. Compared to her past beauty, the current Camilla was not that beautiful; her hair had grown longer than usual, dark circles were under her eyes, and she was skinny.

Knowing why she was like this, Alex felt compelled to massage his forehead again. Indeed, trouble had come.

942 Chapter 942

'Tsk!'

Kevin clicked his tongue in annoyance, but Alex ignored him; his eyes were only on the only female in the group, Camilla. Compared to her past beauty, the current Camilla was not that beautiful; her hair had grown longer than usual, dark circles were under her eyes, and she had become skinny.

Knowing why she was like this, Alex felt compelled to massage his forehead again. Indeed, trouble had come.

Camilla looked at Alex across from him; Dodolus and Kevin sat on her left and right.

"So, tell why do you come?" Alex didn't wait for them to start talking before cutting right to the chase.

Kevin's face contorted, but he said nothing; meanwhile, Camilla finally opened her mouth.

"Greeting Alex. I want to ask you what kind of deal you made with Leonardo? Where is he?" As Alex wished, she immediately cut right to the chase.

The corner of Alex's mouth lifted into a grin, and he asked as if he was looking down on her.

"Who are you to ask me that?"

Camilla frowned; her expression changed for the first time since she walked in and sat.

"I'm his lover, so I have the right to ask anything related to him." She said she became emotional.

Kevin nodded while Dodolus just sat there in silence.

"Hahaha! I know you are his lover; my question has nothing to do with your answer." Alex laughed before abruptly stopping.

"What I meant is who are you to me for you to ask me such question?" He added while releasing a bit of pressure.

The trio felt suffocating pressure enveloping them, making it harder for them to breathe. Kevin felt fear; he wondered what level he had reached to be able to display such pressure. Maybe the rumors about him having already reached the Demigod realm were true.

"Please calm down. I know how you feel, but please hear us out. We can work under you just for the sake of this information, so please."

Unexpectedly it was Dodolus, the one who spoke.

Alex was pleasantly surprised; he stopped emitting pressure and leaned into his chair, and crossed one leg above another.

"Ah! You don't have to be that tense. We are both earthlings, so let's hear what you have to say." He shamelessly declared, and the three almost rolled their eyes at him.

"Did you make some kind of deal after what Leonardo did?" Dodolus asked, and Camilla looked at him, waiting for his response.

"Yes." Alex nodded.

"I see; if not asking for too much, can you tell us what kind of deal you two have?" Dodolus asked.

"I asked him to find me something, but until now, he hadn't found it yet," Alex responded.

"What did you ask him to find?" Camilla asked, hoping for a detailed explanation.

"A house, a big house." He calmly responded. Alex's response made Camilla frown. She was smart, and she could see that Alex didn't wish to go into the details. However, they have to know, that they are tired of searching for him.

And Alex could see this. He sighed and decided to give them a piece of advice.

"Stop searching for him; you won't find him even if you search for five years. Even if I couldn't find him, I just had to wait for him to contact me. You better go train and level faster in order to survive what is yet to come."

Camilla and her brothers exchanged looks before she asked him one last question.

"Will he come out alive?"

Alex didn't waste time and immediately answered.

"If he is lucky."

Camilla's face darkened; she seemed to have understood something but choose not to say anything. She gestured to her brothers as they prepared to leave; however, before they could leave the hall, Alex stopped them.

"I will contact you later to tell you what to do." He threw them a communication stone; Kevin caught it and stored it away.

Shortly after they left, Maria and the others walked in; Luna had joined them.

"Let's go to eat before sparring while waiting for Leon to arrive. We won't stay for too long; our next destination is the Foxia empire." Alex said as he headed to the dining room.

Maria frowned when she heard of their next destination. Somehow she felt a headache; that bitch, no fox, was hard to deal with.

.....

Half an hour later, in the underground training room, Alex and Gracier stood face to face.

"I will fight you using only my chain. You better go all out if you wish to have a chance." Alex said while beckoning Gracier to attack.

Gracier smiled before shouting.

"Dragon Form: Fear Mode!"

Boom!

She was immediately surrounded by black fog and was soon in her dragon's form.

Alex's blood began boiling seeing this form; something deep inside him was whispering to him also to use his dragon form and show his sister who was the most superior to the other.

Shaking his head, Alex controlled his boiling blood and appraised his sister's current status.

Boom!

Gracier shot toward her brother at a fast speed, but he smiled with his head down. She wondered what he was trying to do; still confident in her strength, she attacked head-on; no matter what trick her brother would use, she would smack everything aside and win today.

Just as she was about to touch him with her blazing punch, she heard him.

"Reaper's chain."

Numerous chains appeared from all around him and restrained her. Gracier was shocked so were the others.

943 Chapter 943

Gracier shot toward her brother at a fast speed, but he smiled with his head down. She wondered what he was trying to do; still confident in her strength, she attacked head-on; no matter what trick her brother would use, she would smack everything aside and win today.

Just as she was about to touch him with her blazing punch, she heard him.

"Reaper's chain."

Numerous chains appeared from all around him and restrained her. Gracier was shocked so were the others. They exchanged looks and wondered when the Eternal chain could do something like that; however, now wasn't the time to be lost in thoughts as a fight was ongoing.

Even though numerous chains restrained Gracier, they knew the match wouldn't be ended so quickly, so they patiently waited.

And indeed, Gracier didn't disappoint them; her body turned into a flame that successfully escaped the chains. Even Alex was surprised by this, but he chuckled; the match would have been boring if it had ended just after he restrained his sister then he would have been disappointed.

Gracier, who turned into a flame, reappeared in another location, and her body materialized into her real body, and she immediately launched multiple fireballs at her brother.

Alex swallowed the fireballs, but they were soon extinguished by the chains wrapped around his body. Not only the black got weird abilities, but its reach had also increased, and it could now cover his whole body.

Finally, Alex moved, he had promised only to use his chain, not his Gift or knives, but just with Eterna alone, he could both attack and defend.

He disappeared and reappeared above Gracier with a splitting kick; she didn't dodge and blocked the blow with her arms.

Bang! Boom!

The ground cracked under her feet, leaving spiderwebs on the ground. Gracier immediately opened her mouth, ignoring the pain; she was about to breathe fire.

Sakuya and Artemia nodded; they understood why Gracier would deliberately block such a heavy kick; it was to create this occasion; not only did she block, she gripped her brother's leg and was about to breathe fire toward him; Alex would feel like being hit by a flame thrower. Even if he were to restrain her again, he would still suffer from her attack unless he blocked her mouth, something they didn't believe he would do. For the first time, Gracier held the advantage.

Only Maria, Gracier, and strangely Saeko believed that Alex had shown how amazing his chain had become.

Alex chuckled when he saw what his sister intended to do; from his right hand, a black shot out from and toward Gracier; the latter didn't dodge, thinking it would be the same move as last time; however, it was a terrible mistake.

As soon as the chain divided into multiple chains and wrapped around her body, Alex uttered before Gracier could breathe fire from her mouth.

"Lightning Discharge!"

Lightning appeared on the chains and immediately entered Gracier's body; Alex might have controlled the output sent into his sister's body. However, it was still painful, and Gracier, who wasn't expecting something like this, fainted on the spot; her dragon mode was undone.

Before her body could fall to the ground, Alex appeared beside her and caught it.

Silence descended upon the underground training room.

Finally, Artemia stepped forward, approaching Alex, she asked.

"What the hell was that?"

Alex chuckled and didn't say anything.

"Explain it. Since when does your chain possess so many abilities? It can also use different types of elements." Artemia didn't stop; she kept bombarding him with a question.

Alex didn't reply, not until he gave his sister to one of the maids and made sure she was fine.

"Well, do you remember what happened in the dungeon last time?" He asked; except for those who were present that day apart from him, namely Artemia and Maria, the others were clueless; still, they listened to the discussion.

Artemia and Maria exchanged a look and nodded.

"We do. You mean to say your chain evolved after almost sucking the dungeon dry?" Artemia asked.

Sakuya's eyes widened, and she finally understood why Alex would suggest they should prepare for their next destination despite the promise to fight in the coliseum. He had screwed another dungeon-like his sister did, so naturally, he wouldn't want to stay for longer.

"Yes, exactly, this kid evolved and gained a new ability. His name is Eterna. It's all I know. We will talk later. Why not continue with the sparring match?" Alex said he was not feeling satisfied yet; he wished for more fight, he almost wanted to say they should all attack him together, but he decided not to as it would appear like he was looking at them.

"Let me and Mio fight first before you and Artemia would fight," Maria suggested, and Alex nodded as he was okay with this proposal.

Immediately after this, Maria and Sakuya went on the stage.

Sakuya immediately launched an attack as soon the signal was given; her katanas cut through the air at extreme speed; however, their speeds slowed down as soon as they approached Maria.

"Mugen!" Sakuya smiling, mumbled, and her katanas vanished, shocked Alex and the others.

Maria felt a chill down her spine; she knew she would use it if she didn't use her strongest ability, and when she thought about which abilities to use, only one thing came to her mind, her new ability, something deep inside her was telling her to use it.

"Froze-"

Alex appeared between the two and canceled their ability with his domain.

"That is enough. Maria, that ability could have killed Sakuya, and Sakuya, don't use your ability as you did if you haven't mastered it. You created this ability for a defensive purpose at first, right?" Alex, who stopped the two, said.

"How did you know?" Sakuya asked, shocked that Alex had seen through her ability right away.

"Well, it is because I have a similar ability, but mine is the offensive type, and someone told me about your ability."

"I see." Sakuya thought it must be one of the sisters, probably the big sister; she was the smartest of the two, and indeed it was Nyx who told Alex about Mugen; she was also the one that urged him to immediately stop the match if he didn't wish to see his women getting hurt or worse seriously injured. She told him not to let Maria use the Frozen World until she reached level 150 minimum; it was only at that level that she could use it but not completely.

After Maria and Sakuya left, it was now Alex and Artemia's turn to fight.

The two stood face to face with Alex asking.

"I think you will use the strongest level, right?"

He was talking about their promise before they left the Ice land. Artemia nodded before warning.

"You should use either your Asura's or dragon's forms if you wish to last longer."

Facing Artemia's words that sounded provocation, Alex frowned but still decided to follow her advice.

He activated his Asura's Form; he stood there in a majestic form while his long crimson hair danced wildly.

Seeing this form, Artemia nodded; although the dragon form was strong, it was not intimidating as this form; this form instilled more fear into her soul than the dragon's form.

"Lightning Goddess," Artemia mumbled. Golden Lightning danced wildly around her like a storm, and she stood amidst this storm like a goddess that had descended from the lightning world.

Immediately after seeing her status, Alex gulped in anticipation, there was no doubt that she had become strong, unbelievably so, but he knew it wasn't the end; she still hadn't used that twentieth form. His blood couldn't help but boil in excitement just by imagining how strong she would become and what kind of pleasure he would get by fighting against such a strong opponent.

Suddenly, Alex, who was filled with anticipation, heard Nyx's warning.

[[Careful!]]

Alex frowned but followed her warning; he activated his domain, and everything became clear; he was sure he could face the most situation with his domain activated.

It was then that Artemia raised her hand and mumbled.

[In the beginning there was nothing but lightning!]

Immediately after everything turned into lightning, the stage was turned into a rumble, and even the protective shield cracked; Maria and the others only saw a lightning-filled stage, and Alex was nailed to the other end of the stage by a lightning spear. Something unbelievable had happened.

944 Chapter 944

Artemia chanted with her hand raised high.

Immediately after everything turned into lightning, the stage was turned into a rumble, and even the protective shield cracked; Maria and the others only saw a lightning-filled stage, and Alex was nailed to the other end of the stage by a lightning spear. Something unbelievable had happened.

Just as the girls were shocked by the unbelievable scene before their eyes, something even more unbelievable happened; Artemia's body flew across the air and slammed against the already breaking barrier, immediately breaking it.

"Gah!"

Puff!

Artemia's mouth fell open, and blood flowed out; she felt pain throughout all her body; the pain was so terrible that she couldn't get up; however, she was not concerned about the pain right now; she was more concerned about the thing before her, the thing that kicked her flying. She called it a thing, but it was a person, another Alex, to be exact.

The princess was not the only one shocked by this; Maria and the others had stood up from their seats with shocked expressions on their faces.

"Since when?" They shouted in unison.

Alex chuckled while fighting against the lightning, trying to infiltrate his body; the twentieth form was too dangerous; he almost got done in; if he hadn't reacted at the last moment and summoned Ego, switching place with him, he would have been the one who lost.

"Well, I've got this ability for quite something already; it's just that I don't like using it because this child is a bit rebellious, you see," Alex told them while pointing at Ego, who was trying to remove the lightning spear from his stomach forcibly.

Maria and the others were shocked upon hearing that Alex had had this ability since a while ago, and just as they were wondering what Alex meant by saying those words, they heard Ego cursing.

"Fuck you, dude. Do you take me for your pain reliever? How dare you do this to me? I've rights. I'll have you know this."

Maria's and the others' jaws almost hit the ground; They were too shocked; the difference between the real Alex and his clone was too shocking; the clone was too arrogant. It was the conclusion they arrived at after Ego talked. They felt like they couldn't really get along.

As if he could read their thoughts, Ego rolled his eyes at them and said.

"I don't to be friendly to bitches like you either."

Ego declared while forcibly yanking the lightning spear away; he glared at Artemia before tossing the spear aside. His eyes seemed to be saying you could have removed the spear after your defeat, you bitch.

Artemia chuckled and looked at him with eyes saying I could, but I didn't, and what do you going to do about it?

Ego spat and crossed his arms, ignoring everything.

Alex felt compelled to massage his forehead as he felt a headache coming.

"See, it's what I'm talking about. This thing is too troublesome. A real troublemaker." Alex said, pointing at Ego, who clicked his tongue in annoyance.

"Said the man who thinks I'm he is -"

Alex didn't let him finish whatever he had to say before canceling his ability. Ego disappeared, but before leaving, he sent the middle finger at Alex and the others.

A moment of silence descended upon the underground training room before Gracier said.

"He is the feisty type, I see." She was smiling, while most of those present thought they couldn't get closer to Ego, the little devil didn't share the same thought; she felt like this version of her brother was way cooler than the original. She felt like she could get along with Ego pretty easily.

Finally, Alex shook his head and approached Artemia; he helped her to get on her feet before saying.

"You were amazing, you almost got me, you deserved a reward. What do you want?"

Artemia stayed silent before looking in Sakuya's direction; the latter smiled. In that instant, the two seemed to have communicated and shared something; Alex just stood there waiting for her to say what she wanted.

And finally, Artemia whispered into his ears what she would like as a reward. Upon hearing what kind the princess desired, Alex chuckled; he calmed down his boiling blood as he could feel the excitement rushing all the way toward his head and lower body, but he quickly calmed down his raging hormones, now wasn't the time.

He nodded; he wondered why she wanted to experience the same thing as those two? Not that he was against another threesome, the last one was really exciting, and he had nothing against trying exactly the same thing; however, there were some things he needed to do first.

Alex helped Artemia until they reached her room; he left her and went to join Leon.

The two men explored many bars as they liked to do until late in the night; they finally stopped in one bar.

From the lazy spin of the fans to the recumbent light of eventide that will soon be starlit black, the bar soaked in the ambiance of this good night.

The duo sat around a table and ordered two glasses of whisky.

When Leon took a sip of his whisky, he said.

"One shot is all I need, one whisky shot before the battle of heroes begins. I felt like I could conquer everything."

At this declaration, Alex nodded and felt like he should also say something; he didn't want to lose; after all, he went silent and enjoyed his whisky before he got a flash of inspiration.

"The whisky turns down the volume on my thoughts. It brings memories of past good times, and I let myself dwell in them rather than think. And at that moment, I am here and not, existing in two perfect moments. Somehow it steadies me, gives me the resolve to go on." He said while emptying his glass; the bartender, as if waiting for this moment, appeared with another glass of whisky.

"You two should become authors." He jokingly said as he put the glasses on the table and left.

The two smiled before enjoying their whisky in silence. No word was uttered.

945 Chapter 945

Late in the night after Alex came back, on the sofa in Alex's room, Artemia sat on Alex's lap, with her mouth agape as his dick slid into her.

"Mmm!"

His lips then slipped down to caress her chin and her neck. Her shoulders relaxed, and he gently moved up into her pussy..

She unconsciously wiggled her hips to let Alex's dick easily invade her honey cave.

Alex continued to kiss; he started pumping his hips to fuck her, with gentle strokes. His hands sensually traced her torso and stopped on her big breasts.

He caressed them slowly, exploring every inch of her breasts.

"Ohh! This feels good!"

The 3rd princess squealed ecstatically from the strokes.

Alex leaned below to bring his face close to Artemia's breasts. He licked her cleavage before taking her right nipple between his lips, teasing it.

Below, between his knees, Sakuya looked with absolute fascination. She didn't know how long it took before his cock emerged out of Maria's cunt... glistened with slippery juices and precum.

Sakuya swallowed at sight.

"Show your competitive spirit!" Alex commanded as he left Maria's breasts and eyed her. He was still remembering the amazing threesome he had before coming here.

Sakuya, who had accompanied the princess like she wished, opened her mouth to ask what Alex meant, but before she could, he stuffed it between her open lips.

"Ahh!"

She gasped as he thrust his hips to pump his dick further into her mouth. She tasted her best friend's sweet juices mixed with the salty but spicy precum.

"Not bad, just like last time."

Alex praised as he plunged in and out of her mouth, almost as if he was fucking her mouth.

"It tastes great like last time, I felt like I'm having an encore!"

Sakuya thought as she started sucking him out of her own volition.

Slowly, she took Alex's dick out of her mouth and guided it back to Maria's cunt. Alex resumed fucking Artemia with considerably faster strokes.

Meanwhile, Sakuya, like the good assistant she was, moved her hands and spread Artemia's ass cheeks, and leaned her face up. She circled her tongue around the latter's pussy as Alex continued to thrust into her.

Her nimble tongue massaged the soft flesh for forty seconds before moving up to lick the hard meat. Every time Alex emerged from her friend's pussy, she licked his throbbing hardness.

"Ohhhhh!"

The Princess shuddered and squealed as she climaxed under his cock. Gently, he pulled out of her to allow her to savor the climax and then made her sit on the corner of the sofa.

Alex immediately yanked Sakuya up and pushed her onto the sofa. Grabbing her legs, he made her lie on her back before plunging his tongue between her dripping cunt.

"Ahhh!"

Sakuya gasped as he ate her like a hungry child. He licked her pussy lips, kissed her clit, and sucked her quivering flesh till she climaxed.

Immediately right after, Alex positioned himself to her wet entrance.

She did it even before Alex could order her to do so.

Meanwhile, Artemia squatted on Sakuya's face while placing her knees on either side of the face. She grabbed the backrest of the sofa for support.

"Anhhhhh!"

Sakuya let out a delightful moan as Alex slipped into her wet pussy. Her wet moist juices made his entry easy, allowing her to slowly accustom to him and appreciate his firm cock.

"You should reciprocate."

Alex commanded as he slammed his hips forward, shoving his cock deep into her tight, hungry cunt.

"Ahh... yes!"

Sakuya could barely let out an agreement as the princess lined her mouth with the gateway to the heavens.

Sakuya rolled her tongue out to pleasure the pussy of her sister sharing the same man. She licked along the pussy lips before flicking on the clit.

"Ohh, yes!"

Artemia arched her hips as Sakuya dove into her pussy with her tongue.

Alex suddenly grabbed Sakuya's slim hips and started fucking her harder with long, powerful strokes that her bountiful chest giggles like a church's bell.

Meanwhile, the princess leaned forward and placed her hands on Alex's shoulders. Her lips moved to his for a wanton kiss, exchanging saliva and exploring each other's mouth.

"Mmmm!"

Sakuya continued to eat her new sister's spasming pussy.

"Ohhh!"

The princess moaned in Alex's mouth as waves of pleasure swept through her body, reaching her pussy.

Alex continued to hammer into Sakuya's pussy with long thrusts. With each thrust, her pussy muscles contracted around him, rippling with delightful currents.

"Oooh, that feels so fucking good! Sex is amazing!"

Sakuya declared as her body shuddered, and the crest of orgasm began to build inside her. She licked her sister more excitedly, wanting her to climax together.

"Give it to me!"

Her eyes rolled up into the back of her head, and she thrust her hips forward to meet the onslaught of Alex.

"Anhhhh!"

As her excited pussy clenched his cock, she climaxed. She felt liberated and weightless, as if she was a free soul in the heavens.

"Ohh! Yesssss!"

Above her, Artemia happened to have climaxed by exploding a river of juices on Sakuya's face. She collapsed on Alex's chest with her, breathing heavy. She looked like a bullied kitten, extremely cute.

Alex slipped out of Sakuya, still hard. She was sensitive and needed time before she could take him back in.

"Eretria."

Alex lowered his eyes to the figure resting against his chest.

"Please... I'm sensitive! My pussy can't handle another round now!" Like Maria back then, the princess begged as she writhed in sheer ecstasy. It was beyond anything she had expected.

"Me too!" Sakuya added. "Give us time to recover!"

Alex, who was not satisfied yet, wished to tease them again and again until they passed out, and he would still continue, but when he saw their current condition, he could only sigh; however, he still had one card left.

"Let's try something new."

He declared before immediately lifting Sakuya and Artemia in each hand, without any trouble, as if they were as light as a feather; he had the strength to do that. He then stepped forward while taking a turn nuzzling their necks and tasting their sweet-tasting skin because of the sweat resulting from intense activity.

Even though his hands were holding them by their ass, his fingers caressed them sensually, further adding to their pleasure, as evident in their moans..

Alex stepped on the carpet and dropped the woman down. With indescribable speed, he pushed their forearms behind their backs while spreading their legs, scissoring each other.

He sat between them with their pussies locking on either side of his cock. Even without his guidance, they started grinding the pussies into his cock. It was an unconscious action.

"Oooh!"

Sakuya felt continuous spasms in her pussy as she rubbed it against his throbbing cock, feeling his slippery pussy of Artemia alongside.

"Anhhhh"

The princess moaned as her hungry pussy slapped against Alex's cock, almost as if they were fucking, but instead of one partner, he was fucking two together.

As the process continued, Alex grabbed their breasts and squeezed them.

He enjoyed the heavenly sensation of two pussies pleasuring his hungry cock. Each pussy bathed him with their slick juices, moisturizing him with their delicious warmth.

This feeling was beyond heaven.

This little game continued, they all got into a compelling rhythm, and the only sound besides the moans of pleasure was the sound of flesh meeting flesh.

A few minutes later, the rhythm slowed down as waves of ecstasy swept into them.

"Face me!"

Alex moved his hand from Sakuya's erected nipples to her neck. He then pulled her face to his glistening cock. With his other hand, he brought Artemia on his balls like he did it with Maria back then.

Sakuya, who immediately understood his intention, opened her lips and took half of his cock into her mouth. She tasted the mix of slick juices and precum.

"Mmm!"

She closed her lips and began bobbing up and down to make him come faster.

Alex shut his eyes and enjoyed the feeling of her mouth sucking him. Her mouth was like her pussy - wet, slippery, and made to please.

Sakuya placed her hands on his thighs and started trying to deepthroat him in earnest.

Artemia followed what the Ice empress had told her and gently caressed Alex's balls with her soft, wet lips. She sensuously kissed, licked, and bathed them with her saliva.

"Mmmm!"

As Sakuya tried to deepthroat him, she took his balls in her mouth. She caressed and massaged them by giving a gentle squeeze through her mouth.

Strands of precum and saliva oozed down on her from her friend's lips

With her mouth filled, she lifted her eyes to discover Sakuya gagging.

Alex accelerated his hips to deposit some of his hot cum inside her throat before spreading the rest on the two women.

The night was still young, the three continued to enjoy themselves until early in the morning when something unexpected was awaiting Alex, something who would make him spit his tea.

Alex planned to really enjoy himself because who knows if he could easily do this once in the Foxia empire, the fox princess was troublesome to deal with.

946 Chapter 946

,m Artemia took charge, and Alex stayed still, allowing her to do whatever she wanted. He got on his feet.

The princess lay down on the bed, bringing her face just below his hovering dick and balls.

Sakuya followed, but instead of lying on the side, she laid over the princess, their breasts mashing in.

Just seeing two beautiful women lying over each other was too much.

Sakuya swept her tongue out and moved it down the length of his cock. Simunatelously, the princess's tongue licked from the base of his balls to the start of his shaft.

They were in perfect sync, their nimble tongues caressing every corner of his cock and balls. It sent one orgasmic jolt after another into him.

The princess followed Sakuya's instructions and opened her lips. The latter guided the head of Alex's cock between those soft lips while giving the balls a wet kiss.

She sealed her lips around the head and started sucking it by moving back and forth. The excitement inside her soared further, and her nipples hardened, something Sakuya noticed as their breasts were pressed together.

The Japanese girl opened her mouth and engulfed one of the balls. She didn't want to stay still doing anything; it had become a battle of who would make him come faster.

"Mmm!"

The princess didn't wish to lose; she took the shaft in her mouth and started moving back and forth. Each time, she took him deeper, further bathing him with her saliva and the warmth of her mouth.

She was practically drooling now, the strands of saliva and precum dripping on Sakuya's face.

Meanwhile, Alex, the one being attacked, had his breathing turning heavy.

Sakuya knew now was her time. She freed the balls, wrapped her fingers around the cock, and guided it down, straight into her mouth.

She almost swallowed half of him and then started moving back and forth.

Like a snake, the princess extended her tongue and ran it on the remaining portion, sending a shiver of pleasure on Alex's spine.

The two women continued with their competition, the pleasure was so overwhelming that Alex was on the brink of eruption, but he stopped himself. He wanted to enjoy this beautiful sensation further. He was a late bloomer; he could ejaculate so soon; it would hurt his pride if he were to get easily subdued. He was a true alpha after.

Even so, he knew it was only temporary because being sandwiched between the drooling mouths of the women he loved was not something he could handle for long.

Sakuya, like a professional, put him to the edge by swirling her tongue around the tip of his cock. She felt it twitch, and she knew he was about to erupt.

His balls clenched, and he shot out a massive load into their mouths. There was just too much cum, and some of it spilled out.

She winked at him while swallowing the cum in her mouth.

"Time to clean!"

Sakuya leaned up and kissed Artemia, and the latter eagerly responded. The cum on their lips swapped before finally slipping down their throats.

They then licked each other's faces, not leaving behind a single droplet of cum.

The princess brought her eyes back to the still hard cock, and she sucked him again, swallowing any cum that was left.

Sakuya let her do it, but she licked the princess's cheeks clean while feeling the latter was feeling the cock in her mouth pulsate.

It didn't take Alex even one minute for him to get hard again.

After the wonderful blowjob, if he could call it one, Alex felt the need to reciprocate. Just as he was about to assault Sakuya, she stopped him with her finger and asked him to lie down while commanding Artemia to mount him.

She wanted him to pound her, but she wanted to give the princess that honor again. It was her way of making the princess owe her a favor; besides, tonight, it was about her more than anything; she was just an extra.

As expected, the princess nodded at her in gratitude.

"No need to thank me as you'll owe me." Sakuya declared, making the princess chuckle; out of everyone, she was the most comfortable with Sakuya; it was unknown why, only the future could tell.

Meanwhile, Sakuya wrapped her fingers around the base of Alex's cock as Artemia began to lower over it.

She didn't allow her pussy to engulf it directly. Instead, she rubbed it around the entrance, teasing both Artemia and Alex, feeling them writhe in frustration and excitement. She then extended her tongue around the pussy and on the base of the cock.

"Ohh!" Artemia gasped and took hold of Sakuya's head. She pulled her up, her eyes almost begging.

"Don't worry; I'm not mean!"

Sakuya said as she guided Alex's dick back to the entrance and allowed Artemia to ease over it. Her wet pussy lips spread wide as inch by inch; she engulfed him deep in her.

The princess moaned as she started riding him by rotating her hips back and forth. The way it stretched her left her huffing, but she couldn't bring herself to stop.

She was also a woman needing attention; Sakuya moved and straddled Alex's face, slowly bringing her pussy over his lips. He kissed her slit and suckled her clit before he started feasting on her.

"Ohhh! Dear creator!"

She shuddered as a hot flush spread from her pussy to her breasts. She started squeezing them.

Artemia noticed this, and even as she rode Alex's dick like a stallion, she bent forward to fondle Sakuya's breasts.

This made Sakuya's head snap back. She was already climaxing from the tongue working inside her, and now this jerked her body

Artemia was the same. Alex felt her contracting around his spear with vibrating ripples. He grabbed her ass cheeks and held her, supporting her as she shivered from climax.

His hands moved up and held her by her waist, his figure blurred with his mouth still sucking Sakuya's pussy.

He flipped Artemia, bringing her back on the bed, and pounded hard until she had an orgasm; while doing this, he didn't to forgot fingering Sakuya on the brink of the orgasm.

"Ohhhh!" Sakuya moaned as if she was possessed; never before she would have expected fingers could be this good; it was almost like the real thing. She was tired and wished to rest; however, how could he allow that? It was time to reward her.

"W-Wait... Uhgnn...~"

Sakuya let out a loud moan. Her body shivered violently while she arched her back. She really felt it, and she was still too sensitive for such an attack.

Alex held her hips firmly while piercing her from behind. Each second, he moved back and forth, invading her insides until the deepest part of her cunt.

"Ughhn... Ahh... Alex, please... S-Stop..."

Her ragged voice reached Alex's ears. Of course, he did not stop. Instead, he pressed his body against hers and kissed her back and neck, using his tongue to lick her tender skin.

Sakuya's body shivered. When she felt her man's tongue over her body, she let out a soft hum and put her face against the sheets. Then, she stopped struggling and left her body at his mercy, knowing he wouldn't stop even if she were to beg him; on the ground, it would fuel his sadistic side.

Alex grinned after noticing Sakuya was not planning to resist. Without caring about her feelings, he moved faster and faster, enjoying the feeling of her flesh wrapping around his cock, and piercing her womb. She could only moan helplessly while suffering his attacks.

He grabbed her two breasts from behind and pulled her body up. Then, his mouth kissed her shoulder before biting hard.

"Ahhhhh...~" Sakuya screamed. The pain of the bite made her tighten her vagina around Alex's cock.

"So good...~" She shouted. Sakuya's star-like eyes full of lust turned towards Alex, and her lustrous lips searched for his. Soon, their tongues were entangled again in a lustful battle.

Sakuya's mind was completely blank. She could not think of anything but the feeling of their bodies colliding.

Artemia was far too gone to worry about what was happening beside her.

Alex grinned. Hearing Sakuya's pants and moans was incredibly exciting. Every time she moaned, he felt blessed; he could never let go of any of them; they are all unique on their own.

He continued pounding Sakuya, and after a while like that, he released her body and let it fall on the bed. Then, he pressed her shoulders against the bed and thrust on her like that.

With her body pinned on the bed, he attacked and attacked, reaching deeper and deeper with each thrust.

Sakuya's mouth opened in a long moan while her body struggled below him, twisting seductively.

The slapping sounds of Alex's hips colliding against Sakuya's buttocks filled the room. They were like a percussion of lust that turned Sakuya crazy.

This continued until they both had orgasms simultaneously. Finally, they stopped after his six orgasms.

Alex felt ready to face anything tomorrow, so he thought.

947 Chapter 947

Snow came as heaven's sunlit glitter to bring the world to a new shine.

Upon the rise of the sun the forest was so snow-white. It had a pristine aura that begs of the soul to stop for a moment and let the sight enter your soul.

Under this scene stood a black haired young girl. Her hair, black and straight, moved as soft prairie grass in summer wind. It gives contrast to her face, sweetly white upon her porcelain white skin. She woven into the beauty of this place rather than a thing apart. There was something of her spirit here in the trees and, as if they are always in communion, ever happy together, she seemed lonely but at the same time not, almost as if she existed for this.

Finally, the girl opened her ice-blue eyes that remind you of the blue sky and mumbled.

"They say we live in the moment, that the past is always gone, and each day is something new, a stepping stone into a future we dream of even in the cold. For me, that is snow, that is those wintry days of bluster and ice. I see the earth of yesterday covered as white as any new page and the toddler in me rises as if armed with a rainbow of crayons, eager to set that right. Yet today, I'm happy to simply walk in it, create a few footprints of my own. I watch them tumble, those feathered crystals, their chaotic flight to form a blanket that could not be more uniform, more orderly. Yet for some their destination is to come to my hand, to alight upon these ungloved fingers and let my warmth be their spring melt. I remember that day as if it was yesterday brother, yes allow me to call you that, you might not be here anymore but as I stood here I remembered our conversation."

The girl said before closing her eyes in reminiscence.

.....

Past.

In one of the training rooms of the laboratory she was born into stood a small child, white hair and red eyes.

What am I?"

This was the first question the girl that will be known as Incursio asked to the man standing next to her. She asked this question as soon as she could talk.

Not who, but what.

After all, from the very beginning, she had never seen herself as anything more than an object. She was smart since the beginning and she could at least understand this much.

"You?"

Standing next to her, a middle-aged man wearing a white coat turned to face her.

His most striking features would be his face which was slightly handsome and his creepy smile.

"You are the tool that will allow me to reach success. I created you and your brother for this purpose." The man added and the little girl nodded.

This was the first conversation she had with the mad scientist known as Maddog. The little Incursio understood that she and others were nothing but tool for this organization. Yes! As soon she knew how to read and had perused through many book, she knew this man before her was nothing but also a tool, he might act all mighty but he was working for someone. This left leave the little Incursio smiling, it mean in this organization even if you are tool, you're tool with rank. She decided to be the most useful tool out of everyone. So she trained tenfold more than others, if this didn't work she would train twenty folds, fifty and even hundred fold.

She was born genius but genius you would cease to be if you don't improve, the little Incursio understood this. She tried to beat everyone but there was one man she couldn't beat no matter what.

At first she had paid him to much attention, even with the rumors saying the two were born almost at the same time, that they could be considered as the Adam and Eve of Chaos project. This man name was Zero, Zero like the beginning of everything, his name mean he would be absolute to everyone, he was a true alpha and indeed he was. Everything seemed easy for him to the extent that the little Incursio who didn't pay him any intention started doing so, she couldn't be blamed, this young boy was about to throw sand into her plans, something she couldn't allow, she had to show him his place.

So, begun their rivalry. It really started on their first mission.

Snow clouds, silver and black, in a multitude of precious-metal hues, adorned the sky as if they long to kiss the land.

Incurtio and Zero stood face to face surrounded by nothing but snow and white trees. They killed others, strangely they both had the exact kills, five each.

Seven years old yet they had killed five people, children like them nonetheless, they laughed and ate together, yet the two didn't hesitate to kill them and they didn't feel any guilt even after performing such act as if it was natural for them.

Zero and Incursio stood face to face in silence with blood dripping from the knives they used to kill their comrades.

"You know I like Snow, it pure white like our hairs, it let me know that in this life there is still something as pure as this. It worth fighting for, we must survive until the end, little sister you must survive and admire the snow." This was the first thing he said to her as if he could read her.

This shocked Incursio while at the same time left her infuriated, the little girl that time felt like she was being looked down upon. Smart or not, she was still a child.

Incursio decided to surpass this man for whom everything seemed to be too easy.

And like always he would act like her brother, never taking everything seriously.

Because of this behavior, the growing Incursio did many things in order to surpass Zero, even that time with the demon. She went ahead of everyone.

A sparkle in the fog, a trembling of stones, and suddenly she was faced by a frightening creation of grime and terror, they said it was a failed creation but it was too terrific nonetheless.

Two ravenous eyes stare at you with an overpowering animosity, and another sparkle resonates from its meager mouth with terrifying intensity.

A thick mane of hair adorns its massive head, which itself is adorned with fiery symbols. An intense heat escapes the creature's forked nostrils set within a sinewy nose.

Its massive head sits atop a short, stringy body. Plated of steel have merged with flesh, but you don't wish to find out the probably horrifying specifics.

The creature took a step forward, its two legs stumblingly carry its demonic body with a maniacal energy. A powerful tail slithers behind it, coarse hairs cover it sporadically.

Two stunted wings extend themselves fully. Cracked bones, and fiery feathers stretch upward, and forcefully descend with a powerful gust. The creature steps closer, it becomes more and more menacing, and its eyes stare intently into yours.

For the first time Incursio felt something, it was fear, an emotion she previously thought she was foreign to.

She stood frozen as the thing called demon attacked with its sharp claw, her skin was ripped apart and blood flowed out.

Waves of throbbing, nauseating pain pulsed within her abdomen and she felt like the breakfast she ate would return to her in an instant. The little Incursio's entire body told her to stop what she were doing, stop and find relieve from this hellish feeling. She held their fingers against her temples and gently massaged them.

One deep breath followed another, surely this pain could be ignored if she tried like in their trainings.

It had seemed like the pain had been there forever and in a way they were getting used to it, but at the same time the fact it might stick a little while longer was terrifying. However, she felt like there wasn't much that could be done either way, so the best course of action was to simply deal with it and get on with life until the pain subsided.

It was then he appeared, like a big brother, caressed her hair and as if he had done magic, her pain seemed to lessened.

And he attacked the thing known as demon, he overwhelmed that things like an adult toying with a child. At the end as he held the demon's head inside his hand, he told her.

"Remember you should survive at all cost and enjoy the snow."

That day she admitted she was no match for him and decided to survive no matter what. She was a tool but a tool with goals in mind.

Her original goal was to become the most useful tool in order to survive and screw them but after that day she added another goal which was to survive at all cost and enjoy the snow while screwing the Chaos organization to the extent that they would never forget.

Back in reality, Incursio opened her eyes and chuckled.

"Time to go meet my future sugar daddy. There are a lot of things he didn't know. The Chaos organization is more dangerous than everyone thinks."

948 Chapter 948

In the early morning, daylight unwraps the hues of the world.

Alex woke up surrounded by two beauties in his arms, looking at their blissful expressions; he couldn't stop a smile from forming on his face. No matter how many this happened, he couldn't stop grinning as he loved waking up in the morning surrounded by his loved ones.

"Sigh!"

Although he wished to stay still and enjoy this moment, he had to leave and start preparing; the emperor would call for him after what he said to Leon last night.

After gently pushing their arms to the side, Alex got up and headed toward the bathroom.

The bathroom was a celebration of white and chrome; with the lavender in the vase, it was most welcoming to the senses.

Alex got ready to shower. The shower water comes as perfect rain, warm and steady, awakening his skin in all the right ways.

He enjoyed his bathing time for twenty minutes before leaving and got dressed up.

He went downstairs to take breakfast and meet the others.

"Morning Alex. I hope you did have the time to sleep well last night?" Maria sent a jab at him as soon as they met, and of course, Alex played along.

"Of course, I did sleep well. You know my stamina the best."

Maria chuckled and admitted defeat; Gracier felt like this kind of conversation was too high level for her, and thus she didn't dare to butt in.

Saeko's face turned red because, unlike Gracier, who hadn't understood what the two were talking about, she was quick to catch on to what the two were talking about, after as a royal princess, she received lessons on stuff like these. So, obviously she would know what he meant when he talked about stamina.

"Let's eat; the others would eat later." Alex declared as he sat on the most prominent chair; Maria sat on his right while Luna on his left, and Gracier sat right after Luna.

Just as breakfast was about to arrive, one maid came running and stopped right before Alex; the maid kneeled.

"Greetings master, there was someone outside with the name Incursio wishing to meet you."

Before Alex could even place on word, a black-haired young girl walked in; she casually sat on one of the available chairs.

Alex felt a headache coming; he was drinking his tea, and just as he was about to ask this troublesome girl what she came to do here, Incursio, who was disguising, said something that made him spit his tea.

"Morning, my sugar daddy."

Puff !

Maria stood up while Luna frowned; both girls wondered what the hell this girl was thinking. They couldn't understand her; she seemed to be in another timeline than them.

"What the hell are you spouting?" Alex asked after wiping away the tea around his mouth.

Enjoying his reaction Incursio said, "It's as it sounds, you're quite smart, and we both know that you understand what I'm saying; let's talk later."

She disappeared like a puff of smoke after saying what she had to say.

Alex could have given chase, but he didn't do that because it would have been pointless to do that; they couldn't catch her even if they went after her, and even himself wasn't even sure if he could catch her if she were to decide to hide seriously.

"Let's eat." He said, bringing everyone's attention to the breakfast.

A few minutes later, they were done; Alex headed to the palace because Leo, the emperor requested his presence.

A few minutes later, Alex was alone with the emperor in a different throne hall.

Bulky braziers attached to one side of each of the ten marble columns light up the entire throne hall and blanket everything in a warm glow. The paintings of angels and cherubs on the oblique ceiling dance in the flickering light while statues and gargoyles look down upon the slate floor of this grand hall.

A golden rug runs from the throne to the doors and is matched by smaller ones on either side of the hall, while pointed banners with gilded corners on the walls. Between each banner hangs a torch; none but a few have been lit and, in turn, illuminate the statuettes of heroes and legends below them.

Curtains border slim, colored glass windows colored the same gold as the banners. The curtains have been adorned with impressive needlework and emblazoned edges.

An imposing oak throne sits below a grand chandelier and was adjoined by five smaller and less elaborate seats for those closest to the royal highness.

The throne was covered in symbolic illustrations, and fixed on each of the wide armrests was a crystal trident. The fluffy pillows are a dark golden, and these two have been adorned with embellished embroideries.

"This is the second throne hall used for a special occasion. Only does acknowledge by the emperor could step into this place." Leo, the emperor of the Lionheart Empire, Leon's father said after meeting Alex.

Alex nodded, feeling pleased; even without exchanging with Leo, he was sure his words would go through; the only thing left was to know how much he needed to concede.

"Greeting emperor Leo." Alex declared respectfully.

Leo chuckled and stopped him from saying further.

"Let's talk in another location," Leo said before turning his back on him; he performed a series of hand seals.

A weak shimmering portal appeared, and Leo walked in. Alex knew to get what he desired, he would have to follow the emperor, and it was what he did.

He stepped forward through the weak portal that looked like a small pond before. A wonderful world immediately met him. He gently floated above the surface; gravity was not strong here at all like on Mysthia. The landscape, too, tries to reach for the sky. His immediate instinct was to seek shelter, to find some form of relief from this atmosphere.

Because of these horrible conditions, he feels exposed and in jeopardy. This world was smooth sailing all across, but it's a danger you could handle.

Far behind him, he could smell the sweet scents of creatures of a literally and figuratively different world. There's definitely some hostility going on; the cautious path would be the best one. He managed to spot thin creatures, flying creatures, and what he thought might be enormous creatures of some sort.

"This is the second lock; let's keep going," Leo said as he kept going, and Alex followed behind, and soon they stopped, and the emperor performed another hand seals.

Golden light surrounded them as they were teleported to another location.

They reappeared in a deserted city, and there was a castle in the distance; this castle was their direction.

Eight skinny, square towers guard the weakest points of this castle and are connected by enormous, firm walls made of blue stone.

Simple windows are scattered generously around the walls in seemingly perfect symmetry, along with symmetric crenelations for archers and artillery.

A vast gate with enormous metal doors, a regular bridge, and a moat guards the only place with water within these hot, dry lands, and it's the only way in, if you can make it, that is.

Fields of nothingness stretch out outside the castle, allowing us to see people coming far before they pose a threat. This castle has clearly stood the test of time, and its inhabitants intend to make sure it stays that way for ages to come.

This castle would have been perfect if there were people inside, but there wasn't anyone inside it except the two people who arrived.

Leo and Alex appeared in the secret chamber; floating in the air above the air in the secret chamber was a black key.

As soon as Alex saw this key, he felt his blood boiling and his lips curled up to form a grin.

Finally, he was about to get his second key.

"So, this is what you want?" Leo asked while standing back against one of the seven keys used to seal Bahamut after that fight.

Alex nodded with a smile.

Leo sighed; although he heard what Alex told his son, he didn't know everything; as such, he wished to know the real reason behind Alex asking them to hand over the key they had in their possession. They had been protecting this key for more than a hundred years already.

Even before he became emperor, so Leo wanted to know what Alex was planning to do once he got the key; he hoped he would explain everything to him.

"What do you want to do with this key? You should know how important this key is. I can't give it without a satisfactory answer, so once again, I want to know what you plan to do with this key." Leo declared after a moment of silence.

Alex didn't reply right away; he played with the coin inside his hand before finally saying.

"I want to screw the Chaos organization up like last time."

He knew with this little information, Leo would be able to connect the dots, and it was exactly what happened.

After the initial surprise, Leo smiled while asking.

"What do you want to give in exchange?"

949 Chapter 949

Alex didn't reply right away; he played with the coin inside his hand before finally saying.

"I want to screw the Chaos organization up like last time."

He knew with this little information, Leo would be able to connect the dots, and it was exactly what happened.

After the initial surprise, Leo smiled while asking.

"What do you want to give in exchange?"

"I will let you have more than fifty percent of my share in Holy Crux empire," Alex responded.

Leo was shocked at first before bursting into a burst of laughter.

"Hahahaha! You're good. It's a deal. This thing is troublesome to look after. I'll gladly let you do whatever you want with it." The emperor declared before performing another series of hand seals, and the barrier; the key was removed, and the key gently fell into Leo's hand before he tossed it into Alex's direction.

Alex caught it and felt the cold sensation of metal against his skin; the sleeping Eterna became lively all of a sudden.

"Let's go back," Alex said, trying to calm the overly excited Eterna.

Leo nodded, already planning how to use the more than fifty percent deal he got. Hopefully, there would be many dungeons in the land he had just acquired. Like this, the two dungeons they lost would be recovered.

As soon as Alex went back, he secluded himself in his room before taking out the black key, one of the keys used to seal Bahamut temporarily.

He didn't forget to ask Nyx to seal his room inside a powerful barrier; he was no fool to let Bahamut know that he was the one screwing him over; if he were to make that mistake, he would die.

[Hehehehe! Father, let me consume it. I can detect powerful energy coming from this thing. I may evolve if I consume it.] Eterna's voice rang inside his head.

Alex chuckled before letting Eterna consume the key.

The black chain shot out from his hand and swallowed the key.

Gulp!

Alex felt a nice sensation throughout his body. He felt like his body got upgraded. Impatient to see the changes, he summoned his status.

"What? There is no change?" Alex said, shocked, not seeing any change in his stats despite the sensation he had just felt.

"Eterna, you little greedy kid, what did you do?" Alex asked the one he thought he was responsible for the current situation.

p [Calm down, father, you will feel them soon.] Eterna calmly declared.

"What?" Alex was shocked by his calm response.

Suddenly, Alex kneeled because he felt an intense pain.

He gasped for air and stumbled to his feet; the world seemed to spin around him. For a moment, Alex thought about just giving in to the pain, letting it consume him completely, as there seemed to be no way out. He paused for a moment and took a deep breath. Perhaps if he could shift their focus away from the pain, it'd be easier to manage.

Soft moans and grunts escaped his mouth. Tired and frustrated, Alex wanted it all to be over and done with. But sick of having to deal with all this, he decided to simply refuse to acknowledge the pain and get on with their day to the best of their ability.

In another location, Silveria, who had shut down everything since that little episode, couldn't help but worry about seeing her master in pain. She decided to stop being stubborn and help her master. Seeing this, Nyx smiled, mumbling.

'Finally, you stopped being stubborn. But master is a good actor.'

She knew her master was indeed suffering but not as strong as he was trying to portray. Smart as he is, he couldn't help but use this situation to his advantage. He was trying to lure Silveria out, and his plan seemed to have worked as the silver-haired goddess appeared and held his body; she was trying to soothe his pain by sending a harmless strand of silver energy inside his body. She didn't dare to send a lot of energy for fear of canceling the change his body was experiencing.

"Don't worry, endure it a bit longer; I will be over soon." She said as she softly caressed his hair.

"S... sorry...for what I've said back then. I'm truly sorry." Alex declared with difficulty.

"No, no, stop talking and concentrate on feeling the change inside your body. It will be over soon." Silveria declared. She had already forgotten about what happened back then; the only thing she wished for right now was to see her master back on his feet, safe and sound.

Alex nodded; his body convulsed a few times, his eyes were bleeding, and even blood was dripping from his ears.

The pain continued for a few minutes before all blood vanished, returning to Alex's body.

He felt refreshed, and his body was filled with strength, like those MCs in wuxia novels; he felt like the current him could crush a mountain with the swing of his hand.

"Thank you, Silveria." Alex declared while kissing Silveria on the forehead.

"What?" Silveria, who was not expecting such an attack, froze, and her face blushed.

"How cute," Alex said and immediately jumped back to avoid a punch thrown at him.

"Stay still, and let me punch you once." Silveria declared while cracking her knuckles.

"Hell no. I would hurt." Alex refused and went to the other end of the room.

Seeing this, Silveria sighed and decided not to do anything.

"Check your status. I'm curious about your current level." She suggested, and Alex nodded.

Even without checking his stats, he knew they'd changed as he could feel the power coursing through his body.

Right before Silveria could punch him, he jumped back, he didn't even put any effort into this, and he almost appeared at the other end of the room.

"Status!" He mumbled.

950 Chapter 950

It went without saying that Alex was shocked by his new stats, so surprised that he could not say anything for a while until Silveria slapped him on the back.

"Wow! I'm happy for you, master."

"Ouch! That hurt; I need compensation." Alex shamelessly declared while rubbing his back, acting as if he was really hurt.

Knowing he was joking, Silveria, who was in the mood, decided to play along.

"So what do you want as compensation?" She asked with a smile.

Alex rubbed his nose before saying.

"Just accept going on a date with me."

Silveria was surprised at first before laughing; she finally understood everything; she did everything just for this.

"Master, how sly, but I like it. Okay, let's go on a date after you're done checking your status." She said before sitting on the bed and crossing her legs patiently.

Alex nodded, happy that his plan had worked; just as he was about to focus on his stats, Eterna's voice rang out in his head again.

[Father seemed to have forgotten what I'd said. I said you'll experience them, so I meant there was more than one. Brace yourself; the second vague is coming. Hehehehe! This one would hurt more than the previous one.]

Eterna's declaration was like a bucket of cold water poured over his head, making his face harden, and Silveria noticed it.

"What is the problem, master?"

〔Another one is coming.〕 Nyx told her, and Silveria stood up, ready to help him.

Alex took a deep breath before putting a piece of the wood he had taken from his item box into his mouth between his teeth. His eyes shone resolutely. He would endure it without uttering a single word.

Nyx appeared and erected another barrier; this one was stronger than the previous one because she felt like this time, something special would happen. This key seemed to hold something special, a special connection with Bahamut.

The three exchanged looks, and it came.

Bad-ump! Bad-ump! Bad-ump!

His heartbeat quickened, alarming him; his body turned hot as if he was on fire. He felt a throbbing pain inside his heart.

The throbbing pain from his heart was enough to disorient him; he thought he could fight against the pain; however, it was soon proved to be difficult. Hazy, confused, and weak in his knees, he felt as if he could collapse under his weight at any moment. Cold shivers shot through his body, and both his hands and legs were trembling. Silveria and Nyx quickly helped him to lie on the bed; Silveria sent strands of silver energy inside the body, nursing his damaged cells; his body was constantly going through the cycle of destruction and rebirth, and every time it came out strengthened than before.

Suddenly, Alex's right eye dazzled, almost blinding the two girls.

"It has begun," Nyx said, seemingly knowing what was happening.

Meanwhile, Alex's conscientiousness was brought into another world. There were two suns in the sky, and underneath this scorching sun was an army.

The ground trembles as an army of 180,000 moves forward. A symphony of steps, each perfectly aligned with the one next to it, even the most ignorant souls will know there's an army marching onwards. To wage war.

Up close, it was the rustling of chainmail and leather which overpowers all other sounds. The creaking of metal of the siege engines and supply carts can be heard only faintly, and the sounds of the war mounts are all but drowned out completely.

Virtually all soldiers are talking despite the noise around them. Laughter is a common sight; many soldiers seem to be looking forward to the battle ahead. The entire army is as one, one collective mind with a single goal: Defeat the enemy.

The front was led by eager charge units armed with giant pikes. They're followed by giant crossbow units ready to fire, which in turn were followed by elite sword cavalry.

The ranks were filled with many other regiments, including mercenaries and allied soldiers, including many elite units, several bomb units, artillery units, and various flanking units.

The enemy this army was facing was none other than dragons. Dragons filled the sky, and leading them was a gigantic black dragon standing proudly before the army of dragons in the sky.

On the ground, the army of men, despite looking like ants before those giant beings they, proudly raised their weapons and charged forward; what ensued was chaos. Alex saw dragons massacring people; he saw them burning soldiers while at the same time, he saw the soldiers slaughtering dragons as if those beings weren't almighty as fairy tale books tried to portray them.

River of blood-drenched the ground, giant corpses and small corpses filled the ground and, forming a hell river.

Alex thought he had seen many horrifying things but seeing this scene made him rethink his previous thought. The war continued until the black dragon Alex identified as Bahamut split his body into two before burning more soldiers with his flame. He was winning the war when suddenly everything came to stand still.

From the soldiers' side, something arrived; it was a big cage, an extremely big cage. Upon laying eyes on this cage, Bahamut stopped fighting because of them being inside the cage.

Gentle pearly eyes sit sunken within the creature's angular, horned skull, which gives the creature a threatening-looking appearance.

Several small crystal growths sit atop its head, just above its wide, round ears. Several small fan-like skin and bone structures runs down the sides of each of its jaw lines.

Its nose is round and has two narrow, oval nostrils, and there's a small horn on its chin. Rows of large teeth poke out from the side of its mouth and give a slight hint at the terror hiding inside.

A huge neck runs down from its head and into a huge body. The top was covered in crystal-like skin, and a row of small crystal growths ran down its spine.

Its bottom is covered in narrow scales and is colored differently than the rest of its body. Six thick limbs carry its body and allow the creature to stand sturdy and tall. Each limb has six digits, each of which ends in narrow claws seemingly made of obsidian.

Colossal wings grow to start from its shoulders and end at its hips. The wings are scythe-shaped, a specialized layer of skin is all visible inside, and small, sharp tips grow from each ending like massive spears.

Its massive tail ends in a sharp tip and is covered in the same crystal-like skin as its body.

Several chains restrained this being which was none other than a dragon, not a typical dragon but the Dragon's king mate.

Roarrrrrrrrrrrr!

Bahamut roared toward heaven; he was furious; he expected humans to be despicable, but not to this extent. However, he was sure they couldn't pull such action without some insider help; just by imagining there was a traitor among his rank left the king furious.

Alex frowned as he could guess what would happen from now on, and his guess wasn't off the mark; the other party used the female dragon as a hostage and slaughtered many dragons; just as they were about also to kill Bahamut, the female dragon self-destructed bringing with her many commanders.

"!!!!!!!!!!!!!"

Bahamut shouted the name of the female dragon, but Alex was unable to hear it. Suddenly, an enormous explosion came from Bahamut's body which swallowed everything, even Alex. He was brought back to reality.

His clothes were drenched, but he was not in the mood for that; he immediately called out his status.
