"Wow! Although my level hasn't increased for the second time, my stats have, and I got some nice abilities, but first, what was that? Did I see Bahamut's memories?" He wondered, while recalling the thing he saw, especially that female dragon, he wondered if she died really after self-destructing. If she dies in that explosion, he could understand Bahamut's hatred for their species. Humans weren't the only species in that army; Alex even saw elves and what looked like demons.

"I will go back; you better lie down for a moment." Nyx declared before vanishing.

"Ok, I'll do that." Alex nodded before lying down.

"Hmph!" Silveria harrumphed before vanishing in turn. She was mad that Alex would easily accept whatever her sister said. The look in his eyes as he looked at her was completely different from when he was at her, and this pissed her off. She was just jealous that her master gave too much attention to her sister than her. There is a saying that: Jealousy is often an expression of insecurity, and thus its fixing requires internal reflection and addressing matters of self-esteem.

'I will sure he will look at me with the same eyes.' She secretly vowed.

Unaware of this little episode, Alex closed his eyes after lying down. He didn't really need to rest, but to show that he indeed followed Nyx's suggestion, he decided to do it.

Suddenly, his right eye twitched, and he lost consciousness.

He appeared in what seemed to be a cave, and sleeping in the middle of this cave was a dragon.

The large number of eyes sit elegantly within the creature's long, hard skull, which gives the creature a menacing-looking appearance.

Two crystal growths sit atop its head, just above its wide, dog-like ears. A row of small crystal growths runs down the sides of each of its jaw lines.

Its nose is long and has two narrow, angular nostrils and small tendrils on its chin. Rows of sharp teeth poke out from the side of its mouth and give a slight hint at the terror hiding inside.

A thin neck runs down from its head and into a narrow body. The top is covered in radiant skin, and a crystal ridge runs down its spine.

Its bottom is covered in small scales and is colored differently than the rest of its body. Four huge limbs carry its body and allow the creature to stand mighty and imposing. Each limb has 4 digits, each of which ends in massive nails seemingly made of stone.

Freakish wings grow starting from its shoulders and end at the lower end of its back. The wings are scythe-shaped, the insides of the wing seem to be made of thin crystals, and long tendril-like growths grow from many parts of the bottom sides of each wing.

Its reasonably short tail ends in a scythe-like blade and is covered in the same radiant skin as its body.

Bahamut, in a pretty bad shape, stood weakly before this dragon.

"Mother-in-law, she is dead; she sacrificed herself to let her escape. I'm incompetent; please punish me." Bahamut said with his head lowered.

There was a long moment of silence before the dragon Bahamut called mother-in-law spoke.

"I see, that is too bad then. We shall kill them all. There is a being that wished to meet you. This being will help us."

Bahamut nodded before his body shrunk to human size, he had taken human form, but Alex couldn't clearly distinguish his human feature.

Then the scene changed, and the humanoid Bahamut went somewhere and met someone; Alex couldn't see this person's features as well, but something was frightening behind this person; it was his first time seeing something like that.

When his eyes met that thing, there was some sort of change.

A bawl in the sky, a compressing of air, and suddenly Alex was face to face with an imposing soul of darkness and sickness. Four crazed eyes stare at him with a disturbing obsession, and another bawl explodes from its hollow mouth in furious defiance.

Six thick horns adorn its muscular head, which itself is crackling with intense heat from within. Quick breathing escapes the creature's forked nostrils set within a hanging nose.

Its muscular head sits atop a thin, inflated body. Spikes cover its shoulders, but you don't wish to find out the probably horrifying specifics.

The creature strides toward you; its four legs stumblingly carry its draconian body with dreadful energy—a shadowy tail snakes behind it, which itself almost seems like a separate, serpentine creature.

Two immense wings extend themselves fully. Skin-covered bones and greasy membranes stretch upward away from the creature. The creature comes closer and closer, its eyes never leaving yours.

Only one word came to his mind when he saw that thing.

'It is a demon.'

It was unknown why he thought like this, but he couldn't get this word, the word demon, out of his head after seeing that abomination.

Truth be told, when he first encountered demons on Mysthia, he felt like they didn't fit the description of demon he previously thought, but now that he saw this thing, he knew he had encountered something that fit the name of a demon.

Alex thought he could overhear their conversation and learn more things about who was meeting Bahamut and from what world the demon was.

However, to his disappointment, that person meeting Bahamut waved his hand, and Alex was sent away. The last thing he heard was that person calling him an annoying fly.

He was shocked as he thought nobody could see him as he was just watching Bahamut's memories, it was like he was sitting in a cinema, the actor couldn't see you as it was a recorded film, it was exactly how it should have been with Bahamut's memories, and yet that mysterious person could detect his presence.

Just imagining what this implies, Alex felt a chill down his spine; an enemy like this would be hard to deal with, but at the same time, it would be a worthy challenge.

While Alex was looking forward to his future meeting with this man, he reappeared in another location, before inside a dungeon.

A massive pair of worn statues in a dark marsh marks the entrance to this dungeon. Beyond the pair of worn statues lies a modest, broken room. It's covered in dirt, ash, and rat droppings.

Alex touched the torch that allowed him to see an altar, deteriorated and butchered by time itself.

Further ahead are two paths, but the left was a dead end. Its twisted trail leads passed pillaged rooms, and soon you enter a putrid area. There's a huge skeleton in the center, along with dozens of human skeletons. What happened in this place? Alex wondered but nevertheless didn't stop.

He continued onwards, deeper into the dungeon's mysteries. He passed a few more passages, each leading to who knows where or what. He eventually makes it to what was likely the final room. A wide wooden door blocks your path. Intricate carvings are all over it, somehow untouched by time and the elements.

Alex stepped closer to inspect it and.. wait.. was that a growl coming from behind the door?

Maybe another demon; if this is true, then he would test how powerful this demon was. He had no idea where this was; if he was still inside Bahamut's memories world; nonetheless, it didn't matter; he would test his new strength here, something he was eagerly waiting for.

Alex stepped closer to inspect it and.. wait.. was that a growl coming from behind the door?

Maybe another demon; if this is true, then he would test how powerful this demon was. He had no idea where this was; if he was still inside Bahamut's memories world; nonetheless, it didn't matter; he would test his new strength here, something he was eagerly waiting for.

There was an eerie air all over the place, making one's skin crawl, and Alex had felt this one more than once, and he already knew what would happen soon.

Numerous pale black skeletons slowly rose from the floor. Unlike normal skeletons whose bones were white, the current skeleton's bones were black. The Black Skeletons were much stronger monsters compared to normal undead, and at least 500 of them had risen from the ice-cold floor.

Their levels weren't weak, ranging from Level 50 to 85.

Alex smirked even while being surrounded by half a million enemies; he thought he wouldn't have too much trouble dealing with them; however, his expression changed soon when he found out that he could summon neither Silveria nor Nyx.

"Seriously?" Alex spat with his head lowered with the enemies closing in. He seemed not to care about this; he tried a few times to call his gift, but to no avail; he couldn't stop in the end, but thankfully he could still access his status.

"Huh? The part where the death gun is, is greyed out, while there was a question mark after the Eternal chain. I wonder what that means?" Alex wondered while stepping on the side to dodge a skeleton attack; he then punched out.

Bang!

BOOM! Crack!

Although he couldn't use his Gift, he was still powerful; nonetheless, his punch was able to crush two skeletons to death easily, but even so, he knew it would be hard to take care of 498 skeletons on his own without his guns, especially when he felt that new ones would rise as soon as more fell.

In his current situation, even if he didn't wish to use that skill, he didn't really have the choice.

"Ego!" He called out while using the ability Alter Ego acquired from Bahamut.

Another Alex appeared in an instant; Ego's back was facing him.

"Kill them all," Alex ordered, and Ego clicked his tongue but still obeyed.

He launched an attack with his bare hands, easily crushing the weak Black skeletons into pieces.

Alex was also doing the same thing, but he used this time to appraise Ego.

One of Ego's titles bothered him, but he didn't have time for that right now. They were in the middle of fight; they should take care of the enemies surrounding them first before anything else; he had to make sure to have a tight grasp of Ego, or else he might one day spell his doom, something he wouldn't want at any cost, so better be vigilant not to get screwed up in the future.

The first on the first floor of the weird dungeon continued while a meeting was taking place in another location in the real world.

In another location, in a garden to be more accurate.

Luxurious flower bushes encircled an emerald bed of grass. A lone ornamental piece stands to the right, neatly interwoven with the garden and nature itself. The smaller flower bushes are fighting for their place in the garden, thankfully helped by human hands; they're a forest for ants. The flower bushes reach 1.5m/5ft high, but they have the potential to grow far bigger. A few, short signs are scattered around the garden, leading visitors to the best spots. Grass, roots, and vines have already begun to crawl their way over and around the garden, eager to claim all pieces of land.

The ornamental piece was almost like a care taker of the garden in its own right. The smaller flower bushes shouldn't be ignored, and the flower bushes are hard to miss, but you can't win when the garden was designed around the ornamental piece.

Somewhere in this beautiful garden was a table, and surrounding this table were beauties.

Black haired beauties with blue, black eyes, blue-haired beauty with blue eyes like ocean. There was also a golden-haired beauty with eyes of the same hue.

Currently, these beauties were having a meeting; you could also call it a Harem discussion. They were some urgency; hence they called for this meeting.

It was urgent because there was a sudden threat, and the name of this threat was Incursio.

Artemia was the one who took parole. She coughed.

"Greetings ladies, I'm talking in the names of those that are present and at the same time in the name of those who weren't present." She declared while looking into the eyes of everyone present.

"This meeting is because of an emergency. There is an enemy we better all face. We should temporarily let our difference to the side and unite to be victorious against this enemy." The princess and the others didn't have anything to add against this enemy; they felt it would not be easy because she was hella strong.

After seeing that none of them had anything against the current meeting, the Princess proceeded.

"As you know, we are not the only one in our man's life, we are many wanting to share his life, we all love him, we are all like sister, but recently, there was a newcomer that threatened our hard-earned peace, so I organized this meeting."

The 3rd princess of the Drexia Empire, one of the strongest empires in the meeting, declared.

Maria, Luna, and Sakuya nodded; there was even Saeko present. They added her because they knew she would eventually one day become Alex's woman.

Saeko also knew this was true as it was what her father wanted; at the same time, it was what she desired after encountering the man known as Alexander Kael Touch; he was someone she would spend the rest of her life with, without hesitation.

"We are here because of Incursio. What should we do not to let her have what she desired so easily?"

Maria was the one to initiate this, and the others stayed silent; they were contemplating on what to do.

Everyone nodded; the reason for their current assembly was because of this new enemy, namely Incursio; this enemy was so special, so unique that the girls felt it was necessary to organize a special meeting for this enemy because they might lose if they stayed too passive.

Suddenly, as Artemia was about to continue the meeting, there was an unexpected visitor; this visitor was none other than Incursio, the one they were talking about.

Incursio observed them for a moment before chuckling.

"Mind if I join y'all?"

There was a moment of silence after Incursio declared this, as none of them had expected this sudden visit.

953 Chapter 953

Suddenly, as Artemia was about to continue the meeting, there was an unexpected visitor; this visitor was none other than Incursio, the one they were talking about.

Incursio observed them for a moment before chuckling.

"Mind if I join y'all?"

There was a moment of silence after Incursio declared this, as none of them had expected this sudden visit.

After a moment of silence, Maria sighed and offered Incursio a chair.

"Sit here."

"Hehehehe! Thank you, Alexia." Incursio said before sitting next to Maria; she was sitting between Maria and Artemia, while Sakuya, Luna, and Saeko were sitting across from them. She was sandwiched between a strong lineup, not that she minded; she was sure to win if she were to fight them.

"It's a good thing that you came as the purpose of this meeting has something to do with you," Artemia said as soon as Incursio sat, the latter nodded, and all eyes were on her.

"Do you love Alex? It's why you're after him? Asking him to become your sugar daddy?" Luna was the one who asked this.

"Love? It's a foreign emotion to me as I've never felt it before, so can you tell me what love is?" Instead of answering, Incursio raised a question.

The girls were not surprised, they exchanged looks, and Luna was selected to be the first to answer.

"Love is the pureness of spirit within ourselves, not a license to judge the pureness of others. With love, we support without conditions, demonstrating honor, fairness, and compassion. We offer gentle guidance to help the other to a happy and fulfilling life and know that judgment is not our domain. We cannot ever fully know the sorrows and triggers of another; we can never truly "walk in their shoes," but with true empathy and grace, we show a love that can heal, a love that can make the world a better place one heart at a time."

Incursio knew she was referring to what she had done recently, she acted saying it was in her interest, but she also did that because she was trying to help Alex and this could be considered a kind of love.

"While I understand what you are trying to say, I'm sure I'm not in love with Alex, at least not yet. All began just with curiosity; I want to experience the emotion you all felt. You seemed genuinely happy every you're with him to the extent that I'm jealous, so I also want to experience the same thing, and more importantly, I want to be in the winning team. You guys won't stop here; you're planning to go to the higher world, and I want to be in. Please teach how to be human." Incursio declared at the end of her sentence and bowed her head.

Maria and the others were shocked; the purpose of this meeting was to create countermeasures against this white-haired girl; well, it was currently black. Incursio was not an enemy they could face without preparations; she was that strong.

They thought she came to mess up with them and their man, something they could not tolerate.

However, after talking to her, they understood that she was just like everyone, seeking love, especially that sentence she said at the end touched them to the core. She said, please teach me to be human; it was not a long sentence, but its meaning was tremendous. They could feel her sincerity through those words.

The five looked at each other for a moment before nodding.

"We will give you a chance, we will teach you how to become human, but there is something you must do, you sign a contract," Sakuya said while looking at Saeko; the latter immediately understood what she meant and nodded.

"Okay, I'll sign this contract, and once we are done, there's something I must show to let you know that you are not ready for the incoming calamity." Incursio nodded while at the same time telling them her next plan.

Maria and the others nodded before taking out two contracts, the same contract they signed during the harem discussion.

Saeko and Incursio signed the contract, and now they were ready to follow her. Incursio took out a teleportation scroll and crushed it; instantly, the group was enveloped by a dark blue light and vanished, and the next thing they saw was a forest.

The forest was colossal, dense, and ancient. Its canopy was dominated by hazel, linden, and beech, and occasional openings in their crowns allowed plenty of light through for scattered bushes to control the insect-riddled soils below.

Bundled tree limbs held onto most trees, and an array of flowers, which grew in a sprinkled and disorderly fashion, spruced up the otherwise uniform forest grounds.

A mixture of wild sounds, which birds and vermin caused, filled the air and were in harmony with the fish splashing in a nearby lake.

As the girls were lost observing the fish in the lake, Incursio called them out.

"Let's go. Be on your guard as I can become dangerous from now on." She told them, and the girls readied their weapons.

After walking for five kilometers, they stopped before a cliff. There was something there.

A modest dark cave on a murky cliffside marks the entrance to this dungeon. Beyond the dark cave lies a massive, worn room. It was covered in small bones, rubble, and small bones.

"Let's go in!" She told them.

The six entered this artificial dungeon.

Further ahead are two paths; Incursio took on the right. Its twisted trail leads passed lost treasures, unknown rooms, and armories, and soon they entered a clammy area. There were several braziers scattered around; somehow, they were still burning.

They proceeded onwards, deeper into the dungeon's expanse, passing countless passages, each with twists, turns, and destinations. Finally, they eventually make it to what was likely the final room. A massive wooden door blocks their path. Countless runes are all over it.

It was at that moment they encountered monsters; no, it was failed experiments that had turned into monsters. The group easily killed them before proceeding into the final room, where they saw something that made them stop. It was the same thing Alex saw.

Two clouded eyes stare at them with a terrifying grimace, and another clamor resonates from its vile mouth in an abysmal surprise.

Four thin horns adorn its muscular head, which is devoid of expression. The sound of a roaring fire escapes the creature's convex nostrils within a massive nose.

Its muscular head sits atop a giant, fibrous body. Gaping wounds show an infernal fire within, perhaps the remnants of an encounter in a different world.

The creature was chained but was still trying to attack them; its two legs were lumberingly carrying its diabolical body. A powerful tail writhes behind it; coarse hairs cover it sporadically.

Still, the creature looks upon them, and a horrible grimace appears on its face.

"What the hell is this?" Saeko asked while falling on her butt.

Maria, Sakuya, Luna, and Maria's had dark faces. They were curious as well; they turned to face Incursio, the one who brought them here. Their eyes seemed to be asking the same thing.

'What the hell is this grotesque thing chained against an altar?'

Incursio chuckled before making a startling revelation.

"It's a demon."

"What?" The girls were shocked, but their surprise had just begun.

"The weakest type, the Chaos organization, is trying to mass produce them. You will face them as well as monsters in the incoming war."

The girls were so shocked that they could not immediately offer a reply.

Incursio knew this would happen when she brought them here and shook her head and told them the real purpose of their visit here; it was not only to tell them this.

"I want you to face it."

Meanwhile, in the Foxia empire, Kuina ordered one of her maids to arrange a house for her incoming guests while she was busy elsewhere.

From the outside, this house looks very elegant. It had been built with red pine wood and had grey stone decorations. Large, octagon windows added to the overall look of the house and have been added to the house in a very asymmetric way.

The house had a modern kitchen and one large bathroom; it also had a spacious living room, six bedrooms, a spacious dining room, a library, and a snug basement.

The building was fairly rounded in shape. The house was fully surrounded by glass overhanging panels.

The second floor was more significant than the first, which creates a stylish overhang on one side of the house. This floor had roughly the same style as the floor below.

The roof was high and v-shaped and was covered with flat roof tiles. Two large chimneys sat on either side of the house. A few large windows let in just enough light to the rooms below the roof.

The house is surrounded by a tranquil garden, with various flowers, a long pond including a small waterfall, and various rock formations.

The maid Lisa was sure their guests would like this house she had picked.

954 Chapter 954

"It's a demon."

Incurcio declared after a moment of silence.

"What?" The girls were shocked, but their surprise had just begun.

"The weakest type, the Chaos organization, is trying to mass produce them. You will face them as well as monsters in the incoming war."

The girls were so shocked that they could not immediately offer a reply.

Incurcio knew this would happen when she brought them here and shook her head and told them the real purpose of their visit here; it was not only to tell them this.

"I want you to face it."

Silence descended upon the whole room until the chained demon started struggling, seemingly trying to escape from its chains to tear them apart.

"Release it," Maria said after a long moment of silence; however, they didn't know the whole story yet; they could not waste such a good opportunity as they could get valuable information from this fight and better prepare countermeasures in the future.

Incurcio smiled; she knew the girls who would soon become her sisters, the ones that would make her into something more human-like.

She immediately flicked her fingers, and like dominos, the chains restraining the demon started snapping one by one.

Meanwhile, the five girls were having a meeting; they were deciding who should be the leader and what kind of formation they should use. This would be their first time fighting in a group with their numbers, and without doubt, a situation like this where they should need to fight in a group in the future was bound to happen, so they could use this opportunity to better coordinate.

Maria let Artemia be the leader as with the latter experience; she was a better fit for the role than her currently; she could stay behind and watch, to learn from her. The others nodded, not finding fault in this.

As the leader, Artemia decided she would be the vanguard alongside Maria and Sakuya, and Luna and Saeko would be at the rear. Luna was the essential core member because she was their healer; although different from your typical healer as she could also fight in the frontline; the princess didn't want her to let fight in the frontline. Because once injured, she would spend her precious mana to heal herself, which might become problematic when others would need healing, and she would have run out of mana by then.

The second reason she asked her to stay in the rear was that the enemy would be shocked once discovering that Luna was dangerous, the enemy could become momentarily distracted, and the others could use this opportunity to attack together. It's a pretty good tactic.

At the same time as they were ready, the last chain restraining the demon was snapped, and the latter immediately launched an attack.

"Rawrrrrr!"

Its claw cut through at such speed that even Artemia, the fastest of the five, was shocked.

"Fast!" Sakuya remarked while reading her katana to block the blow while Maria created a white mist to slow down the demon.

Artemia attacked with her spear; the three were in perfect synchronization; however, to this surprise, the demon turned into a mist and dodged their combined attacks; the next thing they knew was Maria flying in the air; her mouth fell open, and blood flowed out.

Bang!

She slammed against the wall behind them and coughed another mouthful of blood.

"What?!"

The others were shocked; Incursio was watching the fight by stepping in.

p Puff!

Maria coughed blood again as she tried to stand up. Every movement sent waves of throbbing pain through her chest and back. It was exhausting, and she felt sick, but there seemed to be nothing she could do about it. She wanted to give up; there was no way she could keep going feeling like this. Maria closed her eyes and relaxed her muscles. She took a deep breath, and then another. It was her best attempt to regain her composure.

Her head felt eerily light, everything seemed to spin around her in a blur of motion, and her legs could barely carry them. But after a few more moments of pure focus, the Ice empress managed to block out the pain enough to make it nothing more than a minor annoyance. It'll last a while, but she'll manage. She had felt like time; it had been quite some time already.

She didn't see the demon's attack coming at all; she wondered what the hell had happened, looking at Incursio standing there with her arms crossed and looking at three girls surrounding the demon; Maria shook her head; she felt like only Incursio saw what happened.

"How are you feeling, Maria?" Luna, who arrived beside her, asked, and she responded honestly.

"In a pretty bad shape as you can see."

Luna nodded before performing her Holy art, the radiant blessing on Maria, the latter felt her injuries healing in an instant, and even some of her stamina was recovered.

Now back on her feet, Maria observed the demon for a moment. None of the attack launched did much damage as if the demon's skin was unbreakable.

"Luna, you'll attack it with your light element." Maria arrived at this conclusion, and Luna, who was itching for a fight, nodded.

After strengthening her body five times, Luna launched an attack; she arrived above the demon with a kick, the latter having felt coming turned into a mist and materialized in another location but to the demon's surprise, Luna was smiling. Her right hand was aimed at the demon; a light beam shot out from the hand and collided against the demon's arm, slicing it apart.

"!!!!!!!!!!!"

The demon emitted a sharp shriek, having one of its arms sliced off.

The girls exchanged looks and smiled; the Light element seemed effective against the demon, unlike the other elements, which could not deal much damage.

From that point onward, the five attacked simultaneously, with Luna being the main attacker; the demon tried to escape, afraid of the Light element; however, the others restricted its movement while Luna punched the hell out of it. The once mighty demon had turned into a child getting bullied by many adults.

Soon, the five managed to kill the demon. The latter body turned into five small black smoke which penetrated their chests, forcing the five to kneel as they felt they were being remolded.

"Good not bad. Have a taste of your first demon."

The girls were so preoccupied with what happened inside their bodies to respond to Incursio.

956 Chapter 956

Soon, the five managed to kill the demon. The latter body turned into five small black smoke which penetrated their chests, forcing the five to kneel as they felt they were being removed.

p "Good, not bad. Have a taste of your first demon."

The girls were so preoccupied with what happened inside their bodies to respond to Incursio.

After their small black smoke entered their bodies, they felt something changing; their connection with ambient mana strengthened. In the easiest term, their mana capacity increased, and their mana pool was enlarged, which was something to be happy of.

A few minutes later, the girls were back on their feet with all smiling faces.

"Thank you for the reward. Is there any other demon to slay?" Sakuya asked on behalf of the other five with a smile; she even licked her lips as if she had just enjoyed the most tastiest thing.

Incursio didn't expect them to have such an exaggerated reaction. However, she was pleased with the look in their eyes; it meant her first plan had been successful. She had successfully managed to draw their attention to one of the most dangerous things the Chaos organization had; what was left was to prepare countermeasures successfully. This is the winning ship she decided to board, so better make plans to increase the odds in their favor. Wouldn't it be the wisest thing to do as the future f...?

Thinking about this, the corners of Incursio's mouth lifted into a smile. She extended her hands and beckoned them to follow her; the fun game had just begun. She planned to go into seclusion and train like a madman but decided not to after visiting them. She decided this because it was more fun to hang out with them than going in boring seclusion, not that she had forgotten her original goal, just that it would be more fun to accomplish this goal alongside Alex and others.

Incursio had no idea that slowly but surely she was changing; her encounter with Alex, with his group, was the trigger to all of this. Because of him and his group, she learned something called working in a group; not only did she learn another valuable lesson which is to think about others while planning. This is something the past monster Incursio would not do.

'This is the best decision I've made in all my life. Big brother, watch over me wherever you are as I live happily and as I wish. Thank you and farewell.' Incursio mumbled, forever severing her fate from that of her brother; from now on, her fate would be entwined with Alex and his group, for better and worse.

'I'm grateful for your appearance, Alexander Kael Touch. Hopefully, I'll also have the chance to be called with that name.' The once monster mumbled inside her heart while guiding the girls to another location.

The forest was colossal, dense, and blooming. Its canopy was reigned by chestnut, yew, and elm, who provided just enough openings for light to pass down for a medley of bushes to claim the moss-covered grounds below.

Silent vines dangled from a couple of trees, and an array of flowers, which desperately tried to claim the last remnants of light, were a welcome change in the otherwise unchanging forest floor.

A hodgepodge of wild noises, most of which were rummaging critters, brightened up the forest, and almost completely muffled the sounds of several woodpeckers in the distance.

Two silhouettes could be seen on the edge of a cliff, gazing at the endless horizon.

Above them, the dark sky was filled with nothing more than a large crimson moon, shining with an eerie glow.

Floating in the air above this forest were two individuals.

Of the two silhouettes, the one standing in the front was a beautiful winged woman. She had two pairs of large black wings. Her long beautiful black hair flowed freely in the wind, while her apathetic green eyes, like that of her master, scanned this world below her with no life.

She was Zwei, the second of Alex's special army sex and also one of the first Brünhild in her master army. Her real name was Clementine.

After discarding her name, she went by the name of Zwei, a faithful servant of 's special army.

"Drei, how is the situation?"

Finally breaking the silence, Zwei turned to face the tall figure behind her.

Drei was a tall woman, easily reaching 185 cm, a height that, when paired with her voluptuous figure, would make much drool at sight, even more so since she wore only a pair of short hot pants and a simple top.

She had pale grey skin, and two black horns adorned her head. On her waist, was a two-handed sword, its edges razor-sharp.

"The target escaped to this location. Well, I let them escape to this location as you have instructed."

Drei responded in a dry tone, and Zwei couldn't help but sigh. After all, she could understand why this girl was currently pouting because she didn't let her kill the enemies. She was a battle junky that found pleasure in fighting and crushing her opponent; she would not be happy when ordered to play pretend to lure the enemy to their base.

Zwei sighed yet again, massaging her temple because she felt a headache coming; she would rather deal with Eins than take care of this muscle brain; however, their master's order was absolute, he said to train Drei's unruly personality until she could be used and little by little she was doing this, if it were the previous Drei she would have gone on a rampage after Zwei gave her the order, the only one she truly feared was Alex, their master because he has beaten up her into submission.

"Let's go. Something it is better to use your brain than your fist. You better not forget this lesson." Zwei said before going down; Drei followed while clicking her tongue.

"Tch! Whatever. Let's just get it down with it. Here are my stats after two weeks of grinding." She said before showing her status to Zwei, she looked at it and nodded before also showing her status, and as expected, she was still ahead of Drei the term of level and overall stats.

Chapter 958 Characters Sheet 1

Alexander Kael Touch: The Main character of the story. Born on Earth and from a rich family, he lost his family at the age of ten and started living under his grandmother's tutelage. Gifted when it comes to programming, he quickly became rich by creating a lot of apps using his heritage. Quickly he became a billionaire thanks to good management. Because of something which happened, he had trouble making friends and just hung out with other men just to play. Afraid of experiencing another painful betrayal, he never dates another woman after the betrayal of the last one.

Sadly, he lost his life with his classmates in a car accident. Together with seven other classmates, they reincarnated into the world of swords and magic. In this world, there is something called a Gift and only the exceptional one has it. Gifts are the embodiment of one soul, the strongest weapon, and what makes them unique is that, unlike regular weapons, they could never break, and some have special abilities.

Alex contracted with two weapons as Gift, two guns called Death guns, but sadly he was unable to use them, in the beginning, letting him fall behind others. However, this soon changed.

Alex's personality could be warm at a time and smart sometimes. He would do anything for his loved ones, and his ultimate goal was to sit at the top of the pyramid.

Luna Heart: Alex's childhood friend. Cheerful personality. She had been in love with him since she was a child, but they got separated until they met a few years later, when he didn't even recognize her. This pained her, and when she thought everything was lost, she got another chance. They reincarnated into another world, and in this new world, she did everything to be together with the one she loved and her sisters. She appeared to like the reincarnation of the Saintess, but she can be ruthless when needed. She later got engaged with the man she loved.

Luna's Gift made her into a healer.

Maria Alexia Rosares: Born in a mafia family, she was taught to govern at a younger age, which shaped her personality; she was cold and smart. While born in a pretty dangerous environment, she was rather blessed with two good friends who were like sisters. Together they would go through everything. They were so united that they decided to share the same man.

Like her cold personality, she got into the Ice empress class and was exceptional when it came to the Ice element.

Sakuya Mio Hishimiya: Friend with the other two. She is Maria's right-hand man, like her father to Maria's father. Playful and sadistic personality. Her Gift is a katana.

Leonardo Dixor: A young man from a rich family. He was jealous of Alexander. He thought he was the chosen one, especially after contracting with Excalibur and getting the Hero class. An idiot that thinks he was smart.

Camilla Asmar: A woman that fell in love with the wrong man. Like her fiery character, she got Fire magician class.

Kevin Asmar: Camilla's big brother. Leonardo's lackey. He was only good at one thing, which was to follow orders.

Dodolus Asmar: The big brother of the family. While usually quiet, he is quite smart. Like his original job, he got a special class that could let him protect his master. The one that saved their family from starving. If it weren't for the Dixor family head, his father would have gone to jail while the rest of the family would have suffered.

Goddess Mea: One of the higher level beings from the Higher world. She was in charge of reincarnating Alex's group.

Priscilla: The head priestess of the Temple of Gods, the same temple that welcomed Alex and the others. A former princess, she became a priestess under Goddess Mea's wish.

Katherina Von Havens: The second Princess of the Drexia Empire, Priscilla's little sister. She was quick to judge, which made her have a rocky start with Alex. Fortunately, she changed later.

Artemia Eretria Von Havens: The 3rd princess and the reincarnation of the goddess of the human. A powerful lightning user. Because of her origin, she wanted to go to the Higher world to find out who is her birth parents.

Typhania (Leena/Elseria): The Goddess of the Elves. After the final battle, she created the Adventurers guild and used many aliases. One of them was serving as a receptionist until she met Alex, the one in the prophecy. The one said to be the only one capable of stopping the incoming calamity. Smart, cold. She was one of the strongest existence until her arrival.

Gracier Alexandra Touch: An orphan Alex rescued. She later became his sister. He helped her get contracted to Ignia, goddess of the Dragon. Gracier is exceptional, especially when it comes to the Fire element. Her contract with Ignia made her one of the strongest Fire users ever.

Sera Olivia Wexon: She met Alex while helping in her father's store. She had a hidden identity. An assassin working under Elseria, the guild master of the Adventurer guild.

Lilith E Astaroth: The second Princess of the demon's race. She escaped after her brother massacred their entire family. She was the reincarnation of the Goddess of the demon. At first, she meets Alex under an alias, Eleonora. Because of her past as a child, she had a cold personality, but it started to change after meeting Alex and others slowly.

Leon Lionheart: Crown prince of the Lionheart. From the Lion clan, the strongest beastman clan, and specie. The one that made Alex lower his guard and make a friend again. He loved fight and was quite smart as well.

p Kuina Eria Foxia: Crown princess of the Foxia kingdom. Playful character. Maria didn't like her during their first meeting. From the powerful nine tails fox family, she is a powerful fire user and owner of a special element: Illusion magic.

Ferris Wolfgang: Former crown prince of Wolfgang's Empire, the second strongest empire on the beastman continent. Friend with Leon and Kuina.

Eris Wolfgang: Twin's sister of Ferris Wolfgang. Naïve personality, but it later changed after meeting Alex and experiencing a loss.

959 Chapter 959

After showing each other their statuses, Zwei and Drei entered the enemy's base but only after verifying that there was no trap.

As soon as they walked into the cave, they could feel multiple presences ahead.

Drei looked at Zwei waiting for her order and the latter nodded. Drei immediately charged ahead and soon the sound of bones being crushed mixed with cries filled the inside of the cave.

Zwei's eyes shone and her body vanished, like a good disciple she killed the enemy and stopped before their leader.

"Shit! Come out who are you?" The man asked brandishing his two handed sword, his eyes were looking left and right in search of the enemy until Drei walked in completely drenched in her enemy's blood.

Seeing this and the head Drei held in her hand made the man's mad and he charged ahead only to stop a couple of steps later.

"Here we go again." Drei muttered while massaging her temple.

Immediately after the enemy's leader stopped Zwei materialized, staring directly into the dying man's eyes she mumbled.

"Blood, my clothes are drenched in blood. What happened? Is this mine? Where am I? Oh god, I remember now, please, no! This can't be happening to me, please no.

I should lay down, why am I still standing? I'm so tired, yet somehow I'm still standing. It makes no sense. Body, please, I want to rest. Lay down already, it's okay

Why? Why must it end like this? I'm not ready to die yet. I'm not ready. End, it musn't end. I can make it out, I can still live. I just need.. Something. Somebody. I need help, I need to live.

Everything feels so heavy. My entire body is trying to force me to the ground, to lay down and close my eyes, but I can't. I can't give in, not yet. I can still make it, I just need some rest. I guess I will lay down for a little while, but I will not close my eyes. Do not close my eyes.

I can't be saved anymore, I know that now. I can feel it, my body is too broken to be saved. But please, somebody, find me anyway. I don't want to die alone. I need somebody by my side until my very end.

I feel woozy. Everything is distorted and hazy. It's hard to make sense of everything, I can't focus. My head's too heavy to lift, I'll just close my eyes instead.

I'm sorry but you're already dead." Zwei declared with a satisfying smile.

"And they said I'm the one with a screw loose. What a joke. You're even more crazy than am I. Playing that kind of game. We are all weirdos." Drei mumbled silently. Zwei loved saying this to her victim on their death bed, most of them exactly thought the same sentence.

"Let's go." Zwei ordered after soul searching the dead man's memories, unfortunately she didn't find anything useful. It was because of this special ability she got the second place right below Eins.

They would continue they hunt, hopefully next time would be the good one.

Back to Alex's location.

Alex and Ego continued to explore the weird dungeon, they were now on the 3rd floor surrounded by corpses.

"You can go back!" Alex declared before flicking his fingers sending Ego back.

"This guy is too unruly. I must make sure to teach him his place. He is but a mere copy and as a copy he should act like one. Sigh! I'm tired. To think I'll need to fight without my guns. Well, although I was shocked, it could be considered as a pretty good training. Overly relying on my guns could one day become an issue if situation like this happened."

This is lesson he learned from the weird situation he was experiencing since sent into this weird dungeon. His current situation reminded him of the beginning when he hadn't awakened his Gift and fought while only using throwing knives and knives. He missed those time, while his overall strength had lowered because he was not using his guns, he remained deadly nonetheless, killing two thousands monsters ranging from Level 40 to 90 on his way here.

Alex shook his head before summoning his status. It was the time to check his status to see how much progress he made, how many level he had gained.

"Status!" He mumbled and a status window appeared right before his eyes.

"Wow! 3 levels gained. I think it's worth it. Let's see what is inside of the last floor." Alex said before getting up but to his surprise, reality twisted and he was brought outside.

"Fuck! When it was getting interesting." Alex lamented, he thought he would at least get another level before leaving.

"Ah! I wonder where was that place? Hopefully, I can go back in there again to farm XP and gain information."

"Meet me at the tavern twenty kilometers northeast." Incursio's voice rang inside Alex's head.

"Ah!" Alex sighed in response and got up to prepare. It was already evening.

After chatting with the girls, he left.

From the outside it looks warm, peaceful and cheerful. Sandstone bricks and marble stones make up most of the building's outer structure.

It's tough to see through the curtained windows, but the inviting music from within could be felt outside.

As Alex entered the tavern through the old, metal door, you're welcomed by a pleasant atmosphere and the smell of alcohol.

The bartender was quite busy, but still managed to welcome him with a friendly nod.

It was as alluring inside as it was on the outside. Tree logs support the upper floor and the large candles attached to them. The walls were littered with so many different memorabilia, you're not sure if they tried going for a specific style at one time or just put up anything they like..

The tavern itself was packed. Groups belonging to some kind of organization, whether sport, music or other you're not sure of, seem to be the primary clientele here, which often means great company. Several long tables are occupied by, what must be separate groups who have bonded over great food and conversation. The other, smaller tables are also occupied by people who seem to be enjoying themselves a lot, perhaps too much, if such a thing is possible. Even most of the stools at the bar are occupied, though nobody seems to mind more company.

A black haired beauty was sitting around a table calmly sipping wine.

"I thought you'd come." She said to him as soon as he sat across from her.

"And why would I do that?" He asked her while ordering a glass of whisky.

"Dunno, but I guess I'm overreacting. I called you out to talk about something. I've already showed it to the girls and I think it's necessary that you're also informed because you're the leader."

"It is you have become closer to the girls. Hopefully, you won't do something that will hurt them or else I won't forgive you." Alex warned Incursio, the latter chuckled.

"Don't worry I want to be with you. I told them to teach how to become human. Having me as your woman is not a bad deal, I'm powerful and I can be useful to you here and in the next world. So consider giving me a chance." She said, she honest with what she wanted.

"You are right but let talk about the demon." Alex declared, bringing the subject on something more important.

"So, you already knew. It will be easier this way." Incursio said before telling him everything she knew.

960 Chapter 960

"You know there isn't too much time left, right?" Incursio, who told Alex everything she could share with him right now, asked at the end.

"I know you don't have to remind. We will be leaving for Foxia empire tomorrow. You can tag along if you wish." Alex gave his approval; well, even if he hadn't given it, he knew she would still follow them.

As for the information she had just shared with him, he was grateful for that, and he knew full well that she didn't tell him everyone; it would have been weird if she had done that; he would have done the same thing in her shoes. Better keep some information you share in the future; your target would not stop your relationship because you still have something valuable.

"Thank you. I'd make sure you won't regret giving me a chance. See you tomorrow. I'll be leaving." Incursio said before leaving.

Watching Incursio departing back, Alex heaved a sigh, and immediately, his lips curved upward to form a smile. It would be a lie if he said he was not glad about the current situation; since he had already begun fantasizing about how he would make this girl his subordinate, and now she was the one that came to him herself, how could he not be happy?

He would be extremely happy even if he could not show it in front of her, at least not yet. Incursio is a highly talented individual; having someone so powerful and smart whose limit was unknown as an enemy was not a wise choice; having her as an ally was a good thing; having her as a woman was even better.

[[Make sure to make her fall for you, completely as that. She will be very useful to you in the future.]] Silveria chimed in and offered him a piece of good advice.

'Don't worry, Sil, I've never planned to let her go after she jumps into the tiger's den. She will be mine; there's no doubt about it.' Alex affirmed as he said he had no wish ever to let this juicy piece of lamb go.

Suddenly, Alex's eyes changed, and he mumbled.

"Finally."

After paying the bills, he left the tavern and headed to a quiet corner where he took a golden scroll and ripped it; golden mana materialized, enveloping him inside, and he was instantly teleported to another location.

.....

After the teleportation, Alex appeared inside a garden, and the fragrant scent of flowers greeted him.

Fragrant hedges surround a well-kept bed of grass. Several massive trees stand near the left edge, their leaves and branches sway gently in the wind. The rows of flowers are well kept, precisely cut, and meticulously looked after; they're a delight for butterflies. The hedges reach 1.5m/5ft high, but this is about as tall as they'll reach. Here and there lies a small boulder, guiding visitors around the garden and showing them all it has to offer. Plants and flowers are seemingly content with their positions in the garden, none trying to reach beyond, at least not yet.

The trees, weeping willows, have stood there for a few dozen years and are almost like caretakers of the garden in their own right. The rows of flowers have no hard time getting their share of the attention, and the hedges certainly attracted attention too, but nothing beats the majesty of the weeping willows.

"Welcome, Alex, and sorry for calling you so suddenly."

There was a beauty sitting in the middle of this beautiful garden; her beauty highlighted the already beautiful garden.

While already past evening on the other side, it was still daytime here. Judging by the giant trees in the distance, this garden was located somewhere in the elven continent.

"Don't worry, I also wanted to meet you, Elseria." Alex declared as he sat across from her on the mat. His eyes were glued on the thing in Elseria's hand.

"I would have never thought that you love pudding." As a pudding lover himself, he could detect if the other party was the same as him.

Elseria didn't deny this claim. Eating pudding was one of her hobbies in life.

"Please join me." She invited him while opening the basket in the middle of the mat. Alex was immediately overwhelmed by the sweet scent of the pudding.

The pudding has been cooked in a bowl and turned out to form that classic plum-pudding shape. Upon it was a sweet plum sauce, and around it was a chorus of red berries.

"Hmmh! Delicious." Alex offered honest praise as soon as he tasted the pudding.

"Thank you, I'm glad I've cooked it," Elseria said something that shocked Alex.

"What with that face? Did you think as empress I couldn't know how to cook?" She asked with her eyes exuding powerful pressure.

Alex gulped and immediately put his hands in the air as an act of surrender.

"Spare thee subject. Oh, great empress. I've never thought you're incompetent empress that knew nothing about life."

Of course, shameless as he was, he didn't forget to use his shamelessness.

Elseria's mouth twitched a couple of times, she felt like bashing his skull, teaching this boy a good lesson, but in the end, she stopped as she was sure that changing his shamelessness wasn't something she could do, no matter how powerful and resourceful she was.

"Enough. Did you really enjoy the pudding I've cooked?" She asked.

"Yes." Alex nodded without hesitation and he was being sincere; the Elven Goddess could see it. She smiled, happy that she had something in common with this boy, the one in the prophecy.

"The loveliness of pudding is in how rich and decadent it is, yet to have that joy last, it has to be occasional, part of a looked forward to feast shared with others. Otherwise, it becomes guilt, shame, or a negative habit. The trick to puddings is to get the portion size and frequency right as much as the recipe. The balance of flavors matters, yet the balance of when and how much you have them matters too. It's all recipes of different kinds, I guess." He said before adding.

"Your pudding didn't lack what I've mentioned above. I hope I can continue enjoying your pudding in the future."
