

Deeply 179

Chapter 179 I need to prepare for the wedding (1)

Su Wanwan was a little nervous. She swallowed her saliva, raised a smile, and said weakly, "you, when did you wake up?"

PEI Munian raised her eyebrows in amusement and asked in a lazy voice, "what do you think?"

She said? How would she know? he walked so quietly, so who knew when he would wake up?

su wanwan still held on to a glimmer of hope and asked carefully, "i think you should have just woken up, right?"

The corners of PEI Munian's lips curled up evilly as she shook her head unceremoniously.

The hope in su Wanwan's heart suddenly shattered. It seemed that PEI Munian had been awake for a while and had heard everything she said.

Su Wanwan was a little scared, but she still raised her head and puffed out her chest. She pretended to be calm and said, "I, I don't regret what I said to Xi Zhiwei. We're married. She shouldn't always hang around you! I, I'm your wife, I have the right to tell her to stay away from you!"

PEI Munian's handsome face was expressionless, and her eyes were as deep as ever. so?"

Su Wanwan looked at PEI Munian's expression and the fear in her heart increased. However, she felt that she couldn't back down. If she did, she would lose. On a matter of principle, she had to stick to it no matter what.

"That's why, that's why, Zhenzhen." Su Wanwan swallowed her breath again. Although her voice was weak, every word was firm, "so even if you're angry, I still have to say this! I will not let Xi Zhiwei get close to you!"

".....?"

What did PEI Munian mean by this? Could it be that he was having an affair with another woman outside?

Su Wanwan's eyes suddenly widened and she couldn't control herself. She said excitedly, "No woman! You're mine and mine alone!"

PEI Munian didn't expect su Wanwan to be so agitated and was stunned by her words.

After shouting this sentence, su Wanwan realized what she had said. She was done for. She actually shouted directly at PEI Munian. Wasn't she courting death?

Su Wanwan was stunned. She secretly glanced at PEI Munian's expression and tried to remedy it with a dry smile. well, what I mean is, aren't we married? we belong to each other. We should only have each other in our hearts and can't be half-hearted. This is the correct way of life in line with the three values of Maxism, don't you think so?"

".....?"

He had even brought up socialism and was just spouting nonsense.

However, he loved this side of her.

He liked that she cared about him, liked that she was jealous of him, liked that she wanted to keep him to herself.

PEI Munian's expression was a little strained, but he still tried his best to force it out. His voice was still indifferent. really? "

"Of course! Marx once said that love without marriage as the goal is to be a hooligan. You're already a married man, so you can't flirt with other women. That's hooligan!" Su Wanwan answered matter-of-factly.

This sentence was obviously said by the great leader, Grandpa Mao.

PEI Munian lowered her eyes, trying to hide the smile in them. He curled his lips and said lazily, " since I can't be a hooligan to other women, I can only be a hooligan to you? "

"Ah?" The scene changed too quickly and su Wanwan couldn't react for a while.

However, PEI Munian had already pulled her over with one hand. With a " Dong " sound, he pressed her against the glass door. His thin lips moved close to her ear, and his warm breath sprayed on her ear. He spoke word by word.