

Deeply 1060

1060 A play within a play (8)

PEI Munian's answer was beyond Mrs. PEI's expectations. All these years, she had been trying to match PEI Munian and Xi Zhiwei together, but he had only treated Xi Zhiwei as his younger sister. Even if he was willing to marry her, it was only because she had lost her child to save her. He had agreed to the marriage as compensation.

Now that he could choose freely, he actually chose Wei Wei?

"Mu Nian, you're not giving up on yourself because of su Wan, are you? If it's not her, does it matter who the others are?"

"Of course not."

The corners of PEI Munian's lips curled up into a smile. The light in her eyes was deep and dark, and she could not read his emotions at all. She opened her thin lips and spoke in a calm and elegant voice. It's just as you said. After walking through the gates of hell, I finally understand who is the one who is really good to me. Weiwei has been by my side for so many years and has never left me. She's been true to me. I don't think I can let her down again, right? "

"Mu Nian Qian Qian."

"Mom, didn't you say that apart from Wanwan, anyone is fine? Why? Now you like ning Jingting, and you're turning your back on Wei Wei?" PEI Munian raised her eyebrows and asked.

I didn't mean it that way. I just thought that since you're still young and have just experienced a failed marriage, you should open your eyes wide and choose carefully.

"Young? Mom, why didn't you say that I was young when you urged me to get married?"

Mrs. PEI was so choked by PEI Munian that she did not know how to refute her. She glared at him angrily. You're always trying to go against me.

"Mom, you're the one who chose Weiwei, and you're the one who let me see my heart clearly. How did it turn out to be a different tune from yours? You can't possibly ask me to marry one of them just because you like one, right? The law doesn't allow that."

Madam PEI was so angry that she couldn't say anything and was too lazy to argue with him. She only said, in short, don't get married so soon this time. Take a good look, in case our family gets into another scandal because of your marriage. I don't want another su Wanwan to come.

PEI Munian's lips twitched but she did not say anything else. Her eyes seemed to sweep across Butler Xi in front of her, only to see that her hands, which were resting on her lap, had unknowingly clenched into fists.

PEI Munian retracted her gaze and looked out of the car window. The neon lights outside were bright and colorful. In his mind, the image of her graceful figure slowly appeared. A gentle smile appeared on his lips.

—

The car arrived at the PEI family's house in the United States. A servant came up to them and took the coats for Mrs. PEI and PEI Munian. She helped them change their shoes and welcomed them into the house.

PEI Munian's body could not take it anymore after a night of socializing. Mrs. PEI quickly instructed the servants to help him upstairs to rest.

After helping Mrs. PEI to sleep, Butler Xi left the room. The moment she closed the door, the smile on her face immediately disappeared. She stood at the door for a while, her brows furrowing more and more. Finally, she hurried back to her room, locked the door, took out her phone, and made a call.

After PEI Munian took her medicine, she took a shower and lay back on the bed. The wound on her chest was still hurting, and his hand could not help but touch it.

The doctor said that if the glass had been inserted even a little bit off, he would have died on the spot. Fortunately, he was not willing to die like this.

He moved his hand away from his heart and reached for the bedside table. He took his phone, typed a message, and sent it.