

Deep Affection 906

Chapter 906 Sound Shi

On September 23rd, Nina's baby was born.

Nina gave birth to the baby smoothly, probably because of previous experience. She looked sideways at the baby in the doctor's hand. Even though she was sweating and tired, she couldn't help smiling.

The doctor smiled and said, "congratulations. It's a girl. Kiss your daughter."

There were already two boys at home, and now a girl came just in time. Nina kissed her daughter's face happily. Her skin was too tender and red. Nina didn't dare to kiss too hard.

"Baby, welcome to this world and our home."

After kissing her dear daughter, Nina was so tired that she fell asleep.

A doctor who was in joy suddenly found something wrong. The baby had not cried. She patted the baby, but she was still not crying.

Strangely enough, after a series of physical examination, the child was healthy.

However, the child did not cry all the time. Nina and John had been observing the child closely, worrying that she would be a little mute. It was not until the child was three months old that she was babbling. The family was relieved.

She could make a sound, not a little mute tone, "well, I have to go to work. Come on, your father will hold you."

"Daddy, give me a hug."

Sound reached out her hands and John took over her. After that, he held his daughter in one hand and thanked the CFO.

Someone had set a precedent, and then more and more people found excuses to see Mr. Shi. Actually, they just wanted to hug Sound. Then they left with satisfaction.

John's face darkened, especially when he heard the words, "I didn't use perfume."

Amy observed carefully and she got what was going on. She laughed secretly.

But she was confused. Mr. Shi was angry. Was it because someone else held his daughter, or because everyone was not attracted by his charm?

When Amy told this to Nina secretly, Nina laughed loudly.

The next day, it was Sound's first birthday.

Noah came back from Spring City with a one year old boy in his arms. The kid looked like a mini version of Noah.

Everyone would admit it was Noah's son even without the paternity test.

This matter shocked everyone. Before they could figure out what was going on, Noah threw another bomb. It deeply disturbed everyone.
